I think we have to be cautious in this regard. I think that all of us would do well to tread with ease unless we hear a statement from a person made to us about us. There are some people who, in bringing information to you, might sometimes add something to it or might do it in a vein that leaves a great deal of question in your mind regarding the integrity of the person who said this.

Today, when we first started this Session, it was unfortunate that everyone was not here. The prayer which was offered suggested that we place all of our prejudices and all of our bitter feelings aside and face the problems squarely and objectively. I think if you do that, you can come to a better conclusion than by accepting something that has been taken off a written page and presented to you as being the exact remarks made about you.

All of us will agree that any personal attack on any Senator, or on any Member of the Legislature, by anyone is unwarranted and should not be taken lightly. By the same token, just as Senator Donolow is sincere,—and I am positive he is sincere in his motive and in his desire to get this matter straightened out and do it in the best possible way—so is Miss Alpern sincere in her approach to the problem. It is unfortunate that they approach it from two different points of view. They are both able people. Senator Donolow is an attorney in the city of Philadelphia. Miss Alpern, as the Attorney General of the State of Pennsylvania, is its chief law officer and also the attorney for the State, whose chief client is the State of Pennsylvania. In looking at these problems in that vein, maybe the problem or the focus is not always on the heart of the matter, and sometimes when it gets a little bit out of focus, people come to wrong conclusions.

Therefore, I would suggest that all parties here refrain for the time being from making any comment until we have had an opportunity to look generally and objectively at this problem, and try to get all of the different facets of opinion combined so that we can get the best bill we have ever had.

This is a new approach to an old problem, and it might be that this is what is causing some of our difficulty.

McMenamin,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SB 391—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I rise to make a very brief statement concerning the bill before the Senate for consideration.

Mr. President, this bill deals with the restoration of one of the historical landmarks in Delaware County and of Pennsylvania; namely the Caleb Pusey House.

This house, according to the history of Pennsylvania, has more connection with William Penn than any other house remaining in Pennsylvania. This is an original house. It was built prior to 1683 and is comprised of two portions. The newer portion was built prior to 1695. It has never been modernized and it is in its primitive, crude form. The histories of Pennsylvania indicate that on December 25, 1699—Christmas Day—William Penn spent the evening in the Pusey House.

Who was Caleb Pusey? He was one of the original strong settlers of Pennsylvania. He built, for William Penn, the first English grist mill in Pennsylvania. He served as one of William Penn's key advisers. Among other things, he was one of the three Commissioners, who sat with the three Commissioners from the State of Delaware, to lay out the Delaware-Pennsylvania State line. He was one of a small group of unarmed men, all members of the Society of Friends, that quelled the first Indian uprising in Pennsylvania. There is a tremendous amount of history with this old house.

It is with deep gratification that today the Senate sees fit to consider this appropriation. The amount of the appropriation is $35,000. I understand, for the first time in the Commonwealth, this is an appropriation for a historical monument which will be on a matching fund basis; the matching funds coming from local, civic groups.

I note in the halls of the Senate three wonderful ladies who have done a tremendous amount of work on this matter; namely, Mrs. Louise Moses John, of Chester County and Mrs. Sarah Pratt Broch and Mrs. Mary Sullivan Patterson, of Delaware County. These ladies came to the aid of the Caleb Pusey House in its hour of need. Last year, this original English-settler home had a fire and it burned out part of the roof. There was no money to repair it and it lay almost mortally wounded. Like good Samaritans, these fine ladies, who are so keenly interested in the history of Pennsylvania and in the things for which Pennsylvania stands, gathered together their friends from civic groups, civic-minded people, and started the movement known as the "Friends of Caleb Pusey House."

I am very happy to report here today that they have already raised $8,000 of the matching funds. I request that all of us here today vote for their bill, which is sponsored by my colleague, Senator McCresh, and myself.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SB 583—Read at length the third time and agreed to,
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I rise to oppose this bill.

This bill would take away from the men of the National Guard of Pennsylvania a privilege that maybe does not mean too much, but it is taking away a privilege which they have enjoyed for many, many decades. Under the old Pennsylvania law, if you are in the National Guard or if you had served the Commonwealth in the National Guard over a certain period of time, you were excepted from jury duty. I see no reason for changing that law. I see no reason for taking away this small privilege which was accorded by the Legislature of many years ago to our Pennsylvania Guardsmen.

Therefore, I oppose this bill, and I ask those who are in the hall today to oppose it, because I think we should be giving more privileges to these Guardsmen, and not taking them away.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I would like to make a comment on the remarks of my distinguished colleague from Delaware County.

We have passed one bill, amending the Act of 1899, in which we removed the exemption from jury duty for any persons who have performed duty in the Pennsylvania National Guard for a period of nine years or longer. This is a companion piece of legislation. One of the things it does is remove the exemption of permitting an officer or an enlisted man in the Pennsylvania National Guard to request that he be allowed exemption from jury duty. However, it does retain an exemption from jury duty while he is in active service.

The purpose of these bills was simply to take away this exemption which applies, Mr. President, to every able-bodied man in the United States who has ever served nine months or longer in active service of the United States. The legal effect of this bill, if it had been used, would have been to remove or provide an exemption to almost every male in Pennsylvania. Honestly, if this law had been put to any widespread use, it would have resulted in a great deterioration of our jury service.

I feel that any officer or enlisted man in the Pennsylvania National Guard, who is pursuing his civilian pursuits in his daily life, except for the period when he is in active service, should do his duty as a citizen of the Commonwealth and of the Country and serve on our juries.

I am sure that any of the lawyers in this house can tell you that we are having trouble now getting adequate juries. This bill is designed to help maintain and help to raise the standard of jury duty.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, in reply to my esteemed friend and learned colleague from Erie County, I would like to say this: I would have no opposition to a bill that would take away the jury duty requirement of anybody who has served in the United States Army. That privilege now is taken away, along with the National Guard privilege. I would gladly cosponsor a bill that would do that.

In other words, a person who has been on active duty in the Army of the United States, or any of the Armed Forces of the United States, would no longer be exempted from jury duty. However, this one strikes also at the National Guardsmen, and that is why I oppose it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 538—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I feel compelled to speak once more on this bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, in that event, I regret that I must request that Senate Bill No. 538, Printer's No. 598, go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to appear to object to the bill going over in its order. However, I believe that this matter has been around for a number of weeks, and I think we ought to try to dispose of it if at all possible. I am sure that the length of time this bill remains on the Calendar will not convince anybody else to be for it, or convince anybody else to be against it.

May we be at ease just for a moment, Mr. President?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease. (The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now ask that Senate Bill No. 538, Printer's No. 598, go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not wish to interpolate anything here. However, I understood the gentleman objected to my request that the bill go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman understood me correctly. I was convinced otherwise.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

HB 715—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LANE by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 302), page 7, line 13, by striking out "DECEMBER 1 1962" and inserting: June 30, 1964

Amend Sec. 9, page 15, line 9, by striking out "immediately" and inserting: January 1, 1963

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to inform the Members of the Senate that we have had this bill on the Calendar for quite some time. The reason we have been carrying it over in order, gentlemen, is because we were looking for the money.

We have had various estimates, but I am quite convinced at this particular time that this legislation would cost approximately $5,000,000. Actually, we do not have the money. I want to see this legislation passed because it is very meritorious and it should be passed by the Senate. However, there is only one alternative, Mr. President. We must postpone the effective date of this legislation because we are hoping that, with the legislation which will be passed by our National Congress, we may have a wind-fall of about $38,000,000. If that be the case, we feel that we can then properly finance this program.

Mr. President, my amendments not only apply to House Bill No. 715, but also to House Bill No. 716. This is the only alternative we have. If we do not postpone the effective date, I am very much afraid that the bill will fail. I do not want to see that happen and I do not believe any Member of the Senate wants to see this happen.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, as Senator Lane has very correctly said, this bill and House Bill No. 716 have been on our Calendar for a long time; longer than I believe is necessary.

These amendments would postpone the effective date to 1963, approximately a year and a half from the effective date as presently written into the bill. Mr. President, there are a great many people who have looked forward to the passage of this legislation and who could qualify under it during that period of time. By these amendments, they will be barred from participating in the provisions of the bill and the benefits thereof.

I notice with interest, Mr. President, that one of the sponsors of this bill, which is a House Bill and which passed the House without any trouble, is Representative Polen, who is the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee in the House and who should know, if anybody should know, whether or not there is money available somewhere in the finances of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to take care of the dual coverage for the retirement of the State employees and the public school employees.

Consequently, Mr. President, I call upon all of the Members of the Senate to oppose these amendments in order that these people, who will retire in this interval, may have the benefit of this legislation.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, if the amendments are opposed, I am very much afraid that we will lose the bill.

Mr. President, a few years ago, when this Commonwealth integrated Social Security with the pension systems, I happened to be one of the Members who worked long and hard toward integrating those systems. Senator McMenamin worked with me at that particular time, along with Senator William Z. Scott, who is not now present in the Senate.

I am very much afraid, Mr. President, that we are taking a shortsighted position on this matter. I have talked with the Budget Office on a number of occasions. They have told me quite specifically that they do not have the money. By postponing the effective date, we feel that next year we are going to have another session of the Legislature which will deal with finances and budgets. At that particular time, we feel quite sure that this Federal money will be available. If, however, we arbitrarily oppose the amendments at this time and knock the amendments down, I am fearful that we will not get the bill passed.

There is always the possibility, too, Mr. President, that next year, if we are in better financial shape, we will be able to change the effective date again, if we so desire, because these are fiscal problems right here. I feel that we should vote in favor of the amendments. I am very sincere about this. I have been trying to work this problem out for quite some time, along with Senator Weiner. There is no other alternative, gentlemen; that is the story. I would like to see the amendments adopted and then next year we can go to work on it. We are going to be in Session next year and we probably will have more funds. We might be able to do the job then and we might change the effective date at that time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I can agree in part with what the gentleman just said, in so far as the Legislature being in Session in 1962 is concerned. However, I thoroughly and completely disagree with him that this is the type of legislation that can be considered in 1962, which is a Fiscal Session.

Let us discuss the matter this way: I have no question whatever that the financial part of this bill—the implementation of the provisions of this bill—can be considered in 1962, but not the subject matter of the bill. This bill can be passed at this Session of the Legislature. I am sure, as I said before, that funds can be found, in spite of the gentleman's assertion that we must depend upon Federal grants to take of this matter. I believe the necessary amount of money can be found between now and 1962 to take care of this legislation and to take care of the people who will be benefited by it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Berger, you seem to have a better understanding of the fiscal problems of the Commonwealth than I have at this particular time. You seem to have knowledge of where this money is available. If you could tell us where we can find the money, I will be very happy to withdraw the amendments and vote in favor of the bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have not been privy to the discussions which Senator Lane has mentioned here. However, I do have some background knowledge of the availability of funds, following the adjournment of a Session of the Legislature. I again assert, Mr. President, that somewhere in the finances of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania funds can be found for the implementation of this legislation for the period necessary, which is from June 1 up until possibly the first or second month of 1962.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the gentleman is talking about a lot of funds. He is talking of approximately $5,000,000. I might also inform the gentleman that if he will check with the Senate Committee on Appropriations, I believe he will find that we have over there right now—as a matter of fact, I was going over this today—approximately $6,000,000 of nonbudgeted items and I do not know where we are going to get the money.

Mr. President, I now request that the Senate be at ease for a few moments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease. (The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, there is only one alternative here. I want to save this legislation and, therefore, I am going to withdraw my amendments at this time.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I now request that House Bill No. 715, Printer's No. 1493, go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am not going to object to this bill going over in order, as requested. However, I merely want to point out the truth of the old saying that "Tomorrow never comes." This saying has never been more forcibly demonstrated than on this legislation.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, we are quite sure that the sun will also set tomorrow. However, I am afraid that by tomorrow and a few more days to come, we still are not going to have the money for House Bill No. 715 and House Bill No. 716 unless the Members on the other side agree to vote for House Bill No. 95. I do not see that in the realm of possibility at this particular time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am quite convinced that with a diligent search, the money which is necessary to implement this legislation for the few people who will retire between now and the Fiscal Session of the Legislature will be found and will be available for the purposes intended.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am going to close this argument by quoting Benjamin Franklin who, I believe, once said: "Perseverance and determination are the prerequisites to success."

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, House Bill No. 715 will go over in its order.

HB 716—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. LANE.

SENATE

MONDAY, JUNE 5, 1961.

The Senate met at 2:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Joseph D. Ripp) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM McCLELLAND, JR., Rector of Prince of Peace Episcopal Church, Dallas, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty God, the high and mighty Ruler of the Universe, Who dost from Thy throne behold all the dwellers upon earth, we ask Thy blessing upon the people of this Commonwealth and, especially, upon their Senators here assembled. May Thy presence be known and Thy spirit rule in all their meetings. May the Members plan and act with an eye single to the permanent welfare of this State. Direct and prosper all their consultations to the advancement of Thy glory and the safety, honor and welfare of the people whom they represent. Grant that all things which shall come up for their consideration may be so ordered and settled upon the best and surest foundations so that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety, may be established among us for all generations.

These things and whatsoever else Thou shalt see necessary and convenient for us, we humbly beg through the merits and mediation of Jesus Christ, our Savior. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. LANE and Mr. McGINNIS, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will Senator Haluska please approach the rostrum? At this time, the Chair turns the gavel over to the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (John J. Haluska) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, in last Sunday's Pittsburgh Press there appeared an editorial concerning the activities of Senator Donolow, of Philadelphia. The reason I am taking the floor today is because if there was any error in Senator Donolow's operations, it was primarily due to a mistake which I might have made.

Last week, during the Session, Senator Donolow was quite busy. He spoke with me and requested that I mark my Calendar and request that Senate Bill No. 441, which is the Court Administrator Bill, be carried over in order. I marked my Calendar accordingly and right at that particular time, I was working with someone with reference to House Bill No. 715 and House Bill No. 716 and their amendments. Inadvertently, Senate Bill No. 441 passed Second Reading and was passed up to Third Reading.

According to the newspaper editorial, there was an attack upon every Member of this Senate. The editorial claimed that Senator Donolow, when he took the floor and requested the reconsideration of this vote, also stated that he voted with the prevailing side. In the editorial, there was a statement stating there was no Member of the Senate who had the gumption to get on the floor and challenge that statement. I might say, Mr. President, that that statement was absolutely correct. All of us know the procedure here.

Generally speaking, on second reading bills, very few of us answer the roll call. Unless we get up on the floor and speak into the microphone, and say that we wish to vote in the negative, we automatically are recorded as voting in the affirmative. I am quite sure that was the case concerning Senator Donolow. I wish, therefore, to defend him at this time. I feel that he was absolutely right in the position which he had taken.

Mr. President, I might not agree with Senator Donolow, with reference to his position on Senate Bill No. 441 because I am going to support the legislation, but I certainly feel that every Member of this Senate has a right to vote his own convictions. That is why we are here. Therefore, I, for one, would certainly fight to give every Member of this Senate the right to express himself as he sees fit.

I feel that this attack on the Members of the Senate was unwarranted and unfair. The primary reason why we do not debate bills on Second Reading, which has been a tradition over the years, is because it has expedited the operation of the Sessions. We could very easily debate a bill on First Reading, if we so desired. However, we have more or less agreed that we will carry the bills up to Third Reading and we also will accept amendments on Third Reading.

I can readily understand the position of the Pittsburgh Press, but I want that newspaper to know that I respect the integrity of every Member of this Senate. Therefore, if there was any error, it was my fault. I should have stayed on the floor and requested that the bill be carried over in order. However, I was working on amendments to be applied to House Bill No. 715 and House Bill No. 716. I would like the public to know that there is no Member of this Senate who does not have a lot of gumption. If there was anything illegal going on, I think all of us would have taken the floor. I feel that Senator Donolow was absolutely right. If anyone wishes to check that roll call, they will find that every Member of the Senate who did not vote "no" is automatically recorded as having voted "aye" on all bills before this Senate on Second Reading.

STUDENTS WELCOMED TO THE SENATE

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I have the privilege of calling the Chair's attention to the fact that we have some young citizens from Ferguson Township, in Centre County, visiting us in the gallery. They are here under the sponsorship of their teacher, Mr. Gerald Cartwright.

I wonder if you would welcome them to the Chamber, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate welcomes the schoolchildren from Centre County, as introduced by Senator Hays, and their instructor and leader. We trust that you will stay for awhile, enjoy our proceedings here, and come back often.

Will the Senators kindly recognize the class from Centre County?

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. PROPERT, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 728, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 7, 1947 (P. L. 1368), entitled "Real Estate Tax Sale Law," authorizing taxes to be collected by actions of assumpsit.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

Messrs. STROUP and WADE, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 729, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1937 (P. L. 2051), entitled "Public Assistance Law," further regulating assistance to dependent children and their mothers.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

RECONSIDERATION OF SB 616

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 616, Printer's No. 704, failed of final passage on May 31, 1961.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 616 appear on tomorrow's Final Passage Calendar.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, Senate Bill No. 616 will appear on tomorrow's Final Passage Calendar.

SENATE RESOLUTION

BEST WISHES OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO BERWICK ON ITS 175TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. CONFAIR, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 65), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, June 5, 1961.

From June 24 to July 1, 1961, Berwick, Pennsylvania, will celebrate its 175th anniversary. Founded in 1786, by a surveyor and native of England named Evan Owen, Berwick has steadily advanced throughout the years to become one of the leading communities in eastern Pennsylvania.

Though located in an area which is primarily agricultural, Berwick has long been noted as a center of industry. Its many and diversified industries include the American Car and Foundry Division of A.C.F. Industries, Inc., which is the largest railroad car building plant in the world; the Wise Potato Chip Company, which is the largest potato chip manufacturer in the world; and a number of textile factories and other plants producing a wide variety of products.

The celebration of Berwick's 175th anniversary will commence with a fourteen division parade on Saturday, June 24th, to be followed by the Pet and Toy parade on Wednesday, the 28th, and the Six County Firemen's Association annual parade on Saturday, July 1st. Each night, Tuesday through Saturday, a cast of over five hundred will present an historical pageant at Crispin Memorial Field, and throughout the town picturesque displays will depict the highlights of Berwick's history. A number of dances and other social events will add gaiety and color to the festivities.

It is our firm belief and expressed hope that this celebration will be of great value in recalling to all those who observe it or take part in it the outstanding achievements and events in Berwick's history, and that it will serve as an inspiration for further progress; therefore be it

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted tends its very best wishes to the borough of Berwick for a successful celebration of its one hundred seventy-fifth anniversary and for continued success and advancement in the years to come; and the Senate also expresses its admiration and respect for the individuals and groups who have labored so diligently and capably to make this event one which will long be remembered; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Leo Traux, General Chairman of the 175th Anniversary Committee and to Earl V. Wise, Sr., Honorary Chairman.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am not going to discuss the subject matter of the resolution which I am about to present, except to say that it gives me the most singular pleasure and honor to present it to the Chair. I want to say also, Mr. President, that I believe this is unique in the history of the Senate inasmuch as this resolution, to the best of my knowledge, has been sponsored and signed individually by every single Member of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure to offer this resolution and move for its immediate adoption.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING THE HONORABLE M. HARVEY TAYLOR ON HIS EIGHTY-FIFTH BIRTHDAY

Mr. BERGER, on behalf of the entire Senate Membership, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 66), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 5, 1961.

The Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby extends to Senator M. Harvey Taylor warmest congratulations and best wishes on his 85th birthday which was Sunday, June 4. We also want to take this opportunity to commend Senator Taylor on his long years of public service to the citizens of this State.

His loyalty and unselfish devotion as a public servant have made Senator Taylor one of the outstanding men of this Commonwealth. He is indeed the grand old man of the Republican Party. We wish him many more years of good health and public service; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby congratulates and commends Senator M. Harvey Taylor on the celebration of his 85th birthday and for his many years of public service to the people of this great State; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mrs. M. Harvey Taylor at their home in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania so that she may share in this expression of affection and esteem extended to her distinguished husband by his colleagues in the Pennsylvania Senate.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, we, on this side of the aisle, wish to join in this resolution. We have already indicated our feelings by signing it.

We think it is very fitting that a copy of the resolution be sent to Mrs. Taylor, thereby proving that he has been here all this time and not, like other people, have it said that he has been busy elsewhere. He has been present, on the job and voting. Sometimes I wish he would vote with us when we need the twenty-sixth vote. We hope that on Senator Taylor's birthday, he will be helpful to us if we have a few tight bills.

We wish him many, many more years of success and luck, which has followed him all of his life. We hope the Lord will spare him to be with us for many, many more years to come.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, our senior Member on this side of the aisle, the Honorable Bernard McGinnis, has agreed to lead us in the singing of "Happy Birthday" to Senator Taylor.

Mr. MCGINNIS. Will everybody please rise?

(The Members of the Senate then joined in the singing of "Happy Birthday.")

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, on the question, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, of course, it is a little difficult to talk with a lump in your throat. However, it is worth living eighty-five years to be with people like you.

There is one part of the resolution which I do not like; namely, the sentence referring to that "grand old man." I think I am the youngest man in the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I must say that I think you are a younger man than Senator Lane is at times.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to quote from what the famous Doctor Kinsey once said: "I do not care what you do. You are all right in my book."

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I would like to say that I believe I am the youngest man in this Senate. If I have one-half of the energy possessed by Senator Taylor on my eighty-fifth birthday, if I should live so long, I will be very grateful.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if the gentleman has one-half of Senator Taylor's energy on his next birthday, he should be grateful.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BERGER and were as follows, viz:

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 23—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

HB 29—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. LANE.

BILL ON SECOND READING

SB 222 (Pr. No. 230)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 247—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

SB 322—Read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 322 be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. MCCREESH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am sure that the gentleman has not had an opportunity to study this bill thoroughly, or else he would not have made that motion.

Consequently, I would ask that all of the Members of the Senate vote "no" on the motion to recommit.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I do not need any time to study a bill of this type.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I want to join with Senator Berger and ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this motion to recommit. I think this is good legislation.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe that just one word should be stated here.

There is a leading case which is a United States Supreme Court case, and which is one of the landmarks in the law, where this type of punishment was tried. It went a little bit less far than this. It dealt with the sterilization of people who committed serious crimes, and also with people who had a background where they were from the type of families that did not augur well for them to be good citizens and did not augur well for them to produce people who would be a credit to society. This case was an Oklahoma case and was carried to the United States Supreme Court, which overruled the courts of Oklahoma and the statutes of Oklahoma. It stated that this was a cruel and unusual punishment, and that the State had no right to subject anyone to this.

In dealing with this problem, Doctor Sarraf, who is somewhat learned in these matters, wanted to know what the term "emasculatation" really meant. If it is used in the usual sense that we discuss this matter, you will come to the conclusion that this will not prevent the crime from being committed or further perpetrated.

I think you are going to the wrong end of the body in order to solve this problem. I think we should begin with the minds of people who are afflicted with this peculiar problem. I also think it improper to visit a cruel and unusual punishment on such people. This was done by Hitler and by others who had various convictions along these lines. However, it did not solve these problems. I think you will find that in some States, where they hang people for rape or in some other way put them to death, the rate does not decrease. This is also commensurate with the statistics they had when they used to take people who were pickpockets in public squares and hang them or, as in England, chop their hands off. They found that the greatest amount of pickpocketing went on at these public affairs.

For us to move in this direction, I think is to retrogress from the progressive position which we have been taking right along in dealing with people of this type; namely, people who are sick or have unusual problems. I believe this does not resolve the problem. I do not think this will act as a deterrent. With people who have the type of illness which leads to these types of crimes, the illness will remain and you will not get rid of or be treating the area in which this problem first originated.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, in connection with this legislation, I stated, when it was introduced, that I would welcome any suggestions or amendments to the legislation which might improve it or which might offer a solution to the prevention of the type of crime that is being dealt with. I do not, for a moment, disagree with Senator Weiner that every effort should be made to treat the problem, psychologically or psychiatrically, in whatever possible way it may be done.

I would suggest, Mr. President, that this is of such importance that upon disposition of the motion—if it is successful, then, of course, it will go back into committee. If it is not, I would request that the bill go over in order so that further study may be given to it.

Mr. President, I do not pretend to have any broad knowledge on this subject as to how this may be cured. However, I do say that I understand, from what reading I have done, that treatment of these so-called congenital, psychopathic inferiors is not possible and can only be met by keeping them confined and never releasing them.

Also, I believe that I introduced a companion bill in the Senate which would require that before a person convicted of such a crime might be paroled, it would have to be done only with the approval of the judge and the district attorney of the county from which he was convicted.

Mr. President, I would suggest that we proceed to the disposition of the motion and then, if it is unsuccessful, I will make the request.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

YEAS—23

Camiel,	Hays,	Murray,
Devlin,	Kalman,	Ripp,
DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Rooney,
Donolow,	McCreesh,	Sarraï,
Ehrgood,	McGinnis,	Sesler,
Flack,	Mullin,	Seyler,

NAYS—25

Berger,	Kromer,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Lane,	Scott,	Wade,
Confair,	Madigan,	Shafer,	Wagner,
Fleming,	Mallery,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,
Hawbaker,	Miller,	Stroup,	Wolfe,
Keller,	Pechan,	Taylor,	Haluska,
Kessler,			Presiding Officer

So the question was determined in the negative, and the motion to recommit was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 322 go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wonder if the gentleman would withdraw his motion. I would like to move that Senate Bill No. 322, Printer's No. 339, appear on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

Mr. BERGER. I must adhere to my request that the bill go over in its order, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. I have no objection, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

SB 333—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

SB 350—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 350 go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to object. However, I do want to point out to the gentleman, as we have been doing in the past two weeks, that this is a very important measure. This is the Delaware River Basin Compact. Every State has passed it except Pennsylvania. The Federal Government is now implementing this measure, and I feel that any long delay will leave us in the embarrassing position of being the only State that did not pass it.

I think we have a great deal to gain from this compact. I also feel that we, as a State that is involved in this problem, have a great deal to prepare so that we can properly take our place in the compact and adjust our problems as they exist within this framework.

We should not delay this measure and drag it on, only to pass it eventually, because it is a Senate Bill and it must go to the House from here. I hope the gentlemen do not have in mind to eventually kill this measure.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, as one of the sponsors of this bill, it is farthest from my mind that this legislation should be defeated. However, I understand that—and I do not advance my information as being authoritative, but it is sufficiently so that I do not hesitate to mention it—this compact bill under consideration in the Congress may be somewhat changed there.

For that reason, I believe that we ought to know exactly what is going to be done with it before we proceed further in passing it in the Legislature of Pennsylvania. If it is to be amended or changed, then we should know so that we can go along with it. I certainly intend to vote for it, and in moving to put it over in its order today, I simply want to wait and find out what may be done and get some definite information.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to advise the gentleman—and also for the purpose of the record—that I am informed by a gentleman, who I think has some access to some of the Congressmen and also to the front office in Washington, that they are going to go along with this compact, and that the people who took a contrary position in the beginning have now re-evaluated their position and are going to go along with this. There is also supplementary legislation.

I would like to also point out to the gentleman that the States which are involved, with the exception of ourselves, all have passed this legislation and some are no longer in Session, and I do not believe there is any change contemplated. If we amend this bill in any way, we will not be able to participate in this entire program because it has been drafted in the same way in every State in order for it to comply with all of the problems.

There have been—and I would be less than candid if I did not say this—some people in industry who had some qualms about this measure. However, that is true of anything that is new or anything that is different. My recent understanding is that they have withdrawn their objection. They are not throwing their hats in the air, but neither are they opposed to this measure now.

If we are going to pass it, I think in having this behind us we can go with greater force to the Congress and say: "This measure is now through. We want you to move ahead on the thing and let us get it cleared up." I do not think we are in a position to do that with the bill still hanging around on Second Reading in the Senate only.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, undoubtedly the gentleman has far more access to the sources of information that he mentioned certainly than I have.

Mr. President, I would say this: That I have seen a number of compact bills during my tenure in the Senate. I have also seen compact bills which have been amended by other States, and then we were required to amend them.

I do not say that simply because three States have passed it, and Pennsylvania has not, that it is immune from amendment. I mean it can be amended again in another State. A case in point on a similar type of bill, of course, is the Uniform Commercial Code, which is not a compact bill, but which was adopted by Pennsylvania and not adopted by only one or two other States.

Nevertheless, Mr. President, I have no question that Pennsylvania will go along on this compact. However, I do think we ought to know exactly what the Federal Government is going to do because they hold the key to the approval of the compact since they do have the paramount rights on the Delaware River.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am very happy to hear that the gentleman brought up the Uniform Commercial Code because had he listened to me then, he would not have passed that bill at that time as I opposed it and I think I spoke against it. Despite the good advice that I gave the gentleman, he still went ahead and we passed this measure.

Senator, I believe that I cannot be wrong twice along the same lines. Therefore, I am asking you to please support this measure, and you will see that this will turn out all right. If we have to amend it or change it in any way, we will be here in a position to do so, whereas if we wait until the last minute, we may not be able to do that.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not think that last statement is what the gentleman meant to say, because he just got through saying that if we amended it tomorrow, it would not be any good. If we say that we can amend it while we are still here, I do not believe that his point is well-taken.

Consequently, Mr. President, for the time being, I will ask that the bill go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to continue this tennis match. However, I would like to point out that I was only following along with the suggestion made by the Minority Leader that the possibility was that these measures had been amended from time to time, and this might be a problem on which we are waiting to see.

I was just pointing out that some of the Legislatures that have worked on this measure have now adjourned sine die and are not coming back. If the Federal Government would require some change after we have passed it, we at least would be in a position to do so. However, we cannot do anything on it until we take action enabling all of the States to go as a body and say to the Federal Government: "We are ready to move. It is now up to you."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

HB 980 (Pr. No. 2151)—The first and second sections were read and agreed to.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WADE offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 7, by inserting after "made": "including deductions of contributions to employees' welfare and pension plans which are subject to the "Federal Welfare and Pension Plans Discharge Act."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth sections and title were read and agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WADE.

Mr. WEINER, without objection, called up from page 17 of the Calendar, House Concurrent Resolution No. 24, entitled:

General Assembly Urgently Requests All Agencies to Utilize Labor and Material to Alleviate Unemployment in Depressed Areas.

On the question,
Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 24

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the resolution just read by the Clerk.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the bill I am about to introduce is an important bill. It will increase the compensation of our judges, which is long overdue.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. STIEFEL and WEINER, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 730, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1956 (P. L. 1959), entitled "An act fixing the salaries and compensation of the Chief Justice and judges of the Supreme Court, the President Judge and judges of the Superior Court, the judges of the courts of common pleas, . . ." increasing the salaries of judges of courts of common pleas, orphans' courts, County Court and Juvenile Court of Allegheny County and Municipal Court of Philadelphia.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Messrs. STASEY, DEVLIN, MCGINNIS, RIPP and SARRAF, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 731, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to Western Pennsylvania School for Blind Children in Pittsburgh.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

They also, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 732, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to Western Pennsylvania School for the Deaf in Edgewood, Pittsburgh.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Messrs. STASEY, SILVERT and WEINER, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 733, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to The Pennsylvania School for the Deaf in Philadelphia.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Messrs. WARE and STROUP, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 734, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," prescribing payments to be made by foreign students at State Colleges.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

They also, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 735, entitled:

An Act amending the act of December 22, 1951 (P. L. 1726), entitled "Pennsylvania Loyalty Act," excluding from the provisions of the act certain teachers who are citizens or subjects of foreign countries.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DONOLOW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, not so long ago, I had the occasion to be involved in a situation in which a judge, during a criminal investigation, signed an order in the secrecy of his Chamber to a police official, permitting this police official to drill open the safe deposit box of a man,—the holder of the box—who had no connection with the case whatsoever. This police official proceeded to the bank, gave the bank the order, and the bank, without notifying the holder of the box, drilled open the safe deposit box, looked at its contents, found everything in order and then, three days later, informed the holder of the box that his box was drilled open.

Mr. President, this was a most shocking revelation. It was shocking in view of the fact that none of us had any idea that the courts had this type of authority, without serving a petition upon the box holder to show cause why his box should not be opened. When the box holder protested to the bank, the bank apologized and said it was sorry that it permitted such an act.

The bill I am about to introduce, Mr. President, prohibits such an action. It does not prohibit a court from unsealing the box, but it also makes it a duty to serve a petition upon the holder of the box and for the holder of the box to answer such petition to show cause, within forty-eight hours, why his box should not be opened for the reasons set forth.

In the type of a democracy which we practice, this is the least any citizen can expect when the privacy of his safe deposit box is going to be invaded. Therefore, on behalf of Senator McCreesh, Senator Ehrgood, Senator Scott, Senator Camiel and myself, I am presenting this bill.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. DONOLOW, MCCREESH, EHRGOOD, SCOTT and CAMIEL, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 736, entitled:

An Act regulating the procedure for petitioning a court to order a safety deposit box opened in furtherance of a criminal investigation or proceeding.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to thank Senator Haluska for Presiding during my unavoidable absence.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE THE REVISION, MODERNIZATION AND CODIFICATION AGRICULTURE LAWS

Messrs. YATRON and MADIGAN, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 122), which was read and referred to the Committee on Agriculture:

In the Senate, June 5, 1961.

WHEREAS, The laws of this Commonwealth relating to agriculture and its related fields are numerous. Many of them are obsolete since we have entered into the era of modern farming and animal husbandry; and

WHEREAS, Local governmental agencies and other law enforcement agencies are unaware of existing statutes and in many cases duplicate ordinances or ordinances in conflict with existing State laws are sometimes enacted; and

WHEREAS, Inquiries are always being presented in reference to the laws relating to agriculture and many times there is misunderstanding and confusion which results in unnecessary expenditures of the taxpayers money; and

WHEREAS, There is no codification of the agriculture laws and the Acts dealing with farms and farming; therefore be it

RESOLVED (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to investigate the scope and the cost of a project which would result in the revision, modernization and codification of the laws relating to agriculture; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Joint State Government Commission report its findings to the General Assembly as soon as possible.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. STASEY and YATRON, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 737, entitled

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Agriculture for a grant to Pennsylvania State University for the purpose of constructing a soil and forage testing laboratory.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

C. R. BROWN
J. NICHOLS

The SPEAKER. Before the oath of office is administered to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Greenlee, the minority leader desires to make a statement, and the Chair now recognizes the minority leader.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to state for the record that at 11:30 this morning in the Common Pleas Court of Philadelphia an order was made with respect to an election contest regarding the election of James W. Greenlee as a member of this House. It is a rule to show cause which is returnable on June 21, at 10 a. m., having to do with an alleged illegality of the election contest.

We have before us today, however, a certificate from the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the County Election Board in Philadelphia, that Mr. Greenlee has been duly elected. With that before us, we have no other alternative but to go along with his taking the oath of office, depending upon the outcome of the court decision and the final determination of this House, which is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members. Mr. Greenlee will be vested in his seat, subject, however, to being divested in an appropriate proceeding.

The SPEAKER. The oath of office required by Article VII of the Constitution to be taken by members of the General Assembly will now be administered by the Honorable Francis X. McClanaghan, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County, to James W. Greenlee representing the seventh district of the County of Philadelphia.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT MEMBER-ELECT

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a committee to escort the member-elect to the bar of the House to take the oath of office, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dougherty, who will now proceed with their mission.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED

The oath of office was administered to member-elect James W. Greenlee, as follows:

Do you solemnly swear that you will support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of this Commonwealth, and that you will discharge the duties of your office with fidelity; that you have not paid or contributed, or promised to pay or contribute, either directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing to procure your nomination or election, except for necessary and proper expenses expressly authorized by law; that you have not knowingly violated any election law of this Commonwealth, or procured it to be done by others in your behalf; that you will not knowingly receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing for the performance or non-performance of any act or duty pertaining to your office, other than the compensation allowed by law.

Mr. GREENLEE. I do.

The SPEAKER. The committee is dismissed with the thanks of the House, and the member will be escorted to his seat.

The oath of office required by Article VII of the Constitution to be taken by members of the General Assembly will now be administered by the Honorable Robert W. Trembath President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Wyoming and Sullivan Counties the 44th Judicial District to Mrs. Elisabeth S. Wynd representing the County of Wyoming and to Edwin G. Holl, representing the third district of Montgomery County.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT MEMBERS-ELECT

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a committee to escort the members-elect to the bar of the House to take the oath of office, the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel, the lady from Delaware, Mrs. Kernaghan, the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker, and the lady from Lehigh, Mrs. Markley, and the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Willaredt. The committee will now proceed to perform its mission.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED

The oath of office was administered to members-elect Mrs. Elisabeth S. Wynd and Edwin G. Holl as follows:

Do you solemnly swear that you will support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of this Commonwealth and that you will discharge the duties of your office with fidelity; that you have not paid or contributed, or promised to pay or contribute, either directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing to procure your nomination or election, except for necessary and proper expenses expressly authorized by law; that you have not knowingly violated any election law of this Commonwealth, or procured it to be done by others in your behalf; that you will not knowingly receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing for the performance or non-performance of any act or duty pertaining to your office, other than the compensation allowed by law.

Mrs. WYND. I do.

Mr. HOLL. I do.

The SPEAKER. The committee will escort the members just sworn in to their respective seats.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journals of Wednesday, May 3, Thursday, May 4, Monday, May 8, and Tuesday, May 9, 1961? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Wednesday, May 24, 1961, will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. BUSH, FOOR, DONALDSON and KING. RESOLUTION No. 73.

In the House of Representatives, May 24, 1961.

Whereas, Unemployment is one of the most serious problems facing the citizens of Pennsylvania at the present time, largely because of technological changes affecting many of the basic industries in the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The solution to this problem must be found in the creation of new job opportunities; and

Whereas, It is recognized that one of the chief sources for new jobs is the establishment and growth of small business; and

Whereas, It has come to the attention of the sponsors of this resolution that legislation has been introduced in the Senate of the United States in the 87th Congress, entitled Senate Bill No. 2, and in the House of Representatives of the United States in the same Congress, entitled House Bill No. 2003, which would assist small business by granting a measure of tax relief to those small businesses which are expanding their operations, thus creating new job opportunities; and

Whereas, This legislation would provide assistance at the time that small business is most vulnerable, thus helping to insure the continued existence of those job opportunities involved; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize the Congress to give immediate consideration to these measures, entitled Senate Bill No. 2 and House Bill No. 2003; and, be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the presiding officers of both Houses of Congress and to each member of Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. EILBERG, Mrs. S. A. ANDERSON,
Messrs. MULLEN and HEAVEY.

RESOLUTION No. 74.

In the House of Representatives, May 24, 1961.

Resolved (The Senate concurring), That there is hereby established a Commission to be known as The United States Constitution 175th Anniversary Commission of Pennsylvania (hereinafter referred to as the "Commission"), for the celebration of the 175th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution, and to be composed of six commissioners as follows: The Governor of Pennsylvania, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives ex-officio; two persons to be appointed by the Governor; two Senators to be appointed by the President of the Senate; and two Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives; and be it further

Resolved, The commissioners shall receive no compensation for their services, but shall be paid their actual and necessary traveling, hotel, and other expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties; and be it further

Resolved, The Commission shall elect a chairman and appoint a State Director who shall appoint, with the approval of the Commission, such assistants and subordinates as he deems necessary; and be it further

Resolved, That it shall be the duty of the commissioners, after promulgating to the people an address relative to the reason of its creation and that its purpose, to prepare a plan or plans and a program for the adequate celebration of the 175th anniversary, and to give due and proper consideration to any plan or plans which may be submitted to them; and to take such steps as may be necessary in the coordination and correlation of plans prepared by the National Commissioners and by the various local Commissions to be established within the State, or by the several bodies that may be created under appointment by the Governor and by representative civic bodies; and be it further

Resolved, That the Commission shall, make a report at its earliest convenience to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the Commission may receive from any source contributions to aid in carrying out the general purpose of this resolution, but the same shall be explained and accounted for in the same manner as any preparation which may be made in the authority of this act.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. GAILEY, POLEN and DAVIS.

RESOLUTION No. 75.

In the House of Representatives, May 24, 1961.

The Pennsylvania Legislature created a system in 1933 to regulate and control the sale of liquor and malt beverages with the expressed intent of protecting the public welfare, health, peace and morals of the people and of prohibiting forever the return of the open saloon.

The original laws have been frequently amended and the regulations of the Liquor Control Board have been variously interpreted to the extent that doubt and confusion exists in large measure concerning their meaning and intent. These piece-meal attempts to patch up these laws and regulations have simply compounded the confusion and have led to wholesale disregard and contempt of existing laws, together with inability to enforce them.

The Chairman of the Liquor Control Board has stated, "The members of the General Assembly, in framing the original liquor laws nearly 25 years ago, could not possibly have foreseen the great physical changes which have occurred in Pennsylvania in recent years. Population trends in Pennsylvania have been characterized by the development of a pronounced urban economy, affecting both the central city and its suburbs. It seems to me that it would be opportune for the General Assembly, to evaluate anew the laws governing the coordinate problems of licensing and enforcement and to consider remedial legislation."

In the hodge podge of regulations which have grown up over the years there must be rediscovered the fundamental principles and underlying philosophy of alcoholic beverage control. All rules and regulations should be carefully scrutinized to see whether they actually implement the principles and philosophy of alcoholic beverage control. It is essential to preserve the economic health of this industry, for certainly an industry which is economically unhealthy is certain to incubate conditions which are socially unhealthy.

There now exists an urgent need to study, evaluate and appraise the malt beverage industry separately and apart from the liquor industry; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed and authorized to review, investigate, study and consider all of the laws and administrative regulations relating to the manufacture, pricing, possession, sale, consumption, importation, use, storage, transportation and delivery of malt or brewed beverages and to report its findings and conclusions to the 1963 regular session of the General Assembly with proposed legislation embodying a revision and codification of such laws of the Commonwealth to be introduced at such regular session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. McCORMACK and WILLAREDT.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, May 24, 1961.

For some time the members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have been subjected to severe criticism on the part of many citizens, newspapers, radio and television stations due to the recently enacted legislation providing for three thousand dollars ($3000) annually for each member as expense allowance.

It is with satisfaction that the House of Representatives notes that all of the criticism is not adverse but is constructive and objective in its nature. The following is an editorial from WCAU-TV in Philadelphia which adequately sets forth the position of the members of the House of Representatives:

"Do you care about the price and quality of your children's education?

"Do you care about the price and quality of medical care in our State Hospitals?

"Do you care about the price of milk in Pennsylvania—or gasoline? Then you must also care about the pending legislation in the Pennsylvania State Senate which will increase the annual income of our Legislators.

"Our Legislators currently have a salary of $6,000 per year and the House has recently passed a bill adding to that $6,000 salary $3,000 per year of expense money. That bill is currently awaiting State Senate action.

"There has been widely publicized criticism of the proposed increase by our State Legislators of their own income. It is the opinion of WCAU-TV that the criticism of this action has been shortsighted. It is always fashionable and popular to be critical of increased governmental costs. All increased governmental costs, however, are not necessarily bad news.

"The processes of government are becoming increasingly complicated. The budget of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is now approximately one billion dollars a year. We, the citizens of Pennsylvania must have men of skill, judgment, and wisdom representing us in Harrisburg.

"The demands of these men have been expanded greatly in the last few years. The Legislature, which formerly met every other year, is now meeting every year, and the sessions have been running the better part of each year.

"In addition to the days on the floor of the Legislature, their work continues in committee meetings, public and closed hearings, party caucuses and the day to day concerns of their constituents. This work load is most certainly on the increase as the complexity of government increases.

"We think you can see from this that a man who does not have a well established business at home which can run itself without his personal attention, or a man without an independent income, would not be particularly attracted to seeking a legislative office. Men with sufficient skills and the ability to properly represent you may well be tempted by the higher income potential in private industry.

"We are not suggesting that a higher price tag on these jobs will automatically create better Legislators. We are suggesting that this increase will in the future attract a larger number of well qualified candidates. The job of selecting the right man to represent you still rests entirely in your elective hands.

"It may well be that some of the men representing us are not even worth the $6,000 we now pay let alone the $9,000 we endorse. Again, that's up to you. We know that you don't always get what you pay for but we also know that you never get what you don't pay for"; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby congratulates and commends WCAU-TV for its fair and constructive editorial on this question; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mr. John H. Schneider, Vice-President and General Manager of WCAU-TV, City Line Avenue, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 85, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 15, 1951 (P. L. 586), entitled "An act regulating the suspension removal furloughing and reinstatement of police officers in boroughs and townships of the first class having police forces of less than three members and in townships of the second class" excepting certain probationary appointees from suspension and removal provisions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, this bill pertains to police employes, police officers in police departments in any townships of the second class, or any boroughs or townships of the first class, and it sets forth in the present act that no police officer in such police department shall be suspended or removed from office except for the following enumerated reasons, and the present law goes on to spell out the reasons why they can be removed from office, such as physical or mental disability, neglect or violation of duty, violation of any law of this Commonwealth, which provides that such violation constitutes a misdemeanor or felony, inefficiency, neglect, intemperance, disobedience of orders or conduct unbecoming an officer or intoxication while on duty. That is the present law.

What this amendment does is to exclude from the purview of this law policemen who are appointed for a probationary period of one year or less, so that if we adopt the amendment to this law we would be permitting the proper authorities to remove probationary police officers without any reason whatsoever. I feel that the reasons for removal of any officer, as enumerated under the present law, is very broad and all-inclusive, and, therefore, there is no reason why the probationary police officer should be excluded from this law.

What concerns me further is this section of the law that would not apply to probationary police. It says that a person so employed shall not be removed for religious, racial or political reasons. That being so, if this becomes law, you would have the proper authority being able to remove a probationary police officer for racial, religious or political reasons. He would not be covered by the provisions of this present act. They could very well say we do not like this man's politics, and since he is a probationary police officer for a year or less, we have the right to fire him. That probationary police officer then would have no recourse under this law because this provision of the law would not apply to him. Unless somebody who has an interest in this bill can tell me why probationary policemen should be excluded from this law, I must vote against it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 197, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949" providing for special and summer classes for children of migrant laborers requiring the filing of certain reports and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1335, entitled:

An Act amending "The General State Authority Act of one thousand nine hundred forty-nine" approved March 31, 1949 (P. L. 372), increasing the powers and the borrowing capacity of the Authority and allocating the proceeds of such increased borrowing capacity.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. POLEN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. Are these amendments to be read at length or are they accepted?

Mr. McCANN. I will ask if the gentlemen want them read at length. Mr. Tompkins is going to speak against the amendments.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I think interrogation will bring out at length the provisions of the amendment.

The SPEAKER. The interrogation will clarify the amendments.

The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 3, lines 11 and 12, by inserting brackets before and after "and lakes on State land" and inserting immediately thereafter: "reservoirs and lakes."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, lines 16 to 18, by striking out all of lines 16 and 17 and "HUNDRED AND TEN DOLLARS ($869,474,210)" in line 18, and inserting: "eight hundred seventy-four million nine hundred two thousand two hundred twenty dollars ($874,902,220)."

Amend Sec. 2, page 5, line 16, by striking out "35,715,-442" and inserting: "38,470,261."

Amend Sec. 2, page 11, by inserting between lines 12 and 13:

"E. Pennsylvania Fish Commission Recreational Facilities Program ($2,754,819)

Amend Sec. 2, page 22, line 5, by striking out "AND."

Amend Sec. 2, page 22, line 6, by striking out "87,710" and inserting: "2,485,116."

Amend Sec. 2, page 43, line 10, by striking out "12,402,-141" and inserting: "12,677,926."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, as I read these amendments they add projects to the General State Authority bill 1335 in the sum of $2,754,819. Is that right?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. They cover 12 different items. There are several of these items I want to interrogate upon. For instance, item No. 5, East Bangor Dam, Northampton County, acquisition of land and construction of dam; item No. 6, East Branch, Martins Creek, Northampton County, acquisition of land and construction of dam; item No. 7, Delaware River Boating Area, Bucks County, acquisition of land, construction of roads, parking lot, boat launching ramps, docking facilities and sanitary facilities.

Now, my inquiry on those three items is, are all or any one of them included as a part of the Delaware River Basin Development?

Mr. POLEN. They are not, Mr. Speaker. These are purely Fish Commission projects.

Mr. TOMPKINS. These have no relation to any portion of the Delaware River Basin bills that are presently before the House?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Now, going down the list, No. 1, Baltimore and Ohio Reservoirs in Jefferson County, acquisition of land, construction of roads, parking lots, boat launching ramps and sanitary facilities; Lily Lake in Luzerne County, the acquisition of the lake; Negro Glade in Somerset County, construction of dam; Hammer Creek, Lancaster County, acquisition of land and construction of a dam; East Bangor Dam, Northampton County, was covered; Erie Boating Access, Erie County, acquisition of land, construction of roads, parking lot, boat launching ramps, docking facilities, breakwater and sanitary facilities; Ohio River Access, Beaver, Butler and Allegheny Counties, acquisition of land, construction of roads, parking lots and boat launching ramps; item No. 10, Four Mile Run Dam Site, Westmoreland County, acquisition of land; Harvey's Lake, Luzerne County, acquisition of land, construction of boat launching ramps, parking lot and docking facilities; item No. 12, Yellow Creek, Indiana County, acquisition of land and construction of dam.

Now, my interrogation is, the total of them come to $2,754,819. How are these to be financed?

Mr. POLEN. These are to be financed by rental payments paid out of Fish Commission funds.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And what would that annual rental amount to?

Mr. POLEN. It is estimated to be approximately $125,000.

Mr. TOMPKINS. $125,000? Now, can any portion of the money received from the Federal Government be used to pay any of these rentals?

Mr. POLEN. I understand, Mr. Speaker, that on most of the projects approximately 75 percent of the funds can come from the Federal Government.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, a further interrogation: Will the acquisition of any of these lands also take in, or will it ruin, any minerals, subsurface minerals, where the land is located?

Mr. POLEN. It is my understanding it will not.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I understand the one in Indiana County will destroy a tremendous acreage of coal that has given employment to a great number of men for quite a number of years?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, on that I would not be able to answer whether it would or would not, because that item was just given to me and is an additional item which was not in the ones that I previously talked about. It is possible that that is true. I think the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Buchanan, might be able to answer that question.

Mr. TOMPKINS. There is a lot of land acquisition involved in here. Have land prices been fixed so that you know this is the amount for which they can be acquired?

Mr. POLEN. It is my understanding that these properties have long been under acquisition, they have wanted to acquire them, but due to the lack of funds they have been unable to do so, that the prices have been set and that a period of negotiations has been going on for many months.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Have any of the lands been optioned that they know where they stand on them?

Mr. POLEN. I understand that some of the lands are under option and at least all of them have been negotiated for.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is all, Mr. Speaker. I thank the gentleman from Washington.

Mr. Speaker, we are asking here that these twelve projects be added to this bill for the purpose of building boat landings, parking lots, sanitary facilities, and what-have-you, to be paid for out of the Fish Commission funds. I am wondering whether or not the expenditures out of the Fish Commission funds are proper for such purposes. Is that the purpose for which the Fish Commission was created, to build roads, build boat landings, docking facilities, sanitary facilities and acquire a lot of land, or is it to operate a system of fishing in the State of Pennsylvania?

Secondly, with all the furor that we have heard in connection with the lack of funds in the Fish Commission with the decrease in fishing licenses, and so forth, there is no evidence before us that the Fish Commission, even with its present finances, is able to stock and take care of the waters already available to them, and here they are asking for the expenditure of upwards of $125,000 a year for a lot of additional facilities when they cannot take care of what they already have.

I question the advisability of adding these chunks of pork to this bill to be paid for by the Fish Commission without having any indication from the sportsmen as to whether or not they wish to have our sportsmen's money spent for this purpose. For that reason, Mr. Speaker, I oppose this amendment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Cameron mentioned that he questioned whether this money could be spent by the Fish Commission for this purpose. I might say that on projects of this nature the Fish Commission is presently spending money for that purpose. The purpose of this amendment is to advance 15 or 20 years the program in Pennsylvania for the Fish Commission and for the sportsmen.

They have been spending anywhere from $100,000 to $140,000 a year on a piecemeal basis doing this work. They say now that they can advance it 15 to 20 years, and it would seem to me that their purpose is sound, to give to the people, the sportsmen and fishermen in Pennsylvania, these projects to presently use and enjoy rather than have to wait for this number of years, while the cost each year will be practically the same as now being spent and they only have the limited facilities.

This is not, of course, an administration amendment. This amendment was presented by the Fish Commission, and I have talked it over with others who are interested in fishing in Pennsylvania. It is my understanding, at least from the ones who have talked to me, that they are thoroughly for this amendment and they think it is a great advance in Pennsylvania.

I believe, Mr. Speaker, that as long as we are having GSA and we are using it for other projects it may very well be extended to the Fish Commission in order that these benefits will accrue to the sportsmen and fishermen of Pennsylvania.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, what will be the life of the bonds issued to build these?

Mr. POLEN. It has not been determined, but they will be worked out on a basis so that they could be retired in approximately 20 to 25 years, based upon the figures the Fish Commission gave me. That, however, will be determined when the final interest rate is known.

Mr. TOMPKINS. But between 20 and 25 years?

Mr. POLEN. That would be correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask, will a lot of the facilities that are provided for in this amendment be able to stand and live out the life of the bonds?

Mr. POLEN. It is my understanding, Mr. Speaker, that these facilities will be here long, long after the bonds have been paid off. I do not think, Mr. Speaker, that dams and construction of that nature are perishable; they would be permanent.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am thinking now of boat landings, sanitary facilities, launching ramps, and what-have-you that are designed under this bill to be constructed?

Mr. POLEN. I believe, Mr. Speaker, that all the facilities will be here and in good working order when all the bonds have been paid off.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has raised one further question upon which I want to make a remark. He has said that the annual rental to take care of this situation would be $125,000. Then he tells me that they presently are spending about $140,000 a year doing the same thing, but they want to do these things in a hurry. If they only have that amount of money to spend now, then are we going to say that we will spend the entire amount which the Fish Commission has, $125,000 a year, for these purposes, only for these 12 projects, and neglect the rest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania? How much are we cheating the rest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by putting a program of that kind through? I do not think it is fair to the rest of the Commonwealth.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Curwood.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, just a few remarks on this amendment. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cameron just for a minute.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, how many lakes does the gentleman have in his area, in his county, I will say?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I have none and that has absolutely nothing to do with the things involved in this bill.

Mr. CURWOOD. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I did not ask you to give a speech. I just asked you to answer a question. Thank you, Mr. Tompkins.

Here is the way I feel about the program. I think I have had just a little bit of experience in the situation. I think if our fellows about 25 years ago had done the same thing and got these lakes and taken care of them, we would be ahead. It is just like Mr. Polen says, a lake is good fun for a million years and it does not have to be taken care of. We have one particular lake that is on this bill right here. It is a 200-and-some-odd acre lake. It has been there since I was a little boy and I think a lot of little boys before me. It is places like this that the State of Pennsylvania, the State Fish Commission, has got to buy if we are going to sell licenses. Up in Sullivan County we have several, and around different places, and the majority of these are being bought up by individuals and companies, and nobody can fish them.

So my argument is that we must buy these places in order to give our fishermen a chance and a place to fish.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, in this amendment there is $85,172 for the purpose of acquiring land, construction of roads, parking lots, boat ramps, launching ramps, docking facilities, breakwaters, sanitary facilities in Erie County. Now, that is to be at North East. We have tried for years to get the Fish Commission to come up to North East and put in these various facilities that they want to put in now. We need them. You know that the boating business is increasing every year. I do not own a boat, I am not a fisherman, but the people out around this area have been wanting these facilities put in for years. The land is available. I talked to Mr. Day, executive director of the Fish Commission, and he tells me that the Fish Commission is run the same as an ordinary business; they operate from day to day. Now they have come to the conclusion that they will be able to increase their facilities the same as a business, by going to the bank. I would go to the bank and borrow money to make improvements to my business. Here they are asking the GSA to take over the putting in of some of these facilities. I am in favor of the amendments and I intend to vote for them. I ask all the members on this side of the House to vote for them.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, anyone who is familiar with the facts in this particular situation recognizes that this move is one of the greatest and most beneficial moves made by any agency of government in behalf of all the people. Everyone of these sites in here is for public recreation, not just for fishing. Everyone of these sites in here will be immediately available, instead of waiting 15 or 20 years for the probable development of an overall program of this magnitude.

I want to read into the record a letter from Albert M. Day, executive director of the Fish Commission, to Dean Polen, regarding this. He says: "...this would permit the Fish Commission to gain some fifteen or twenty years in its program of acquisition and development of public fishing and boating areas. As of now, we are unable to save enough cash to do more than build a minor project each year. By allocating something like $100,000 per year of license revenue, we can immediately gain the advantage of around $2,500,000," for capital development for public recreation. He says, "There is no problem insofar as the payment of our obligation to GSA is concerned. The obligations of $100,000 per year which would make this program possible would be only a portion of the funds," available from the Dingle-Johnson funds in Washington, D. C., which hands us approximately $140,000 per year now for this identical purpose and can be used to amortize this $2.5 million fund. He also says, "Nobody stands to lose by this approach, but everybody stands to gain."

Now, the point about this is that you accelerate, and you take advantage of, all kinds of adequate financing which the Fish Commission today is unable to do. These projects, these 12 projects, are not going to be the end of the Fish Commission's program for 20 years. It is to be the supplement of an outstanding program. Furthermore, here is the danger, if we do not do this now with the rate that we are getting into the price of recreational land and dam sites in this State, we stand to have private interests, private clubs, individuals who are interested in their own financial development to step in and say to the Fish Commission, in the next two, six, eight or ten years, buy up these sites and then the public loses them forever.

This is a marvelous thing. This is what we should have done long ago, and I here want to publicly congratulate Albert Day for originating it and I think this House should overwhelmingly support it.

The SPEAKER. Can we resolve this difference of opinion by a division?

Mr. McCANN. Yes, Mr. Speaker. We will accept a division, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I have nothing against such projects or such developments in the State of Pennsylvania. But when I have been informed as to the condition of the fish hatcheries in this State, of our stocking program, and of the loss of revenue because of decreased licenses because of the inability of the Fish Commission to keep pace with the facilities they already have, I cannot mortgage the future of the Fish Commission and the present facilities for 20 years and stop them by authorizing these projects.

Whereupon, a division was called for, more than a majority having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I might say that I am not going to offer amendments. We are going to present the problem that I want to present in a different way perhaps tomorrow. I did want to try to write into the bill a declaration of legislative intent that once we obligate the Commonwealth for another $260 million, or for whatever this bill is, that would be the end. So, we are going to do it by another method tomorrow. Therefore, I will not offer my declaration of legislative intent amendments which I had intended to offer.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. A. M. LEE asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. Are these amendments controversial?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, these are very controversial.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that they be read in the short way and I will explain them in the course of my remarks.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 2, ninth line of Title, by striking out "increasing" and inserting: "changing."

Amend Title, page 2, last two lines of Title, by striking out "such increased borrowing capacity" and inserting: "a portion of the borrowing capacity; requiring prior approval of projects by the General Assembly, and providing for the reduction of the Authority's borrowing capacity."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 3, lines 5 and 6, by inserting a bracket before "State" where it appears the second time in line 5 and after "fields" in line 6.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 6, by inserting brackets before and after "and the" and inserting immediately thereafter: "No project shall be started until legislation specifically authorizing the same has been enacted. The"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 5, line 7, by inserting after "thereof": "Upon the retirement of any bonds issued the Authority's power to borrow shall be reduced by the amount of the bonds so retired."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

One on the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, the General State Authority is a creature of the General Assembly and we have literally created a monster.

In 1957 we authorized an increase of $50 million in the borrowing capacity. In 1959 the increase was $140 million. This bill before us today would increase the borrowing capacity of the General State Authority by approximately $250 million. In my opinion, it is rapidly becoming a monument to the fiscal irresponsibility of the State administration.

In 1955, they adopted the principle of writing into the GSA bill the specific projects upon which the funds were to be spent. In 1959, however, House bill 2386 was passed by this General Assembly and included in that bill at one stage of the game were several authorized projects which ultimately were deleted by the General Assembly, and I come to find that, despite the fact that these projects were rejected by the General Assembly, the General State Authority has gone ahead and committed funds of the taxpayers, funds of the General State Authority, for the construction and design of these particular projects which had been rejected.

There are a number of these. As an example, on page 8 of House bill 2386 there was a project to construct facilities at Presque Isle State Park Marina. That was stricken out of the bill before it became law.

Also, on page 18 of House bill 2386 was the purchase and renovation of Pittsburgh Tuberculosis League Institution, the Western Mental Health Center. That likewise was stricken out of the bill before it became law.

However, in the Governor's capital budget there is a section which shows the capital improvements and projects submitted which are under construction. This is a capital budget for 1961-63 which was presented to us earlier this year. In there we find, on page 56, Presque Isle State Park, Erie County Marina, $561,000 committed for design.

Also in the capital budget, on page 67, we find Western Pennsylvania Diagnostic and Evaluation Center budget purchase of property $797,045.

It seems to me incredible, Mr. Speaker, that the legislature should specify as to what these funds in the capital budget are to be used for and then have the General State Authority turn around and in defiance of the will of the legislature to go ahead and build projects which have been rejected by this General Assembly.

In my personal opinion, the real solution and the long-term solution to the problem of GSA, the problem of this monster we have created, is to permit the issuance of general obligation bonds by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which we can do at a less interest rate, and all of these capital improvements would then be submitted to the people of Pennsylvania for their approval. That is the long-range way.

As a first step towards bringing this monster under control, I think what we should do is to pass legislation in this House which will prohibit the General State Authority from committing funds or spending funds in any way on any project which has not been authorized by the General Assembly. To do otherwise is a complete and utter abdication of our Constitutional responsibility. We are handing to someone else a blank check for millions and millions of dollars in taxpayers' funds.

The original planning commission or State planning board recommendations for expenditures under the 1961-63 capital program amounted to about $408 million. The authorizations contained in House bill 1335 amount to approximately $250 million. There is a difference of about $40 million in what the planning board says these projects will cost and what we are being asked to authorize as far as the General State Authority is concerned. Now that 40-some million dollars represents potential unallocated funds which, if the funds become available as unallocated funds, could be expended by the General State Authority on any capital project of any kind, any place in this Commonwealth without further consultation with this General Assembly.

Now I give you an example. By giving this example I do not mean any reflection on the particular project. I just give you an example of how these unallocated funds come about.

In the capital budget is a proposal to build a new general hospital in Ashland, Schuylkill County. The planning board estimates the cost of building this hospital is $5,575,000. The planning board indicates that they expect to receive $1,858,000 in Hill-Burton funds from the Federal Government, so that the net cost of this facility to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would be $3,717,000. However, if you will examine House bill 1335, you will find in there that the General State Authority is asking for an authorization to borrow $6,168,000 for the purpose of building this particular facility.

If they get this $6 million-some-odd-thousand in authorization, and if they receive this $1.8 million from the Federal Government, and if they are able to save additional funds from the loading factor which they apply to all projects, there will be a couple million dollars there in unallocated funds which they can spend in any way they see fit.

I think that is wrong. There are a number of other examples in the capital budget where Federal funds are anticipated to come in from heavy loading in the estimates in the cost of these projects.

As far as my amendments are concerned, Mr. Speaker, I seek in these amendments to write into House bill 1335 a provision that will stop this business of spending money on projects which we do not authorize because that is fiscal irresponsibility at its greatest.

Now, Mr. Speaker, as far as my amendments are concerned, I would like to ask first, as it is my opinion that the question on these amendments is divisible, to have the question on the amendments divided.

The SPEAKER. How does the gentleman desire to divide the question?

Mr. A. M. LEE. The amendment to Section 1, page 4, line 6, providing for the addition of the following language, "No project shall be started until legislation specifically authorizing the same has been enacted." I would like the question on that particular amendment to be put first and, in the event it fails, I would withdraw the other amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair believes that the suggestion is in line with acceptable procedure and, without objection, the question will be so divided.

The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I had not concluded my remarks. I would like to conclude with a few other remarks.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has the floor.

Mr. A. M. LEE. The amendment which is now being considered would say specifically that no project could be started until we, the legislature, had specifically authorized it.

It seems to me that this is one of the most reasonable and sensible sort of things that could possibly be done in connection with a bill that carries authorization for the expenditure of so many millions of dollars and which commits the tax-paying public of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the repayment of those tremendous sums.

I would just like to say to my colleagues in Philadelphia who have recently shown a growing interest in fiscal responsibility that this is their opportunity, if ever there was one, because on these amendments there is a clear choice between responsibility and irresponsibility.

Mr. Speaker, I move the adoption of this amendment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Lee of Philadelphia, in discussing the amendment that will be voted on first, must be aware that the General State Authority at one time never indicated any projects to the General Assembly. It was created by the General Assembly. In the law in which you created the authority you designated who shall serve on that authority and who shall have appointive powers to serve on the authority. Therefore, on the executive committee of the General State Authority, there serves the Speaker of this House, The President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the minority leader or his designate, the Speaker's appointee, the Secretary of Internal Affairs, the Auditor General, the State Treasurer and an appointment of the Governor. Those are the twelve people who serve on the executive committee. In all the projects there are unallocated funds. For example, we are probably right at this point, in June of 1961, in the neighborhood of maybe about $9 million of unallocated funds.

In the executive committee of the General State Authority there is also a priority committee which acts on these projects, and the executive committee then approves or disapproves. For example, take the TB hospital in Pittsburgh which was struck out of the GSA bill a year ago. It was, at that time, I believe, a question of the value of the purchase of a Pittsburgh Tuberculosis League hospital which is no longer in use. I was a member of that committee, along with the then Auditor General of this Commonwealth, Charles C. Smith, who personally examined those facilities and came back and recommended the purchase of that hospital for the now Western Diagnostic Clinic that the gentleman speaks about. There is no question of the value to the Commonwealth, absolutely no question of the dollar value; no question of a thorough investigation; and then it was approved in executive committee. There was not legislative approval, but the executive committee of the General State Authority does have such authority. And yet since that time there have been additional dormitories built at state colleges and other facilities for which planning stages of programs were enacted. It is not any one person who does this. It is not that any legislative right is taken away. It is not that programs are approved which do not go through the executive committee. For example, we could tell you very plainly concerning all the programs you approved in the present House bill 1335, that the priorities committee and the executive committee could never, if they so desired, ever build any of those projects. They would not be built, they would not be approved. There is nothing that is fiscal irresponsibility; there is sound fiscal responsibility here in this program.

I say to you on the programs that we do try to step up, both in welfare and in education, these being the two main fields, the executive committee does have the right and those projects should proceed from the unallocated funds. Therefore, I rise to oppose the amendment to Section 1, subsection 4, on page 4, that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee, has offered, that no projects shall be started until legislation specifically authorizing the same has been enacted, and so forth.

This amendment as it is proposed here, I believe, we should vote down because we are in the position right now of $9 million unallocated funds with which projects that are needed in the Commonwealth can be built. In addition, from the construction that is now in the 1960-61 year, it would be a rough estimate that there would be between $3 to $5 million additional money in the unallocated funds which would go to projects that are needed.

To say to you that you ought to stop this program is saying to you that you do not want to proceed with the heavy program which we have both in welfare, health and education, for these are extremely heavy. In the preparation of 1335, in its original status last year, there was over $600 million worth of projects. So, therefore, priorities have to be established. These are things that are needed, and I do not think there is any fiscal irresponsibility, and I can stand here and say I know that men like the Speaker and others who serve on that executive committee will never permit fiscal irresponsibility. For that reason I ask that you vote against the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, let me say that I could not disagree more with what the gentleman from Greene said, whatever he said.

He talked about a lot of people, he talked about a lot of worthwhile projects, and so forth, and then all of a sudden he was on the side of fiscal responsibility. I just do not believe it because, so far as this legislature is concerned—I do not care what the history of the General State Authority is—as far as we are concerned, if we did things right the first time in this legislature we could probably go home and stay home for four or five years before we would have to come back. When we put legislation on the books, we always have to work with it and perhaps we do make mistakes, and, if we do, we ought to face up to them and they should be rectified.

Let me say also, I did not deal in any personalities when I talked about this, but it just seems to me incredible that the gentleman from Greene cannot get a grip on the fundamental issue here, which is whether or not we, the members of the General Assembly, are going to have the say as to what projects are built under a capital program. That is not unreasonable, is it, that we should ask that we should have the say? We should not be required to give anybody, no matter how august a body it may be, a blank check for nine-point-some-million dollars and a further blank check in this $250-million authorization. I do not think it is right, I do not think it should be done, and that is the purpose of the amendment.

If we are going to set about to do these programs for the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania, we ought to sit here and decide how much in capital funds we are going to expend, and we, the legislature, ought to then sit down and decide exactly how they are going to be allocated. We can set the priority schedule. There is nothing wrong with that, that is our right, that is our duty to do that. But, as far as I am concerned, I think it is typical of all the operations of this State administration.

A number of weeks ago we had a highway code, and I offered an amendment to that highway code to require the Secretary of Highways to submit to this legislature a capital program for State highways. But, no, the majority party in this House wants the Secretary of Highways to do that planning for all the people of Pennsylvania in secret. Now, that is fiscal irresponsibility, and it is fiscal irresponsibility in this situation too. As far as I am concerned, I think we ought to put an end to it while we have the opportunity.

I ask for a roll call, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, as much as I have disagreed with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee, in the past, I am inclined to agree with him as to the reasonableness of this amendment.

I do not appreciate the applause coming from the minority side. I would appreciate a little over here, which I do not think I am going to get.

Nevertheless, I listened to this debate and I thought about this for a long time. I was aided in my thinking by a brochure called "The Legislative Spotlight," published monthly by the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, which, despite the fact that I find myself in disagreement with their philosophy, nevertheless, on this one rather important issue I have learned a lot and I am inclined to agree with some of the statements they make in this brochure. They went very carefully into Pennsylvania's bonded indebtedness and they subtitled the report, "An Increase in Indebtedness, A Decrease In Control." There is no question in my mind, despite the manifestations of protest by the majority leader, that there is legislative control by the members of the General State Authority. I consider legislative control as being control by every member of this House on the floor of this House to cast his and her vote. I am not at all satisfied with what the General State Authority has been doing, despite the fact that there are members on that Authority who are personal friends of mine and with whom I have served in the House. I think that a lot of these projects are viewed very casually and, too, I think a lot of these projects authorized, in the final analysis, are so authorized by the Governor. For that reason, I want to bring some control back into this House.

Again I say, the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Philadelphia is a reasonable one.

In this discussion by the Chamber they go back to a 1947 loan there for $50 million. I believe that we have not resorted to that constitutional amendment since that time. They cite the fact that general obligation borrowing by means of a constitutional amendment of course, is a cumbersome thing; it requires two successive legislative sessions to pass such an amendment and it normally involves two governors, the one governor recommends it and the other one reaps the benefits of the prior administration.

In 1949 this constitutional amendment was short-circuited when we set up this General State Authority. It was soon joined by the highway and bridge authorities, which had a borrowing capacity at that time of $40 million.

I am trying to extract what I want to say from this. I do not want to be too long and, therefore, I do not want to read at length. Anyhow, as a result of the General State Authority and the other authorities we have really simplified the borrowing process for ourselves as legislators and, except for the Korean Bonus loan, we have not had this constitutional amendment.

Mr. Speaker, each Legislative session since 1949 has seen an increase. Since I have been here I believe I have voted in every session of the legislature to increase the borrowing capacity of the authorities. I find that last session the legislature, in voting on the General State Authority increase, deleted several items which I believe were alluded to by the gentleman from Philadelphia. Despite the fact that they have been deleted, we find that after we adjourned the authority reinstated these projects, despite the fact that we had specifically eliminated them.

Since the authorities came into being as a result of legislative action, there is no question but we are the principals and the authorities are the agents for us and for the Commonwealth. Under the law the agents—I am using this analogy because I feel that it certainly is to the point—must follow what the principal has determined. If we sit in legislative session and strike out provisions of an increase in authorization, that is our instructions to the agent, to the authority, not to proceed. If the agent does, nevertheless, proceed, he is in violation of that agreement. When you are dealing with millions of dollars, I think it is rather important that the authority adhere strictly to the principles of principal and agent and not deviate from the instructions that we in legislative session have issued.

Apart from my thinking on this, and I would be glad to listen to the contrary and have it explained to me that I am wrong, I examined the Capital Budget 1961-1962. Now I did not check who appointed the State planning board, but I can tell you who some of the members are. I believe the Governor appoints them. Is that correct, Mr. Majority Leader? You nod in agreement.

These members are appointed by the Governor, they include John Robin, the chairman, who is the executive vice president of the Philadelphia Development Corporation. They include the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Forests and Waters, the Secretary of Highways, Harry Boyer, the president of the AFL-CIO, Senator Clark, and a number of others, clearly, men from both the Republican Party and the Democratic Party. What did they say about this? Here is what they say in the report submitted to Governor Lawrence:

"It is urged by the Board that the legislative act"—I am reading on page 74 of the Capital Budget—"authorizing any increase in the borrowing power of the General State Authority should specifically designate the projects which are to be financed through the additional borrowing. This reflects the conviction that the initiation of major public works should be a matter of legislative determination rather than being left to the decision of the members of the General State Authority. The primary function of the Authority should be to effectuate the decisions of the General Assembly, as approved by the Governor, and not, on its own volition, to decide which projects should or should not be constructed. The only flexibility contained in the authorizing act should be permission for the Authority to reallocate from one authorized project to another authorized project such small proportions of individual allocations as are necessary to accommodate unforeseeable changes in project costs."

Now, that is from the State planning board. That is from the Democratic administration. Our administration in Harrisburg has submitted to the Governor a report that embodies the essence of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee. So, therefore, who can say that it is not a reasonable one?

The conclusions reached by the Chamber of Commerce are very brief, they are to the point, and, therefore, I will ask the indulgence of the House while I read those conclusions as food for thought:

"1. The debt of the Commonwealth is high and undoubtedly will go higher with a great chance for greater reliance or type of debt not subject to constitutional restrictions.

"2. The procedures for authorizing payment of debts are badly in need of overhaul. Very large increases in debt are authorized in a casual fashion with a minimum of consideration by the legislature and with no review by the electorate. The State Constitution should be amended to get use of full faith and credit debt with the consent of the voters when practical.

3. Legislative controls on the use of money borrowed by authorities are almost nonexistent. The spending decisions of the General State Authority amount at times to appropriations not subject to legislative review. The legislature should reassert its control over this type of expenditure at once.

Now, I say to you, Mr. Speaker, if it is good enough for the State planning board, if it is good enough for the Chamber of Commerce, I think that we should think seriously about rejecting such a useful amendment and say to the voters once again, if we are not going to resort to constitutional-amendment borrowing because it is too cumbersome, then, at least, we, the legislative representatives in a republican form of government, are going to see that we do not delegate that authority to any authority that is not responsible to the will of the people. I say, further, that there was a bill introduced in the legislature which hung around on the calendar for several weeks, or even a month, that would authorize substitutions on the General State Authority. So, we are getting away from that fiscal responsibility. Let's get back to it; let's adopt this amendment and show the people we really do care about these millions of dollars that we are authorizing for worthwhile purposes.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia specifically read what the State planning board recommended and it dealt with the additional borrowing power. There is nothing in this bill that does not meet every requirement there. Evidently he is unaware of unallocated funds that are a part of the General State Authority from all the projects after they are completed. It is from this money, these unallocated funds, that these projects are completed. You will not find anything in the bill that is contrary to what the State planning board recommended, because it is all listed in the borrowing power.

You are evidently not aware, and the Speaker certainly understands, as do others, that there is in every project, when the project is completed, a certain portion of every project which had been set up quite some time ago, and when it is done there is an unallocated fund return. It goes to the unallocated fund of the General State Authority. This is the $9 million I spoke about a moment ago.

There is no fiscal irresponsibility in this. All the projects are outlined there on the borrowing power, the additional, or new borrowing power, of the bonds for the General State Authority.

The unallocated funds that are returned to the GSA are from the bonds that have been approved in the borrowing power and it is these projects then that were spoken about by Mr. Lee from Philadelphia.

I ask again that the membership of this House vote down these amendments, and I understand there will be a roll call. I believe there was a request for a roll call on the amendments to House bill 1335.

Mr. MULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I am in a very difficult position as to how to vote on these amendments, as are a number of us on this side. We certainly are in agreement with them in many respects because at least it is the first step I have seen during this session that has been taken that will try to bring a halt to this spend, spend, spend idea that seems to be prevalent on both sides of the House.

The question is, what to do. Of course I am very concerned about the bill itself, as well as the amendments. I am afraid if we vote for the amendments, it certainly will not do any good for our particular side. It is certainly regrettable that we did not present the amendments, because I think they would be very beneficial for sound fiscal responsibility.

On the other hand, when we look at the program as a whole, it is certainly going to mean that there are going to be additional taxes that will have to be levied, if not this year, next year or the year after.

But at the same time, I think we should put our administration on guard to consider the amendments and try to do something about it. Of course, it is a very difficult job to do anything about something like this, because you are taking care of the members on both sides of the House. In other words it is a General State Authority bill. I do not think there are many members whose counties have not been remembered. That is what makes it so difficult on this type of legislation.

What to do about it? I think the administration certainly ought to give very serious consideration to the amendments, but not at this time. I think that if we look at them next year after having warned the administration and after having warned the executive committee what Mr. McCann is speaking about, I think we can come up with some sort of an amendment that will bring a halt to this spending which we have been voting for session after session.

I am going to vote against the amendments, although I sympathize with them 100 percent, and I think we are going to have to do something on this side, at least next year, to get our people to view this type of amendment with very serious consideration. Thank you.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I am very impressed by the pious and economically and fiscally responsible statements of my three colleagues from Philadelphia County.

I would like to try to be constructive, something which I do not think this particular amendment is.

From my own experience, Mr. Speaker, and I venture to say that most of us here will bear me out, there is no easier way to reach the people than to talk about their pocketbook.

So let us be constructive.

Why is the General State Authority in existence? Frankly, because of a provision in our State Constitution which excludes a bonded indebtedness, in spite of Mr. Lee's assertions, in excess of $1 million, except for the purposes of highway construction.

Mr. Speaker, I think that a constructive attempt to meet this problem, if it does in fact exist, would be to alter our Constitution in this respect.

I am the first one to admit that altering constitutions is a difficult procedure, but nevertheless I think we owe the obligation of making the attempt.

Mr. Speaker, I also want to make this observation and I have not been on the scene too long, but it seems to me that many, many communities throughout the State, and I would venture to say there is hardly a member here whose community does not benefit in some way from the activities of the General State Authority since it came into existence.

Mr. Speaker, as I understand the argument of the two gentlemen who spoke previously, they say that the legislature is losing control. Gentlemen, I suggest to you, and I say this in all sincerity, with no attempt on my part to be partisan, that what you suggest, what you advocate, by this amendment would create the most gigantic pork barrel that ever hit Pennsylvania, because we would sit here in a horse trade in the halls of the legislature as to which projects are going to have which priority.

Mr. Speaker, we have all had experience, to a limited degree at least, with the highway omnibus bill. To me it is a pork barrel. I have always considered it a pork barrel. I wish it did not exist, and I say to you, should this amendment be adopted, you will have identically the same thing in terms of capital improvements throughout the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I do not think this is fiscal irresponsibility to have legislation as is suggested here about the amendments you propose. I think this is a perfect form of delegated legislative responsibility and appropriate delegation of legislative responsibility. It is not in the hands of one party or one administration. Certainly you have your members who can make sounding boards of that same commission, that same authority, for if they err, then you are protected.

Mr. Speaker, I think the amendment is destructive to good government and certainly not constructive.

I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee, and as he is very intelligent, he will know our rules say that after the second round—

Mr. A. M. LEE. I appreciate that, Mr. Speaker. I thank the gentleman for his courtesy.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed. The Chair hears no objection.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Erie implied that I was not familiar with the fact that we would have to amend the Constitution in order to issue general obligation bonds. I can assure him I am familiar with that fact and I am the sponsor of a bill which is presently in committee in this House which would propose that amendment so that could be done.

The second thing I want to say is: It seems to me that the gentleman from Erie is having the same difficulty that the gentleman from Greene is having in getting a grip on this thing. He complains that if we return this authority to the legislature then we will sit around here and horse trade. It certainly seems to me that since we are the elected representatives of the people, if anybody is going to do the horse trading, it ought to be us, the members of the legislature, rather than 12 people sitting in a room some place, because if you try to tell me that horse trading does not go on at the present time, why I say you are just incorrect.

The third thing I want to say, Mr. Speaker, is in deference to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Mullen. He is apparently having some misgivings about this bill, and I would make the offer to him that if credit for the sponsorship of the amendments will be the determining factor in his casting his vote, I would be happy to withdraw my sponsorship of these amendments and let him go on them.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to compliment the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, on the statesmanlike attitude that he employed in commenting on the amendments. I was also pleased by the statement made by the other gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Mullen, until he got to the point where he said that the amendment should be delayed until next year.

If the amendments are going to be good next year, why should they not be good this year? Why should we wait until the horse is stolen before we lock the barn?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the lady from Philadelphia.

Mrs. PASHLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee, what Philadelphia ever got out of horse trading around the halls of this legislature? I think Philadelphia seems to do pretty well with the General State Authority.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. A. M. LEE and McCANN and were as follows:

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. ESHLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ADAMS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the parties responsible—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield? The gentleman has asked consent to make a brief statement.

Mr. McCANN. Is this the resolution he is speaking about?

Mr. ADAMS. No, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman has asked unanimous consent to make a brief statement.

Mr. McCANN. I have no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears no objection. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the parties responsible for replacing the 62 burned-out light bulbs and the other light bulbs—

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I object. Let us proceed with the calendar.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, there is nothing wrong with the statement of Mr. Adams. I think he has been treated very unfairly in this House and I think he has a right to speak. I think he has done an admirable job in calling attention to the serious defects in this lighting and I think he is entitled to speak about it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Berks has the floor. The gentleman is speaking on unanimous consent. There was no objection at the time the gentleman started to speak.

Mr. ADAMS. I will make it very brief. I thank the parties responsible for putting in the extra lights. It has shed a lot of light on the subject.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EHRCOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EHRCOOD. Mr. President, I am about to introduce a bill, dealing with State scholarships and with student loans. I would be hopeful that this bill would come to the attention of the six Members of the Senate who are on the Select Committee on Education.

As you know, Mr. President, in 1957, Senator Dent and I cosponsored a student loan bill. In the 1959 Session and in the present Session, Senator Silvert and I cosponsored a student loan bill. Also, I later introduced a scholarship bill. None of these bills has any magic in itself. Of course, there is a bill, known as Senate Bill No. 611, on our Second Reading Calendar at this time. This bill raises certain questions and, therefore, with a little more study, I came up with the bill which I am about to introduce.

Not to explain but at least to bring to the knowledge of the Members of the Senate, preliminarily this bill it would set up a Higher Education Assistance Authority, which would take cognizance and have authority over both the scholarships and the loans. It would relieve a lot of tedious detail which presently exists in the Department of Public Instruction. It would set up in this Authority something which is logically all in one bit, which would be the items dealing with scholarships in higher education and loans.

Secondly, it would do something which is very important. As you know, Mr. President, we now have the State Council of Education, giving, on a competitive basis, scholarships in the various counties. This bill would retain that feature. Of course, however, it would be under the auspices of this Higher Education Assistance Authority. More than that, it would divide and put in a second class of scholarships. The bill would provide for 600 additional scholarships to individuals attending private institutions of higher learning. In order words, this bill would provide that if a child desires to go to Gettysburg College or to Villanova College, there would be, on the basis of competitive examination, a scholarship awarded. In effect, it provides for a new concept of State scholarships; that being State scholarships which would go to these institutions of higher learning that are not publicly owned or receive public funds.

The reason for this measure and these 600 scholarships is that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania now does aid the four universities. In that aid which they are receiving, they are receiving, in effect, money to be used for the students of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. There has been, however, a great lag or a great vacuum as to students who desire to go to an institution and do not have the money to go to a private institution. This does not give them the $200, but it gives them, on the basis of these competitive scholarships, the value of the tuition which that individual, private institution charges on the basis of tuition. The Authority would be made up of nine members, consisting of the Governor, various other public officials, and also the Senate President pro tempore and the Speaker of the House, who have the power to appoint others. The Authority would have full control not only over the scholarships, but over the student loan fund. I think it important that we do not get too embellished with the idea of the student loan fund because, after all, the National Defense Education Act has proven, in places like the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, that State funds which are provided have not been used because of the Federal funds that the students desire to use.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am about to introduce this bill, with the hope that the committee will seriously consider it and, perhaps, amalgamate it into their own bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I find, as Presiding Officer, that I must refer this bill to the Committee on Education rather than to the Select Committee, as the gentleman suggested. However, if I may play another role for just a moment, I will say that I shall be glad to have the Committee on Education consider giving this bill and perhaps other bills, dealing with problems in the Governor's Report, to the Select Committee. I think, under the rules by which we are operating, I must refer the bill, initially, to the Committee on Education.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. EHRGOOD, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 738, entitled:

An Act providing for assistance to needy Pennsylvania students desiring to attend institutions of higher education within the Commonwealth; creating the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Authority; defining the powers and duties of its board of directors; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DONOLOW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, all the Members of this Senate, as well as the Members of the House, received a letter yesterday from our distinguished Attorney General. In that letter, she set forth that in 1959 she had introduced in the House a Court Administrator Bill, which never came out of committee. This is the first time I knew that in 1959 a Court Administrator Bill was introduced. Therefore, Mr. President, I called for that bill yesterday afternoon. I find that this bill, which the Attorney General sponsored in 1959, is exactly the same type of bill that I am trying to get this Senate to pass. It is the same type of bill that I have been trying to put amendments into Senate Bill No. 441 to accomplish; mainly, that there should be one administrator in the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who shall have jurisdiction over all the judicial districts and, secondly, that this administrator shall have the power to move judges from county to county as he sees fit and as the necessity becomes apparent from the backing of cases.

Mr. President, I am happy to say that the Attorney General and I agree in that we are both trying to accomplish the same purpose.

Therefore, Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure to introduce the 1959 Attorney General's bill for a court administrator, today, in 1961, with my wholehearted endorsement.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. DONOLOW, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 739, entitled:

An Act for the improvement of the judicial system by providing for an administrator for the courts and for an annual conference of judges.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Messrs. SHAFER, STROUP and BERGER, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 740, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Supreme Court to appoint administrators for courts of record in counties of the first and second class, to define their powers and duties and fix their compensation, and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Messrs. FLEMING, WOLFE and SHAFER, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 741, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "The Penal Code," requiring a receipt containing certain items in the case of an installment sale and imposing a penalty.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. McCREESH, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, reported, as committed, SB 343, 413, 420, HB 10, 555, 1025, 1076 and 1085; as amended, SB 342, 344 and 345.

Mr. KALMAN, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, SB 596, 597, 632, 661, 663, 670 and 678.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

SB 616 (Pr. No. 704)—On the question, Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 616, Printer's No. 704, passed third reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.
And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?
Mr. STEVENSON, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1102), page 2, line 6, by inserting after "time": other than within four years of the rejection by the voters of any city of the "council-manager plan" pursuant to the act of July 15, 1957 (P. L. 901) known as the "Optional Third Class City Charter Law" and its amendments."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1102), page 2, line 12, by inserting after "ordinance": except that each department of the city government shall continue to be under the supervision and direction of an elected commissioner.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. STEVENSON.

Less than a majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative, and the bill was defeated.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, this statement is only in the nature of an observation.

I see, and I know, that on Sunday all clubs are open in Philadelphia, and probably throughout the Commonwealth. Some of these clubs acquired ancient charters as singing societies, literary societies, and dancing groups. However, you do not see anybody dancing there, you do not see anybody delivering literary essays, and you do not see anybody singing. All they do is imbibe liquor. They are open all throughout Sunday, at any hours, until four o'clock in the morning.

I feel this is the worst discrimination. For the people who are struggling and the people of the lower middle class who want to take a drink, we limit the time. If we want to extend it for two hours, down comes the negative vote. Yet, the opulent continue to join the succulent.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to point out to the gentleman who just spoke that the theme song of the singing societies is: "Never on Sunday."

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

HB 987 (Pr. No. 1576)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I rise to oppose the passage of this bill.

I think this bill has quite a bit of danger in it. A person seventeen years of age, together with his or her spouse who is twenty-one or over, would thus be able to convey or to mortgage real estate. I can see a situation where either a young man or a young woman, under twenty-one, owning real estate with a spouse over twenty-one could give a good deed. I think this is not a step in the right direction.

Also, under a bond and warrant accompanying a mortgage, the minor seventeen years of age or over, together with a spouse of twenty-one or over, could give a good bond and warrant. This is a radical departure from the law of Pennsylvania. I am not content in my own mind that a young man or a young woman, seventeen years of age, fully realizes the effect of a bond and warrant. I do not think they have the discretion that should enable them to give a good deed, a good mortgage, or a good bond and warrant.

Therefore, I am voting against this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no real feeling about this bill in either direction. However, I think the other side is entitled to equal time.

I just want to say that I think we ought to consider here that there are situations—and the fact that early marriages are prevalent today in a great many of the areas of our Commonwealth—which make this type of legislation something to be well-considered. There are situations where the husband may be twenty-one, which makes one an adult, and the spouse in chronological age may be only eighteen or nineteen, which makes one a minor. The age or age grouping is what decides this. This is arbitrary. There is nothing to indicate that a person twenty-one years old is more mature than a person who is sixteen or seventeen except that in chronological years and by custom and by usage this has become the sine qua non which brings one to maturity.

I do think we ought to give this some consideration because there are many situations where people find themselves in the position where they should obtain a mortgage, or try to obtain one, without going through the legal mumbo jumbo that you must go through,—and I say this with all due respect to lawyers and those ap-purtenant thereto—which may preclude someone from carrying out some act or acts they would like to do.

I am not speaking on behalf of this legislation. I just wanted to point out the other side of it, because I have no real feeling about this either way.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, in very brief reply to the Majority Leader, I do not think people are getting married any younger today than they were twenty years ago or one hundred years ago.

This legal mumbo jumbo, under the law of Pennsylvania, is to protect the rights of people under the age of twenty-one years.

Shall the bill pass finally?

STUDENTS WELCOMED TO THE SENATE

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I am pleased to present to the Senate a group of students from the fourth grade of the Hays School. Hays School is situated in Wilson Borough, one of the boroughs in my District.

This group consists of twenty-eight students, and they are accompanied here by Mrs. Darwin Gano, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. James Bartholomew, Mrs. William Ferency, Mrs. Eugene Basta, Mrs. Edward Starniri and Miss Gloria Eyrich. Also, along with them is Miss Jane Brader, their principal.

These young students have something in common with the Senate of Pennsylvania. They are evenly divided. I took a poll this morning and found that they consist of fourteen young Democrats and fourteen young Republicans.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is happy to recognize the balanced delegation of young citizens from Wilson Borough, in Northampton County. We are so happy that you brought in some of the brightness which, I am sure, is outside today, and have brightened up this Senate Chamber with your presence.

Will you please rise in order for us to recognize you, the young citizens from Wilson Borough?

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

HB 442 (Pr. No. 2147)—The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I wish to offer an amendment to House Bill No. 442, which will bring the bill back to its original form as it passed the House. I understand that the bill has a better opportunity of passing with the amendment deleted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 4, line 12, by striking out "thirty-six" and inserting: eighteen

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 473 (Pr. No. 518)—Read at length the second time, On the question,

Mr. CONFAIR offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 6), page 3, line 9, by striking out the brackets before and after "less a discount if."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 6), page 3, line 9, by striking out "If."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 6), page 3, line 10 to 13, by striking out "and he presents proof that he allowed for shrinkage" in line 10, and all of lines 11 to 13.

Amend Sec 1 (Sec. 6), page 4, by inserting between lines 5 and 6:

Every distributor shall pay or credit to each retail dealer the sum of fifty cents (35¢) per one thousand gallons or fraction thereof liquid fuels delivered to such dealer as an allowance for shrinkage evaporation or spillage. Such allowance shall be paid or credited by every distributor on or before the last day of July each year covering the deliveries made during the preceding year ending June 30th. Any such allowance paid or credited shall be deducted by the distributor from the tax due and payable to the Commonwealth for the month in which such allowance is actually paid or credited.

Amend Title, page 2, fifth line of Title, by striking out "requiring distributors to allow" and inserting: allowing Amend Title, page 2, last two lines of Title, by striking out "as a condition to" in next to last line, and all of last line of Title.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lycoming, Senator Confair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Confair, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CONFAIR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, will the gentleman explain just what his amendments do to this bill?

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, the distributor will pay, at the end of every six months, back to the retailer at the rate of thirty-five cents per thousand gallons, as a credit to him for his loss. Then the distributor will deduct it from his payment to the Commonwealth.

Mr. SILVERT. Under this bill, if it passes, there would be no money taken out of the State Treasury. Is that correct?

Mr. CONFAIR. No money will be taken out of the State Treasury. The distributor will pay it.

Mr. SILVERT. I wish to thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, the distributor will pay the amount of money which he ordinarily would give to the State Treasurer. He will deduct that amount to be returned to the retailer. Is that understood?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

This will further cost the Commonwealth money and weaken the entire program, as it is now set up.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, as I understand these amendments, under the bill as it is presently written, the distributor gives so many cents per thousand gallons to the retailer. Then, the distributor is left holding the bag.

As I understand the explanation of the amendments, when the distributor gives a credit to the fellow who sells the gasoline of thirty-five cents per thousand gallons, he, in turn, takes a credit against what he sends to the Commonwealth. In other words, the thirty-five cents is given back to the retailer. Why should we leave the distributor holding the bag on that?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, the reason the Senate Finance Committee considered this bill favorably was on the assurance that it would not cost the Commonwealth one penny. This is a situation where an allowance is made to distributors for evaporation, and the distributor will share what he receives with the retailer. If this is going to take money out of the State Treasury, then I intend to vote against the amendments.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, again, I may be wrong because I have not studied the amendments. However, I understand that with gasoline, there is so much which evaporates. Under the present law, the retailer has to pay the tax on that gasoline whether he sells it or whether it evaporates without being sold and being used on the highways.

This bill would give the retailer a small shrinkage credit. If this bill passes, the distributor—the refiner—is caught where he has to give the shrinkage allowance to the fellow who sells the gasoline for gasoline which was never used on the highways, and, yet, he cannot look to the Commonwealth for credit for that same gasoline that was never used in Pennsylvania. I understand that is the purpose of these amendments. I think they are very fair.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I still object to them. If that were the situation, I do not think the majority in the Finance Committee would have approved this bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Confair, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CONFAIR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to state to the gentleman that I am favorable to this bill. I am not sure what the amendments do, and I would like to ask the gentleman what is his estimate of the cost of this in loss of revenue to the Commonwealth?

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I have not estimated it.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

I wish I had known about the amendments. I wish we had some way of finding out this very important fact, because I, personally, am not ready to vote on the amendments until I know just what that would be. I would suggest that the gentleman hold his amendments until he can get the information to accompany the amendments so that we know that answer. Otherwise, many of us who are favorable to the idea will be forced, I am afraid, to vote "no."

My suggestion would be, in view of the fact that the information is not available, that we let the bill go over in its order without amendments, and that he offer the amendments tomorrow when he is able to accompany his amendments with the information that we need to make a judgment on them.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I was listening to the debate here, and I recall that we had similar legislation before us quite a number of years ago. At that time, if my memory serves me correctly, it was pointed out that there is a considerable amount of shrinkage given to the distributors by the Commonwealth whereby they are exempt from paying the tax.

In view of the fact that we have increased the tax on gasoline by two cents a gallon, I think the wise thing to do would be to withhold these amendments until tomorrow. Let us go over to the Liquid Fuels Tax Division, in the Department of Revenue, and secure adequate information with reference to the amendments and to the bill itself. In that way, we will know what we are doing.

I would like to vote for the amendments, but I am afraid I cannot do so unless I know what I am voting for.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I now withdraw the amendments, and I will request that the bill go over in its order until tomorrow.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Confair, of Lycoming County, withdraws the proposed amendments to Senate Bill No. 463, Printer's No. 518, and has requested that the bill go over in its order. Hearing no objection, Senate Bill No. 473, on second reading, will go over in its order.

SB 514 (Pr. No. 569)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. SILVERT, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported, as amended, SB 111.

He also, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Banking, reported, as amended, SB 456.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS, LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. DEVLIN, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Executive Nominations, reported the following nomination, made by His Excellency, the Governor, which was laid on the table:

SECRETARY OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY

May 22, 1961.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate A. Allen Sulcove, 709 Spruce Street, Philadelphia, Philadelphia County, for appointment as Secretary of Labor and Industry, until the third Tuesday of January 1963, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified, vice Hon. William L. Batt, Jr., resigned.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The bills were as follows:

SB 111, 195, 342, 343, 344, 345, 405, 413, 420, 438, 456, 512, 590, 596, 597, 601, 605, 632, 656, 661, 663, 670, 674, 678, 688, 690, 701, 725, HB 10, 197, 218, 227, 319, 398, 417, 483, 555, 985, 1017, 1025, 1076, 1085, 1186, 1259 and 1396.

And said bills having been read at length for the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am about to introduce two bills, affecting the great life insurance industry of the Commonwealth which does so much for the people.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is not certain whether he agrees with the statement of the gentleman from Cumberland, but his remarks will be made a part of the record.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am sure if you would read the bills, you would agree with me.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WADE, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 742, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 789), entitled as amended, "The Insurance Department Act of 1921," changing the maximum fee to be charged for group life insurance.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

He also, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 743, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 789), entitled, as amended "The Insurance Department Act of 1921," further regulating the issuance of agents' licenses.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, by the nature of the contents of the bill which I am about to introduce, I am sure that you will send it to a very fine committee. This is a committee of high culture, dealing with the historical preservation of Pennsylvania.

Just about a half-hour ago, one of the Senators, probably not meaning to do so, made a derogatory statement about it. As if it were a dumping block, he said: "Send it to the Committee on Historical Preservation." Be that as it may, this man, who is a man of great crudition, probably did not mean what he said, So, we will forgive him.

I would appreciate it if this bill would be sent to the Committee on Historical Preservation.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. STIEFEL and CHAPMAN, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 744, entitled:

An Act to authorize the collection of scattered public records and manuscript materials on the history of the Commonwealth by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission and providing an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Historical Preservation.

They also, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 745, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission for the purpose of purchasing museum material.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Messrs. SESLER and YATRON, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 746, entitled:

An Act to regulate the sale and distribution for agricultural purposes of ground limestone, burned and hydrated lime, gypsum, slag, and related products in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Agriculture; establishing fees; making an appropriation and prescribing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Agriculture.

Messrs. SESLER, STASEY and YATRON, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 747, entitled:

An Act defining milk and its derivatives, prohibiting its adulteration, regulating its labeling, sale and serving; imposing powers and duties on the Department of Agriculture; providing penalties and making repeals.

Which was committed to the Committee on Agriculture.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations:

MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF SHAMOKIN STATE HOSPITAL

June 6, 1961.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate the following for reappointment as members of the Board of Trustees of Shamokin State Hospital:

Michael F. Stewart, 1471 Chestnut Street, Kulpmont, Northumberland County, until the third Tuesday of January 1963, and until his successor is appointed and qualified.

Archer B. Croll, 828 West Spruce Street, Shamokin, Northumberland County, until the third Tuesday of January 1963, and until his successor is appointed and qualified.

C. Robert Chervanik, Elysburg, Northumberland County, until the third Tuesday of January 1967, and until his successor is appointed and qualified.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

June 6, 1961.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Eugene C. Schaad, Buckingham, Bucks County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Township of Buckingham, Bucks County, to serve until the first Monday of January 1962, vice E. Franklin Rogers, deceased.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

HOUSE MESSAGE

SENATE BILL RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, SB 565, with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill as amended, will be placed on the Calendar.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a fifteen minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Democratic Caucus.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I also request a fifteen minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of a Republican Caucus, to be held in the Minority Floor Leader's Office.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a fifteen minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

At this time, the Chair would like to turn the gavel over to the President pro tempore.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Anthony J. DiSilvestro) in the Chair.

BILLS SIGNED

The President pro tempore (Anthony J. DiSilvestro) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

HB 146, 242, 246, 323, 351, 369, 408, 452, 574, 576, 578, 580, 581, 585, 587, 588, 589, 638, 731, 856, 870, 874, 875, 876, 970, 1086, 1131, 1146 and 1371.

GUESTS OF SENATOR PAUL W. MAHADY PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, at this time I would like to introduce some very outstanding ladies from the Italian Auxiliary of Hahntown, in Westmoreland County. There are forty of them present.

Will the ladies rise, please?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. I am sure that I interpret the sentiment of the Senate in welcoming you to Harrisburg—"Sono di verdervi." It is very nice to see you.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Jo Hays) in the Chair.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I am going to ask the apology of my colleagues if I appear to be obnoxious on an issue, which is not my intention. However, in order to play the game fair and to be fair to everyone, I wish to make these few additional remarks.

I made a statement earlier today—and since, I have received word that I was incorrect—that the Attorney General, in 1959, asked for one administrator. I have been told that in 1959, she wanted three. I want the Senate to know that one of my amendments will call for three administrators. So, I am still in agreement with her.

Thank you very much, I just wanted to correct the record.

ANNOUNCEMENTS BY THE SECRETARY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, June 6, 1961

The House met at 12 o'clock noon, e. s. t.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Father, Thou whose name is holy and is held in awe and respect by all Thy infinite family, we bow in reverence before Thee at the beginning of today's session. We humbly pray that we may value highly the name we bear, but consciously recognize that each one of us may be aware of the responsibility which rests so heavily upon us. Endow us with the competency of Thy stewardship and enable us with Thy counsel to discharge the opportunities and privileges which fall to our lot with resolve and determination. In Thy dear name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, June 5, 1961, will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. TOMPKINS. RESOLUTION No. 76

In the House of Representatives, June 5, 1961.

Whereas, On April 10, 1961, Governor David L. Lawrence presented to the General Assembly the Report of the Governor's Committee on Education; and

Whereas, When the Governor presented said report he said:

"Within the Executive Branch of the Government, I am directing the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Secretary of Administration and the Executive Secretary to the Governor, to complete an analysis of the report which will list such recommendations as might be put into effect by executive order. I will then decide as to the scheduling of such orders"; and

Whereas, A written request was made to the Governor under date of May 25, 1961 to;

1. Furnish a list of such recommendations as might be put into effect by executive order.
2. How much such respective orders will cost.
3. The date when such orders are to become effective.
4. That such order be accompanied with either statutory or constitutional citations for the authority to put such orders into effect by Executive action; and

Whereas, Select committees have been authorized to review prospective legislation to effectuate the Report of the Governor's Committee on Education; and

Whereas, The General Assembly has already received and will probably receive numerous bills to effectuate said report; and

Whereas, The General Assembly, without information as to what portions of the report has been or is intended to be carried out by executive order, is unable to determine its area of jurisdiction and possible duplication of effort; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives call upon the Governor to:

1. Furnish a list of such recommendations as is intended to be put into effect by executive order.
2. How much such respective orders will cost.
3. The date when such orders are to become effective.
4. That such orders be accompanied with either statutory or constitutional citations for the authority to put such orders into effect by Executive action; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be transmitted to His Excellency, David L. Lawrence, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

An Act amending the act of April 24, 1947 (P. L. 89), entitled "Wills Act of 1947" providing for the revocation of wills by persons in military service and mariners and providing a rule of interpretation for the lien of pecuniary legacies in excess of one hundred dollars.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, but I was on the telephone.

Did or did not Mr. Gailey explain this bill?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair asked the gentleman if he wanted to be recognized, and he said he did not.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the indication was that the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, was going to ask a question and it was recorded that Mr. Gailey would answer, but the question never arose.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I will yield to the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, the inquiries I had concerning this bill have been satisfactorily answered as far as I am concerned by Mr. Gailey and Mr. Lee, being a Joint State Government Commission bill, and I am supporting the bill and request all other members of the House to support the legislation. It is satisfactory.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 371, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 23, 1931 (P. L. 932), entitled "The Third Class City Code" authorizing the acquisition of land outside the limits of any city for the use of the National Guard.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I am asking for information more than anything else. I do not like the idea of this bill because it is destroying something that we in the outlying territories of cities hold very sacred—the right of the city to transgress or come out into our territory, and I would like the majority leader or someone to explain the bill and the purpose for the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, desire to answer the interrogation?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Senate bill 371, printer's No. 566, really the basic purpose of it, as I understand it from the Senate, deals with a place called Uniontown, Pennsylvania, Fayette County, in connection with the construction of an armory outside the city limits, in conjunction with the armory program and the city program of the city of Uniontown, a third class city. Therefore, it would almost be, would you say, a special situation in that respect, and that is why this piece of legislation came from the Senate. I am giving you the complete background.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 542, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 11, 1947 (P. L. 565), entitled "World War II Veterans' Compensation Act" extending the time during which applications may be filed for veterans' compensation.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Senate bill No. 542, printer's No. 602, extends the period in which applications may be filed for veterans' compensation for World War II under the Veteran's Compensation Act since there is a decision of the court pertaining to the new change in applications that were pending under the Women's Army Corps. These applications now, of course, fall in this period and we would have to extend the World War II Compensation Act, and that is exactly what the bill does, provide for the extension of time. I ask your support of this bill.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The resolution is about a man who is known to every American who is able to read.

RESOLUTION

RECOGNITION OF ACHIEVEMENTS

Mr. GALLAGHER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 6, 1961.

The achievements of James A. Michener are well known to all of us. As a resident of Tinicum Township, Bucks County, James Michener has brought honor to our Commonwealth by his well deserved reputation throughout the world as an outstanding author and as an ideal American citizen. James Michener was born in New York City on February 3, 1907 and was raised in Doylestown, Pennsylvania, attending Doylestown High School and Swarthmore College, and on a Traveling Fellowship took postgraduate studies at St. Andrews, Scotland.

Probably best known for his authorship of "Tales of the South Pacific," Mr. Michener's other works include "Hawaii," "The Bridge at Andau," "Sayonara," "Fires of Spring," "Return to Paradise," "Voice of Asia," "Bridges of Toko Ri," "Japanese Prints," "Hokusia Manga" and "Report of the County Chairman." Among his many commendations and awards are the Pulitzer Prize, received in 1947 for "Tales of the South Pacific," a citation by the Overseas Press Club in 1955, and the highest civilian naval award, the Navy Distinguished Public Service Award, which he received in 1957.

Mr. Michener's accomplishments have not, however, been limited to the literary field. In 1942, he enlisted in the Navy as a seaman, and was discharged in 1946 as a Commander. He has taught American Government, economics and politics in a number of schools and universities including the Hill School and the George School in Bucks County, the Colorado State Teachers' College, and Harvard University. He was on the scene at the time of the Hungarian revolution and helped countless refugees to escape. He also participated in Hawaii's fight for statehood and in its subsequent election. In the 1960 Presidential Campaign he served as Chairman of the Citizens for Kennedy Committee in Bucks County.

Throughout his lifetime James A. Michener has demonstrated an ability to express his thoughts and knowledge in an inspirational manner, and beyond this, he has directed and dedicated his own life toward the advancement of democracy in a manner well worthy of our praise and emulation; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania extends its congratulations and felicitations to James A. Michener for his outstanding literary achievements and for his dedicated public service and exemplary citizenship; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives expresses to James A. Michener its pride in recognizing him as one of the most distinguished citizens of our Commonwealth; and be it further Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be presented personally to James A. Michener.

The SPEAKER. The House will now, by unanimous consent, resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole.

Will Mr. Michener please come to the rostrum?

We are particularly fortunate today that we can persuade Mr. Michener to address us. The American people have spent millions buying his books, and, I presume, he can name his own figure on the lecture platform. Now, we are going to get what he has to say for free.

The Chair, with great pleasure, presents Mr. Michener to the ladies and gentlemen of the House, and we present him with a certified copy of the resolution, properly signed, sealed, and hereby delivered.

ADDRESS BY JAMES A. MICHENER

Mr. Speaker, I can see why you have been selected for the job you have, because the way you use words and the effect you get with them puts a man like me to shame. I thank you very, very much.

It is a moment of deep meaning for a person like me to come to this House from which my government stems and to meet the members of my distinguished county, a distinguished group of legislators, Mr. Gallagher, my good friend; Mrs. Kooker, my neighbor; Mr. Williams, the partner of one of the oldest friends I have in Bucks County. You will notice that I gave those names alphabetically.

It is also especially moving for me to come here and see two of my former students holding positions of honor, Representative Fetterolf of Montgomery, whom I taught years ago, and Representative Worley of Adams, who was one of my best students of government, and I think it was in my class that he first learned to say "no."

To drive to Harrisburg from Bucks County on a day like today, to see this magnificent State of which we are a part, to know that just beyond the hills on Route 22 to the north are the great mountains and the woodlands we have all loved so well, to know that to the south are the rich farming areas of Lancaster and York Counties that we have known all our lives, to know that beyond is a great industrial complex is an experience very moving and meaningful to a citizen of this State. I can only say to this body, as I say to myself, that in this particular period of crisis through which we are living, we can be very grateful that we have roots as solid as the roots we have here, reaching far, far back into history, encompassing the people of many different national strains, many different inheritances, different religions, different patterns of living, different races of people. This is a heritage that I do not take lightly in these years of trial.

I know from the experiences I have had in Europe that we are in a somewhat better state from the point of view of our inheritance in those fields than the Russians are in their state. We are by no means in a secondary position emotionally, intellectually, patriotically. We are in a very strong position. Posing us against Russia in the full test of these middle years of the 20th century does not frighten me at all. It makes me work harder; it keeps me on my toes; but I can honestly tell you that I see no cause for panic at all. It is out of bodies like this that will come the strength which will keep us going.

Russia does not have a single thing easier in its problems than we have in ours. We are both faced with a known-down drag-out battle with the finish of this century. I do not think it will end until the end of most of our lives, but the fact that it is going to be long and hard does not scare me a bit, because, when I go on trips like the one I took today, I see before me the visible proof of the greatness of our Nation in the resources upon which we all rest.

Thank you very much.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. submitted the following comments for the record:

COMMENTS OF REPRESENTATIVE ALAN D. WILLIAMS, JR. (BUCKS)

In Regard to the Visit of JAMES A. MICHENER to the HOUSE

Jim Michener is a famous and respected son of Bucks County.

The people of Doylestown where Mr. Michener was raised have long been proud of him.

Many of us were deeply disappointed at his choice of sides, but we are proud that he took the time to become, at least for a time, "a politician." His example could well be followed by other good citizens who seem to deplore the art of government as a rather dirty business.

I personally voice only one regret in regard to Mr. Michener—I wish he were on my side.

The SPEAKER. The Committee of the Whole will now rise and return to its regular order of business.

BILLS ON CONCURRENCE IN SENATE AMENDMENTS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on page 29, bills on concurrence in Senate amendments, I call up the first one, House bill 132, printer's No. 1949.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 132.

An Act Relating to the establishment, operation and maintenance of the State Library and public libraries in the Commonwealth amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto imposing duties upon public officers providing for State and local cooperation and assistance in the establishment and maintenance of libraries prescribing penalties and repealing existing laws.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The clerk will read the amendments.

The clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Article I, page 3, line 8, by striking out after the word "district" the following: "of coordinating the service of all local libraries within the district which by contract become part of the district library center system"; and inserting in lieu thereof of the following: "of coordinating the services of all local libraries within the district which by contract become part of the district library center system."

Article II, page 5, by striking out after line 7, the following:

"(5) To coordinate a state-wide system of local libraries and to counsel local libraries on minimum standards for number and quality of library staff resources of books and other materials location of new local libraries, hours and physical facilities. Nothing contained herein shall restrict or limit public libraries in the selection of resources of books and other material not determined from counselling."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not propose to again debate this bill at length as I debated it when it first passed this House. I merely want to call to the attention of the members that the amendments inserted by the Senate in no way reduce the cost, the ultimate cost, of this legislation to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

As you will recall, the executive branch's own figures as to the cost of this legislation by the State, that is, the State's cost, not the local effort, when the act is fully implemented will be in the vicinity of $6,800,000. Now, in recent weeks we have heard some members who, in my opinion, have begun, thank goodness, to express concern about the mandating of increased cost of the government without providing for them in the legislation before us at the present time. That is exactly what this legislation proposes to do.

We have heard members from the other side as recently as yesterday talking about economy, talking about fiscal responsibility, talking about thrift in government, talking about irresponsibility in passing legislation without the implementing tax legislation. I point out to you again today that is precisely what you are doing in concurring in the Senate amendments in this bill and in passing this bill into final law.

I call upon all of you, again, who speak in the name of fiscal responsibility, who do not pay lip service to these terms, and who are serious about it, to vote against this legislation.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House bill 132 is the so-called library bill that was debated at length.

In the present year, the fiscal year of our government, there was reported today from the Appropriations Committee the $500,000 appropriation bill to back House bill 132 when it becomes law. There is no question of the figure it will cost, but there also is no question that we provided the tax measures that included the $500,000 for the library program, and for that reason and the reasons that were debated at length on the library program in this Commonwealth, I ask that all the members support this concurrence and vote in the affirmative.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Kistler.

Mr. KISTLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to join with the majority leader in asking for support to House bill No. 132.

It seems to me that this is the time, this is an era, in the life of this State, when fiscal responsibility runs beyond dollars. This is a time when we should be fighting in the interest of democracy with ideas, with books, for these are the repositories of freedom.

I ask, therefore, that every member of this House vote in support of this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Only one other word, Mr. Speaker. It is true that in this appropriation for this year there is a $500,000 allocation which is the estimated expense for implementing this legislation this year. However, I would call to the attention of the members the information appearing in the papers for the last two days that the Governor's Budget Bureau is estimating, at this very moment, at least a $10 million deficit in the present biennium. Now, if it is fiscal responsibility to recognize the existence of a $10 million, or more, deficit, and to pass legislation in which we provide only for the current year, recognizing that it can go as high as over $6 million, then, in my opinion, that is not fiscal responsibility and I urge you to vote against this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the majority leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes that, while members are on the floor debating, conferences between members, that must be held, be held in the conference room and not in the aisles.

The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, on page 16 of the bill, there appears to be an amendment starting at line 2. Would the majority leader kindly explain that amendment to us?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on page 16, line 2, the amendment inserted in this bill by the Senate, "that no library receiving State aid prior to and at time of the approval of this act shall receive less State aid as a result of the provisions hereof notwithstanding that such library has not accepted the provisions of this act."

As I read the debate in the Journal of the Senate, which I think you will find in your files, it pertained to the libraries that are now receiving State aid and the amendment was agreed to on placing it in here so that there would be an assurance, even though there was no intention of taking any State aid away from any of the libraries, but specifically writing in there the provisions that clearly indicated that. I think you will find that in the legislative debate in the Journal.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

I can well understand that nobody likes to lose money, but, by the same token, if we are setting up some type of State library system and the purpose of this legislation is to enhance the efficiency and the quality of our libraries and now we are going to amend this legislation by saying, even if you do not comply you are going to get money anyway, what is the purpose of the legislation?

Mr. Speaker, if I may interrogate the majority leader for just one moment more?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I previously voted for this legislation but I am troubled. My question is this: Despite the fact that local libraries make no effort to comply with this legislation, is there going to be any future plan to force them to comply with this system, or is it just going to be a situation where whether you comply or not you get the money and so a continuing reason for adding more and more requests for appropriations to maintain this system, so that we will have two competitive, so to speak, library systems operating in the Commonwealth?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe it would be correct to say two competitive library systems. For example, we will say in a specific county you will have a library now in the city in that county. In the library program, you recall, there was a provision dealing with measures to support libraries or that part of the program in which they would participate. Now then, in that city or in that county, there would not be another library program that would complete with the other library program in that sense, but in some counties there are library programs now receiving State aid under a certain program. This deals with the library program of the community and the county and it is not a competitive program. The directors of a library board—and I serve on a library board—the directors of such a board can determine if they want to go into a program and try to secure State funds, and also to assist themselves, because some libraries are also endowed and have their own funds to operate.

Therefore, it is not, Mr. Speaker, a competitive library program, but the assurance that has been written here. I am sure that there will be other libraries that, as the program moves, will join in this program, there is no question about it, in years to come. And they should because the libraries should be made available for the children and the adults in every county in this Commonwealth and every city wherever possible.

Mr. GELFAND. I thank the gentleman.

Just as a matter of record, Mr. Speaker, under force of compulsion, I would imagine, inasmuch as I am in favor of the legislation as a whole, I will be forced to vote for concurrence in these amendments. However, it appears to me what we do is unwise when we permit an amendment such as this to go into the bill, because what we want is to establish a better library system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Lord knows we need it. However, despite the fact that we want to do this and despite the fact that we feel it should be done and despite the fact that we are passing legislation which will almost make it some sort of compulsion on you to create a better library system for your own community, if you do not want to join or you do not want to do it, it is not necessary. We are going to give you the money anyway.

I think that is a poor philosophy and a poor policy. However, as I say, I am in favor of the legislation as such, and by virtue of the fact that it appears to me that we will not get it unless these amendments are concurred in, I am forced to vote for concurrence in the amendments, but I think they lack wisdom. I thank you.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—13

Dengler, Fry, Gross, Kelly,	Klein, Lee, A. M., Miller,	Murray, Musto, Perry,	Schaaf, Snare, Verona,
--------------------------------------	----------------------------------	-----------------------------	------------------------------

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were concurred in.

Ordered, that the clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I know about the plan. I was going to ask for a quick 30-minute caucus and upon the return from the caucus to interrogate and proceed.

The SPEAKER. Maybe that would be a better idea. You will have more to quarrel about after caucus.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there are reports of committees, and I am going to ask for exactly a 30-minute recess and ask that every Democratic member proceed to the caucus room and bring with him and her a calendar. I ask that every member please attend.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

The SPEAKER. I presume there will be a Republican caucus?

There will be a Republican caucus at the time of the recess.

SENATE MESSAGE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Amended House Bills returned for concurrence Nos. 607, 680, 868, 932 and 1042.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following motion. The motion was read by the clerk as follows:

MOTION

REQUESTING CERTIFIED COPY OF LOST HOUSE BILL

In the House of Representatives, June 6, 1961.

Moved by the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, that the Chief Clerk be directed to furnish for the Committee on Appropriations a certified duplicate copy of House bill No. 735, printer's No. 1384, entitled:

"An Act regulating the manufacture of stuff toys intended for sale, gift or use in Pennsylvania; providing for registration of such manufacturers, the paying of a fee for such registration, the issuance of a seal of approval to such manufacturers; . . . and providing penalties.

to be substituted for the lost original copy thereof, which was recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations of the House on April 12, 1961.

(Signed) J. DEAN POLEN

Chairman, House Committee on Appropriations

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, when we returned and were ready to proceed, Mr. Johnson was supposed to speak. Then we would like to start our roll calls on bills.

INTERROGATION

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. Polen.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, is our information correct that the Governor signed the general appropriations bill?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, on May 25, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Also, is our information correct that he did not veto out of the bill the so-called freeze clause on school subsidies?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that is correct. The Governor cannot veto language out of the general appropriations bill.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That remains in the bill?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Can the school districts of Pennsylvania then, in adopting their budgets, they being in the process of doing so, write into their budgets the provisions of the freeze clause so that a school district, which might lose $30,000 without the freeze clause, can count on the $30,000?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that the matter has been referred to the Attorney General for an opinion. I would say that in my opinion it would be unwise to use that in the budgets. I think, however, that the budgets for the school districts have already been adopted. I believe I would hesitate to change any of them until definite information is received as to the Attorney General's opinion.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, a further question: When will we have some word as to a ruling by the Attorney General?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I, of course, have no information on that subject, but I would be glad to try to ascertain what the situation is and advise the gentleman next week.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Another question, Mr. Speaker: If the Attorney General by opinion rules that the insertion is unconstitutional, does the gentleman know what the remedy for a school district would be in the event of such a ruling?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I am not a constitutional lawyer or an attorney. I would presume they could take some legal action. I might state on this subject, however, that I think the proper procedure would be to pass an appropriation bill for the $8 million-plus and the taxes to cover it. Then there would be no question about the school districts being able to include it and receive the money.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman ascertain for us the date of the opinion of the Attorney General and, also, for the benefit of the school districts of Pennsylvania will you outline for us a procedure that the school districts can follow in order to pursue their remedy under the appropriation bill?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I will be glad to do that.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. When do you suppose you can get this information, because we are getting many calls from school districts as to the legal effect of this freeze clause?

Mr. POLEN. I could not make a definite promise as to when I will get it, but I will say I will attempt to get it at the earliest possible date and so advise the gentleman.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

Another question on a different subject matter.

Inasmuch as the non-preferred appropriations have been reported out of committee, can the gentleman get us a statement from the administration as to when these appropriations, if they were passed immediately, would normally be paid to the agencies that would receive them? When would Penn State get its money? When would the hospitals get their money? Would it be this fall, for instance, when we borrow money on tax anticipation notes? Could the gentleman get that information for us on each one of the appropriations so that we would know?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I think I can answer the gentleman now. If the appropriations are passed, they will be paid in the normal course of business when they are due. The quarterly payments to hospitals would be made and to all the other institutions as they submit the proper reports. There would be no question about that.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Could the gentleman ascertain that information for us, not for each member, but deliver it so I can have it for the House Republican caucus?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman repeat again just what he wants to know in connection with the non-preferred appropriations?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I will ask a question of this nature: Let us take the State-aided hospital appropriation. What does that total?

Mr. POLEN. The State-aided hospital appropriation is $17,367,500.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. If we take that appropriation which may be the most critical on the list, when would the first payment be normally made to any hospital in Pennsylvania under that bill? Could the gentleman get us that information?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, They render quarterly reports and in this particular fiscal year, due to the 13 months, I believe the first one is to cover a four-months' period, which would be June, July, August and September. The payments would then be due, after audits, probably in the month of October.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I believe the gentleman understands the type of information we would like on each one of these appropriations, and if he could get that for me we would appreciate it a great deal.

Mr. POLEN. I will do that, Mr. Speaker, but again I would say that the majority of these are paid on warrants when the bills are presented and audited. There is no specific, particular date when they are due, but I could state that they will be paid when they are presented and audited.

I will attempt to get the specific information for the gentleman.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, page 13, bills on third reading, I call up House bill 644, printer's No. 700.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's remarks will be spread upon the record.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOMPKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, we have just voted on House bill 1335, which was an increase in the General State Authority authorization.

Back in 1958 when I was a member of the Constitutional Revision Commission, I was a member of the subcommittee on finance and as we studied the financial structure of Pennsylvania objectively instead of politically, we came up with some recommendations in connection with the control of State finances. They were pretty well approved by the Economy League, which at that time was being represented before the finance committee by David Baldwin and David Kurtzman who are presently, of course, with the administration's budget office. In pursuance of the recommendations of the Constitutional Revision Commission, the section regarding control of authorities and State finances was introduced in a bill last session but got nowhere. It has been introduced in a bill this session, and Mr. Speaker, because of what was said on the floor of this House yesterday about fiscal responsibility, because of what was said on the floor of this House yesterday in connection with runaway spending, because of what was said on the floor of this House yesterday regarding the necessity for such constitutional control and limitations on our spending, I offer the following discharge resolution on House bill 993.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE FROM FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 993

The resolution was read by the clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 6, 1961.

Resolved, That House Bill No. 993, Printer's No. 1095, entitled "A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine, section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for and regulating Commonwealth debt for capital improvements and certain other purposes and prohibiting debts and obligations inconsistent therewith," having been referred to the Committee on Judiciary on March 20, 1961, and the committee not having reported the same to the House for a period of over fifteen days, the committee is discharged from further consideration thereof.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House bill No. 993, a joint resolution, has been referred by the Speaker to the Committee on Judiciary. I have inquired as to whether the judiciary committee has in any way discussed this bill and I was informed by the chairman of the judiciary committee that they have not discussed this bill in any judiciary meeting that has been held each week of the session of this House.

I am informed by the chairman of the judiciary committee that such legislation is on the list for discussion in the Committee on Judiciary of the House of Representatives, and I think the decision of that committee will determine the action on House bill 993, and for that reason, Mr. Speaker, I ask that all the membership oppose this discharge resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, having been chairman of the judiciary committee during several sessions of this House, I can appreciate some of the work schedules and loads of that committee. But this bill having been in that committee since March 20 and this bill carrying the extreme importance that it does in connection with a tremendous amount of our overall legislation and governmental operations, it would appear to me that it should get itself listed as high priority for a discussion to see what is going to happen to it. That is my purpose in offering this discharge resolution, in order to budge that bill out of committee.

I ask for a roll call, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would very briefly like to state my reasons why I am going to oppose this discharge resolution.

Discharge resolutions in the past have come up to haunt us from time to time, and I want to say for myself that I believe at the proper time and in the proper place that there is some merit to discharge resolutions. When I was in the minority, many times I voted for discharge of committees. But with respect to this particular joint resolution, I want to say that I believe in the underlying philosophy behind this. I believe it is desirable. But at the same time I want to call to the attention of the House the tremendous job that the judiciary committee does in this House. I believe no one can get on the floor and assert that it is not one of the hardest working and most diligent committees in the House of Representatives. I do not believe that I have ever had the pleasure of serving under a chairman who was more fair and reasonable than the present chairman of the judiciary committee, representative Rudisill from York County.

When you are considering the discharge resolution there is an unfair inference or implication that would impute the motives of the chairman. Now that might be true or false, but I believe it is not a correct inference. Nevertheless, the inference is there for laymen to draw that there is some improper motive on the part of the chairman of the committee. Now as vice-chairman of this committee and as one who believes in this resolution, I want to say that nowhere, at any time, did any member of the minority party ever come to me—and they have come to me on an average of once or twice a week and asked my help in getting a bill out of committee—they have never come to me and asked me if I would do anything to bring this to the attention of the chairman. I believe I am correct in saying that no one on the minority side ever came to the chairman of the judiciary committee and asked him to bring this bill up for consideration.

Since this is a drastic motion and since it is a motion that is, I believe, being put to use for the first time this session, I would ask the sponsor's consideration in holding it back, and giving us a fair opportunity to bring this bill out for discussion. What we are doing now is disrupting the orderly processes of this House, and I believe that it is extremely unfair both to the chairman of that committee and to myself as vice-chairman and one who is interested, as I have said, in the philosophy behind this resolution. I therefore, without hesitation, am going to vote against this resolution. I ask the sponsor of it again to consider holding it back.

Mr. TOMPKINS. How the gentleman from Philadelphia can impute the motives in this motion that he has stated, I do not know. I have been a member of the judiciary committee at every session of this General Assembly, the House judiciary committee, since 1947 and on two occasions, two sessions, I was chairman of it, so nobody can tell me that I am not familiar with the work of the judiciary committee.

I served under the present chairman during the last session. I have a very high regard for the gentleman's ability and his integrity. At no time, under any circumstances, in anything contained in this motion am I imputing anything improper on the part of the chairman or on the part of the judiciary committee, and I want that very distinctly understood.

In connection with this discharge resolution, this is not the first one of this session; it is about the third or fourth, as I recall, and so far as this discharge resolution is concerned, I might say that in previous sessions, particularly one, I sat on the floor of this House one afternoon and I saw 35 to 40 resolutions, discharge resolutions, put in at one time by the then minority party. We did not feel at that time that we were imputing anything improper to any of the committees that those 40 discharge resolutions involved.

I resent the idea that this motion has any implication of anything improper in it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I want it very clearly understood that I said that was not a correct inference and I said it was an inference drawn by laymen, not by members of this House, and I want the sponsor of this resolution also to know that I voted to discharge committees, so I clearly do not want to create the impression that anybody in this House, whether on the minority or majority side, believes there is anything improper. I am saying strictly that is an inference that is drawn by laymen not familiar with the legislative process.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. TOMPKINS and McCANN and were as follows:

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1190, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending "The Fire Marine and Inland Marine Rate Regulatory Act" approved June 11, 1947 (P. L. 551), including domestic mutual fire insurance companies and domestic reciprocals or exchanges within the provisions of the act and providing for a uniform classification of accounts and records.

On the question?

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1281, entitled:

An Act amending the "Motor Vehicle Sales Finance Act" approved June 28, 1947 (P. L. 1110), further regulating the contents of installment sales contracts and the effect of certain tax sales of real estate.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, this bill is part of the mobilehome package wherein an attempt was made to try to make uniform the taxation of house trailers all over Pennsylvania. Four or five other bills are over in the Senate.

We noticed in examining this particular bill that it is providing for a sale for taxes of a house trailer like real estate; there was no provision in it to preserve a lien against a trailer. The law is with respect to real estate, if real estate is sold at tax sale, a mortgage that has been put on before a tax lien is attached would be preserved, and the mortgage would not be divested.

That has been a great boon to financing in Pennsylvania of homes and factories and has really facilitated making Pennsylvania the great industrial employment State it is.

It seems only meet and proper that if a trailer is sold for taxes, like a home, that a bona fide mortgage on a trailer should be preserved and not divested the same as real estate. Therefore, the amendment that is written into the bill does that very thing, preserves a lien against a trailer.

Now I understand that certain groups have listed on their sheets to be against this bill because it could list the sale of an automobile for taxes. I think that is the explanation. Well now, that is an erroneous interpretation. Why? Because if a house trailer, as I understand it, is to be considered real estate for purpose of local taxation and if it is going to be sold at tax sales like real estate, a lien against the trailer evidenced by an encumbrance on the title or security device under the Uniform Commercial Code should be preserved. That goes without saying.

Therefore, I am making this explanation so that the people will understand just what, in my opinion, the bill does.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to be recorded as voting "aye" on the last bill.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 481, entitled:

An Act providing for and fixing the fees and mileage for witnesses attending a coroner's inquest imposing duties on coroners and repeal inconsistent legislation.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak on the bill, sir.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, while I am not opposed to this bill and I will vote for it, I just want to put the membership of this House on notice that there is a possibility here that within the next session various coroners' offices will come in this legislature asking for an increase in fee bill legislation.

I am fully aware of the cost to the coroner's office in Pittsburgh with this increased witness fee. In my office it happens to be a dollar for witness fees and three cents a mile for mileage. I can say that this legislation, this bill, would cost the coroner's office in Pittsburgh $10,000, approximately $10,000 a year. So during the four-year term of a coroner's term in office, this would cost approximately $40,000. So if I am up here for an increase in fee legislation for that office in the next session, I want you to know this is the reason why. I am favoring the bill.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 577, entitled:

An Act amending "The Game Law" approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1225), further regulating the use of resident hunter's license fees.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RENWICK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to alert the members of this House as to just exactly what this bill does.

As most of you people know, at the present time there is an ear-marking of $1.25 for every resident hunting license. That $1.25 is ear-marked at the present time for restoration of land, rehabilitation, improvement of land, et cetera.

What they are doing in this bill is adding the word "acquisition," they are also allowed to acquire more land.

I think most of you people know and have an understanding regarding the working of the Game Commission, what they are confronted with and what they tell us is the reason why we do not have a great number of deer. They say it is because of the food and cover.

I say this to you, if they are going to take part of that $1.25 and buy land, they are certainly not going to use it for food and cover so we would get more deer.

Let me say this: They have also amended this bill so that where a county has 20 percent of its land already owned by the State they would not be able to acquire land from this ear-marked $1.25. Of course, they have other moneys that they can buy land with so, naturally, they can go into your county or my county, which has a great number of acres of land owned by the Game Commission, and use other funds to buy them.

I do not know whether you know or not the problem you have when the State owns a great deal of land in your county, what it means in lieu of taxes. We up in my little county have exactly 63,000 acres of Game Commission land, and you can go to any district forester up there and he will tell you that these lands are not being taken care of properly, they are not being manned properly. They have one forester in charge of better than 80,000 acres of land. You can imagine how much work he can do. The simple reason is, they tell you, they do not have the funds. Here they are taking away some of the funds in order to buy more land.

So I am asking every member in this House to vote against this bill. Thank you.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I want to confirm what the gentleman from Elk has said and say that I am in accord with his view.

I want to further say that back in about 1953 the sportsmen rose up in their wrath in the State of Pennsylvania against further acquisition of land and earmarking of money for that purpose. So when we increased the hunting license fees at that time, we struck out any earmarking for any further acquisition of land and earmarked $1.25 of each license fee for food and cover because, as the gentleman from Elk says, we do not need more land on which to house our game; we need more game in the house we already have.

The hunter certainly cannot gain any benefit from food and cover which will produce additional game if, by the same token, we are going to spend a lot of that money to acquire further land. For that reason I would ask the members of this House to vote against this bill.

I might further point out that in the so-called big-game country, as it exists, the forestry department or the game commission already own 20 percent, or more, of the land in those particular counties, so they could not buy land except some place else in the State of Pennsylvania, if this bill would prevail.

Under the farm game program they have in the east among the farmlands, I do not see why they want to go out and buy any little farms, because they have a program to take care of it in those areas.

For those reasons I am very much against this bill.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I am in agreement with both the previous speakers to this extent, that a great amount of the money earmarked in this particular provision of the game code does not go for game food and cover.

George Goodling and I some years ago wrote this particular clause and we fully intended to have $1.25 out of every hunting license go exclusively to the cutting and removal of overshadowing tree growth to promote brush growth, to pay farmers for leaving wild life food in the fields in the winter to help the game which came along, and other essentials.

However, at that time we were talked into adding several clauses, particularly 3, 4 and 5. It comes to the particular point in the game management program of Pennsylvania where it is true that some counties do have, we might say, sufficient lands which are now owned by the Pennsylvania Game Commission and the Department of Forests and Waters, too. However, there are other areas in our State, particularly farming areas near the larger towns and in the cities, where there is a move to block out hunting areas, to put up trespass notices, to form private clubs, and within the next 10 years you are going to see a surge of that type of program to remove land from public hunting.

The Game Commission, I will admit, has an awful lot of money. They are spending now about $6 million a year. However, I do not think this bill poses any threat to the game food and cover program or provides a vast extra sum to the Game Commission for land purchases because the bill specifies, if you have read it, that only 20 percent of that $1.25 may be used for the acquisition of land—that means 25 cents. It is not too much. When you figure on a million licenses, it is $250,000 a year.

I have studied this bill and I thought it over a long time before I decided to vote for it myself, but I do think, in the interest of the long-range hunting land program open to the public, that you should support this particular bill. It does not harm those small counties like Cameron and Elk. Elk is not very small, but, nevertheless, it does not harm them in the least, this extra money, because there is an amendment added to this bill which prevents the Game Commission from spending any of this 25 cents for land in those particular counties which now have 20 percent of their land area owned by the Game Commission or the Department of Forests and Waters.

This is, I would say, a good bill for long-range future game management in behalf of public hunting.

Mr. HARTLEY. Mr. Speaker, the growth of the population in this State is continually increasing. Hunters are being pushed out from the cities, and townships are being made into areas of city property, and hunting is beginning to be closed in on perhaps a million voters. There are a million people in this State who like to go hunting. It is one of the greatest states for this sport. This Commonwealth is the greatest State in the Union.

I do not see why we should allow private hunting clubs to buy five, six or eight thousand acres of our mountain ground when we can keep it in the public domain. I do not see any reason why we should allow this to happen, and that is what we are going to do, that is what they are saying to do, let the private people go out and buy all this acreage up at a low price, and some day they will reap the profits. It belongs to the people today, let us keep it that way. Let us buy this land. We give property rights to people, mining rights, mineral rights, and all kinds of other rights to the people to use this land besides the hunter who uses it. I see nothing wrong with the bill and I think we really need this bill. We should look ahead and do it now.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I want to point out two things that have occurred as a result of remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia and the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

Number one, the gentleman from Philadelphia seems to forget that the acquisition of land alone does not produce game and the money which is earmarked for food and coverage is designed to produce game for the land that we already have.

Number two, when the gentleman from Clearfield talks about the blocking off around some of these areas, the metropolitan areas, he seems to forget that the Game Commission, when they do acquire land, block you off from that land, up in the areas of the big game country, at least. I do not know what they do down east, but I cannot get the course of his conversation or his argument when he says that we are denying those people the right to hunt on the land we already have and that we will not let the hunters hunt on it.

(During roll call)

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, while they are tabulating this, this is the last roll call for today, but I ask that the membership stay for the committee announcements that will be immediately announced, and please present the amendments that were agreed to, with the bills, so they can be printed tonight.

Mr. Speaker, we have got to break the monotony. This is the fiftieth bill and none have fallen, but this one may fall.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I was just going to comment, I believe Mr. McCann is about 6 or 7 members light today, and if it would not be for the Republican count there would not have been a single bill passed here. So I think the record ought to show that.

Mr. McCANN. No question about it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SNARE asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by inserting after "1" where it appears the second time: "and section 8"

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 7, by striking out "is" and inserting: "are"

Amend Sec. 1, page 3, by inserting between lines 5 and 6:

"Section 8. Compulsory Membership—Each county officer, including county officers whose compensation is fixed by law on a per diem basis, may, and each county employe, except any county officer whose compensation is fixed by law on a per diem basis, shall be required to become a member of the retirement system established under the provisions of this act at such date as may be specified in the resolution establishing the retirement system and thereafter when first becoming a county employe. Those becoming members on the date of establishment of the retirement system shall be known as original members, and those becoming members after said date, as new members. [Provided, however, That if] If any person becomes a county employe or officer subsequent to the first Monday of January of the year the retirement fund was established who shall have been at any time theretofore an employe or officer of the county, he shall receive credit for the service prior to the first Monday of January of the year the system was established and shall be known as an original member if said employe or officer shall contribute to the fund the amount which he would have contributed if the retirement system had been in effect during such previous employment."

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 10), page 3, line 15, by inserting after "fees": "and shall include the service of an officer of the county paid on a salary basis prior to the date of establishment of the retirement system in a county and paid on a per diem basis on January 1, 1960."

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 10), page 3, lines 15 and 19, by striking out the bracket before "Full" in line 15, and after "years" in line 19.

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 10), page 3, lines 19 and 20, page 4, lines 1 and 2, by striking out "The retirement board shall also give credit to any person who" in line 19, all of line 20, page 3, and all of line 1, and "computation of his retirement credit" in line 2, page 4.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7, 1961.

The Senate met at 10:00 a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (John H. Devlin) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM McCLELLAND, JR., Rector of Prince of Peace Episcopal Church, Dallas, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty and everlasting God, Who dost from Thy throne behold all the dwellers upon earth, we implore Thy direction for this assembly of the Senate of this Commonwealth. Let Thy gracious protection be upon all its Members and upon their absent families and interests.

We thank Thee for the rich blessings which Thou hast bestowed upon this Commonwealth. May we show forth our gratitude by a sincere obedience to Thy laws. May the power which makes for righteousness prevail over this assembly, to overrule any prejudice that may exist and any errors that may arise, so that the business of this Session may be brought to a safe and happy termination. May we work for those ends only for which we feel we have a right to pray. May all who compose this Body, their labors in due time being finished, depart to their homes with the approval of a conscience which has been concerned only for the true and abiding welfare of the State, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to take this moment to congratulate the Members of the Senate and the General Assembly for passing this legislation. I think all of us realize that it should be unnecessary for us to enact this type of legislation. However, unfortunately, all persons do not always think or move in the same direction, and so it becomes necessary for us to write into law what should be and what is the public policy in this or any other area.

I think in the time in which we live, a time of confusion and a time of conflict, it is necessary to reiterate the principles which have already been enunciated on a piece of parchment; that all men are created equal and all men are entitled to certain rights, liberties and the pursuits that they seek.

This merely reiterates those pursuits, and states very clearly, I think, that we are anxious for all of the people of our Commonwealth to have the benefits and opportunities that will be offered by this type of legislation.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

HB 442 (Pr. No. 2183)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe that this legislation is a backward step in that we have done away with child labor laws in this Country. I think because of some of the people who are unemployed, who might be of a greater age and who might be entitled to a little bit more remuneration, this might open the door for another group to step in.

I would like to be recorded as voting "no" on this legislation.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, there is an expression called "gilding the lily," and I think that was a little bit of it.

Mr. President, I cannot see any harm whatsoever in this type of bill, which permits boys to go out and caddie on the golf course. It is not awfully hard work and they love to do it. The way they get started is to begin at a fairly early age. I think there might even be Members of this Senate who carried a golf bag when they were twelve years old, or maybe even a little younger than that. I did.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I, too, am going to vote "no" on this bill. I do it because I do not think this is the appropriate time—given the employment conditions, the state of our economy and so on—to break, even in a small way, the child labor laws which we and so many people worked so hard for so many years to establish.

It is true that this only applies to one sector of that age group. However, to reduce the age to twelve years, it seems to me, is making an unfortunate breach in the line that we laid down for child labor.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, may we have a roll call?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I am glad this bill was amended yesterday so as to reduce the allowance for a boy, twelve to fourteen, to carry a single bag for only eighteen holes.

I have had a little experience in being on a golf course. I have not caddied. The Senator from Philadelphia who says, from the side lines, that I have had very little experience may be right, but I am sure he has had less. He has never been on one.

I will say this. I have had it happen just recently where families of limited means, who are raising children in these days of the high cost of living, are glad for an opportunity for a youngster to earn a couple of dollars over the week end doing some caddying. I know the kids enjoy it from personal experience. I know they go out and carry a single bag for eight, nine or even eighteen holes, and they receive a healthful experience and also a few dollars for spending money.

I certainly would not want to be recorded as voting in favor of child labor. However, I do feel that during the summer, this may be a boon to some youngsters in that it will keep them off the streets. They will do something healthful for themselves and, at the same time, help the family budget in a limited way.

For these reasons, Mr. President, I intend to vote for this bill.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not wish to create a monstrosity that does not exist. However, I am a little bit afraid that we are going off the deep end with this type of legislation.

Senator Silvert says that it is limited now to eighteen holes. There is always a possibility that we could create a sweatshop, because with some of the amateur golfers like myself, eighteen holes would be equivalent to about seventy-two holes.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that we are taking a step backward. I do believe that the younger element should be employed—gainfully employed—and kept off the streets. However, I am very much afraid that this legislation could bring about abuses. For that reason, I cannot bring myself to vote for this bill.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am going to vote for this bill because of the fact that it is going to take these boys off the street in the summertime. These young fellows have nothing to do and, certainly, it does not hurt them to carry one golf bag for eighteen holes.

If we do not allow these boys to go out, more and more automation will come into being on the golf courses. The golfers are all going to buy carts, because a great many men who are my age and beyond still like to play golf—and I do not want to forget Senator Ehrgood, who has aged so much in the last couple of years since he has been in the Senate—but due to a heart condition, they are not allowed to carry their golf bags. These boys should be allowed to go on the golf course and earn a few bucks in this way.

Another very good reason is that some of our greatest golfers—the professionals—would never have achieved that distinction had they not been able to be out on the golf course and caddie. If they only caddied for eighteen holes, they spent much more time out there practicing to become proficient and to become good golfers.

I do not see anything wrong with this bill or that it has anything to do with child labor. In fact, I think it is recreation.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Silvert.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Silvert, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SILVERT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Philadelphia whether or not a caddie, twelve years of age, in case of injury would come under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Law?

Mr. SILVERT. Your question is whether he could recover?

Mr. HALUSKA. The question is, if there is a case of injury, whether or not he would come under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Law.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, this is casual employment. I am not prepared to answer this question in the positive. However, if he is injured—you are assuming that he is hit by a golf ball or injured in some other way—and if negligence can be established, the boy can recover.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the answer is not positive. Will he come under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Law at twelve years of age? That is my question.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, my answer is—and I hear it from the sides here—probably “no.”

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, then who is to be responsible for the injury of that lad?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I have already answered that if the boy is hurt because of negligence, he can recover under our common law. Furthermore, when it comes to injuries, a boy can be injured anywhere and he is just as likely to be injured running around the streets as he would be on a golf course.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman?

Mr. SILVERT. Senator, you may proceed, but we would like to quit early today.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am quite satisfied that the injured lad could not come under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Law. Will the club then be responsible for his injury?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I would say that under the law, the club is not responsible. However, the person hiring him, if the boy is injured through his negligence, would be responsible.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I do not know how we can stand here and enact into legislation a law under which a person may become injured and not be able to find out who may be responsible for his injury. It could be a very serious injury. Yet, no one is responsible.

I think this is a backward step. Definitely, I am compelled to vote against this legislation.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, being a golfer myself and being very modest normally, I would not refer to the fact that being a former caddie helped my golfing career. However, I would like to point out to the gentlemen of this Senate that when our President comes to Pennsylvania to play golf, he should have caddies available. This is going to help that situation. I am sure that the gentleman from Cambria would not want our President not to have caddies available.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am not much concerned about the President playing golf.

We have thousands and thousands of young men out of college, looking for work, who are eligible for employment. If our President or the ex-President cannot find in that field sufficient caddies, it is too bad for the golfers of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I require as to the status of this bill at the present time?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is whether the bill shall pass finally, and we will have the roll call as soon as the debate is concluded.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would request that House Bill No. 442, Printer's No. 2183, go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order on Final Passage.

NAYS—1

Bell,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 1169 (Pr. No. 1693)—Read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1, "Section 4," Page 4, Line 16, by striking out "the operating expense" where it appears on Line 16.

Amend Section 1, "Section 4," page 4, line 16, by inserting after "boy" the following words: "PROVIDED HOWEVER THAT FOR PURPOSES OF THIS SECTION FOR DETERMINING REIMBURSEMENT TO THE COMMONWEALTH OPERATING EXPENSES"

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL ON SECOND READING

HB 10 (Pr. No. 10)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 247 and HB 319—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

SB 322—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 322 go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I object to Senate Bill No. 322 going over in its order. Yesterday, I suggested that this bill, because of it turning back the pages of history, should be rereferred to the Committee on Historical Preservation or the Committee on Agriculture, because they have the animal slaughter bills in that committee. I think, therefore, it should be rereferred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare where Doctor Sarraf can give it his attention.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is the gentleman making a motion to the effect that the bill be rereferred?

Mr. MULLIN. Yes, if that is permissible.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a second to the gentleman's motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the gentleman certainly has a right to make his motion. However, I wish to point out that in a session such as this one, if we have them in the future, he may be establishing a dangerous precedent.

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, at this Session, I will withdraw my motion to rerefer this bill, but I will renew it on Monday.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

SB 333, 342 and 343—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

SB 441 (Pr. No. 675)—Read at length the second time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I would request that Senate Bill No. 441 be moved up to the Third Reading Calendar, with the understanding that I will have an opportunity to amend it on Monday.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Donolow, you have that understanding.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?
It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

SB 456 (Pr. No. 864)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

HB 718 (Pr. No. 2159)—The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 8), page 7, lines 1 to 20 and page 8, lines 1 and 2 by underscoring beneath all of said lines.

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The third section and title were read and agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. LANE.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 725—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

An Act amending the act of July 27, 1955 (P. L. 288), entitled as amended "An act making it unlawful for owners of certain property in cities of the first class and in cities of the second class to sell or agree to sell such property without first delivering to the purchaser a certification of the District classification; . . ." requiring certification and disclosure of outstanding notices of fire and housing ordinance violations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. CONFAIR, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 751, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 18, 1929 (P. L. 612), entitled "An act for the election of the president, members of town council, and auditors, in incorporated towns of the Commonwealth; . . ." redesignating the president of the town council as the mayor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

SENATE RESOLUTION

AUTHORIZING PAYMENT OF EXPENSES OF THE SENATE VOTE FRAUD INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE

Mr. STIEFEL, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 68), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, June 7, 1961.

RESOLVED, That the Chief Clerk of the Senate shall pay out of the fund for incidental expenses under his jurisdiction, available for such purpose, the expenses incurred by the Senate Vote Fraud Investigating Committee, appointed pursuant to Senate Resolution, Serial No. 20, adopted by the Senate on June 27, 1960, upon certification of the Chairman of said Committee and authorization by the President pro tempore of the Senate.

RECONSIDERATION OF SB 351

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 351, Printer's No. 370, failed of final passage on June 6, 1961.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed third reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 351 be placed on the Third Reading Calendar.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill will be placed on the Third Reading Calendar.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. STASEY, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, reported, as amended, SB 551.

SENATE RESOLUTION

AMENDING SENATE RULES—SENATOR'S EXPENSES

Mr. LANE, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 69), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 7, 1961.

RESOLVED, The Rules of the Senate be amended by adding a new rule to read as follows:

RULE 50

SENATORS' EXPENSES

A Senator summoned to the State Capitol or elsewhere by the President pro tempore of the Senate, or the Majority Leader or the Minority Leader of the Senate, to perform legislative services when the Senate is not in session, shall be reimbursed at the rate of twenty ($20.00) dollars per day for each day of service, plus mileage or transportation expense from and to his residence: Provided that the President pro tempore of the Senate shall certify in writing in advance as to the necessity or usefulness of such trip.

These expenses shall be paid by the Chief Clerk out of the fund for incidental expenses under his jurisdiction and available for this purpose, upon written authorization of the President pro tempore at written request signed by the President pro tempore of the Senate or the Majority Leader or Minority Leader of the Senate.

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded. The Clerk will call the roll slowly.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, if we are now back to the point where it is proper to make a motion that the resolution be referred to the proper committee for study, it is a rather important and revolutionary resolution and, therefore, I think it should be considered by the Rules Committee.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection to the resolution being referred to the Rules Committee. However, I would suggest to the gentleman that he check on the origin of this resolution, where it came from and how it came about. By so doing, I think he might be better informed on it. I would have no objection to the resolution being sent to the Rules Committee or any other committee which the Chair deems advisable.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman's statement, we have not had the opportunity to develop its origin or, as a matter of fact, to read or make any study of the resolution.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think we should accede to the request of the Majority Leader and send the resolution to committee.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I will withdraw my request for immediate consideration and request that it be referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, is Senator Fleming present?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is Senator Fleming in the Chamber?

Mr. PECHAN. I do not believe he is, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The bills were as follows:

SB 232, 326, 380, 551, 587, 588, 604, 659, 668, 684, 685, 686, 687, 696, 697, 698, 704, 705, 706, 707, 721, HB 148, 179, 245, 895, 1007, 1136, 1178 and 1408.

And said bills having been read at length for the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations:

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

June 7, 1961.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate George S. Iyob, Jr., 747 Jefferson Avenue, Jermyn, Lackawanna County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Borough of Jermyn, Lackawanna County, to serve until the first Monday of January 1962, vice John J. Langan, resigned.

MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF SHAMOKIN STATE HOSPITAL

June 7, 1961.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Michael J. Wanzie, 715 Pine Street, Kulpmont, Northumberland County, for reappointment as a member of the Board of Trustees of Shamokin State Hospital, until the third Tuesday of January 1963, and until his successor is appointed and qualified.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Anthony J. DiSilvestro) in the Chair.

BILLS SIGNED

The President pro tempore (Anthony J. DiSilvestro) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

SB 207, 223, 291, 336, 338, 371, 378, 385, 402, 482, 483, 484, 501, 505, 506, 507, 530, 542 and 565.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (John H. Devlin) in the Chair.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a fifteen minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of awaiting communications from the House.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a fifteen minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I wish to inform the Members of the Senate that the resolution which I sponsored a little while ago, with reference to Senators' expenses, was killed. Therefore, I would like to make an explanation of what actually took place.

The President pro tempore of the Senate has $37,500 which is used for unusual expenses and investigative expenses by the Members of the Senate. It was my understanding that they were trying to have a rule set up whereby this is specifically clarified. This resolution was sponsored in error. There was no intention on the part of either the Majority or Minority Party to seek additional expenses, in any manner whatsoever. The only reason this resolution was adopted, I repeat, was to specifically clarify the procedure where the President pro tempore has a contingent fund which is used for investigative expenses by the Members of the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, Senator Lane used the term that the resolution was adopted. I do not think that the resolution was adopted. Senator Lane had asked for immediate consideration of the resolution and the vote was being taken. When I saw a copy of it, I did not know, but I thought the regular business of the Senate had been taken care of. Senator Berger had to catch a plane and before he left, he said that he thought the problems were cleared for today and that nothing further would be coming up.

As I came in, Senator Lane's resolution was being considered. I do not know whether the vote was recorded or not, but I think I was the first person, when I saw it, who recorded myself as voting "no" against the resolution. When the rest of the Members saw what was in the resolution, on both sides of the aisle, I think they felt that it was the wrong thing to do. I am sure it was an honest mistake on Senator Lane's part. I am sure Senator Lane did not feel that we wanted to increase the expenses of the Members of the Senate for additional duties.

Mr. President, may I ask the Chair whether there was any adoption of that resolution?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The resolution was not adopted.

Mr. PECHAN. I merely want the record to show that clearly, Mr. President. Senator Lane used the term that it was adopted.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, if I used the term that the resolution was adopted, I was in error. If I recall correctly, I withdrew my request for immediate consideration and requested that it be referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. PECHAN. That is correct.

Mr. LANE. Incidentally, I want the Members of the Senate to know that the resolution was killed just a little while ago in the Committee on Rules. I think that clarifies the situation.

HOUSE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR HB 264

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was read, considered and concurred in:

In the House of Representatives, June 7, 1961.
Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 264, Printer's No. 1301, be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Anthony J. DiSilvestro) in the Chair.

BILLS SIGNED

The President pro tempore (Anthony J. DiSilvestro) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

HB 132, 208, 308, 326, 451, 485, 490, 495, 501, 502, 503, 639, 734, 740, 758, 759, 760, 762, 770, 803, 832, 857, 871, 936, 1049, 1115, 1116, 1184, 1192 and 1204.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (John H. Devlin) in the Chair.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, June 7, 1961

The House met at 11 a. m., e. s. t.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

O God, Thou omniscient One, we are aware that Thou art conscious of the birds of the air, the very hairs of man's head, and the many, many minute things of life. Grant, we humbly pray, that we, too, may not forget the little things in life; open our eyes to the many infinitesimal opportunities of service which present themselves to us; instill within each one of us the awareness of the problems of life, but especially of the common man; and give us the patience and understanding to deal with them adequately in the promotion of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, June 6, 1961, will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. ELVEY. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, June 6, 1961.

Fulton County has long been renowned as the only county in Pennsylvania without a railroad or county home.

The history of the county and its county seat, McConnellsburg, is a proud record of whole hearted participation by the citizenry in the great events of this Nation.

Settlement of the wilderness during colonial times, suffering from savage attacks by marauding bands of Indian raiders, participation in the Revolutionary War, War of 1812, Spanish-American War, Civil War, and the two great World Wars by the men of McConnellsburg and the remainder of Fulton County is a long record of sacrifice and heroism by true Americans.

Although Fulton County is without a railroad, its wide and well maintained roads and highways have brought it more and more into the pulsating and vital economic life of this Nation. The Lincoln Highway, which is the "Main Street of the Nation" passes through McConnellsburg, and the fruits of good transportation will make this municipality with the splendid historic past, a flowering and fruitful seat of economic productivity in the future.

As McConnellsburg celebrates the one hundred seventy-fifth anniversary of its founding during the week of June 24, 1961, the residents of this community are to be commended for carrying on the noble traditions of progress, enlightenment, frugality, and all other attributes of true Americanism handed down to them by previous residents of this municipality; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives congratulates McConnellsburg and its residents on the one hundred seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of this fine municipality and wishes it continued growth and the attainment of the status of a truly great metropolis; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Mayor of McConnellsburg.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, he does but he wants them placed on a section of the calendar to be called "Retirement Bills."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will so instruct the chief clerk.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, in addition to these bills, Mr. Schuster will have House bill 565, which is also to be placed on the special retirement page of the calendar.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will then recognize Mr. Schuster first.

The Chair would like to inquire again: Is it the desire of the gentleman that these bills be read for the first time if they have not been amended?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is our desire that they be placed on the first reading calendar and not be read for the first time today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to ask for a recess for the purpose of a Democratic and a Republican caucus and, also, to cover a lunch period. It is now approximately 10 minutes after 12, or 10 minutes after 1, daylight time. I would like to have one hour and 30 minutes. We have agreed that we will start to caucus and act on third reading bills today. I will ask at this point for a 30-minute lunch period, with a caucus to start promptly at 20 minutes of 2, continuing for one hour, returning to this House to have the first roll call vote at approximately 15 minutes of 3, fast time.

I will ask for a recess for an hour and a half.

I yield to the minority whip, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, we will follow the same procedure of lunch and caucus. I ask the Republican members to bring their calendars with them.

Mr. Speaker, I wonder if I might ask the majority leader at this time if he could indicate to the members our schedule for next week and what time we will meet tomorrow morning?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we will convene tomorrow morning at 10 a.m., daylight saving time, for the last day of session this week, working a very lengthy schedule tomorrow.

The following week this House will convene on Monday, and at 5 p.m. a joint session of the General Assembly will be held at which the Governor will address the session. The House will be in session four days, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The following week the Senate will be in session on Monday, but the House will begin on Tuesday, being in session on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday as there are not sufficient hotel rooms to take care of the House members for Monday's session. Therefore, the House will convene on Tuesday, the 20th of that week, being in session Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. That is as far as the schedule has been arranged for the next two weeks, Mr. Speaker, and I hope the members will make their plans accordingly.

WORCESTER SCHOOL STUDENTS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair welcomes to the hall of the House the students of the 6th grade of the Lower Providence-Worcester Joint School system, with their principal and 6th grade teacher, Robert Kumpf, and their parents. They are here as the guests of the gentlemen from Montgomery, Messrs. Holl and Willaredt, and the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the Chair will now declare a recess for one hour and thirty minutes.

The Chair hears no objection and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

REQUEST TO ADDRESS JOINT SESSION

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Governor's Office, Harrisburg
June 7, 1961.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

If it meets with the approval of the General Assembly, I should like to address the Members in Joint Session on Monday, June 12, 1961, at 5:00 p.m., Daylight Saving Time.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

GOVERNOR INVITED TO ADDRESS JOINT SESSION

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Governor of the Commonwealth be invited to address the House at 5 p.m. on Monday, June 12, or at any convenient time.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, during the last few days I have been enjoying myself with some light reading. I have been reading the Legislative Journal, particularly the Journal of the early days of 1959 and particularly the pronouncements made by the majority leader, Mr. McCann, when he read into the record the 1958 Democratic Party platform. I studied in this light reading, which I now describe as Aesop's Fables, the particular areas of good government which the Democratic Party pledged itself to enact.

Here are three items in the platform of the Democratic Party which the Speaker, in his "Dispelling the Fog," has stated we should enact or try to enact every feature of both party platforms. Here are the three features, all related to good government.

1. The Democratic Party and its candidates pledge as follows: A fair reapportionment of legislative districts to the end that the vicious practice of gerrymandering which has deprived hundreds of thousands of our citizens of equal representation.

The SPEAKER. You will get it if the Republicans go along.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, we will go along, and I want to know whether the Democratic Party as a whole thinks that this ultimate in gerrymandering, as announced by the Democratic committee of Allegheny County, is their idea of good representation for all the people of Allegheny County?

All I am asking them to do is to present a fair and honest redistricting which will not benefit either party. If the Democratic Party through its Democratic committee wants to redistrict my county in that manner, I will introduce an amendment to make it a fair reapportionment for the benefit of the people and not for the benefit of either party.

Parenthetically I want to say that my own party has been very delinquent, and for years the Democrats have been statesmen in saying they will correct the evils of the Republican Party, and when they get the power they copy the evils of the Republican Party.

The second feature of the good government portion of the Democratic platform is this:

Legislation setting ethical standards for public servants and imposing penalties for violations.

This is the conflict of interests bill, House bill 330, which has been resting in committee for weeks and which has never seen the light of day. This is part of the Democratic Party platform. Why have we not had a chance to debate this issue? Why has it not been released to the floor?

The third portion of the good government items in the Democratic platform is as follows:

A career service to assure competence in State jobs requiring special technical and administrative skills and to attract young people of outstanding ability into government service.

This is civil service. Have we seen a civil service bill on the floor of this House?

In "Dispelling the Fog," the Speaker of this House said we should bring to the floor of this House every item which the Democratic Party has proposed and every item which the Republican Party has proposed.

We do not control the committees; you do. I am asking before it is too late, so the people of Pennsylvania will not consider your platforms in the future to be fairy tales, why do you not bring out these three items? One, honest and not fakery reapportionment; two, a legitimate conflict of interests bill; and three, a bona fide civil service bill.

If you bring out a legitimate reapportionment bill, if it happens to take out every Republican in Allegheny County, if it is fair and honest, we will support you. We know that cannot occur because under any reapportionment you are always going to allow one minority member. It seems as though you like to carry out the plans that they have in Allegheny, one minority commissioner and one Senator. We do not buy that.

Mr. McCann is looking at me very facetiously and is interested. He is the leader of the Democratic Party on the floor of the House. He was able to get a horse-racing bill out in 24 hours; he can get a liquor bill out in 24 hours. Now, please, for the benefit of the administration, in order to back up your Governor, David L. Lawrence, and the platform on which he ran, and on which both he and you run, bring out these three items, honest reapportionment, conflict of interests bill, and a legitimate civil service bill. Then you can adjourn.

The SPEAKER. Before the majority leader speaks, the Chair desires to read the rules:

"Nor shall a member discuss a bill, resolution or other matter not yet reported by a committee to the House."

The Chair has been very lenient. He has suggested that those who want to address the House about matters not pending in the House be given the opportunity every so often, perhaps every week, a period when members can be permitted to rise and say what is on their minds. If the members of this House will support the Chair, the Chair will only entertain addresses directed to some pending matter before the House in the days to come, beginning tomorrow, because the door has been opened today. The Chair has not wanted to be arbitrary. We do not believe it is helpful to rise to unnecessarily stir up the members about matters that are not pending on the calendar, but there should be a time, an appointed time, when it will be possible for anyone, like the gentleman from Allegheny, to rise and say just exactly what he has said today, but it should fall within a period fixed by the House as a time for doing that sort of thing. We also have a time when resolutions should be introduced, and at that time resolutions should be introduced. As I say, the Chair does not desire to be arbitrary, but if we will follow the rules we would save a lot of time and we could have an hour or two hours set aside when members could say what was in their hearts even though it is not pending before the House.

The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, you have said what I was going to say. I was going to say to the gentleman from Allegheny, "amen," because he used the plural "we" and he spoke for the Republican Party, and God, how I would like to have their help.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, all I want to say in answer to the majority leader, the only way you can get our help is by releasing the bills to the floor of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I think the essence of the remarks of the Speaker is that he wants some expression of how this side would feel about his suggestion.

I would go along on the idea that a member should be able to get up and comment upon or speak about some matter that might be current in the State, or to be able to speak about a bill he has in committee that he is worried about, and other matters. I go along with the idea that you should set aside a time in any day for that particular type of discussion. If the Speaker would indicate to the House what portion of the day's session can be devoted to speeches by members on matters of the day, I would appreciate it immensely because we have some matters from here on out that we are going to bring up from time to time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair apologizes to the minority leader for not paying attention to what he was saying, but he had other pressing business that concerned some members of the House.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. The gist of my remarks, Mr. Speaker, was that we will go along with your suggestion that the Speaker pick a time each day when members can be recognized, and I believe it would be polite if the members would let the Chair know when they want to speak, and we would go along with your suggestion.

The SPEAKER. Under the rules that very thing can be done by the majority and minority leaders who can pick the order of the day any time they want to, and I will honor the day of the week on that particular order of business.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair notes the presence in the House of a former distinguished member of this House, the Honorable Joseph Hersch, former minority whip and at present the chief magistrate in the city of Philadelphia. Will the gentleman please rise?

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leaves of absence were granted as follows:

Mr. Dougherty for Mr. PETROSKY for today.

Mr. Dougherty for Mr. MEHOLCHICK for today.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. PRICE for remainder of the week.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I have permission of the Chair to move along without markings on the calendar so that I can call the bills in order, since I was not able to attend the full caucus and will have to consult carefully as I go.

On page 25, bills on third reading, for the first roll call of the day, Mr. Speaker, I call up House bill 244, printer's No. 2054.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 244, entitled:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill fails.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 397, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), making a term of imprisonment mandatory for operating a vehicle after the operator's privilege has been revoked.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TOMPKINS asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, next to last line of Title, by striking out "making" and inserting: authorizing

Amend Title, page 1, next to last line of Title, by striking out "mandatory"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 624), page 2, line 9, by striking out "shall" and inserting: may

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 624), page 2, line 10, by inserting after "section": be sentenced to

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Mr. TOMPKINS. House bill No. 397, which we are now considering, makes it mandatory upon the courts in the case of conviction or plea of guilty for operating a motor vehicle while your operator's license is under revocation, makes the sentencing mandatory. In other words, the court would have no choice, no discretion, no nothing, excepting to sentence to a minimum of six months' imprisonment and a maximum of three years, in addition to any fine which might be imposed under the provisions of the act. Now, my amendments merely strike out the word "shall" in this bill and make it "may," giving the courts some discretion, because of the fact that, in many cases, not only in offenses of this kind, but in all the offenses, the courts are given some discretion to regulate the penalty based upon circumstances, and many times there are mitigating circumstances. I do not know of any other criminal statute on the statute books that imposes a mandatory sentence for a first offense. In the case of narcotics, which we all consider to be a very heinous offense, you cannot impose a mandatory sentence excepting for a second or subsequent offense. They do not even impose it in those cases for the first offense. I believe this bill to be harsh in its present form. I believe the courts should be given some discretion in connection with circumstances that might be involved. For that reason I have offered these amendments.

The SPEAKER. Conversation is overpowering from the floor. I rather imagine that since the gentleman from Philadelphia is going to debate the bill he wants to hear what the minority whip has to say. The gentleman from Cameron will proceed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I have made my statement, Mr. Speaker. I hope that a couple of them heard it.

The SPEAKER. The chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. It was with great difficulty that I could hear what he had to say, but I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, what is the present law with respect to a person operating on a revoked or suspended license in Pennsylvania?

Mr. TOMPKINS. The present law makes it a misdemeanor, which means that you are indictable in the quarter sessions court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the present law is that in case of conviction you are sentenced for a fine of not less than $100 or more than $500 and/or to go to prison for not more than three years. The bill before us provides that.

Mr. McCORMACK. Now, I did not ask you that. You said enough.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, I want to give the comparison so the people will know what we are talking about.

Mr. McCORMACK. I did not ask you that.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I know you did not ask me that, but I still want the people to know that by comparison the bill before us provides that you must give six months' sentence and there is no leeway to it. You go to jail for six months, period, with no discretion.

Mr. McCORMACK. Are you finished? In other words, the present law, Mr. Speaker, gives the court discretion, is that correct?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. So then in voting on the merits of the bill without your amendments, there would be no other purpose served in voting on your amendment or introducing it. If you do not like the bill making it mandatory, you vote against the bill and the law as it is now will be in effect. It would give the court discretion. Do you understand that?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I do.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, then what is the purpose of your amendment?

Mr. TOMPKINS. The purpose of my amendment is that should this bill perchance obtain enough votes to go through, I do not want a mandatory sentence in here. If the amendments go in, I would have to admit to you that it would restore the bill to the present law.

Mr. McCORMACK. That is all, Mr. Speaker. Very briefly that is the issue, whether or not you want to give the courts discretion which they presently have under the law to impose a fine or imprisonment on a person who is operating on a suspended or revoked license. Now, a lot of people are dissatisfied with the way the courts are handling these problems involving safety on the highways and a lot of times the courts, despite the fact that a person can be the most flagrant violator operating on a revoked license, the court still sees fit to impose a fine rather than imprisonment. I agree with the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, that making it mandatory is rather a harsh thing in that it does not give the court any discretion, regardless of the particular mitigating circumstances, and I think it is an issue that should be given some consideration. As to how you finally decide, of course, is up to the House. I believe the bill as written is a good bill and making it discretionary would serve no real purpose.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, at the recent gridiron banquet that the newsmen held, they issued a publication in which they described Ed Tompkins and I as opening up a law office in Harrisburg to handle fair education cases together. Now, after hearing his amendments and the purpose of the amendments, I believe there might be some truth to our going into the law business together because I support Mr. Tompkins' position 100 percent.

I think it is unreasonable to make imprisonment mandatory for an offense of this type. There are oodles and oodles of more heinous crimes on our panel statutes today where the offender is given an opportunity through the discretion of the courts to either be committed to imprisonment or to pay a fine or both. And I cannot, for the life of me, see that there should not be room for discretion in this type of violation, particularly where we can easily envision so many emergency situations where it is absolutely compelling and necessary that a motorist drives a car notwithstanding the fact that his driving license has been revoked. For that reason I am going to support the amendments.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the gentleman from Philadelphia very much and I wish to thank the authors of that publication who put us into a practice to this extent anyhow.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. ADAMS. I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know what would happen to a vehicle operator if he had his license revoked and the department failed to return the license at the proper time either through an oversight or inefficiency when the man should have gotten it back? What would happen to the operator under this law if it became effective?

Mr. McCORMACK. You mean if the period of suspension had elapsed but the person did not receive his license physically after the period of suspension?

Mr. ADAMS. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. And then he operated?

Mr. ADAMS. Yes.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, we passed a bill a couple of weeks ago, did we not, which would make it lawful for a person to operate his motor vehicle after the period of suspension but prior to the time that he received it back.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, this particular bill does not say "suspension"; it say "revocation."

Mr. ADAMS. I am just asking you a question now.

Mr. McCORMACK. I am just answering your question now. What is your question again?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I will repeat the question. What would happen to the operator if this bill were enacted into law and he drove his vehicle after the revocation had expired and he should have had his license returned but did not have it returned through oversight or inefficiency?

Mr. McCORMACK. It would be the same thing in a revocation or suspension, after the period expired. The present law makes it a misdemeanor for a person to operate his motor vehicle after his operating privileges have been suspended or revoked and before those privileges have been restored or reinstated, either on revocation or suspension prior to reinstatement. But then I told you we passed a bill a few weeks ago that would—

Mr. ADAMS. You said suspension - - -

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, I believe it pertains to both revocation and suspension.

May I say this, Mr. Speaker, I think it is apparent that there are not enough votes to pass this bill in its mandatory form. I believe the consensus is that the bill is going to be defeated. Now if Mr. Tompkins' amendments are adopted, the bill is going to be carried on the calendar and will defeat the measure's purpose because it would then be the same as the law is now.

So I suggest to Mr. Tompkins to withdraw the amendments, let the bill roll and let it be defeated. There are not 106 votes here to pass the bill.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman answered much more than the question that I asked, but I believe the bill is too severe and my conscience dictates me to vote against it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I sincerely recommend to Mr. Tompkins, from what information I have, that if he withdraws his amendments, he knows where the bill is going.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I will withdraw my amendments.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, if I had been present in the House, I would have voted "no" on this bill.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Blair desire to be recorded as being one who desires to make it 182?

Mr. AUKER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Happy to hear it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Willard.

Mr. WILLARD. Mr. Speaker, if I had been present, I would have voted in the negative on that last roll call.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentlemen will be recorded in the journal.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 473, entitled:

An Act amending "The Administrative Code of 1929" approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), further regulating the price to be paid for State forest lands.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Rules for the purpose of amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 640, entitled:

An Act repealing section 2511 act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), known as the "Public School Code of 1949" relating to payments on account of closed schools.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GAILEY asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I think I can explain the amendments and dispense with the reading of them in full, if that is satisfactory.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, who will explain the amendments.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I think we all know the content of House bill 640. It is not my intention today to debate the merits of this legislation per se. I would like to confine my remarks to the amendments which I have offered.

What the amendments do is this: We are all familiar that certain school districts receive payments on account of closed schools, as it is called. It varies. Some get $100, some get $200, for each school they have closed in the course of a rebuilding program. I think we are all aware of the arguments pro and con concerning the effectiveness of this type of school subsidy. These amendments wipe out the repealer of this act. In other words, they change it from an act that repeals outright the school subsidy in these cases and it substitutes instead a provision that school districts shall continue to receive this money, but in no case longer than a period of 20 years..

It seems to me that these amendments make sense on a number of scores. First, many of our districts, in good faith, have closed their schools, relying on this particular subsidy to help them amortize their bond issues. Second, they have been counting on it in their budgets and have the right to count on it in their budgets for at least a reasonable period of time. I would suggest to the members of this House that 20 years is a reasonable period of time. It is the period of time for which most bond issues are written, although some, of course, are written for longer, but I think you will find that the average school bond issue runs for 20 years. It is the intent of this amendment to allow this subsidy to continue for such a period of time as the ordinary school bond issue. This ties in, of course, with the closing of the schools originally.

This will do a number of things: It will save our districts substantial sums which they might have lost otherwise if this bill were passed in its original form. I do not think there is anyone in this House who can argue with logic that these subsidies on account of closed schools should continue for an indefinite period of time. I think we all know that ever since 1912 some districts have been receiving these funds. That is a period of almost 50 years. Surely, in that time the amortization costs for the replacement of these closed schools would have been well taken care of. It seems to me to make good sense to take the money that will be saved by the reduction in the cost of subsidies in this area and put it to use through a more logical system than the subsidies.

As I say, I think these amendments make sense. I like to think they are an effective compromise between some people who feel that these subsidies should go on ad infinitum and those who feel that they should be cut out altogether.

I respectfully request members on both sides of the House to support these amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I had wanted to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, about this bill, but he answered the question. What I wondered was, why a 20-year figure was taken, a rather arbitrary figure? He explained why. He said that the average bond issue was for 20 years, but I believe that is incorrect.

I have received correspondence from a number of rural school districts in Berks County explaining to me that they have bond issues that run between 30 and 40 years. Now, if the amendments aim to cut off this remuneration of $200 per closed school, cut it off at a time when the bond issue expires. This may be all right to cut it off for districts that have received it since 1912 where the bond issue has been paid for, for the construction of a school in the rural areas where they joined when they closed their one-room schools, but we have schools that were closed within the last two or three years and will be indebted for the next 30 or 35 years, and these funds which are received from the Commonwealth have been earmarked to pay for the interest and to reduce the bonded indebtedness.

I feel that the adoption of this 20-year amendment is a step in the right direction. I just do not think it is adequate to cover the situation completely. I feel this legislation is a breach of faith with the school districts of Pennsylvania. If the bill is going to pass, it would be well if these amendments were in, but I feel that the same thing will happen to the bill that happened to the previous bill, if and when it comes up for a vote. I must oppose the amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Goodrich.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GAILEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Potter will proceed.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, I do not quite understand the intent of this amendment. I would like to ask one question:

If a school district had been closed in 1930, what would the effect of the amendment be?

Mr. GAILEY. If a school district or a school had been closed in 1930?

Mr. GOODRICH. Yes, if a school had been closed in 1930.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I thought I had explained it sufficiently. It means that the district, then, under these amendments would stop receiving the subsidies, since it has been more than 20 years ago.

Mr. GOODRICH. Then no school which has been closed since 1941 would receive payments for a closed school?

Mr. GAILEY. Not quite, Mr. Speaker. The act does not take effect since it was amended in committee, the gentleman will recall, to make the act effective May of 1962, I believe it is, so it would be since 1942. That is correct.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, would you have information as to how many districts that are now receiving payments for closed schools would be affected by the amendments and to what extent?

Mr. GAILEY. I have such information, Mr. Speaker. It is not in such form as would enable me to give the gentleman if he asked me concerning, for instance, Lower Punxsutawney School District in Potter County. I could calculate it for him. It would take some time to do it. I can give the gentleman, if it will be of any help to him, an estimate of the savings to the Commonwealth and, parenthetically, the amount therefore available for distribution under other subsidy methods if this amendment were to be adopted. It has been estimated at approximately $1 million. It is my understanding that this presently runs $2.5 million overall, so it means that from 1962 $1.5 million would be distributed in that year under this present method of subsidy and we would have an additional $1 million which would be saved, which this legislature, in its wisdom, could decide to use for other purposes should it so wish.

Mr. GOODRICH. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. I could help him with his geography a little, though.

Mr. Speaker, I am asking the members of the House to vote against the amendment. The bill itself, of course, is extremely objectionable to most of the school districts of Pennsylvania. The amendments themselves might add some value to the bill, but they really do not solve the problem. The amendments themselves do this. They lessen the bad faith which the legislature of Pennsylvania would have in passing House bill 640, but they would not eliminate the bad faith that we would have. Actually, the payments for closed schools originated for several reasons. One may have been the building of schools to take care of the students who were transported from those closed schools; also, the purpose was to aid in the transportation of children from closed schools to consolidated schools. The Pennsylvania legislature offered this sum to the school districts to encourage consolidation of schools. Therefore, it would be bad faith to pass the amendment and the bill. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Goodrich, allow himself to be interrogated briefly?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Potter allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOODRICH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman familiar with certain situations with regard to closed school subsidies in which school districts are no longer in operation and in which schools have been under 10 feet of water for 20 years, and a good many others, that are still receiving subsidies on account of closed schools? Is he familiar with newspaper stories concerning them?

Mr. GOODRICH. I am familiar, Mr. Speaker, with a minnow caught in a mud puddle that was the subject of a story in the Philadelphia Bulletin, I believe.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman agree with me, in view of our far-reaching program which we presently have for subsidies paid by the Commonwealth to districts on account of new buildings, that while school districts count on this money, this is not a particularly logical way for the State to distribute these funds?

Mr. GOODRICH. No, I will not agree that it is not particularly logical. It could be improved. I think several of us have bills that would be an improvement, but those bills are not under consideration. Therefore, out of defense, we must retain the present legislation.

Mr. GAILEY. Does the gentleman agree with me, however—I gather that he does—that there is substantial room, or, at least, some room—I will not put words in his mouth, but there is at least some room—for improvement in this particular area?

Mr. GOODRICH. I agree there is some room for improvement in this particular area.

Mr. GAILEY. I thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, all over Pennsylvania today every member of this House must admit that our local schools are in bad shape financially, particularly in the smaller counties. I realize that giving this closed-school money has been a gimmick to give more money, or maintain a certain subsidy to school districts, and it probably is illogical, but the fact remains that the school districts must have this money. Until we in this House change the formula in some way so the schools will not lose this subsidy money, until we get right down to brass tacks and revamp our entire subsidy idea, until then—the cities are not satisfied with their subsidies, they do not get what they think they are entitled to—but until rural Pennsylvania gets what it wants, I think it is very unwise to take this money away from the school districts, particularly right now when they are making their budgets.

All over this State, no matter where you are from, when you get home this week end your school boards are going to ask you, are we going to get the money? As I said yesterday to Mr. Polen, under the freeze clause of the educational bill, are we going to be able to retain our closed-school money? How are we going to balance our budgets? In practically every community in this State the millage has jumped anywhere from 25 to 30 mills for school taxes, particularly in the northern tier counties and middle Pennsylvania.

Therefore, it is absolutely essential that, until we do something drastic here to our formula ideas, the schools must have this money and even this amendment which will cut it down about $1 million should not prevail, nor should the bill prevail. Therefore, I am asking that the members go against these amendments and, also, when the bill comes up for final passage, that they vote against the bill.

I would be willing to sit down to devise a formula which would be fair to everybody in this State, including the big cities, but until we do that, now is no time to deprive our schools of that money.

Therefore, in behalf of the schools of Pennsylvania that have bonded themselves and relied on this closed-school money, I say it is entirely wrong to either pass these amendments or pass the bill in question. Therefore, I say vote down the amendments, please.

The SPEAKER. The chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. I do not like to abuse the privilege of speaking too many times on one bill. I know we have overlooked it many times this session and, unfortunately, it prolongs debate unnecessarily. However, I do think the minority leader is not speaking accurately when he advises the House as he does. In the first place, should these amendments not go into the bill and should the bill prevail, it would wipe this out altogether. These amendments are a softening of the blow which would be imposed by this bill. In the second place, Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out again that this does not affect budgets for this year; it affects school budgets for the school year beginning in July, 1962, in which case, it seems to me, they have ample time to make provisions for it. The impact would be modest, I can assure this House, if these amendments are accepted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. GAILEY and McCANN and were as follows:

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to be recorded as voting "no" on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be noted in the journal.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 890, entitled:

An Act repealing acts pertaining to Berks County prison inspectors.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McDEVITT asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 8 by striking out "take effect immediately" and inserting "not take effect until a referendum in Berks County approving the same shall have been held, in which event it shall become effective ten days after such approval. Thereupon, the administration of the prisons shall be governed as provided by laws relating to the administration of county prisons in counties of the third, fourth and fifth classes.

The county commissioners shall cause the question to be submitted at the next general election. The question shall be submitted on the ballot or on voting machines in the manner provided by the election laws of this Commonwealth and shall be submitted in the following form:

Do you favor the repeal of the acts under which members of the Board of Inspectors of Berks County Prison are elected and their expenses are fixed?

The election on this question shall be governed in all respects by the election laws of this Commonwealth in so far as they are applicable."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendments?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, according to constitutional law, we were compelled to advertise this bill before submitting it to this House for action. The notice of the special bill was advertised in the newspapers, and I would like to read it:

Notice is hereby given that during the regular session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to be held in the year 1961, there will be introduced a bill entitled "An act repealing acts pertaining to Berks County prison inspectors."

The object of the bill is to repeal the provision of the special laws relating to prison inspectors in Berks County, and by the repeal to have the appointment, powers and duties of inspectors of the jail or county prison governed by general law.

Are these amendments in accordance with our advertising?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may we be at ease until we have a conference?

The SPEAKER. Yes.

(The House was at ease.)

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Berks, Mr. McDevitt, will withdraw his amendments. I will ask that the bill be passed over. They will be having a conference. There are two conflicting answers from the Legislative Reference Bureau on this. Therefore, they will settle it by tomorrow. I ask that the gentleman from Berks, Mr. McDevitt, withdraw his amendments.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

The SPEAKER. The gentleman requests that the amendments be withdrawn.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House bill No. 890, printer's No. 979
was passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1122, entitled:

An Act amending the "Milk Control Law" approved April 28, 1937 (P. L. 417), increasing the annual license fees on milk dealers.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Butler, Mr. McCandless, desire to be recognized?

Mr. McCANDLESS. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Butler, Mr. McCandless.

Mr. McCANDLESS. Mr. Speaker, House bill 1122 would require the milk dealers to pay the entire cost of operating the Milk Control Commission by increasing the fee per hundredweight from ½ cent to 1½ cents. If this bill were passed, Pennsylvania farmers would be deprived of any say on the Milk Control Commission, the reason being that "he who controls the purse strings has the final say."

In 1937, when the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission was established by the Pennsylvania legislature, the General Assembly appropriated money for two-thirds of the cost of operating the commission. Dealers contributed one-third. The reason for this action at that time was that the consumer and producer interest should be paid out of the general tax funds.

In 1954, the Milk Control Law was amended, increasing the dealers' contribution from one-third to where it accounted for two-thirds of the financing of the commission. This bill would again amend the Milk Control Law whereby dealers would be paying the entire cost of the commission.

House bill 1122 is not a good bill for the dairy industry of Pennsylvania. It technically places the entire say of the operation of the commission in the hands of one segment of the dairy industry, namely, the milk dealers. Consumers, as well as farmers, would therefore have no real representation on the commission because every member of the commission and every employe of the commission knows from where their pay check comes.

On April 25, dairymen from 40 counties had a meeting at Camp Hill to discuss and take action on House bill 1122. It was unanimously agreed that an all-out effort be made to oppose this bill.

Based on the above I urge my colleagues to oppose House bill 1122.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. McCANDLESS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Agriculture and Dairy Industries for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the motion by the gentleman, Mr. McCandless, is on recommitting this bill. I realize it is not proper to speak on the bill itself because a recommittal motion has been made, but we certainly would like to have an opportunity to vote on and discuss this bill in an effort to determine policy year after year with regard to the appropriation, for whichever party is in control will have to answer when they prepare a bill in the Appropriations Committee on appropriations to all, including the Milk Commission.

For that reason I am going to ask that the members oppose the motion to recommit it for the purpose of voting on it, even though I am aware that some are opposed to the bill. I ask that the membership vote "no" on the motion to recommit.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Guthrie,	Lippincott,	Price,	Verona,
Klein,	Meholchick,	Snare,	Yetter,
Lamb,	Petrosky,

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Down.

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the sponsor of the bill permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PRENDERGAST. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I understand under the Milk Control Law that the books of the milk dealers are studied by the Milk Control Commission and the cost of operation determines the price to the consumer. If this bill passes, could this possibly mean that the high-priced milk will then be higher to the consumer?

Mr. PRENDERGAST. Will the gentleman repeat the question please?

Mr. DOWN. The question I asked was on the cost of operation, the increased cost of operation to the milk dealers. As I understand it, the costs to the milk dealers are studied by the Milk Control Commission and thus the cost of operation determines the price to the consumer. This could possibly mean an increase of operation. Would this mean an increased cost to the consumer?

Mr. PRENDERGAST. Mr. Speaker, this bill will cost approximately $300,000. However, the return estimated is $300,000 this year. I do not feel that $300,000 spread over the entire milk industry will increase the cost of milk to the average consumer.

Mr. DOWN. Is the gentleman answering the question by saying that he does not feel that this will increase the price of milk to the consumer.

Mr. PRENDERGAST. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot see how it will be possible when this is an increased cost to the dealer.

Mr. PRENDERGAST. It is not an unusual situation for an industry or concern to absorb certain costs and it is my belief that these costs will be absorbed by the milk dealers themselves.

Mr. DOWN. Well, I differ with the gentleman's opinion because, being a little familiar with the Milk Control Commission and the dealer's cost, the producer's cost, and the consumer's costs, in the high-priced areas, such as the Pittsburgh area, this, in my opinion, will no doubt increase the cost of milk to the consumers.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, yes, to answer the aside here, I am a lawyer. I might say that I did not go to the University of Pennsylvania either.

However, I wish that each member of this House could read the note in the Law Review of the University of Pittsburgh, published, I think, in February of 1961, which in detail examines the Milk Control Act of Pennsylvania since its original enactment back in the 30's. It is a clear, lucid explanation of how milk control works in Pennsylvania. I commend it to the reading of every member here, and I particularly suggest it for the reading of the lawyers in this House.

Mr. Speaker, this bill, although I have a great appreciation for the revenue difficulties of this Commonwealth, is another step in creating and strengthening the hold of a regulated group of a union which regulates that group.

I say that my concern is basically on behalf of the consumer. This bill cannot do anything else but represent the best interests of the best producers. Their interests are adverse to the consumer's interest. I again concur in the remarks of my good friend and colleague, the gentleman from Butler, Mr. McCandless; I suggest that it is true. In my own Erie County I have seen small dairy farms go under. The only possibility, apparently, is a large investment of capital, the refinement of their herds, bigness, Mr. Speaker, on the producing end, and the little man cannot do it. I hope to see the day, before I leave these legislative halls, when this legislature defeats this legislation. In 1937, after the creation of the emergency which prompted the enactment of the Milk Control legislation, they had the sense to re-examine the problems. This is something that Pennsylvania has not done since the enactment of this emergency legislation in the 30's. This is a problem which could well deserve the attention of this legislature, and, as I said, I hope it is done. But until it is, I think that legislation of this type, which as I said only strengthens the position of one segment of this economy, should be defeated.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Fox.

Mr. FOX. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill. I will not continue the general discussion of the milk control question. Rather, I rise to oppose it on the ground that it is now absolutely unnecessary to pass this bill.

The money to operate the Milk Control Commission has in the past come from two sources, license fees on milk dealers and a supplemental appropriation from the general fund. Over the past several bienniums the supplemental appropriation was $300,000 per biennium, or $150,000 per year. This bill originally was introduced, I am told, to make such an appropriation unnecessary. However, the general appropriations bill that has been passed by both Houses and signed by the Governor includes the provision to appropriate, not $150,000 a year, but an increase in the total of $200,000 a year to the Milk Control Commission. Therefore, without this bill they are getting a $50,000-a-year increase. With this bill, as has been truthfully stated, it will bring in $300,000 and they will be getting a $350,000-a-year increase. That is absolutely wrong. Since the appropriation has been passed and signed, this bill, by all means, should be defeated as being completely unnecessary.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I only want to clarify the point of the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Fox. The statements he made are not correct in this sense: We have appropriated the money for the milk commission because the appropriation had to be put in the Appropriations Committee for this year. There was no question because 1122 was not law, which would raise the money for the milk commission.

Now then, the milk commission does have an appropriation for the current fiscal 13 months, the same as the other executive branches that were in the general appropriations bill.

The purpose of this bill at this point, which, of course, would also have to be changed in the future, is to determine the policy of whether each year you intend to continue to appropriate money to the milk commission or try to place them on a self-supporting income basis. This becomes a decision. There has been, up to this date, no amendments offered by anyone to change any of the fees proposed in 1122 to reduce the income in any way. I believe that we should vote on the bill. I, of course, am aware of the situation because we have checked continually on this bill.

With the passage of this bill, it will establish one policy; with the failure of the bill, it will continue to carry out the policy of appropriating the money from the general fund to the milk commission. I do not argue the points in the bill as to the revenue they raise, which, I believe, has been certified to by Mr. Polen, the chairman of the Appropriations Committee, nor do I argue as to the operating expense of the milk commission. But there is no question but that you who have served here and worked on the fiscal budget of this Commonwealth are well aware that the appropriations must be appropriated each year, although they do receive a sum of money from the present fees under the law.

Therefore, I would like to vote the bill and that was the purpose in asking that you defeat the amendment, that the bill be voted, which would establish the policy of this House regarding money for the milk commission at the present time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Fox.

Mr. FOX. Perhaps it is the way to establish a policy by voting on a bill like this. However, this bill was on the calendar before the appropriations bill was passed. While it could have been established before the appropriations passed either the House or the Senate, it was not. That policy can be established next year in our fiscal session before the appropriations bill comes before this body. It is not necessary now to set that policy and in so doing take from the milk dealers $300,000 that the milk commission does not need.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1212, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 5, 1917 (P. L. 693), entitled "An act authorizing and empowering the several counties of this Commonwealth to establish and maintain schools for the care and education of children * * *" providing for the transfer of schools to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and authorizing operation of schools to be terminated.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I heard this bill might be passed over and we did not caucus on it, 1212.

Mr. McCANN. Did they caucus on the next bill, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Yes, we have caucused on 1215.

Mr. McCANN. House bill 1212 was marked for caucus and Mr. Irvis of Allegheny to debate it. It is a bill that is needed in conjunction with another bill that is coming from the Senate.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, we will caucus on 1212 tomorrow, unless it is imperative to move it today, when we will call a quick caucus.

Mr. McCANN. No, Mr. Speaker.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House bill No. 1212, printer's No. 1385
was passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1215, entitled:

An Act amending the "Local Tax Enabling Act" approved June 25, 1947 (P. L. 1145), fixing the maximum tax which may be assessed by school districts and other political subdivisions on the wages salary commissions or other earned income of the same individual.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1222, entitled:

An Act relating to bituminous coal mines amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto providing for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith * * *.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1237, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 18, 1937 (P. L. 654), entitled as amended "An act to provide for the safety and to protect the health and morals of persons while employed * * * and fixing penalties" increasing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, will one of the sponsors explain this bill and the necessity therefor?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Welsh.

Mr. WELSH. All this bill does, Mr. Speaker, is increase the fine.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. How much?

Mr. WELSH. Well, in one instance, $100 to $300; in another instance, from $200 to $500.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. The second part of my question was, why is it necessary to double or triple these fines?

Mr. WELSH. Because of the fine angle. For one reason, they tried to increase these, and the reason to have an increase is that the fines are too low for people getting injured. They felt maybe people will be more careful.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. May I further interrogate the gentleman? As I understand the bill, this increases the fine for first offense up to $300 for violating a rule or regulation of the Department of Labor and Industry. Is that correct?

Mr. WELSH. That is correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Could you tell the House how many arrests there have been, say, in the year 1960 for violation of the standard regulations and rules of the Department of Labor and Industry?

Mr. WELSH. I could not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Does the gentleman have in his possession any wholesale flagrant violations of safety standards that would require a $300 fine for the first offense?

Mr. WELSH. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, we had this bill before us last session. I am for safety in our industrial plants just as much as anybody in this House and I am sure we all favor it.

I think that the members of the industrial community in Pennsylvania are doing a marvelous job in establishing safety standards, in improving safety devices, and all over the State the various associations are giving prizes for safety records, and so forth.

Now what I do not like about this bill is this: Last year, as you know, the Department of Labor and Industry in compliance with the public instruction department issued many rules and regulations and orders and mandates that the schools immediately do these crash repairs and they had the State in violent turmoil at that time, and, Mr. Speaker, this bill raising the first fine up to $300, I do not see any necessity for such a harsh penalty.

It really is another answer to industry and saying that you are doing a bum job from a safety standpoint. The idea back of penal law, the idea back of arrest and punishment, first of all, is to punish; secondly, reformation. That is the idea that runs through our whole penal code. And I cannot see any reason for putting this additional, you might say, hammer on industry in this State and, in effect, have this General Assembly say, you are doing a bum job from a safety standpoint with these wholesale violations; we have to raise the penalty to $300. I think, therefore, we should vote down this bill.

Industry in this State is in terrible shape. We have a committee here that is going to send out a questionnaire one of these days to find out what we can do about unemployment in this State. There has been too much talk from both sides of our mouths about it. We lead in unemployment in vital industry here in similar States. It is time that we did something to invite industry and set up a proper climate instead of putting up all kinds of barriers.

Therefore, I think this is another instance where you are going to hammer industry and, for goodness sakes, let us vote down this bill.

Mr. J. P. O'DONNELL. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the most important pieces of legislation that came before this House in the present session. I have to disagree with Mr. Johnson in this matter. Various large cities would like to have this kind of legislation on its books. I know in our department we had one specific accident where three men were killed. It was the Commonwealth itself that prosecuted. Under the present law the most the Commonwealth could fine these individuals, these contractors, was $75 apiece. Is $75 all you are going to pay for a man's life?

I was talking with a member of the Chamber of Commerce. They themselves are behind this bill. I talked to him in the last session of the legislature and they are the ones that asked me if I would push this bill. I say to you this: This is the type of legislation we need on the books for every manufacturer in the Commonwealth, every reasonable manufacturer who needs safety, with the various safety programs who want this type of legislation. This is not that type of organization. This is the type of organization that walks into a fight and thinks it can get away with wholesale murder and walk away with a $75 fine and walk away free. This is the type of legislation we need in this House. Thank you.

Mr. MORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to emphasize what the previous speaker has said.

This bill is not a bill to handicap industry. This is a bill that is highly desirable for the industrial firms in this State who are complying with the law. There is a certain fringe element that is arrogant and consistent violators of the law and the fines in the present law do not have sufficient deterrent effect to stop these people.

The gentleman from McKean asked about the number of violations in this department. I am not familiar with the present figures, but I do know that in the districts which have supervisors, a few years ago there were 45 in the one district. We issued 144 warrants in an entire year. Certainly that is reasonable and fair-minded law enforcement. But there are specific cases bordering on manslaughter and almost murder where there are consistent and repeated violations of these laws and the present fines do not have the deterrent effect.

I think this bill is highly desirable, not only for the working man and for labor, but for the responsible employers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and I advocate its passage.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Prendergast, rise?

Mr. PRENDERGAST. Mr. Speaker, I wish to be recorded as voting "aye" on the last vote.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request permission to turn to page 21, bills on final passage. I call up House bill 1162, printer's No. 2070.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1162, entitled:

An Act amending "The C P A Law" approved May 26, 1947 (P. L. 318), further regulating the certification and public practice of certified public accountants.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, may it please the honorable gentleman of this assembly for me to plead surprise?

I had an understanding, not an agreement, but an understanding, that this bill would not be called up today. I therefore appear without the documents that I desire to present to this House and without either physical or mental preparation.

Ordinarily, in addressing this House and to those who hold an opposing view, in the past I have almost always been able to say "Lay on, MacDuff, and damned be he who first cries 'Hold, enough.'"

I have very few requests to make personally of this House. This bill was placed upon the final passage postponed calendar, and I will not resist taking it off tomorrow. Who knows, the sponsor of this bill may have more votes tomorrow than he has today. I want to emphasize, there was no binding gentlemen's commitment, just an understanding, a plan, that I thought was approved this morning and for those reasons that seem good to the gentleman from Philadelphia the plan was changed. As I say, I plead surprise.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. ANDREWS. I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar, and I will not resist tomorrow any effort made to take it off the calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, it is very difficult for me to follow our Speaker with all the eloquence at his command and the respect that the House quite properly has for him. But I think this time I have been accused wrongly of entering into a misunderstanding and I am somewhat hurt by the Speaker's accusation because I am not in the custom or habit of making any such understanding.

I would say in reply to the Speaker's charge, and as the Speaker well knows, he has been closely concerned with House bill 1162 for as long a period as it has been in this House of Representatives. He has actively worked on the bill; he has been aware of every move on the bill; he debated the amendments which have been adopted by this House; and we expect to do nothing further than to move the bill in the form it presently is.

Now I went to the Speaker this morning, the Speaker did not come to me, and I frankly told him that there were certain questions that I had about the bill. I at no time indicated to him or to anyone that I would agree to the bill being postponed.

It seems at this point, and I say this in utter candor, that the Speaker is misusing my line of defense with him to establish the battleground. I think the Speaker is very unfair and I ask everyone in fairness to defeat the motion and debate the bill which has already been substantially debated.

I ask everyone to vote "no" on the motion.

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. ANDREWS and EILBERG and were as follows:

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Professional Licensure for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I am somewhat surprised by the motion that has been made by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker, since I had no indication that it would be made at this time. However, in indicating my opposition to the motion, I will call to the gentleman's attention and to the attention of the House that the amendments to the bill were fully considered on Wednesday, May 24th. We had a full debate in the House, the amendments were written into the bill, and I would point out, Mr. Speaker, that the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the adoption of my amendments. It would seem to me that this House has had all the opportunity that it needs as a practical matter to study this bill. What the gentleman proposes is not to study the bill further, but to bury the bill. I oppose that vigorously. I ask everyone to vote against the motion.

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. HOCKER and EILBERG and were as follows:

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I will try as best I can to conserve the time of the House. I believe that this measure, or the principal point in the measure, was fully debated on Wednesday, May 24, and I will try not to belabor the point too much at this time.

I would remind the members of the House, and I am recalling from memory now because I do not have the figures in front of me, that the vote on my amendments was 144 to 30, if I recall correctly. Since that time I have received a letter from the State Board of Examiners of Public Accountants, the CPA Examining Board, which reads as follows:

This is to confirm that the Pennsylvania State Board of Examiners of Public Accountants concurs with the statement of intent of the equivalent education which was read into the legislative record in the House of Representatives on Wednesday, May 24th. A copy of this statement will be made a part of the official minutes of the Board. When House bill 1162 becomes law, the State Board of Examiners of Public Accountants will draft regulations to implement the amendments. Very truly yours,
Irving Yaverbaum, Chairman
Irving Dubin, Secretary.

I would like to make this letter part of the record at this time.

Since May 24 we have been subjected to a barrage of correspondence mainly from business schools throughout the Commonwealth, Mr. Speaker, that are not accredited by the National Association of Business Schools. I would emphasize that point because it seems to me, if an institution is accredited within the standards, it should be in favor of the accrediting standards set forth by its own association. It is the institutions that are not accredited primarily, and apparently have no intention of becoming accredited, that are raising all the fuss at this time.

Mr. Speaker, I have received a copy of a letter indicating that my amendments are meaningless, that to write into the bill an education which is the equivalent of a college education has no meaning. Mr. Speaker, I will emphatically deny that and point out at the same time that this language is very customary in our statute books. It appears in the Medical Practice Act of 1911, the Chiropractic Act of 1956, the Chiropractic Registration Act of 1951, the Registered Architects Act of 1919, and in the act of 1917 relating to optometrists. The language we employ in our amendments is identical with what is used in other statutes on our statute books. So I say, Mr. Speaker, that there is no misunderstanding, the words are not meaningless, they are very meaningful.

One of the things, Mr. Speaker, that I have been concerned with during the last few days in connection with 1162 was the fact that it appeared on a circular which is handed out daily in this House by the AFL-CIO. Many of the members of this House are reluctant to vote in favor of a bill which appears on their opposed list. I have taken the trouble, Mr. Speaker, to speak to the officials involved in that organization personally, directly, not hearsay, and I have been assured this morning, late this morning, that the opposition of the organized labor movement has been withdrawn, so if any members are concerned about the position of organized labor in this matter, please be assured that that opposition no longer exists.

It is true, Mr. Speaker, that we are attempting to raise the standards in our particular bill. We think that today with modern business we need people who are capable, trained, who are best able to take care of the needs and wants of the people and, as I said on May 24, I think it is our duty to attempt to raise professional standards whenever we can.

I would hasten to point out, however, that in taking a good look at the law pertaining to the licensing of CPA's and after thorough study, we come to the conclusion that there should be, and properly be, provision for the man who is self-educated, the man who is self-trained. This provision does not presently appear in the law. Mr. Speaker, a man who studies by himself in the wee hours of the night, the man who goes into business and who is successful in business, this kind of man, the Abraham Lincoln type of man, if you please, the man who characterizes the American heritage, this kind of man could, under my amendment, be qualified to take the CPA examination, whereas he cannot presently do so. Mr. Speaker, I think this bill has merit and I ask for the support of everyone in its favor. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I agree with what my good friend, Mr. Eilberg, said as to the very meaningful import of the words "equivalent thereof."

I have had an opportunity on several occasions to deal with that type of language. It is very meaningful to the extent that they help people whom the board wants to help, and for the poor fellow who cannot get any help, they use it the other way, against him.

I have been told by some of the people in this profession, and if I am wrong I stand to be corrected by the gentleman, that in the past year only 30 percent of the people, and that figure may not be right, but very close to 30 percent of the people who took the examinations passed.

Now their cry is that they want to build up better standards. If that is not complete control by examination, I do not know what is. When you can turn down over half the people who prepare for this examination and work hard for it, then you have complete control and you do not have to come back to us for the answer.

I also happen to know that one of the gentleman with whom I spoke is a member of one of the large CPA firms in the State of Pennsylvania; he was a former member of this House; he is a partner in the firm and that man does not have a college degree.

I have a gentleman in my town who is a partner in one of the firms, a very large firm; he is not a college graduate. And I have been one of the people down through the years who has used certified public accountants. I am satisfied with the work they do today.

What disturbs me more than anything else is the fact that when you pass legislation like this, you are tearing down, and if America is ever destroyed, it will be destroyed by this kind of legislation. You are tearing down the right; you are putting price above the guy who knows how to do something in this world and that is what made America great. If a boy does not have the money back of him to go to college and he wants to learn, yes, if they use the words "equivalent thereof," he may have an opportunity.

But under the present law, every child who grows up in this Commonwealth has the right and the privilege to seek that examination and try to be a CPA. I do not see why all of a sudden these people who are protected thoroughly under the law, who protect themselves with an examination that a lot of people cannot pass, I cannot see why they suddenly want to go to the extreme that unless you are a college graduate you cannot take the examination, or if you want to use those phony words, in my estimation, "equivalent thereof."

So I say to you, ladies and gentlemen, if you want to preserve the right of your children and your neighbor's children to grow up in this great Country and have the right to take this examination, then vote down this kind of legislation. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, not too many years ago there were not many stockholders except for the more wealthy people. Now, however, there are over 15 million people in the United States who own stock in some company. A hot tip on the stock market is on everyone's lips.

When so many people are so interested in the stock market, the need for protecting the public interest becomes apparent.

One of the chief protections is the certified public accountant's report of the fairness of the financial statements in a prospectus to sell stock. The CPA lays his name on the line that the income statement and the balance sheet are okay. The buyer of stocks sees the CPA certificate and knows that an independent expert examined the statements, made an audit, and was satisfied the statements made were fair. This certificate is the first thing a prospective security buyer examines, or, at least, should examine.

The financial statements tell the story of the company; how much money it made and what it is worth. The buyer relies on the CPA certificate to assure him that the statements are good.

Naturally, the CPA must be qualified to perform the audit so he can express his expert, independent opinion on those statements. He must be familiar, not only with the figures themselves, but what they mean in the light of the business world of the company; what they mean in the light of general business conditions, and what they mean in light of tax laws, price fixing laws, and so forth.

This need for an advanced general education to provide CPA with a background and knowledge far beyond simple bookkeeping is why the CPA law should be amended to provide that a prospective CPA have a broad general education and knowledge, attained either through a college education or studies the equivalent thereof.

A vote for House bill 1162 will provide for this so that an investor in stocks when he reads the CPA certificate will know that the CPA has a background of business knowledge and judgment that he has applied to the situation, not just a bookkeeping knowledge.

I urge, Mr. Speaker, the ladies and gentlemen of this House, to support this measure.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Morley.

Mr. MORLEY. Mr. Speaker, this bill is one of a series that has been put in the last few years in legislatures all over the country, sometime or another, primarily to get them to ward off or fence in special interest groups.

In the 1959 session of the New York Legislature, a bill of this type was passed that was so restrictive and so ridiculous that it completely upset the accounting industry in New York and the legislature had to come back in the last session and repeal the bill.

This ruler is a standard, Mr. Speaker. You can embroider it; you can decorate it; you can nickel plate it; you can gold plate it; it is still the same standard. It performs the same function; it has the same accuracy; you have not changed it essentially one bit.

The existing bill is a standard. Any additions by this bill are not standard. They are stumbling blocks and straight jackets to tie the hands of future Pennsylvanians.

The gentleman from Philadelphia quoted Mr. Lincoln. Mr. Lincoln once said that no man can be miserable if he knows that he is worthy, but I assume that he never heard of the Institute of CPA's.

In my discussion here the other day on the amendments I mentioned the case of a youngster named O'Toole, from Philadelphia, who did not have the requirements set up in this new bill. He took the examinations for CPA and he placed third on the list. He was honored by this association, this Institute of CPA's, for his accomplishments and for his work. They said that his education and his training was entirely adequate. That was only a year and a half ago.

Now they come before us today and say that it is not enough, that a person with that background and education and training is not qualified as a CPA. That is nonsense, Mr. Speaker. It is just a lot of rubbish. As an illustrious son of the great American system of opportunities, the Governor Alfred E. Smith, said some years ago, "No matter how thin you slice it, it is still baloney."

The gentleman from Somerset here the other day named a long list of distinguished Americans, who, over the years have attained high places and positions in our society without any college degree. They had education. They were some of the most highly educated men in the world. They got their own education. They educated themselves. They did not get it in formal schools and courses, and I have no objection whatever to formal education, I am all for it. But I say that any system that denies opportunities to men like the late Justice von Moschzisker of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, who went into a law office at the age of 12 and rose to become the distinguished Chief Justice of this State, is wrong.

I say that any system is wrong that would forget a Jack Northrup, who was an automobile mechanic in Alhambra, California, and developed into one of the geniuses of the aircraft industry. If any of you have ever flown in a Douglas plane, or you fellows in the service in a Black Widow or a Starfighter fighter or Douglas Dauntless, you flew in a Northrup plane. Jack Northrup started out with another man who did not have a college degree who was also an automobile mechanic, Allan Rockey, on the West Coast. They developed into one of the greatest teams of aeronautical scientists who ever lived.

We have another case of a distinguished American in Philadelphia, William Francis Gibbs. William Francis Gibbs was the father of the high pressure, high temperature steam system used in American naval vessels during the war, which gave them a range and a radius of action unmatched by any other Navy, surely the only modern Navy afloat in the second World War. And he also developed the liner United States, a city in motion at 35 knots against wind and weather, one of the most involved and interesting and beautiful things that was ever created by a human being.

Does anybody here seriously contend that men of this type should be denied to reach their place in the sun in a free America?

When the gentleman from Cambria, our Speaker, came down into the well of this House the other day, I was in doubt about this bill, but when he swept aside the tinsel and the rubbish and he labeled this bill for exactly what it is, a bad bill, I was encouraged. And I prayed that the Good Lord would keep him with us so that we and particularly the younger members of this House can learn some of the lessons that he has lived, so that traveling the road together we can some day, in some way, break down these barriers that hold open the door of opportunity to Pennsylvanians, so that when they pass through the only question ever asked will be, have they the intelligence, the knowledge and the courage and the character to do the job and not where they got it.

Let us hold our standards high, but do not dig a pit to the ambitions and the hopes and the futures of thousands of Pennsylvania boys and girls. Let us retain for them the heritage that James Michener spoke about only yesterday in this chamber.

Ladies and gentlemen, I ask you to vote against this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I ask the members to turn to page 9 of this bill. It is the heart of the problem. You will find, beginning on line 3, the qualifications for taking the examination:

"Graduation with a baccalaureate degree from a college or university approved at the time of graduation by the State Council of Education or an education which is the equivalent thereof . . ."

What does that mean? That means that in one way or another in order to take the examination you must have at least four years and, perhaps, six years of college instruction, or "the equivalent thereof." Now, it will take the average student six years, if he is not in college, to get what he would get in college in four years. I say that is condemning everybody who wants to take this examination to six years of training in educational institutions, or "the equivalent thereof." There is nothing about the learned profession of the CPA that requires that training. I wish I had some of the information at hand that I have downstairs, but we are facing a movement in this year of organized groups that are entrenching their position by means of ability, but by means of statutory law. Why, the electricians would like to have, and are moving in the direction that they will have so many qualifications after a while that you will have to go to college to get in. The plumbers are the same way, all along the line, and we are deifying education and downgrading natural human ability and natural human ambition. We are gradually, gradually, gradually, closing the door against at least one-fourth of our population for advancement in the trades or the professions by means of the statutes we are passing, because we cannot possibly train all the people for whom there will be openings in the various trades and professions, we cannot possibly give them four years or six years of college, or its equivalent. We condemn them, gradually condemn them, by statutory law to become the servants of a privileged class that has this mysterious thing that we call a college degree.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Boies.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia, there has been a lot of nonsense spoken about this bill today.

This is the last of the recognized professions, I believe, to ask for advancement of standards requiring a college education. I believe it was two sessions ago we passed the same requirements for the funeral directors. We did not have all this "baloney," telling about how you are going to cut down the youth of the country in their ambitions to progress. This is simply a move to elevate the standards of the profession along with all the other professions. Now it is as simple as that. Do you mean to tell me that it is not as essential for a CPA to be as well educated as a funeral director? Why should he not be? I would suggest to the gentleman from Dauphin, who deplores the fact that only 30 percent of the candidates passed the examination, that it may well be that the reason there was only 30 percent was that they did not have enough education. Twenty years ago the figure was five percent, and 85 percent of the candidates sitting for the CPA examination right now are college graduates. So the percentage is raised up to 30 percent. Now, if we make it 100 percent, maybe it will be up to 50 percent who will successfully pass the examination. But all this talk about restricting the ambitious young American, why do they not go back and tell you about all the millions of people who have had no college education and have accomplished world-famous careers for themselves. Why do they not start with Julius Caesar, Napoleon, and the rest of them. That has no bearing on the subject, Mr. Speaker. People in the past have accomplished great things without a college education, masses of them, millions of them, but that does not say that with a college education they might not have even done more.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that this is the last, to my knowledge, of the recognized learned professions which has come to this legislature to ask for a raise in standards, and I ask the support of the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The chair recognizes the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Kistler.

Mr. KISTLER. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to talk about somebody who lives in the past. I want to talk about somebody who lives in the present and who is living in the present. I believe it is past time that we vote against academic snobbery. A baccalaureate degree is no criteria for determining a man's ability to learn the methods necessary to master the knowledge required to become a certified public accountant.

One of my good friends, who presides over and handles millions of dollars here in this city, has no college degree, but this man is a certified public accountant. If this bill were passed at the time he became a certified public accountant, he never would have been a certified public accountant.

Recently while attending the dedication of the $5½ million physics building at Temple University in Philadelphia, those members of the legislature who were in attendance were introduced to the professor of Physics, who held the chair in Physics at this great university. If this particular law were to have applied to him, he would not this day be presiding over the Physics department in that school. This gentleman did not go to college. This gentleman did not go to high school, but as the president, Mr. Gladfelter said, he had a number of inventions orbiting the earth. We do not know how we may stifle the people by saying that we must have baccalaureate degrees for this and baccalaureate degrees for that. The real test for CPA's is their examination.

I respectfully submit to each of you members who are about to vote on this bill, would you give serious consideration to this, serious consideration to what the gentleman, Mr. Hocker, from Dauphin County said about the requirements necessary to become a CPA and what you might do by eliminating the right of people to aspire to a CPA certificate without a formal college training.

I say finally that the qualifications necessary to become the head of the Physics department of Temple University are certainly adequate to ascend to the status of a certified public accountant. I thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EILBERG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I had read or heard that the CPA examination required three and a half days. Is that correct or incorrect? If it is not correct, tell me how long it takes?

Mr. EILBERG. I am not certain of my answer, Mr. Speaker, but I believe that it takes two days.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, whether it is two or three and a half days, I wonder why it should require a college degree or its equivalent to pass an examination of that nature. If the CPA board, in my opinion, cannot devise an examination that takes two days or three and a half days, they cannot devise an examination to separate the wheat from the chaff, I think there might be some necessity for possibly improving the caliber of the people who devised the examination, rather than restrict unfairly the type of people they are going to permit to take the examination.

I studied this bill very carefully, I voted for the amendments a couple weeks ago, I thought the amendments would make this bill palatable, but upon further study and examination I am afraid they do not. I think this bill places a lot of us in a very uncomfortable position. I have a lot of PA's and a lot of CPA's in my district, and I know a lot of them are not going to be happy with how I vote on this bill. Nevertheless, some of them have told me to do what I thought is right, and that is what I am going to do, I am going to let my conscience be my guide and let the chips fall where they may, and I am going to vote against the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the sponsor, Mr. Eilberg.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EILBERG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to discuss the merits of the education provisions of the bill, I am neither for them or against them. But there are two or three things here, after reading the bill, that do disturb me. On page 17, section 11.1, this privileged communications, can the gentleman tell me how many groups of people now enjoy privileged communication?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I think the answer would be doctors and lawyers.

Mr. O'DELL. Doctors, lawyers, religious leaders?

Mr. EILBERG. I am not certain that they are covered by statute, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'DELL. How about the radio, television and newspapers?

Mr. EILBERG. They have no exemption.

Mr. O'DELL. Did we not pass a bill last session giving them - - -

Mr. EILBERG. I do not recall any such bill.

Mr. O'DELL. Well, it does not matter. The point is that this bill is going to give to CPA's privileged communication. In other words, it is going to allow them to aid and abet in defrauding the government, you might say, out of tax money.

Mr. EILBERG. May I answer that?

Mr. O'DELL. You may. I would like an answer.

Mr. EILBERG. The idea of privileged communications in the law, as I understand it, as it applies to doctors and lawyers, is to encourage people to tell the truth to doctors and lawyers so that these professional people can provide the maximum amount of help those individuals need. If this protection were not present, the person who needed medical attention or legal attention might be afraid to freely talk to his advisor for fear that whatever he might say might be used against him some day, and it seems to me that it is a very logical thing to place the CPA in the same category.

Mr. O'DELL. Then would you not say that if I wished to confess my sins, or if I tried to cover up some tax shenanigans, I would be more inclined to go to a CPA whom I knew would not have to tell the truth rather than to go to a public accountant who under the present law would have to tell the truth?

Mr. EILBERG. That is true, and it is that kind of person we are trying to help.

Mr. O'DELL. That is the point that I wanted to bring out.

Now, on page 12, section 8.1, Registration of Foreign Accountants. Is this going to open the door for an influx of foreigners coming into this country to get CPA certification immediately?

Mr. EILBERG. No, indeed. The purpose of this is so that we may know what foreigners are practicing here, and we would not attempt to license or recognize any such persons unless the standards of the country from which they come are at least equal to what we are proposing here.

Mr. O'DELL. That answers my question, Mr. Speaker.

There is one more question I want to ask you again, you answered it the other day, but I would like to have it again to have it appear in the record. The passage of this bill will in no way permit any person to be a public accountant.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, this bill has absolutely nothing to do with the practice of public accounting. No one who is practicing as a public accountant today, or tomorrow, or next year, will be in any way affected by this bill.

Mr. O'DELL. Other than the fact that they would have to tell the truth if they were interrogated on tax matters?

Mr. EILBERG. That is correct.

Mr. O'DELL. Thank you very much.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, the arguments, the discussion, has been long, and I just want to make a few brief replies to some of the statements that have been made.

The question has repeatedly come up why, why do we need this? Mr. Speaker, any member of this House can pick up a newspaper in his city, in his own town, in his municipality, and very likely find an ad, go to this school and become a CPA. It seems to me that this kind of advertisement should be criminal in many cases where the schools know that some of the individuals who come to them could never be CPA's. This is one of the reasons why we want the bill at this time—to help make legitimate the study, the preparation, for becoming a CPA.

The Speaker spoke at length about why do we need this now, there is no need for this, they are trying to "sentence him" to use the terms of another speaker—Mr. Speaker, these opponents are overlooking the fact that the operation of this law would be six years from now. We are looking toward the future, Mr. Speaker. Anyone who desires to become a CPA could qualify under existing regulations for the next six years. We are looking to the future, Mr. Speaker.

The gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker, stated that 30 percent in a given year passed the CPA examination. I would remind him that under present qualifications you need be only a high school graduate. I would also remind him that in the last five years 67 percent of those who took the examinations passed. In other words, a man may take an examination, pass a part of it, two parts of it, three parts of it, and come back and pass the total of four parts, and of the persons who took the examinations in the last five years 67 percent passed and are CPA's today.

The gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker, would also have us believe that presently anyone can take the examination. Mr. Speaker, this is simply not in accord with the law. You must be at least a high school graduate today. Not anyone can take the examination, he must be a high school graduate; he must have that degree of final education.

Now as I said, we are trying to raise standards here, but at the same time we are in fact in this bill and in these amendments making it possible for anyone to take the examination because, if he can show through his business experience or courses of self-study that he is qualified, he can take the examination. So that under our bill anyone can take the examination.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, here we are in the House of Representatives in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, and the impression may be current that we are alone in this movement. Let me assure all of you who are concerned with that point, and I hold a paper in my hand indicating that there are some 14 States, including the State of New York, which presently require a college degree or the equivalent thereof.

I say it is time we become a modern State in this area.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KING. Mr. Speaker, I realize that the members of this House are getting impatient, but there is one point I would like to bring out.

As a member of the dental profession, in 1940 when I was still in high school, I decided I wanted to become a dentist and it was clearly defined at that time what my requirements were to be. I knew what schooling was required of me.

The reason I am going to vote for this bill is because I feel that it is going to do the young people of the future a favor. These courses will be clearly defined and outlined. They will be able to get through school in a minimum amount of time and they will be more ably suited to take a CPA examination. I am sure it will end frustration for hundreds of people in the future.

Thank you.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe I would be amiss if I did not make a short statement about this bill, seeing that I am one of the sponsors.

I think it is a good-faith attempt on the part of the certified public accountants' profession to elevate their profession. I can give a similar situation in the legal profession. To become an attorney today, you can, of course, become a lawyer without stepping foot into a college. However, the law is, in respect to lawyers, you must have the equivalent of a college education first. Then you are certified as a law student. Then you can work in a law office for three years and then take the bar examination.

When I took the bar examination, there were five or six fellows in 1938 who were taking the bar examination who had not been to college, either college or law school. They, however, had taken examinations in certain subjects to prove they had the equivalent of a college education. That is the way the legal profession does it today and it is eminently fair.

Carrying out the theme of Mr. King, when I decided to become an attorney I did not have much money. I realized I would have to work my way through and I worked my way, as many people have who are in professions today, through undergraduate school, through law school. I taught accounting in the University, I worked with text books, did everything I possibly could to meet the minimum requirements of the legal profession before I could sit for the examination. Here in this tremendously important era of huge authorities and the tremendous complex business life there is today and the job the CPA's are doing, there is nothing unreasonable about this bill that six years from now a person, to sit for the examination, like the legal profession, have to have the equivalent of a college education. I personally cannot see anything wrong with it.

With all the scholarships we are going to give throughout the nation under this advanced higher education program, it will be a rarity that a person does not have a college education in the future, and the CPA's are just trying to come up to those standards.

There has been a lot of criticism of the CPA's in the field of tax accounting and there is some question of whether they are practicing law or not. There has been strife between the lawyers and the CPA's within that field. I feel that if the CPA's increase their requirements like they are doing very modestly here, and then set those standards, there will not be the criticism that they are untrained persons in the field of very intricate law, that of taxation.

So really, this bill is not the devastating, bad thing it is painted. It is merely trying to take the honorable profession of accounting and restore it to a high standard and make it so that people will be qualified to enter into this tremendous complex business life we have today.

I therefore feel that the bill should pass. There is nothing unreasonable about it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Morley.

Mr. MORLEY. Mr. Speaker, these gentlemen seem to suggest that these young people should be forced to go to colleges that the Governor's Report on Education says are not built, with money they do not have.

I would like to repeat a quotation by Winston Churchill, who is half American, on this very subject. When he was asked how he had developed his command of English, which is one of the greatest, probably, in this or any other century, without a college degree, he replied:

"By being in the lower form at Harrow for so long, I had an advantage over the clever boys. I got into my bones the essential structure of the ordinary British sentence, which is a noble thing. Naturally, I am in favor of a boy's learning English, and after that I would give the clever ones Latin as an honor and Greek as a treat."

And I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that I am in favor of CPA's learning accounting, and after they have been certified as CPA's they could have their "Latin as an honor and their Greek as a treat."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EILBERG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I notice that Mr. Johnson indicated that the purpose of this legislation is to elevate the standards of the certified public accountants. Has there been a deterioration in the quality of certified public accountants?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, never at any time have I said, nor have I heard, that there has been a deterioration.

To the contrary, the need is in the future. We need people who understand business, we need people who understand the stock market, we need people who can write reports, we need people who can advise the public as a CPA can and should.

Mr. GELFAND. Has there been a deterioration in the quality of the applicants for the certified public accountant's examination?

Mr. EILBERG. I do not have the answer to that question.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, an applicant for the certified public account examination at the present time, is he not required to be aware or instructed in certain things like general accounting, theory of accounts, and also in practice auditing and a general familiarity with the various economic factors which were previously mentioned.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, if he will examine the existing law, you need be only a high school graduate and have three years experience in public accounting. Now certainly a number of the subjects just referred to do not appear in a high school education. Furthermore, the kind of experience that the individual might have in public accounting might definitely not equip the individual along the lines indicated.

Mr. GELFAND. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I did not intend to debate this bill when we started earlier this evening, but as it went along I saw certain things that certainly merited attention. The fact of the matter is that the current examination requires an applicant to be informed in commercial law as affecting public accounting, and in general accounting, including general accounting practice, auditing and taxation so that actually the current examination and the current requirements to practice so as to become a certified public accountant well cover the field with which an accountant who is certified should be acquainted. So, I do not think that alone would require any change in the law. Now, insofar as the requirement of a college education is concerned, I am a lawyer, and I well know that education is a great thing to enhance a man in his profession and in order to enable him, possibly, to pass an examination. However, I am not one who is an educational or college graduate snob. I think that these United States, many, many years ago, in the course of its history, was created so that we would have a classless society, where the doors to the professions and the occupations were open to all who could prove themselves to be qualified to handle the requirements of business.

However, what we have done, and what we are doing over the passage of years, is to create a new aristocracy, a new aristocracy of the educated man, and primarily the college graduate. More and more, as time goes by, we close the doors of opportunity to young men who desire to practice the professions and the occupations which they have every skill to handle. I do not think, and I am sure I am right, that the mere acquisition of a college education merits either consideration or proof of the ability to qualify for any professions, and I do not think that the mere absence of an education should mean that a man is unqualified to take an examination to become a member of such a profession.

What we have here are words saying, "college education or the equivalent thereto." But on definition and on interpretation what, actually, is the equivalent thereto? Can anybody here state what the equivalent thereto is, except—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is perfectly right in stopping because I am sure he cannot be heard.

Mr. GELFAND. I know at this late portion of the afternoon possibly I may not sway many votes, but there may be somebody who is as yet undecided. If I can influence that particular individual, that is my aim. If I am speaking for the record, at least I would like my words on the record.

As I say, the words "equivalent thereto" are subject to definition. Each man determines for himself what the "equivalent thereto" means. Does it mean two years of college plus some additional experience? Does it mean three years of college, or does it mean four years of college and a baccalaureate degree? I do not believe anybody here, if he were pinned down and had to describe what "equivalent thereto" means, could actually give such a definition.

We have heard that the board of examiners will have a definition of its own, and that this board will determine what "equivalent thereto" means, and that they have already indicated by letter and by word what their determination is. But boards are transient and boards make their judgments, in many instances, on individual viewpoints. I do not want to see somebody dropped or unable to take an examination which he may be amply qualified for because the board has changed its mind as to what the regulations should be as to "equivalent thereto," or because the membership of the board has changed and their viewpoints are different. I think that by allowing this legislation to have such words as "equivalent thereto" in it, and then patching it would only open the doors for exclusion on the determination of the board which could be arbitrary.

Therefore, in view of the fact that there is already ample legislation on the books, which does make this profession exclusive and also provides for the examination of the quality of applicants who show themselves meritorious of being certified, I do not think any further legislation of this nature, and especially legislation which requires a college education or equivalent thereto, should be on our legislative books. Therefore, I would respectfully ask the members in their consideration of this legislation to vote in the negative. I thank you.

Mr. FILO. I did not intend to talk on this legislation, but there has been so much said about college education and the equivalent thereof, that I am impelled to quote an article here that I read some time ago and I thought it very appropriate for this occasion.

This is an article written by Dr. Eric A. Walker, President of Pennsylvania State University. I am quoting from the article here:

"President Eric A. Walker of the Pennsylvania State University today advocated more stress on the two-year college program to relieve the mounting pressures for education beyond high school in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

Now I want to read another paragraph further on in the article:

"President Walker gave as an example of an effective two-year program the associate degree technical training which Penn State now offers at thirteen two-year urban centers scattered throughout the State.

"Just a year ago," he said, "we graduated some 400 engineering technicians at these centers and they went right out and got jobs at $400 a month. This program might lack some of the glamour usually associated with college but the results certainly justify our belief that this training is sound and useful."

So here are engineers graduate technical engineers, who use figures from the point down to five or six figures below the decimal point. These fellows are just as well qualified to serve as certified public accountants. I say that two-year training for certified public accountant is enough.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to make a brief statement giving information to the House that was requested yesterday by the minority leader, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday Mr. Johnson, the minority leader, interrogated me as to the status of payments to school districts under the freeze clause placed in House bill 808, the general appropriation bill which is now Act 58.

I can now advise the House that the Attorney General has issued official opinion No. 237, dated June 7, 1961, to the effect that the rider in the general appropriation act of 1961 is unconstitutional and ineffective. The opinion is signed by Harrington Adams, Deputy Attorney General, and by Anne X. Alpern, Attorney General.

The SPEAKER pro tempore.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, first of all I want to thank Mr. Polen for getting us that information. I understand that early today the opinion was given to the press.

Secondly, I want to thank Mr. Polen for giving me a statement of when the non-preferred appropriations, when passed, would normally be paid by the State Treasurer.

I want to say this in respect to the opinion of the Attorney General:

I suppose that the Governor's office and the State Treasurer and the Auditor General will be bound by that opinion and that the school districts will not be able to put into their budget now the provisions of the freeze clause unless the school directors' association immediately or at an appropriate time files a mandamus action to mandamus the State Treasurer, Auditor General and so forth to make the payments as provided by the act.

We pointed out several weeks ago the court decision wherein the Supreme Court decision plainly said that you could put such a rider in the general appropriation bill. The Attorney General says differently. Therefore, of course, we find ourselves in the courts if we are going to help our schools.

I understand that the Governor has sent a request here to appear before us next Monday to talk about education. I hope Governor Lawrence says something with some meat in it now to help the beleaguered school districts of this State. I hope he justifies some way for the schools to get this money that is represented by this freeze clause. He should take a trip out through the hinterlands and talk to the school directors of this State and find out just what the situation is, how they feel.

I hope that the Governor on Monday, as I say, gives us something definite, comes out with some definite recommendations. If he wants a tax program, if wants to provide $30 million or $40 million for education, I hope he says so. I hope he gives us a tax program. I think the school districts of this State are entitled to have something definite and something concrete, not something mealy-mouthed, not something that is just a bunch of corn meal.

They want something they can sink their teeth into and say, "Well here it is; we can put this into our budget." It is really a tremendously important situation and I am sorry that the Attorney General has so ruled.

Why? Because we have a recent letter in our desk saying that they lapsed $42 million this fiscal period ending May 31, more than the $41 million they expected. I say that $8 million could be rammed out of that budget, could be cut out of various items. If they could cut $42 million out of the last budget after the State Senate cut it down $56 million, they certainly could find this $8 million in this present budget in the various classes all over the several departments.

So as I say, I hate to keep repeating this. I know it is repetitive, but it is true. You people go back home and talk to your school boards. This legislature has got to do something.

People say to me, "When are you going to get out of there?" The Democrats are saying that we will get out on the 30th of June. I say that is a lot of "baloney." We will get out about the 15th of September. It depends on what the Governor says now in his speech on Monday. If he is going to talk about all-out implementation of the Governor's Report on Education and a tax program to go with it, we will be here on and on and on and on all summer long and into fall, as I see it.

So, if the Governor now has spoken to his Attorney General and it has been ruled that the schools cannot have this freeze clause, I say that the Governor should come up with something with some meat in it, something that will be definite, something that will give some hope to the schools of Pennsylvania.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the membership to bear in mind that tomorrow this House will convene at 10 a. m. and following the first and second reading calendar we will proceed to vote on many bills that have already been caucused on.

Then, in addition, there will be a caucus, a break for lunch, and we shall, proceed very likely until 5 o'clock.

In addition, on the following Monday, this House will be called into session at 3 o'clock, daylight saving time, and caucus will be called at 2 o'clock, daylight saving time, since there will be a joint session at 5 o'clock when the Governor will address the House and the Senate.

Therefore, one of the bills that was coming up here today, 1258, and its debate, is scheduled for tomorrow, probably some time after 11 o'clock, in addition to other controversial measures throughout the day.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that every member who has amendments that are agreed to, please stay here in the House and offer their amendments so the bills can be amended during the night. In addition, I understand, there are some committee meetings.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, June 8, 1961

The House met at 9 a.m., e.s.t.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Thou Who art the light of the world, and dost dispel the darkness of life, we come to Thee out of the shadows of our world. We realize that Thy presence is able to keep our feet walking in Thy way, as well as the courage to meet and overcome the trials of life. Be the constant companion of these members of the legislature, we pray, and grant to them Thy blessed and assuring peace: in the name and for the sake of the Blessed Prince of Peace, who came to bring the light to a darkened and troubled world. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Wednesday, June 7, 1961, will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 514.

An Act amending the act of June 2, 1915 (P. L. 736), entitled as amended "The Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation Act" providing for reimbursement by the Commonwealth to employers the State Workmen's Insurance Fund and insurance carriers for awards of compensation and expenses paid in certain cases.

Referred to the Committee on Labor Relations.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. A. M. Lee.

RESOLUTION No. 77.

In the House of Representatives, June 7, 1961.

Whereas, there are continuing disclosures in the city of Philadelphia of extensive corruption in the agencies of the government, said disclosures being of deep concern not only to Philadelphians but to all the people of the Commonwealth;

Whereas, even though Home Rule is a proper, laudable, zealously guarded concept, the City is the creature of the State and Home Rule cannot be allowed to become a license for uncontrolled corruption, and

Whereas, the health, safety and life of the transit riders of Philadelphia have been threatened by faulty maintenance of public facilities; there are reports of conflict of interest in the appraisal of real property done for the Redevelopment Authority of the City of Philadelphia, an agency of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; there is once again evidence of mismanagement in election administration and reports of frauds in the conduct of elections; there are reports of violations of corrupt practices acts as to the form, method, source and handling of political contributions;

Whereas, the Mayor is without the power of subpoena or funds to conduct an effective inquiry; his so-called Watchdog Committee has publicly announced it will perform no investigatory functions and therefore will lack complete information on essential matters in question; City Council refused to avail itself of the powers granted it in the Philadelphia Home Charter to institute and finance its own investigation; the consummate insult to the processes of democracy has come with action of City Chairman William J. Green, Jr. who issued a decree imposing silence upon the elected representatives of the people of Philadelphia in City Council and they have acquiesced in this edict; the incumbent City Controller and District Attorney owe their present positions to Congressman Green as well as their present candidacies for reelection and therefore he has much power to control their activities as he has already exercised over City Council, and

Whereas, in the light of the foregoing it is obvious that a full, impartial investigation cannot be obtained through the regular local agencies in the City of Philadelphia, and

Whereas, the Attorney General is the Chief law enforcement officer of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and has a duty and obligation in situations of this kind to act in the interests of all citizens.

Therefore be it resolved, that the House of Representatives urgently requests the Attorney General of the Commonwealth to intervene in the City of Philadelphia for the purpose of seeking empanelment of a Special Grand Jury, adequately staffed by Special Deputies of unquestioned caliber, ability and independence to provide the vehicle by which all aspects of the present situation can be thoroughly investigated and the full measure of the law administered to those deserving it.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. TOMASCIK and BACHMAN.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, June 7, 1961.

A knowledge of the procedure and proceedings of legislative bodies of other countries would be of immeasurable value to this House. We can benefit greatly by obtaining first hand information of the workings of such legislative bodies which have evolved throughout the years under widely varying circumstances.

A member of this House of Representatives, the Honorable Francis Worley, whose background, education and experience well qualify him to intelligently observe and glean information from these various legislative bodies, has indicated a willingness to perform such a service at his own expense; therefor, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby directs the Honorable Francis Worley, together with such assistants as he may deem necessary, to proceed, at his convenience, as its duly authorized representative to visit and observe such legislative proceedings and legislative bodies, or members thereof, in such other countries as he may find feasible, such services to be performed at his own expense as a public service to our Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leaves of absence were granted as follows:

Mr. Dougherty for Mr. FILO for today.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. McINROY for today because of illness.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. BOSSERT for today because of official business in Washington.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. HAUDENSHIELD for today because of illness in the family.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. LIPPINCOTT for today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to inquire of the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, if it is his desire to make a statement at this time?

Mr. POLEN. It is, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Has the gentleman cleared his request with the majority and minority floor leaders?

Mr. McCANN. He cleared it with the majority floor leader yesterday for this point today, whenever that time should arrive, following the first and second reading calendars.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is that agreeable to the minority leader?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, ordinarily I do not take up the time of this House in making speeches, but I feel at this time that I must because of the editorial comments and criticisms that have been made in some of the papers in Pennsylvania, but particularly the Pittsburgh Press of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

I am going to read two editorials and then I am going to discuss them. The first editorial I shall read is from "The Progress" of Penn Hills, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. It is headed, "Newspapers Had It Coming."

The tables have been turned on Pennsylvania's newspapers, in particular the editorial writers, and one can already detect the tone of bitter resentment upon the part of the fourth estate.

It seems that the Pennsylvania State Legislators in the State House of Representatives have leveled some editorial blasts of their own at the newspapers for the treatment they have been subjected to across the State in editorial comment. It further seems that the newspapers don't like it.

Editorial writers have a free rein to lambaste whomsoever they please.

I think this next part is very pertinent:

But they have a responsibility equal to this freedom . . . a responsibility to be accurate and fair. The latter isn't always evident in the editorial comment regarding our government.

The editorials that have come across this desk regarding the increase in expenses ($3,000 annually) that the Legislature voted itself have been for the most part one-sided and unfair. And in the main, it was this recent legislative action that touched off this round of editorial attack.

This battle between newspapers and public officials, however, is a long-standing feud, and the newspapers have indeed had the better of it. It's as common at the city hall and White House level of government as it is in our State Capitol.

One result has been that the public's faith in its own democratic government has been so seriously undermined that the minute a citizen becomes a public official he loses much of the public confidence he rightfully deserves, and the word politician has taken on some evil connotation.

This is more the result of irresponsible newspaper reporting and editorializing than anything else. And it's hardly a record that the journalism field in general can be proud of.

Of course, not every newspaper is irresponsible. Those legislators who rose on the floor of the House last week to fire back at editorial criticism will be the first to admit this . . . we are sure. But the publications that are guilty of this are many and perhaps in the majority.

The Progress has never objected to criticism from public officials who reply to our editorial comments. In fact, we welcome it. But we have tried to understand the problems of government and be sympathetic with the officials who wrestle with them. And we have earnestly tried to temper our editorial remarks with reason.

This doesn't mean that a newspaper editorial shouldn't disagree with an official or an official action. By all means, the editorial should forthrightly state the newspaper's views. But that view should represent a reasonable conclusion based on a thorough study of the problem . . . and not a half-cocked opinion based on emotion and preconceived notions.

We do not agree with the legislators who would banish the newsmen from the press galleries in the Legislature in reprisal for unfavorable editorials. But we certainly endorse the procedure of public officials rising to their feet in just indignation and fighting back at some of the irresponsible editorial criticisms they are often subjected to.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the editorial to which I refer in the Pittsburgh Press was printed on Sunday, June 4th. It is headed, and I ask the members of this House to note the heading, "State Treasury—NSF." I have always heard that "NSF" means "not sufficient funds," and I believe that is exactly what this editorial writer meant it to mean. As I read the editorial, I am going to discuss some of the things he said. I am going to show that this editorial writer is doing exactly what this other editorial writer said is wrong.

He is going off half-cocked and he is not stating the facts and we can prove that. I am going to read the editorial. It is not as long as the other one, but I will make some remarks as I go along.

"State Treasury—Not Sufficient Funds"

"The members of the Pennsylvania State Legislature who airily voted themselves a $3,000 a year pay raise—thinly disguised as expenses—Now are in the process of learning some of the financial facts of life."

Now, members of the House, the $3,000 we voted were for expenses, and, so far as I am concerned, my expenses here in Harrisburg exceed $3,000.

"They were to have received the first $1,500 of this self-ordained largesse on Wednesday. But no checks were available. The reason: Not enough money in the Treasury."

Not enough money in the Treasury to pay $390,000, this editorial writer would have you believe, because that is the total amount. However, I have with me the official report of the State Treasurer of Pennsylvania, which shows that on May 31, the date that this gentleman is referring to, the cash balance in the general fund of Pennsylvania was $103,860,414. Now, what kind of editorializing is this, when a man says there is not enough money in the treasury to pay $390,000, and there is over $100 million in the treasury? I think the time has come when the editorial writers of Pennsylvania had better do what this other editorial writer says, they had better give the facts. I think they are more interested in news than they are in facts.

Now we will take the next thing that this editorial writer says, or paragraph: "Furthermore, Auditor General Thomas Z. Minehart wants a legal opinion from his counsel before he issues any checks."

Now, maybe he did—he apparently got it, because this article is written on Sunday, June 4, and the checks were issued and in the hands of the chief clerk on June 2, 1961. So, we will pass that over.

But, now, the next paragraph of this editorial really gets me. It is in great big black bold type: "And to cap the climax, an appropriation bill to provide the necessary funds—$780,000 a year"—and he is right in the amount—"hasn't been approved yet by the Legislature."

Remember, members of the House, he is writing this on June 4th. We passed this general appropriation bill back in May, and the Senate did too, and the Governor signed it on May 25, 1961. What kind of newspaper service is this? What kind of editorializing is this? Has this editorial writer of the Pittsburgh Press such a great hatred of legislative bodies who are here for the protection of the people that he wants to so down-grade them that he will print information that is absolutely incorrect? If I would resort to the vernacular, I would say he is telling lies.

Mr. Speaker, he goes on to say: "This new item in the cost of conducting the State government was not included in the Administration's general budget."

If the gentleman will refer to page 153 of the budget, he will find that the amount is included. As a matter of fact, so far as this specific payment is concerned, it was even included in the old budget. It is true that part of the payment due the Senators was not included, because when they made up their budget they were in a state over there where they did not know whether the Republicans or the Democrats were going to control the Senate, so nobody did anything and the same amount was placed in it. But that is not true here in the House.

He goes on and says: "Unless, of course, the Legislature decides to do some honest budgeting and passes taxes sufficient to pay for its raise. This is considered a remote possibility."

Mr. Speaker, what are the facts? We have never in the three terms that I have served as chairman of the Appropriations Committee, and I think it was true when Mr. Wood served, reported even out of committee to this House bills in excess of tax revenues. We are given fiscal responsibility. Only this morning several people were in there about bills, and they were the bills that we would like to pass, and I told them that we cannot report them out because we do not have any tax base to pay for them.

Mr. Speaker, in the 1959 session, the bills that were sent by this House and the Senate to the Governor for signature were slightly under the revenue tax estimates for that fiscal period, that biennium.

I think if the editorial writer will check into these facts he will find it is a matter of record. It is not anything that he needs to tell lies about. He can find out the truth if he will look into it.

Then he goes on to say: "In this connection, we recall that Governor Lawrence's standard attitude has been that if the Legislature proposed to add to the State's expenditures, it must provide the taxes to pay the bill."

I am going to go further and say that that has been the practice of this legislature. As I stated before, we have not passed appropriation bills in excess of the tax revenues, and in the 1959 session the Governor was not called upon, nor was it necessary for him, to veto a single item.

It goes on further, and I am near the end: "Mr. Lawrence already has approved the legislative pay raise, with what seemed like enthusiastic promptness. So he has thrown away his veto power. He can't very well back up a demand now that the Legislature designate where the money is coming from. But he can use his influence with the Legislature, if he will, to avoid additions to the state's deficit."

Mr. Speaker, I do not think the time will ever come in Pennsylvania where we want a situation where the Governor is not going to sign this or sign that so he will have a veto power. I think it is wrong. I think every measure should stand on its merit. I think this editorial writer should recognize this.

The Governor does not need to have any influence with members of this legislature to provide fiscal soundness for Pennsylvania, because we are already doing that and we are not going to pass bills that will add to the State's deficit.

Now I am down to the last paragraph: "As taxpayers, we know full well who's going to pay the $780,000 a year. But we have a right to insist that the Legislature do a fair job of budgeting and refrain from adding to our collective debt to line their own pockets."

I take particular exception to that. I do not think there is any member of the legislature who wants to line his own pockets. I think all we have done here and all we have asked for is an honest amount to take care of the rising cost of the expenses of the legislature in Harrisburg.

I do not think this editorial writer in Pittsburgh would want to come down here and work as we work and have the expenses we have for the salary and expenses we receive.

Mr. Speaker, there is one thing that impressed me about this. Right opposite "State Treasury—NSF" the heading of another editorial says, "Down With Fairness." It seems to me that is exactly what this editorial writer is doing—down with fairness! As this writer in "The Progress" says, he should be fair. I do not even care if he is fair. All I want him to do is tell the truth.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair notes the presence in the hall of the House today of a former distinguished member of this House and a former Treasurer of this Commonwealth, Honorable Robert F. Kent from the County of Crawford.

BIRTHDAY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We have another very pleasant interlude that we missed a few days ago purely and simply because the gentleman was not in his seat at the particular time we wanted to recognize his birthday. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee, had a birthday on the 6th of June.

(Members sang "Happy Birthday" led by Mr. Dengler)

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to express my deepest appreciation for the sentiments expressed musically on the occasion of my birthday a few days ago. I would only like to say to all members of the House that every once in a while I get a little excited and, perhaps, some of us have our differences, but to me the relationships I have, the friendships I have made with members on both sides of the aisle, are some of the greatest things in my 42 years to date. Thank you very much.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. STRAUSSER from the Committee on Highways, reported as committed, House bill No. 1023, entitled:

An Act amending the State Highway Law," approved June 1, 1945 (P. L. 1242), giving the Secretary of Highways authority and discretion to issue permits to qualified individuals or corporations desiring to conduct seismic operations on certain State highways.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House bill No. 1023, entitled:

An Act amending the State Highway Law," approved June 1, 1945 (P. L. 1242), giving the Secretary of Highways authority and discretion to issue permits to qualified individuals or corporations desiring to conduct seismic operations on certain State highways.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, to be laid aside for second reading.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on page 30, bills on final passage recalled from the governor, for the first roll call of the day, I call up House bill 1038, printer's No. 2189, and asked that I be recognized for explanation.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1038, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies to sell and convey all of its right title and interest that it may have in a tract of land in the borough of Canonsburg Washington County Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Bills on Final Passage Recalled from the Governor, House bill 1038 was passed by this House and the Senate and is being recalled from the Governor and, as you notice, in the print of the bill on your desk, the words "the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania" had to be inserted in the title, and on page 2, line 4, when the bill passed here it was "African Methodist Church" and the proper title holder of the land is "African Methodist Episcopal Church" and the word "Episcopal" appears here.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that all the members vote "aye" on this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

They are the guests of the delegation from Northampton County, Mrs. Reibman and Messrs. Verona, Prendergast, and J. A. O'Donnell.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to make a brief comment in reply to Mr. McCann's remarks on next Thursday's session.

Mr. Speaker, we cannot help, of course, but compliment the majority leader on being the hardest working majority leader we have ever seen and pleased to see that apparently the members agree. But I am just wondering—now here we have a 57- or 58-page calendar today. When we were in power, along about this time in the session we would say to the committee chairmen, for goodness sakes, close the flood gates; the cookies ought to all be out by this time.

I understand in the Senate they have piles and piles of bills that the House has sent over to them that they do not even have time to read. And if we could just cut out now, unless there is something really imperative, then get it out on this floor. There are other years to come. Let us get this calendar down to about 20 or 15 pages, and then we will not have to worry about being here Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

As I say, you have plenty of time, and the Senate is swamped with bills now and it seems like we could start coasting a little. If we are not here next Thursday, I do not think it will mean anything. Nobody is going to die or suffer.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on page 31, bills on final passage, I call up House bill 719, printer's No. 2008.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 613, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), authorizing additions and revisions to duplicates in second class school districts.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 697, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), changing certain salaries and work loads prescribing extension education areas decreasing the number of names needed for free extension education raising the deposit fee and providing for a tuition fee in certain instances deleting provisions relating to free evening schools and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 935, entitled:

An Act amending "The Game Law" approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1225), providing that the commission shall not have the power to revoke the license of any hunter for the first offense of unlawfully killing game when game of the specie killed is in season.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Game and Conservation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I regret that this action is being taken because House bill 935 represents a major step forward in behalf of all hunters in Pennsylvania.

If I cannot speak on the bill, I will speak on returning it to committee. By returning it to committee we eliminate any possibility of eliminating a double penalty which hunters find themselves under when they kill game in season. Under the present system, when a hunter kills a piece of game illegally, he not only pays a fine but he is subject to revocation of his license from one to three years.

This is a very peculiar thing, this law, because ordinarily first offenders are given some sort of a break. Sometimes in other courts, and for other violations, the sentences are suspended and they are given other consideration because they are first offenders.

Now there are a great many hunters who break this law and their licenses are revoked when they are not willful and intentional violators. But under the present act they are given this dual penalty. I have been against that for years. I am still against it and I regret very much this action of sending this bill back to committee.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1138, entitled:

An Act amending the "State Tax Equalization Board Law" approved June 27, 1927 (P. L. 1046), requiring that objections to certified findings or conclusions of board shall be filed by October first of year the same are certified.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. STECKEL and KORN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, last line, by inserting after "appropriation" abolishing the State Tax Equalization Board, creating the Office of Equalization, providing for a director of said Office and an Advisory and Appeals Board, prescribing the duties of the director and Advisory and Appeals Board, requiring the use of uniform methods of valuation of taxable real property

Amend Title, page 2, first line, by striking out "board" and inserting in lieu thereof the director

Amend Title, page 2, second line, by inserting after "certified" repealing certain sections, and making an appropriation

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out "Section 13" and inserting in lieu thereof The title

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 8, by striking out "amended December 30, 1959 (P. L. 2072),"

An Act

Providing for equalization of assessed valuations of real property throughout the Commonwealth for use in determining the amount and allocation of Commonwealth subsidies to school districts; creating (a State Tax Equalization Board) an Office of Equalization, providing for a director of said Office, and prescribing (its) his powers and duties; creating an Advisory and Appeals Board and prescribing its powers and duties, imposing duties on certain local officers, agents, boards, commissions and departments, providing for the formulation and use of uniform methods and making an appropriation.

Section 2. Sections 1 through 8 of the act are hereby repealed.

Section 3. The act is amended by adding the following sections to read:

Section 1. Office of Equalization. There is hereby created, in the Department of Internal Affairs an office to be known as the Office of Equalization, the chief executive officer of which shall be a director.

Section 2. Directors: Powers and Duties—

(a) The director shall be appointed by the Governor, shall be a qualified statistician, shall receive an annual salary of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) and shall devote his entire time to the duties of the office.

(b) The director shall have the power and duty to

(1) Determine the value of taxable real property in each of the school districts according to the uniform methods hereinafter provided.

(2) Conduct investigations, require information, and have access to whatever public records are necessary in making each such determination.

(3) Certify to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, not later than the first day of July of each odd numbered year, a list of all school districts, showing the value of taxable real property, the assessed valuation for county tax purposes, and in cases where applicable uniform valuation methods were not used, the supplementary methods actually used in determining the values certified. In even numbered years, the director shall certify only those changes in market values which result from properties going on or off the assessment rolls for school purposes.

(4) Furnish to the board of school directors of each school district as much of the information set forth in clause (3) of this subsection as pertains to the district.

(5) Subpoena state and local officials and require from them such information as may be necessary for the proper discharge of his duties.

(6) Formulate uniform valuation methods.

(7) Submit to the General Assembly an annual report in which the uniform valuation methods formulated and used shall be set forth, together with any supplementary valuation methods actually employed.

(8) Employ such assistants, experts, consultants, technicians, investigators, special agents, examiners, clerks, stenographers and other personnel as may be necessary, and fix their compensation subject to approval by the Executive Board.

Section 3. Advisory and Appeals Board; Powers and Duties.—

(a) There is hereby created an Advisory and Appeals Board in the Office of Equalization, consisting of three members, who shall possess the qualifications set forth in subsection (b) of this section. The members of the Advisory and Appeals Board shall be appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, for terms of six years: Provided, That of the first members appointed, one shall be appointed for a term of two years, one for a term of four years, and one for a term of six years. Any vacancy in the Advisory and Appeals Board shall be filled by appointment of the Governor for the unexpired term.

(b) Each member of the Advisory and Appeals Board shall be a citizen of the United States, a resident of Pennsylvania, and a qualified elector for a period of at least one year next preceding his appointment. One member shall be familiar by training or experience with uniform valuation methods applicable to industrial property; another member shall be similarly familiar with uniform valuation methods applicable to agricultural property, and the other shall be similarly familiar with uniform valuation methods applicable to residential property. Not more than two of the members at any time shall have the same political affiliation.

(c) Each member shall receive fifty dollars ($50) and be reimbursed for actual traveling expenses for each day he participates in the Work of the Advisory and Appeals Board.

(d) The Advisory and Appeals Board shall meet at the call of the director or, if an appeal has been filed with it, at the call of any member, and the board shall have the power and duty to—

(1) Take testimony and otherwise conduct a hearing in any appeal filed with it by a school district feeling itself aggrieved by a finding or conclusion of the director, and decide and rule on the merits of such appeal.

(2) Issue any order and take any action required to make effective its decision in an appeal filed with it.

(3) Promulgate rules and regulations relating to the filing and hearing of appeals.

(h) Advise the director as to the uniform valuation methods to be used in carrying out the duties of his office.

Section 4. Uniform Methods. The director with the advice of the Advisory and Appeals Board shall formulate uniform methods techniques formulae, and procedures to be applied by him in determining the value for each type of taxable real property, such as industrial, agricultural, residential, and commercial. All uniform methods shall be formulated for the purpose of ascertaining the current market value of taxable real property in each school district as nearly as the same can be determined. In the event the application of the uniform methods required by this section would result in a valuation which does not reflect the current market valuation of the taxable real property in any school district, the director shall develop and use such supplementary methods as will approximate, as nearly as practicable, the current market value in the district.

Section 5. Compilation of Data Showing Value of Taxable Real Property. The present records, correspondence and data of the State Tax Equalization Board shall be transferred upon the effective date of this act to the office of Equalization. The director shall accumulate and compile data showing the prices at which real property in each school district has been sold and all other available relevant material in any way having a bearing on the market value of real property in the several school districts to the end that his records shall, at all times, show the current market value of all real property in each school district of the Commonwealth. The director shall have authority to examine all public records wheresoever located, including all local tax assessment records kept by the assessors of any political subdivision or by any board, department or commission charged with the duty of revising assessments.

Section 4. Sections 9 and 10 of the act, section 9 amended April 6, 1949 (P. L. 404), are amended to read:

Section [9] 6. Monthly Reports by Counties; Commonwealth Payments.

(a) It shall be the duty of the board of revision of taxes in all counties of the first class and of the county commissioners of each county other than a county of the first class on the fifteenth day of each month to prepare, certify and deliver to the [board for its use and] director in such form and manner as [the board] he may prescribe, a list of all conveyances or other transfers of real estate, or any interest therein, recorded within the county during the preceding month, stating the value of the Federal tax stamps affixed to the deed for each such conveyance or transfer as set forth within such instrument, and the assessed valuation for county tax purposes of such real estate. Pursuant to the requirements of this section, the recorder of deeds of each county of the first class shall prepare and deliver to the board of revision of taxes of such county and in all other counties the recorder of deeds of each such other county shall prepare and deliver to the county commissioners at the end of each month, a list of all the real estate so conveyed or transferred within such county during such month, stating the value of Federal tax stamps affixed to the instruments so conveying or transferring such real estate, or any interest therein.

(b) The [board] director shall pay to the board of revision of taxes of counties of the first class and to the county commissioners of each county other than a county of the first class, the sum of ten cents (10¢) for each such conveyance or transfer of real estate on each list so prepared, certified and delivered to the [board for its use] director.

Section [10] 7. Annual Reports of Local Assessing Officials.—[On or before the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-eight and on] On or before the first day of June of every year [thereafter,] the board of revision of taxes of counties of the first class, the board of property assessment, appeals and review of counties of the second class, the board for the assessment and revis-sion of taxes of counties of the third class and the county commissioners of all other counties shall file a certificate with the [board] director in such form as [It] he may prescribe and on blanks to be furnished by [It] him showing the assessed valuation of all real property in each school district in the county on which the taxes for the then current year are levied [In the year one thousand nine hundred forty-eight such certificates shall be filed both with the Superintendent of Public Instruction, as now required by law, and with the board as required hereby. But thereafter no certificate shall be required to be filed with the Superintendent of Public Instruction.]

Section 5. Sections 11 and 12 of the act are hereby repealed.

Section 6. Sections 13, 14 and 15 of the act, amended December 30, 1959 (P. L. 2072), are amended to read

Amend Section 13, page 2, line 9, by striking out "13" and inserting in lieu thereof: "8."

Amend Section 13, page 2, line 11, by striking out "board" and inserting in lieu thereof: "director."

Amend Section 13, page 2, line 15, by striking out "board" where it appears the first time and inserting in lieu thereof: "Advisory and Appeals Board."

Amend Section 13, page 2, line 15, by striking out "board" where it appears the second time and inserting in lieu thereof: "director."

Amend Section 13, page 3, line 2, by striking out "board" and inserting in lieu thereof: "director."

Amend Section 13, page 3, line 6, by striking out "its" and inserting in lieu thereof: "the."

Amend Section 13, page 4, line 1, by striking out "board" and inserting in lieu thereof: "director."

Amend Section 13, page 4, line 6, by striking out "In" and inserting in lieu thereof: "in."

Amend Section 13, page 4, line 7 and 8, by striking out "in any case where no objections are filed or no appeal is taken from the decision of the board such" and inserting in lieu thereof: "In all other cases, the"

Amend page 4 by inserting between lines 9 and 10 the following:

Section [14] 9. Annual Adjustments of Valuations.—[On or before the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine and on] On or before the first day of July of each odd numbered year [thereafter] the [board] director shall adjust the market value of real property in each school district to conform with such new data as may have been accumulated since the market values for the last preceding two years were determined, and shall determine the percentage of such market value of the assessed valuation of all real property in the district on which county taxes for the then current year are levied. Such market values, percentages and adjustments shall be certified to the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the several school districts, as hereinbefore provided, with the same rights to school districts to hearing and determinations by the board.

Section [15] 10. Determination and Apportionment of Commonwealth Subsidies.—As soon as possible each odd numbered year, after the final adjustment of values by the [board, the board] director, he shall certify to the Superintendent of Public Instruction and market value of all real property in each school district in the Commonwealth. [Beginning with payment to be made for the school year one thousand nine hundred forty-nine—one thousand nine hundred fifty each] Each school district's assessed valuation to be used for purposes of computing its standard reimbursement [fraction] fractions shall be the market value of the taxable real property in the school district as finally adjusted and determined upon by the [board, and not the assessed valuation for county tax purposes, as now provided by law. Beginning with the year one thousand nine hundred forty-nine and every two (2) years thereafter, in place of the valuations now required by law to be used for such purposes, the] director. The market value of the real property in each school district, as finally adjusted and determined upon by the [board] director shall be used by the Superintendent of Public Instruction in ascertaining and determining the amount of funds required to meet payments to school districts [and vocational school districts] which became due and payable by law [within the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine and ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-one, and each biennium thereafter and to apportion and allot the same to and among the respective school districts].

Amend Section 2, page 4, line 10, by striking out "2" and inserting in lieu thereof: "7"

Amend Bill, page 4, by striking out all of line 11 and inserting in lieu thereof:

Section 8. Section 17 of the act is amended to read:

Section [17] 11. Saving Clause.—Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to change or affect the validity of the assessed valuation of any real property for the purpose of levying taxes by any political subdivision.

Section 9. The sum of three hundred thirty-two thousand two hundred fifty-eight dollars ($332,258), or as much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby specifically appropriated to the Office of Equalization for the expenses incurred by said office in carrying out its duties for the period beginning September 1, 1961, and ending June 30, 1962.

Section 10. This act shall take effect September 1, 1961, except that any appeals from the certifications made on or before July 1, 1961, by the State Tax Equalization Board under the act to which this is an amendment shall be heard and finally determined by the board as of October 31, 1961. All records and data of the State Tax Equalization Board, except any records or data required by the State Tax Equalization Board to hear and determine appeals lodged with it, shall be transferred to the director by September 15, 1961, and any records or data retained by the State Tax Equalization Board shall be transferred by November 1, 1961. As of November 1, 1961, the State Tax Equalization Board shall cease to exist, and the members of the State Tax Equalization Board shall cease to be such members or have any powers as such, nor shall they be entitled to compensation as of that date.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1249, entitled:

An Act amending "The Game Law" approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1225), permitting the Game Commission to sell deer killed by accident.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Curwood.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, this bill would permit the game commission to sell deer or any other animal that has been killed along the highways or any other place. We feel that if this bill is passed other bills like it will be introduced to sell game animals. We feel that this is not the proper way to dispose of it.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Game and Conservation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this gentleman is the chairman of the Game and Conservation Committee and, since that committee evidently has decided that move, I ask that you support the recommitment. That is not the way we caucused on it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Green, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on page 41, I call up House bill 1258, printer's number 1452, and ask that the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Jim, be recognized on the opening debate.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1258, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 28, 1931 (P. L. 202), entitled "An Act providing for the licensing and regulation of motor boats operated or navigated upon any public stream * * * within the Commonwealth * * * and prescribing penalties" transferring certain powers and duties from the Pennsylvania Fish Commission to the Department of Revenue further providing for the licensing and regulation of motor boats and boats electrically propelled and providing for liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of boats * * *.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Jim.

Mr. JIM. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. I present myself to you here today in a very humble way. I had a lengthy statement but I am going to be rather brief. For example, I like boats although a lot of people think I do not like them. For example, I like boats and I am going to talk about them. I have had about three months' service on House bill No. 1258, two weeks in preparing my statement, and here today I hope I shall have about ten minutes with you. This all comes from experience in the House and from my heart. Again I repeat, with a sincere and honest heart for our people in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Today, House bill 1258 is the basic law for boating safety rules and regulations and those it affects are very important. Number one, in compliance with the Federal Bonner Act under the jurisdiction of the United States Coast Guard they have a copy of House bill 1258, as now written acceptable to them. If enacted into law motor boats will need only one license in Pennsylvania. Now, in many waters of our Commonwealth, motor boats need two licenses, one issued by the United States Coast Guard and one by Pennsylvania. It affects the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, it affects the Department of Revenue, it affects the sportsmen of fishing and boating. On an average of 650,000 licensed fishermen, there is an approximate revenue comprising $2 million. There are 68,000 motor boats and many of the licensed motor boatmen are fishermen. Approximate revenue here is $145,000.

Now, as to what we have done for boating, see Pennsylvania Fish Laws 1959-60, page 71, chapter 12, General Powers of The Commission Assistant Executive Director of Water Craft Safety Division. The appointment for the Water Craft Safety Division has not been made, I presume, for lack of sufficient revenue from boats. I believe in the near future, with the increased revenue from boats, that the Assistant Executive Director of Water Craft Safety will be made by the Commission.

The Commission presently has 50 trained and uniformed officers and 250 special deputies for education and regulation of the boat law, costing around $50,000 per year for enforcement of boating laws. The Fish Commission has applied and developed 47 sites in all sections of the State for access to public waters. At least 30 percent of these are used almost exclusively by pleasure boating. The Commission spends about $85,000 per year on this purpose.

What we intend to do for boats: the Pennsylvania Fish Commission proposes to appoint an advisory board of boaters that will promulgate safety regulations according to recommendations and requirements of the United States Coast Guard. It provides that all revenue collected from the boaters be used for the administration of the boating act, the improvement of boating facilities in the Commonwealth. A separate annual accounting of such funds is required. The Pennsylvania Fish Commission, under the amendment in House bill 1335, which amendment provides $2,754,819, shall have of that amount $662,000 for boating facilities. Yes, in House bill 1258, we have rules and regulations for safety. In the Pittsburgh Press of May 14, 1951, there was an article on Boating Water Safety Week which is to get under way with a Point show on July 2, 1961. The program includes canoe and other boat races. According to the Coast Guard reports, in the United States last year 3,785 were involved in accidents, with 819 fatalities and $3,192,100 in damages. Let us remember, during the session of 1959, House bill No. 1178, the boat bill, was amended in committee, amended on the floor of the House, and finally passed. It was returned to the Senate, and I believe it was so full of holes that the Senate could not repair the damage and it died there.

Now, this is one of the most fantastic things that I have ever heard of in this House of Representatives. There are letters and telegrams from many counties of the Commonwealth, representing 200,000 to 230,000 sportsmen. They come from the individual counties all over the State of Pennsylvania: Allegheny, Philadelphia, oh, I could name any number. It would take me a couple hours to read them, but I would say at least 230,000.

Now, on behalf of 1,600,000 licensed hunting and fishing enthusiasts who are unanimously for House bill 1258, and 68,000 licenses for boating, I appeal to, and I hope the members of the House will give further consideration to House bill 1258. Again I say I feel and I hope that the General Assembly will enact into law House bill 1258, because the majority of our people in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania desire it. Thank you very much.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I evidently missed the situation here. I was under the impression that Mr. Jim, the Chairman, was going to handle the debate on each of the amendments. There are amendments, I understood, by Mr. Auker, amendments by Mr. Yetter to be offered to the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognized Mr. Jim on the debate on the bill.

Mr. McCANN. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The bill has been agreed to on third reading.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. JIM. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. PRENDERGAST and YETTER asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 5 (Sec. 3), page 6, line 8, by inserting after "boat": "other than a manually propelled boat"

Amend Sec. 8 (Sec. 11), page 17, by inserting between lines 3 and 4:

"(f) Rules and regulations of the board shall not be applicable to manually propelled boats."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Yetter.

Mr. YETTER. Mr. Speaker, my amendments are very simple. They just take rowboats, manually propelled boats, canoes out of the regulations so they do not have to conform to all these regulations that might be imposed by the commission.

I see no reason why a rowboat or a canoe should be licensed or controlled by a lot of regulations.

Mr. JIM. Mr. Speaker, rowboats are excluded from the act except if they want to register them. If they want to register them they pay $1. If they do not want to register them, they do not have to do anything. Therefore, in accordance with the statement I made just a while ago on the bill that we had here two years ago, I oppose these amendments.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I would like to correct the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Jim, in his remarks about rowboats. As he well knows, I have been intensely interested in this subject and I hold in my hand, and Mr. Jim can see it if he pleases, a fact sheet on boating distributed by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

It says that rowboats are included. Many States find this popular with owners of rowboats as it gives them protection in floods.

So, Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of setting the record straight, the opinion of the Fish Commission, which is certainly advocating this bill, is that rowboats are included.

Mr. JIM. I would like to answer him, Mr. Speaker.

If you have, say, 10 boats in any waters of our Commonwealth, if you had five of them licensed and under regulations, then you would have five that could go up and down the waters in any way they saw fit. The same thing would apply to the highways. If you had 10 cars on the highway and they were licensed, and then you had a horse and buggy and a horse with a hay wagon, they would not come under the motor vehicle code, yet they are under the motor vehicle code.

In the interest of safety and regulation, I oppose these amendments.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, if the members will look at the bill they will see a statement in the bill which is apparently misunderstood—"Manually propelled boats may be licensed at the option of the owner."

The idea of permitting them to be licensed is to protect them because every boat that is licensed will get a number.

As far as blanketing them out, that is as ridiculous as trying to take these little kiddie cars running on the highways and saying they are not subject to the motor vehicle laws.

Anything that is on a lake, any kind of craft, certainly should come under safety regulations. If boats of any kind are under safety rules and regulations, is it not ridiculous to think that a rowboat out there or a canoe should not come under safety? We would be permitting a loophole that might cause terrific accidents and would eliminate a great number of this boating fraternity from safety regulations.

This particular amendment is not a good amendment and it should not be passed.

Mr. YETTER. Mr. Speaker, I have several letters from camps and from the Boy Scouts of America. They oppose this bill the way it is written. They teach safety in boats and canoes. They claim that you cannot legislate safety, you have to teach it. There is no reason why we have to regulate rowboats and canoes. True, the bill does not say that you have to license them, that is optional, but it does say that they would have to come under all the regulations that the Fish Commission would see fit to impose. I ask for a roll call on these amendments.

Mr. CURWOOD. To my colleague, Mr. Yetter, I would say this: Suppose there are six boys out in a rowboat in the middle of a lake and nobody, no enforcement officer of the Fish Commission or any other commission, could tell those boys to come in. They could say "Go to—so forth."

I feel that all these crafts, and that is what we are fighting so hard for, us fellows in the back-country districts that have these small 4-, 5-, 20-, or 100-acre lakes. We are trying to protect these people with rowboats, motor boats, and so forth. I think it is very unjust to put a bill in that would exempt anybody from any enforcement. Thank you very kindly.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hartley, desire to be recognized?

Mr. HARTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I do agree 100 percent with him. We do need these regulations, but we have introduced the bill approved by the Navigation Commission, the Delaware River sportsmen, and all navigable waters are explored, and it is in Senate bill 210.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, we are talking about the amendments. We are not going into the bill are we? We are on Van Yetter's amendments right now. Mr. Hartley is out of order.

Mr. HARTLEY. Are we talking about the amendments, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would advise the gentleman from Philadelphia, we are now discussing the amendments offered by the gentleman from Monroe Mr. YETTER.

Mr. HARTLEY. All right, Mr. Speaker. I will wait.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. YETTER and JIM and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. AUKER asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 7 (Sec. 10), page 14, line 7, by inserting after "of" where it appears the first time: "or injury to"

Amend Sec. 7 (Sec. 10), page 14, line 7 and 8, by striking out "for a period in excess of seventy-two hours or more"

Amend Sec. 8 (Sec. 11), page 15, line 15, by inserting after "or" where it appears the third time: "to in any way operate any boat or any and all other devices and equipment used for water skiing or aquaplaning that will"

Amend Sec. 8 (Sec. 12), page 18, line 8, by striking out "should" and inserting: "must"

Amend Sec. 8 (Sec. 12), page 18, line 13, by striking out "a" and inserting: "the nearest available"

Amend Sec. 8 (Sec. 12), page 18, line 13, by inserting after "magistrate": "to the scene of the accident"

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask the indulgence of the members of the House. I would like to preface my remarks briefly in offering these amendments.

I have read bill 1258 very carefully. I feel that these amendments are certainly going to make a stronger bill than we have here without the amendments. There is no question that we need a boating law in Pennsylvania. If my amendments are not accepted, then I shall vote against the bill.

I am not going to try to influence the members of the House one way or the other as to their vote, whether my amendments are accepted or defeated. However, I do say that the four amendments I am offering to different sections of the bill will make the bill a stronger bill. It does not make the bill as good a bill, even then, as I would like it to be, but I think it does make a much better bill of it.

Mr. Speaker, if the members who are vitally interested will turn to page 14, line 5, we have language that reads as follows:

"In the case of collision accident or other casualty involving a boat the operator thereof if the collision accident or other casualty results in the death or disabling of any person for a period in excess of seventy-two hours . . ."

Now, that language to me, "in excess of seventy-two hours" simply does not mean a thing. I cannot understand why it is in the bill, although the same language is in Senate bill 210, and I have read both bills. So, I am offering an amendment to take out "a period in excess of seventy-two hours" so it will not be in there. This is superfluous. I do not know why we would have the distinction "in excess of seventy-two hours." If a person is disabled, he is disabled, whether the injury lasts for 12 hours or 15 hours or 72 hours. From my knowledge in the practice of the law, it does not make sense.

I do not know how the gentlemen from the other side want to vote on these amendments. They may want to segregate the vote on each separate amendment. However, I would ask that the amendments be voted on in a unit, as a whole. However, if they want a division, I will agree to a division on it.

I would ask the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Jim, whether or not he will accept a vote on the amendments as a whole?

Mr. JIM. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I will go along with that.

Mr. AUKER. I thank the gentleman.

On page 15, line 15, I insert in there language as follows: "To in any way operate any boat or any and all other devices and equipment used for water skiing or aquaplaning that will," and then so forth. I think that spells out to a greater degree the civil liability under this act, and that, after all, is one of the things that we are after in a boating law.

From page 18, line 4, I want to read this language because I think this is very important: "... enforcement personnel on the recommendation of the executive director the board may designate and empower any qualified person as an enforcement officer when the appointment of such person is in the best interests of service. Individuals appointed as enforcement personnel should be qualified . . ." I simply took out the word "should" there and put in the word "must." The word "should" to me does not mean anything. There are no teeth in it at all, but if we put the word "must" in, then we do put in that the enforcement personnel must be qualified personnel and not leave it to the discretion of any commission or anyone else.

Then to comply with the existing law that we have on game and fishing, I insert on page 18, line 13, wordage that will make it necessary that hearings on these violations under this act shall be taken before the nearest available magistrate. As the act reads now, it says "any magistrate." We have amendments under the game and fish law that says violations must be taken before the nearest available magistrate, and I think that just brings it in line with existing laws covering recreation facilities now.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I ask that the members of the House vote for these amendments. I do think that they make the bill a better bill. However, if the amendments fall then I would like to be recognized and I probably will ask to be recognized anyway one way or another for debate on the bill itself. I ask for a roll call.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Jim.

Mr. JIM. In answer to one of the questions of the gentleman from Blair County about the personnel, I have made a statement on that and I will repeat it for his own information. The commission presently has 60 trained uniformed officers and 250 deputies for education and regulations of the boating laws.

And as far as these amendments are concerned, as I stated before, if you will allow me to use these words, we have worked on this bill for three months and at no time did we move except with the attorney general's office. The bill itself was changed four different times. At the present time, with these amendments, I do not know what it will do to this bill. Therefore, I am going to oppose these amendments, all of them, whatever they are.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, there surely is a vital necessity for a boating law in Pennsylvania. There is no question about that. We all agree.

I am simply here trying to make a little better bill out of 1258. Now I have read Senate bill 210 also:

Mr. JIM. Mr. Speaker, he is talking about a bill that is over in the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would advise the gentleman that we are discussing only the amendments offered by the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. If the gentleman will allow me to finish with my statement, probably he would not have made his objection. Just to say because I name another bill that I am not talking on the amendments is certainly jumping the gun. The gentleman has been trying to read my thoughts, and I do not think anyone up to this date has been able to read them altogether; some people might have been able to, but not everybody.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the matter before the House.

Mr. AUKER. I am simply saying, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, by offering these amendments I am trying to make a better bill.

I think that we could have a good boating bill if we take both bills and unite them. However, we do not have 210 over here, so I am forced to take what we have and try to make as good a bill out of it as we can. That is the reason I am offering these amendments. They do not cripple the bill; they do not hurt the bill in any way, shape or form; they make it a better bill than you now have. I am saying that to the gentleman sincerely. I am saying that to the members of the House. That is the reason I am offering these amendments and I ask the members of the House to vote for them.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the attitude of the gentleman from Cambria and I want to congratulate him.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is from Blair.

Mr. BRETH. Oh, he's from Blair now? I beg your pardon, Mr. Auker. I placed you in the wrong county, I do not know whether for better or for worse.

However, I would say this, members of the House, that the Fish Commission and the Department of Justice have spent long hours and a great deal of study in writing this bill and every conceivable problem of enforcement came up, and safety was discussed, and this particular bill, as Mr. Jim said, has been revised seven times and is now what the Justice Department considers a good, logical, enforcement bill. Therefore, I do not believe we should accept the amendments as offered by Mr. Auker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. AUKER and JIM and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hartley.

Mr. HARTLEY. Mr. Speaker, again I say the Justice Department and the Fish Commission have written a boat bill. It is just like getting a doctor to operate for you in court. I would like to read into the record a part of a letter received by a sportswriter who writes for one of the Philadelphia papers:

This bill is opposed by all organized boatmen in the State. The Delaware River Yachtmen's League is backing a totally different bill, Senate bill 210, which will take boating administration away from the Fish Commission. The Navigation Commission for the Delaware River and its Navigable Tributaries also has endorsed . . .

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, he is arguing another bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. HARTLEY. I am reading a letter into the record, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Technically, I believe the gentleman from Luzerne is correct, but we are trying to be as lenient as we possibly can on this bill.

Mr. HARTLEY. This is a letter written by a sportswriter. I am reading the letter.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will let the gentleman proceed.

Mr. HARTLEY. Senate bill 210 with certain amendments to which the sponsors are agreed.

"The boatmen of our state have fought for three years," and not three months—that is my comment—"to escape the domination of the Fish Commission, which doesn't understand boating and has chased most of us skippers out of Pennsylvania to our neighbor States. Of course, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and New York are happy to get our dollars." I am reading it as written here. "S-210 will accomplish this, by bringing boating back to our State and developing our great potential. But House bill 1258 is a political sell-out to the Fish Commission.

"I have three boats in New Jersey"—I am reading it from his letter—"two of which I would certainly use here in Pennsylvania if S-210 becomes effective. And I'm just one of 150,000 skippers that feel that way—30,000 of them right here on the Delaware River. Please help us to get the kind of administration of boating we can live with."

I would like to make a further comment. I heard some figures listed here and this was not mentioned. This is an estimated figure acquired through the Delaware Bureau of Census. We have $1,613,900 estimated collections on the fuel tax alone on these boats. This is a figure that Mr. Jim did not mention.

Mr. Speaker, it took three years of negotiation with the departments up here, both Forestry and the Fish Commission, and they came up with some kind of an agreement after three years and this was Senate bill 210. I will say this, this bill was written in a hurry to overcome the power of Senate bill 210, and was written by people who do not understand boats, and they will not tell you who wrote it, neither the Justice Department nor the Fish Commission. Now just imagine that.

All I can say is, if you turn this bill down, certainly they will bring the other bill out. I thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, in order to eliminate some of the smoke from the heat and perhaps shed a little light, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill. Perhaps Mr. Breth would be the most appropriate. I would ask him to bring a copy of the bill with him.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman if I am not correct in my understanding that this bill is an amendment to the Motor Boat Act of 1931?

Mr. BRETH. That is correct.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman if it is his position as one of the sponsors of this bill that the bill does conform to the Federal Boating Act?

Mr. BRETH. The Fish Commission has been informed that it does.

Mr. SCHAAF. Now Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman to refer to the definitions starting on page 3 of the bill wherein "Board" as used in this bill means the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. Is that a correct understanding?

Mr. BRETH. Just where does the gentleman mean?

Mr. SCHAAF. I beg your pardon, Mr. Speaker. On page 3, line 18.

Mr. BRETH. Now that has been eliminated from the bill, the brackets are there.

Mr. SCHAAF. I beg your pardon, sir?

Mr. BRETH. On line 18 there is a bracket after the word "The" and another bracket on line 19 after "wealth," eliminating the "Board of Fish Commissioners of the Commonwealth" and inserting "Pennsylvania Fish Commission."

Mr. SCHAAF. In other words, when the word "Board" is used in this bill as active legislation, we mean the Pennsylvania Fish Commission? Is that correct?

Mr. BRETH. I would suggest wherever that occurs—

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman on page—if you will bear with me one moment, please.

Mr. BRETH. I see a place on page 11 where it says the "Board."

Mr. SCHAAF. I see several places where the term "Board" is used, and to that I have no objection, but in the bill there is a reference to the word "Commission." Now what is meant by the word "Commission?" That word is not defined.

Mr. BRETH. I think, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman realizes that this is an amendment to the Boating Act which is also under the Fish Commission general authorization bill.

Mr. SCHAAF. Do I understand the gentleman to mean, then, that the word "Commission" means again the "Pennsylvania Fish Commission?"

Mr. BRETH. The title of the bill tells that it is the "Board of Fish Commissioners."

Mr. SCHAAF. The gentleman is not answering my question. Does the word "Commission"—

Mr. BRETH. Frankly, Mr. Speaker, I do not know what the gentleman is driving at.

Mr. SCHAAF. Well, Mr. Speaker, the bill—

Mr. BRETH. If I knew what the gentleman is driving at, I might have an answer.

Mr. SCHAAF. Well, I will explain. I will try to explain what I am getting at. The bill contains the language "Board," and the word "Board" is defined on page 3. The bill also contains the word "Commission," which is not defined on page 3. I am asking the gentleman if the word "Commission" means the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

Mr. BRETH. Again, I say—I will take the gentleman back a little. In 1873 the original—

Mr. SCHAAF. That is not necessary—

Mr. BRETH. That is a broader base to take it in. Then, subsequently, it was amended and the Pennsylvania Fish Commission was set up. However, in various parts of the regular fish code the word "Board" is not used in there, but yet it did not affect any particular enforcement provisions of the act or the act itself. Now is that what you are driving at?

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the gentleman to refer to line 7 on page 11.

Mr. BRETH. I see it.

Mr. SCHAAF. Could the gentleman tell the members of the House whether or not the word "commission" therein contained means the Fish Commission, if he knows?

Mr. BRETH. I would say it means the Fish Commission, the Board of Fish Commissioners, or whatever under the law—

Mr. SCHAAF. Then Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman agree that the word "commission" and the word "Board" in the bill mean one and the same thing?

Mr. BRETH. I cannot answer that question. I think that is open to interpretation.

Mr. SCHAAF. Open to interpretation? Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman to turn to page 15 of the bill.

Mr. BRETH. I have it.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would read and I am asking the indulgence of Mr. Breth and the members—

Mr. BRETH. Go ahead, please.

Mr. SCHAAF. Beginning on line 9, the operator's civil liability.

Mr. BRETH. Page 15?

Mr. SCHAAF. I beg your pardon, page 15, the beginning of line 6, the new matter that has been added to the legislation.

Am I correct in reading this that no person shall operate a vessel while intoxicated? Is that correct?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I do not know what the gentleman is driving at. He happens to be a member of the legal profession. Is he attempting to entangle me in the legal end of it? I think, Mr. Speaker, anybody who has a bill will read on line 6: "No person shall operate a vessel while intoxicated." To me that means what it says.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, then I would ask the gentleman to refer to the previous page, page 14, beginning on line 16, section 11: "The board is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe, promulgate and enforce . . ." Skipping subsection (a) and going over to subsection (a.1), it says: "No person shall operate a vessel while intoxicated."

Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman if that is good English?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, frankly, I would like to terminate this interrogation because, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has not given me sufficient information in his questioning to know what he is driving at, and, unless I know what he is after, I cannot rightfully or personally answer a question.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would regret very much if I lost the services of Mr. Breth, but I wish that he would consent to continue to be interrogated.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, he has the right on this floor to get up, debate the bill and say anything he wants to about any provision in it, but when he wants to weave a web of misinterpretation, legal angles, legal phrases, or omissions in time, I think, Mr. Speaker, that I am being imposed upon, and as a matter of personal privilege I am going to refuse to be interrogated further, unless the gentleman lets me know what he is driving at.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, perhaps the gentleman's remarks are well taken and I will try to be a little bit more specific and less technical, but I would like to continue to interrogate him.

Mr. BRETH. If the gentleman asks me questions that I can answer "yes" or "no" and know what I am answering, then I shall continue to answer questions.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman if I am correct in my understanding that the administration of this proposed boat law, which does, as you state, qualify under the Federal Motor Act, is the administration of this act under the Pennsylvania Fish Commission?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, there again he asked me to tell him if he is correct. How can I tell him whether he is correct or not? He knows whether he is correct.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would then ask the gentleman if he is familiar with the qualifications for fish commissioners as set out in the Administrative Code of 1929, as amended.

Mr. BRETH. I certainly am.

Mr. SCHAAF. Am I correct, Mr. Speaker, and I will stand to be corrected if I am not correct, that the Administrative Code provides that members of the commission shall be persons well informed on the subject of conservation and restoration?

Mr. BRETH. Yes, it is.

Mr. SCHAAF. Now, does the gentleman know whether there are any prerequisites for membership on the Pennsylvania Fish Commission that there be an experience, or a knowledge, or a facility for boating in Pennsylvania?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, that is inferred under the word "conservation." Conservation includes the water resources of the State, it includes water activity, and, therefore, a member of the Fish Commission should have some experience or some knowledge. It does not necessarily mean that all members must be versed in all phases of conservation.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, do you consider that boating is within the definition of the word "conservation"?

Mr. BRETH. I certainly do. It is an activity.

Mr. SCHAAF. I want to understand that clearly. Mr. Speaker, I understand that this bill provides, and I believe I am correct, on page 14, the necessary general authority is given to the Pennsylvania Fish Commission to promulgate rules and regulations concerning boating and the operation of boats in Pennsylvania, is that correct?

Mr. BRETH. It is to date.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, on the basis of a fish commissioner's knowledge of forestation and conservation, does the gentleman feel that they are best qualified to promulgate duties and regulations?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I certainly do. We have a man on the Pennsylvania Fish Commission by the name of John Grenoble. He operates and knows boats, navigation, boating problems from big yachts down to canoes. He is an outstanding sportsman, an outstanding fisherman and an outstanding boatman. We have other members on the Board of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission today who are entirely familiar with boating of all kinds.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman this: Does the Fish Commission intend to enforce boating in the Delaware River Basin?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I am glad the gentleman asked me that question, because that has been discussed for the three long years that I know dozens and dozens of meetings and discussions have been had on this problem, and the Fish Commission has issued a public statement and it is on record that if this particular boating bill passes, or any boating bill passes, that they will enter into an agreement with the Delaware Navigation Commission on the rules, regulations and modus operandi, if he wants a word I do not know anything about, enforcing the provisions of this act in that particular locality.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman categorically inform me, if such is the case, whether or not the Fish Commission is likewise ready and willing to enter into an agreement with the Pennsylvania Park and Harbor Commission of Erie concerning the administration of regulation of boating in the Erie area?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, the director of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission who, by the way, is a very accomplished and experienced boatman himself and is familiar with all types of boating, has informed me and others that he is perfectly willing and so is the Board perfectly willing to enter into any agreements that are necessary and proper for the enforcement of the boating act.

Mr. SCHAAF. But the overall administration would nevertheless be under the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, even—hear me out, please—in the Delaware River Basin?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, in response to this series of questions I would like to inform the gentleman and this House that this condition now exists that two years ago we passed a new fish code and it provided for an assistant director, an assistant executive director, in charge of boating.

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission, under the leadership of its executive director, Al Day, has scoured the country and is prepared to place as assistant director in charge of boating the most outstanding and experienced boatman in the United States. All phases of this act will then necessarily come under his jurisdiction.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this piece of legislation and I hope my remarks will not be taken as provincial. I seriously feel and strenuously feel that this is in its essence bad legislation, and I would like to take a few minutes to explain why.

Mr. Speaker, no one doubts the sincerity of the chairman of the Fisheries Committee, Mr. Jim. I have known Charley—and I like to refer to him that way—ever since I have been in this House. I know he is sincere and I know he is interested in the problem. Certainly, no one doubts the sincerity of Mr. Breth, the gentleman from Clearfield.

But, Mr. Speaker, despite our personal feelings to these gentlemen, we have an obligation as members of the House to pass in this House good, appropriate legislation.

Mr. Speaker, the reason for the Bonner Act is conditional recognition of the expansion of boating as a recreational facility, a recreational type thing through the years subsequent to World War II. No one has to be told, Mr. Speaker, about the increase in boating, the increase in water skiing, the increase in all types of the use of pleasure crafts. That is an accomplished fact. It is a geometric progression, Mr. Speaker, in cube roots. It keeps growing and growing and growing and getting larger and greater each year and, consequently, the necessity for intelligent legislation on this subject is evident.

In 1959 those of us who were here then fully and well remember the difficulty which we encountered in trying to reconcile the differences between the boating interests and the interests of the Fish Commission and those people who stand basically behind the Fish Commission, namely, the sportsmen of Pennsylvania operating through the Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

I say that we all should have learned a lesson in 1959 and the lesson should have been this, that if you want a boat bill, if you want effective boating legislation which is going to serve the needs of all the people, then you are going to have to give in and you are going to have to pick.

Despite the change in approach, namely,, amending the 1931 act, and I contend, Mr. Speaker, and I might say parenthetically that the amendments are terrible. I do not know what is their origin, if they came out of the Justice Department, whether they came out of the Fish Commission, whether they came out of the Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, or whether they came out of the Roadside Council, Mr. Speaker, they are bad amendments to the motor boat law. We have sentences in here with no subjects; we have sentences in here with no verbs; we have missing language; we have inconclusive language; and I might say, also, Mr. Speaker, parenthetically, I agree 100 percent with Mr. Auker. I agree 100 percent with Mr. Yetter. Their amendments were very proper, they were an effort to clear up the bill, and all the points they raised would have made it a better bill, but it still would not make it a good bill.

The attitude on the part of the Fish Commission is—and I have a great respect for the Fish Commission, Mr. Speaker—that they have been very kind to me, they have been very kind to my community. I have fishermen up there, and I would say that the incumbent executive director, Albert Day, has given me everything by way of cooperation and encouragement more than any predecessor in the Fish Commission, but, nevertheless, Mr. Speaker, I say in this case we have a situation where the tail of the dog is wagging the dog.

Mr. Speaker, we are the dogs. We in this General Assembly, in this House, are the dogs which should promote appropriate boating legislation. Mr. Speaker, we are the dog, if you will, which should not be wagged by the tail, which is the Fish Commission, or its alter ego, the Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs in Pennsylvania, and I hope I am not committing heresy here on the floor. I have a great respect for sportsmen, also, but I say you cannot be hardheaded in your approach. We cannot discharge that responsibility here in the House by passing an essentially poor bill over to the other House. That is not good legislation, that is not legislative responsibility, Mr. Speaker, and that is all I seek.

I say to the members here today—I do not want to prolong the agony—I say to the members here today that this is badly drafted legislation, whatever the source is, that this is badly conceived legislation and, finally, no lesson was learned in 1959. I know that most of us have been under some sort of pressure, some sort of urging from people at the grass-roots level, but I say to you here that when I went back into Erie County and discussed with the sportsmen of Erie County, who are component members of the Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, what the specific problem was, they were not adamant. Mr. Jim says that the sportsmen are unanimously in favor of this bill. I think he is using poetic license, I think that it is all he is using.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the members to oppose this legislation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill. The electors whom I represent in this Commonwealth, a good part of them, are on tidewater in the Delaware River. As the previous speaker has said, I do not believe any lesson has been learned since 1959. The 1959 bill was somewhat similar and we put in an amendment to take the tidewater of the Delaware River out of the bill. The amendment was successful. In 1959, after we did that, an amendment was put in by the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf, to put the bill back in its original form and for a day he was successful in that amendment. I might say I am glad that the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf, has learned a lesson. Today he agrees with me.

We were successful in again eliminating the tidewater of the Delaware River from the effects of the bill in 1959, but the bill, however, was never passed. We have the Navigation Commission, we have the Coast Guard, we even control tidewater, some of it, in my jurisdiction by ordinances. We have been very successful. We have no fish in my part of the Delaware, we do not need fish wardens from that standpoint. I notice that there is another bill on the calendar to make the fish wardens water patrolmen. Maybe they will be back in two years, if they are successful in passing this legislation, and want to be called Junior Marines, I do not know. I have seen the letter that was referred to by the previous speaker concerning the fact an agreement might be entered into with the Navigation Commission. I have read that letter, and believe me, ladies and gentlemen of this House, I do not have much faith in it. I think we can possibly save a few jobs by defeating this bill, and God knows we have enough employees in this Commonwealth now. We have some 16,000 additional since 1960. I think the best thing this House can do is to defeat this measure. There is another measure in this General Assembly which, if enacted, would regulate boating much better than this one, and I urge the ladies and gentlemen on both sides of the House to vote this bill down.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. MCCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to make a brief observation on this bill. It was recently said in the House, concerning another bill, that there has never been so much excitement since somebody tried to build a hotdog stand in somebody's district. I wanted to point out that two days ago we passed the GSA bill increasing the borrowing capacity by $250,000,000 without a word of debate. It is very difficult to understand the heat generated as the result of a simple bill like this.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovanseck.

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, just for the record I would like to insert the sentiments of a telegram that I have received regarding this important legislation on House bill 1258. Now, this is not wired by my organization. I happen to be a member of one of the sportsmen's organizations in my county and we have over 30 organizations affiliated with the county organizations, and, for the record, I read this telegram from the president of the organizations, and I happened to be in attendance at that time, when the members present went on the record requesting the support of House bill 1258. Therefore, I will insert this in the record.

Mr. ROVANSEK submitted the following telegram for the record:

Louis Rovanseck, House Office Bldg.
Harrisburg, Penna.

Desperately need your support and influence in favor of House bill 1258 boating. Protect the workingman by passing HB 1258.

E. Hart President
Cambria County Federation of Sportsmen
Representing thirty clubs of Cambria County

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I am not with either bloc on this boating business. I am simply trying to help both sides to somehow resolve their differences and come up somehow, someplace, during this session of the legislature, which I think we should do by all means, with a good boating law that will accomplish the best job possible for all the various interests concerned. That includes a lot of people who are not boaters; and I am not a boater.

I want to say that the sportsmen in my county would much prefer to have the bill that is in the other House. I am going to vote against this bill, because I think without my amendments the bill is a poor bill.

I want to emphasize and back up all the remarks made by the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf. I believe that when this bill is defeated and I prophesy that it is going to be, then possibly the other bill from the other branch of this legislature will come over to this House and I implore both sides, if and when it does, to let that bill come out of committee, or take this bill in committee with them in conjunction with the other bill and iron out a good bill that will, possibly, not meet with the full approval of both blocs and both crowds, one fighting this particular bill and the other for this particular bill, but which will be acceptable. I do not think we are going to get anywhere that way. I think if you do not do that you are not going to have any boat bill in this session and that would be a shame, because it is high time we do have a good rounded out boating bill in Pennsylvania, because boating has become very large and is very widespread throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I am going to suggest, Mr. Speaker, I am going to vote against this bill, and I am only offering this as a constructive measure, that if and when it does go down, I do not think this bill will get out of the other branch of the legislature. They have a bill of their own. Personally, I like that bill much better. It is much broader; it spells out a lot of provisions much more clearly than this particular bill does. For instance, it has more pages in it. At one place it spells out in a much greater degree the legal responsibility of boating, which I like very much. Another place it provides for the regulation of boating races which this bill does not provide.

The only thing about the other bill that maybe some of the proponents of this bill do not like is the fact that it is a new bill, that it puts it under the Department of Forests and Waters. I have been fairly reliably informed—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Curwood, rise?

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, my friend Mr. Auker, the gentleman from Blair, and I have a lot of respect for him, a terrific lot, for I think he is a very capable young man, but I feel that he is talking about another bill, Mr. Speaker, and he and I have already talked about his amendments and he understands the situation very clearly, and now, doggone, he is wasting the time of the House. That is the way I feel about it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf, rise?

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I think there is an effort being made here to keep certain things secret. I think the discussion of the gentleman from Blair is proper and I think that it would be enlightening to the members of the House. I do not think we have to be unduly technical about this. I might suggest, Mr. Speaker, this is within the scope of this legislation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to request the gentleman to confine his remarks to House bill 1258.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I am trying to do that, but in trying to make points you just cannot always specifically point to the particular bill. Impliedly, I am speaking on this particular bill, the principle behind this bill, and that is to provide a good boating law for Pennsylvania. That is what all my remarks are about.

Mr. Speaker, I understand that the Department of Forests and Waters is not relishing too much having the authority under the other bill. I am well aware, also, that the Fish Commission does have personnel that are experienced in boating and water patrol, and that is perfectly right, because these fishermen have a right to be protected from the boats. That is all wrapped up in this entire boating situation. The fishermen, the boatmen and the public-at-large are all wrapped up in one package.

It is entirely possible that if this bill goes down and the other bill comes over that certainly these two groups can somehow get together.

Possibly, if a group of legislators sit down and try to write out a bill and resolve the differences between these two bills and keep both crowds of laymen out, we can come up with a good bill. That is the suggestion I am making when this bill gets in the hands of the other branch of this legislature.

I would like to have the proponents of this bill keep that in mind. Believe me, we are trying to help both sides come up with a good boating bill, but if both sides are going to be hardheaded, you are not going to have a boating bill during this session of the legislature. I say that would be bad for all the people of Pennsylvania. It will be bad for the fishermen; it will be bad for the boatmen.

Now, Mr. Speaker, in contravention of this bill, I have been reliably informed that the Fish Commission will not accept the other bill, 1473 or 1478, whereby it provides for separate three-man board of boatmen that they will not accept any boatmen on their Fish Commission. That is hardheadedness, if that is true and that should not be so. That is just one of the things against this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I am voting against this bill with the hope that the other bill will come over, and, when it does, then perhaps a group of legislators who are vitally involved in this problem can sit down and resolve the differences between the two bills and come up with a good bill that will finally be passed. Let us learn by experience, which we apparently have not done so far from the 1957 and 1959 sessions.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I agree entirely with the remarks of the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, and it seems that there ought to be some further comments made on the bill.

I realize the hour is late and everyone is anxious to get to lunch, but certainly everyone must agree that there must be a full discussion on a bill of this kind.

The advocates of the bill have indicated they have gotten the support of the Justice Department and other departments in the preparation of the bill. Let us consider that point.

Let me say, Mr. Speaker, that I have taken the trouble to inquire in the Governor's office with respect to the attitude toward House bill 1258, and I would say to the House that the attitude is strictly one of "hands-off." It has been clearly demonstrated to me that whatever the House does will be considered at such time as any legislation comes to the attention of the Governor, so that any indication to the contrary, there is no endorsement. This is not an administration bill.

Mr. Speaker, on page 8 of the bill the license fees are set forth and they vary in amounts. The Fish Commission feels that these fees are necessary, but nowhere in the extensive work that I have done on this subject has there been any justification for the fees that have been set.

They have said, the Fish Commission people have said, "Well, we do not want to make the fees lower as has been advocated by the boat people because the boat people can afford them."

But, Mr. Speaker, what is the Fish Commission going to do with all this money?

The bill provides on page 9 that if a boat is licensed in some other state that boat need not be licensed in Pennsylvania. In other words, you, as the owner of a boat in Pennsylvania, may license your boat in New Jersey or New York, and, Mr. Speaker, you may be inclined to do so because the fees over there are substantially lower than are proposed in House bill 1258.

I ask the question: Do we want to help drive our boaters out of Pennsylvania?

Certainly, one of the most important features of the bill, as far as I am concerned, has to do with the Navigation Commission of the Delaware River.

Mr. Speaker, the Navigation Commission has been functioning for 200 years and has been doing an admirable job with a very minimum expense to the Commonwealth. We have down there in the Delaware Basin, not only the Navigation Commission, we have the United States Coast Guard, the United States Army Corps of Engineers, the New Jersey Conservation Authority. Mr. Speaker, are we going to place the Fish Commission as a fifth agency in the Delaware Basin area?

I will call your attention to this fact: If the Fish Commission comes into the Delaware River Basin, we will have the awkward situation of the Fish Commission regulating the pleasure boats and the Navigation Commission regulating commercial shipping. Does it make any sense to have two groups of enforcement officers?

Mr. Speaker, the image has been created that fish wardens are nothing but very astute police officers. Certainly, from what I have heard, there is nothing to indicate anything to the contrary. We want people enforcing this bill, this law, if it is to be enacted, who are sympathetic to the boat people and not antagonistic.

Let me add that this bill would place boating clearly and simply under the Fish Commission, and yet, if we look at our surrounding States, if we look at New York, if we look at New Jersey and some of the other surrounding States, we find that their programs are very successful, very successful, and are under experienced boating personnel under separate boat boards. So I say, Mr. Speaker, let us look at the experience around us before we move quickly.

I would add that there is no demonstration that the Fish Commission and its enforcement personnel are capable of performing or looking into such matters as rescues under severe conditions, rules of the road on the various waters. I say that we need a new attitude, a new approach, and the way is not through the Fish Commission.

I have been so deeply concerned about this particular matter that I have taken the trouble to conduct a series of conferences, including the Fish Commission people, members of the legislature, boat people, people from the Navigation Commission of the Delaware River Basin, in an effort to resolve this problem. The boat people first said, we want a separate boat board. We convinced them that this was not possible. They then said, well, give us equal representation on the Fish Commission, four and four. We convinced them that they could not have that. Finally, a member of this House who has spoken in favor of this bill suggested at one of our conferences, all right, let us give them three members on the Fish Commission, eight and three. Certainly, the boat people could not then control the Fish Commission. We were very near an agreement, Mr. Speaker, but the negotiations fell at that point because there was some indication that the Governor's office was opposed to the enlargement of the Fish Commission.

The Fish Commission is an independent body that is not answerable to the State government. I say to you that we are placing too much authority in an independent area. If we were to regulate boating under a department of the State government, we could have better control over that department.

I am concerned with the effect of this bill on the economy of Pennsylvania. Last year Pennsylvania received $1,631,000 in marine fuel taxes. I predict that with the passage of this bill that figure will go down, because boaters would tend to be driven out of Pennsylvania.

Let me say that if we were to pass a more suitable bill, attractive to boaters, we would have more people coming to Pennsylvania to spend their vacation here and we would have more Pennsylvanians interested in boating having their vacations here in Pennsylvania, and, of course, quite incidentally, the Commonwealth would benefit by the increase in taxes. Not only would the Commonwealth benefit by the increase in taxes, but it would mean more employment for Pennsylvanians at a time when we need more employment.

Let me conclude by saying that I have in my hand, Mr. Speaker, and I am now displaying the publication of the Fish Commission, a publication called "The Pennsylvania Angler." This is for the month of June 1961, and contains some 26 pages.

Mr. Speaker, I have looked through this entire publication, the last publication of the Fish Commission, "The Pennsylvania Angler," which is supposed to represent the boating people and I find one page devoted to boating —one page out of the whole book. Do we need any more expression of the attitude on the part of the Fish Commission? Let us vote this bill down.

Mr. WILLARD. Mr. Speaker, I would very briefly like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Jim.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Jim, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JIM. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILLARD. Mr. Speaker, just one question: I would like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland what his most optimistic estimate of revenue is that can be derived from this bill if passed.

Mr. JIM. Mr. Speaker, the figure I have for last year is $145,000. What this will bring in if enacted into law at the present time I do not know.

Mr. WILLARD. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak briefly for the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I am between the devil and the deep blue sea. I belong to the Pleasure Boater's Association and I also belong to the Sportmen's Association. I have been in very close contact for the last several weeks with both groups in my area. At one time they were so close to coming up with a compromise bill that I thought their differences would be resolved and they would come up with a good bill. Right now they are as far apart as the poles.

The reason for my interrogation of the gentleman from Westmoreland is on revenue.

I have listened today with very keen interest to the debate in this House. One thing I believe has not been stressed enough is the amount of revenue. In 1959 we had House bill 1178 and I was a co-sponsor. That bill was amended in committee and amended on the floor of this House. It made it such a bad bill that even some of the sponsors could not vote for it but we passed it over to the Senate. Consequently, we lost that revenue for two years.

Revenue in my book is very important. If we could possibly conceive that we would get a half-million dollars or more out of this act I would be willing to accept it. I would be willing to go along and establish a separate boating commission the same as we have in our Fish and our Game Commissions. But the revenue is not there. We have the personnel set up in the Fish Commission to handle this matter. They have been doing it. We have competent people to administer. I believe that with this anticipated revenue, and my estimate is slightly higher than that of the gentleman from Westmoreland, I think that the possible revenue out of this act with the graduated fees up to $12 would get us about $240,000, but what can you do with a commission on $240,000? We have the Fish Commission personnel all set up. They have been enforcing boating regulations for the last 30 years. They get a possible $150,000 revenue from licensing motors. I think that is the crucial point of this bill, and I think that if House bill 1258 does not pass we are going to be in the same boat as we were two years ago and we are going to lose that additional revenue and we need it very badly.

I agree with Charlie Auker on his amendments. I think they are very good amendments. In fact, one of his amendments I have had in committee and tried to get into the bill in committee. I think his attitude on those amendments—and I supported those amendments because I believe in them—but I think, ladies and gentlemen of this House, that we should pass 1258 and do it now, because I think if we do not we are not going to have a boat bill and we need that revenue. The Fish Commission has the personnel and everything to enforce the act. They will spend that money entirely for boating for channel marking deadheads, docks, land acquisition and that is a very important part. We have to have land acquisition to get into our waters or they are no good to us.

I will conclude my remarks by asking all the members to vote for 1258.

Mr. DOUGHERTY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill. As far as fish and fisheries and sports and sportsmen, I think they should take care of themselves.

Can any member of this House conceive of the Fish Commission controlling boating on the Delaware River, something they know nothing about?

This bill was drafted without consultation or approval of any recognized boating organization within Pennsylvania or anywhere.

House bill 1258 seeks to extend and perpetuate authority of an unqualified Fish Commission over the activities of a portion of the public which it has harrassed and attacked.

It pays lip service to the needs of operator education and adequate safe boating facilities, but fails to provide the means.

House bill 1258 requires boat license applicants to give in their applications unreasonable and inappropriate information not required in other States. For example, "seating or other capacity" and "gross weight." These show a lack of understanding and have no bearing on license numbers issued under the Federal Boating Act. Capacity of a given boat depends upon variable conditions, including weather.

House bill 1258 sets up an inequitable scale of fees which will drive larger boats into documentation, or numbering in neighboring States which have better facilities and require only $2 a year.

House bill 1258 vests piloting and seamanship regulatory authority in an agency which has no experience in either field.

House bill 1258 fails to spell out the qualifications of personnel who will enforce the Fish Commission's regulations over boating, despite the fact that such personnel would have to be skilled boatsmen in order to render any real service on the water. The basic course of training for beginners, offered by the Coast Guard Auxiliary in eight lessons, does not qualify a novice for such service.

Mr. Speaker, would you care to replace by the Fish Commission—House bill 1258 places inexperienced Fish Commission personnel on the Delaware River which already is regulated by the Navigation Commission, the Coast Guard, the Army Engineers and the State of New Jersey. In view of the heavy shipping traffic and Navy activity on the river, this is neither safe nor practical.

House bill 1258 fails to create a separate boating fund, or provide guarantee that revenues derived from boating will be spent wisely upon boating.

Failure of the Fish Commission to serve boating interests in proportion to the $1 per cylinder fees from motorboats for three decades has alienated the boating public. It has driven thousands of boating families to neighboring States to spend vacation dollars that could have been spent in Pennsylvania. Nothing in House bill 1258 indicates that this trend will be reversed.

The Fish Commission has alienated the boatmen by regarding pleasure boating as a menace. No law can be effectively enforced at any cost without the support and cooperation of those it seeks to regulate.

Boating has grown too big to be placed under an agency that must divide its attention between boating, propagation of fish, and regulation of fishermen. Both boating administration and boating patrolmen should devote themselves full time to boating.

Mr. Speaker, I do not believe there is a member of this House who lives any closer to that big waterway than I do. I live only a few blocks from it, and until my hospitalization in Septemeber I spent every working day along that riverfront. That is where I earn my living.

I have noticed how the Coast Guard, patrol that place. I have talked to them personally on occasions when they would tie up to the dock and I am telling you, without fear of contradiction, that anybody who wants to put this thing under the Fish Commission just does not know the right time. I thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Venango, Mr. Gramlich. I believe he wants to read a telegram.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Clearfield yields to the gentleman from Venango.

Mr. GRAMLICH. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to prolong this debate. Heaven knows it has been too long now, but I cannot let this go by without keeping the record straight.

I believe one speaker, I believe it was Mr. Schaaf, said that all the sportsmen in northwestern Pennsylvania were against this boat bill, 1258. I am for it 100 percent even though it may not be 100 percent correct.

However, I want to say to him that they are not all against it for I hold in my hand a telegram, and it reads as follows:

"Northwest Division"—this is of the Sportsmen's Club—"Northwest Division suggests HB 1258 House approval. Vote soon. Your support appreciated. Division boating chairman, H. S. Gates." That comes from Sharon, Pennsylvania, and I believe that is in northwestern Pennsylvania.

That is all I have at this time other than I hope we will all vote for 1258.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Erie apparently has something on his mind that he did not get off a while ago.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman would yield momentarily?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Clearfield yield to the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf?

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHAAF. He is very kind, Mr. Speaker.

I just want the record to show clearly that I simply stated that all the sportsmen in my area were not in favor of 1258. I did not say that all were opposed to 1258.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, in listening to some of the opponents of this particular bill you would imagine that the Fish Commission and the Fisheries Committee of this House and the sponsors of this bill had entered into a coalition to strike down the big boating interests of Pennsylvania. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The total intent of 1258 is to get a boating bill in this particular session of the legislature. You all know how this was originally set up under Leader, and a boating commission was set up, and it is down now to the present time after hours and hours and hours.

The point to remember in voting for or against 1258 is very simple. Eighty-five percent of the boat owners are little fellows with boats under 16 feet, and the predominant, overwhelming majority of them are fisherman. Less than three percent are so-called big boaters. Twelve percent are in the intermediary class.

I want to say to you that every statement made as to trying to do away with or subjugate the big boating interests is wrong. The Fish Commission is prepared to appoint an executive director. They are prepared to appoint an advisory board consisting of big boaters and intermediary boaters. They are prepared to give the Delaware Navigation Commission, by specific agreement, control of the boating on the Delaware River Basin. They are prepared to go all out to satisfy these interests, but as one of the sponsors of this bill said a minute ago, we in Pennsylvania must, at this time, protect that little boater. In my own town of Clearfield we had one fatality on the river which could have been prevented by the enforcement of this act, and I assure you it would have been enforced. It is now. We must keep in mind the safety of this boating public which is mushrooming in numbers. We must protect the interests of the small fisherman and small boater.

Pennsylvania is not surrounded by big waters. We are an inland State. Most of our boaters are going to be little fellows, fellows in your own back yard. We are not going to have big boats on Lake Erie, on the Delaware, and various places. We must give them a bill that the Fish Commission can enforce and has the facilities to administer it.

I appeal to you at this particular time. Do not be swayed by the argument of the small percentage of big boaters. Let us do something for the little fellow and pass 1258.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Pike, Mr. Eshback.

Mr. ESHBACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask one of the sponsors of the bill just one question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will one of the sponsors of the bill permit himself to be interrogated?

The gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ESHBACK. Mr. Speaker, I understand that it is optional whether you license a rowboat or not, but is it not true that if this bill is passed in its present form it will give the Fish Commission the power to regulate every boat and every canoe in this Commonwealth?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I imagine that is true, simply from the standpoint of safety. If my child goes out in a rowboat with some other kids, and they do, I want the provisions of this enforced to the letter on any boat that is out there.

Mr. ESHBACK. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, there are hundreds of farms in Pennsylvania that have so-called farm ponds. These farmers perhaps will have a rowboat or canoe in those ponds. If this bill is passed in its present form, they can insist that every one of those boats has a license on it, as I understand this bill. They can even insist that there are lights put on these boats. I do not agree with this bill in its present form. I think that the amendments proposed should have been accepted but, after all, they were voted down.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Clearfield rise?

Mr. BRETH, as a matter of information I would like to tell the gentleman that farm ponds do not come under this bill.

Mr. ESHBACK. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. It is not included in the bill? Would you cite the page for me?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, this bill concerns only the inland waters and not the farm ponds. They are not under the provisions of this bill.

Mr. ESHBACK. Inland waters, you say?

Mr. BRETH. Inland waters.

Mr. ESHBACK. Well, farm ponds are inland waters.

Mr. BRETH. They are personally controlled waters and not subject to this bill.

Mr. ESHBACK. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, that is not my interpretation of the bill. I would like to add one more statement. The Fish Commission has been trying to enforce the regulations of boats and boating in Pennsylvania. I live in a county that borders on Wayne, and between those two counties we have one of the largest bodies of water in eastern Pennsylvania. I can say this, that the only thing the Fish Commission has done to the present time is to fine these people and drive them out of our area. There has not been a buoy or a sign of warning placed on that lake. There has not been a tree removed from that lake, where they were cut back in 1926, 1927 by Pennsylvania Power and Light who constructed the dam to form this lake. Now, how do we have any assurance that once this bill becomes law that they are going to act any differently in the future than they have in the past?

This bill, in its present form, I am against and I hope that everyone on both sides of the House votes this bill down until certain measures are included in this bill to make it more attractive to the boating interest.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Willard.

Mr. WILLARD. Mr. Speaker, just one statement to answer my friend, Mr. Dougherty, from Philadelphia: I cannot possibly conceive anyone owning a 40-foot boat objecting to paying $12 to run that boat.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, on the subject of licensing of rowboats and canoes, I have a letter in my hand from a man who operates a summer camp and I want to read a very small part of it:

We are very much concerned with the kind of rules and regulations to be proposed as well as the method of enforcement. We know, in the past, the Fish Commission has proposed that every boat and canoe have a life preserver for each occupant. All summer camps use the modern Red Cross method in teaching the handling of watercraft, and there is really no need for this type of regulation. It is unnecessary, and in the case of a non-profit camp, quite expensive. We know that both on boating and canoeing safety cannot be regulated; it can only be taught.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, has said and said again that the Fish Commission has good intentions so far as the Navigation Commission is concerned. That is very, very nice, but what assurance do we have?

Let me read to the gentleman and to the members of the House, from page 16, lines 15 and 16 of the bill, which read as follows: "No political body or subdivision of this Commonwealth shall regulate or otherwise legislate for any of the subjects dealt with in this act." I ask you, is the Fish Commission, if this bill passes, going to contradict and contravene the provisions of this very bill?

Mr. Speaker, further, after listening to the discussion very carefully, it seems to me that not only is the Fish Commission involved, but possibly the Department of Forests and Waters, certainly the Navigation Commission, possibly other government agencies.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. EILBERG. Under the circumstances, I think this bill should receive further study and I, therefore, move that it be recommitted to the Committee on State Government which will consider the various agencies involved.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, to pass the motion would be disastrous. It would abrogate and prove useless and futile. Three years, and as I said, hours and hours of constant labor and discussions have been had on this particular measure. Let us not send it back to committee. If you want to kill it, kill it, but let us for heaven's sake not abrogate the amount of time and effort that has been put into bringing this bill to this position now. Let us vote it, but for heaven's sake, do not send it back to committee.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call on the motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Stimmel, rise. Does the gentleman desire to speak on the motion to recommit? The gentleman is in order and will proceed.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, if I understood that motion correctly it was to recommit to the Committee on State Government?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is the motion before this House.

Mr. STIMMEL. Then I appeal to members of the House in the sense of fair play, this is not proper. I think this is saying that the committee that had this bill last session and this session is incompetent, and there are a lot of sincere, dedicated, conscientious people who are going to solve this problem, but you are saying in effect that they cannot do it. Why send it to another committee? If you must send it to a committee, let us send it back where it belongs, to the fish committee and let them solve the problems on the basis of the knowledge they have gained on these interrogations and the discussion on the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I would be willing to amend my motion to recommit it to the same committee, the Committee on Fisheries.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The bill came from fisheries. The Chair accepts the amendment.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Willard.

Mr. WILLARD. Mr. Speaker, I oppose this motion to recommit. If we recommit this bill I think it will die. We need a boat bill and we need it very badly. We do not want to lose that anticipated revenue of $240,000 for the next two years, so I hereby oppose this motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, in line with my observations previously, this is the opportunity for this House to give this bill the appropriate study it should have and which it has not received. I call attention of the members to the fact that this bill bears the original printer's number. It has never been touched by an amendment nor an alteration. It has been jammed through.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I have sat in this House for a couple of hours now and listened to the debate on this bill, and I certainly think we ought to vote on the bill, that it should not be recommitted to the same committee. It is going to come right out again and we are going to go through this all over again. If you are not going to recommit it to another committee, we can kill it permanently. I say you ought to vote on it today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman.

Mr. SHERMAN. Just one statement, Mr. Speaker, I think sufficient discussion has been had on this bill, so much so that I think this bill merits a public hearing, and for that reason, I concur that we ought to recommit it, so the gentleman in charge can have a public hearing and see what actually should be done.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Curwood.

Mr. CURWOOD. All I want to say, Mr. Speaker, is that the big boaters are trying to kill this bill. I say let us be fair and vote the bill today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question before the House is to recommit to the Committee on Fisheries.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Yetter.

Mr. YETTER. Mr. Speaker, I want to support the motion to recommit this bill. I am on the committee that it came from. True, I have missed a couple of the meetings, but I have tried to talk to the chairman of the committee about this bill and he says, "We are not going to talk about it; we are not going to accept any amendments, no changes, no nothing."

I think that it should be recommitted and we should have a chance to be heard on the thing.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. EILBERG and FETTEROLF and were as follows:

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution (Not Printed) re: McConnellsburg Anniversary.

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 6, 1961.

Fulton County has long been renowned as the only county in Pennsylvania without a railroad or county home.

The history of the county and its county seat, McConnellsburg, is a proud record of whole hearted participation by the citizenry in the great events of this Nation. Settlement of the wilderness during colonial times, suffering from savage attacks by marauding bands of Indian raiders, participation in the Revolutionary War, War of 1812, Spanish-American War, Civil War, and the two great World Wars by the men of McConnellsburg and the remainder of Fulton County is a long record of sacrifice and heroism by true Americans.

Although Fulton County is without a railroad, its wide and well maintained roads and highways have brought it more and more into the pulsating and vital economic life of this Nation. The Lincoln Highway, which is the "Main Street of the Nation" passes through McConnellsburg, and the fruits of good transportation will make this municipality with the splendid historic past, a flowering and fruitful seat of economic productivity in the future.

As McConnellsburg celebrates the one hundred seventy-fifth anniversary of its founding during the week of June 24th, 1961, the residents of this community are to be commended for carrying on the noble traditions of progress, enlightenment, frugality, and all other attributes of true Americanism handed down to them by previous residents of this municipality; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives congratulates McConnellsburg and its residents on the one hundred seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of this fine municipality and wishes it continued growth and the attainment of the status of a truly great metropolis; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Mayor of McConnellsburg.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. PURSLEY, BOWER and MAY.

RESOLUTION No. 78.

In the House of Representatives, June 8, 1961.

The construction of a dam near the junction of the North and West Branches of the Susquehanna River adjacent to and in conjunction with Shikellamy State Park would provide recreational facilities for an estimated 350,000 citizens of our Commonwealth, not including many thousands of tourists who would thus be attracted to our State.

The swimming, fishing and boating which such a dam would make possible would provide adequate recreational facilities at a minimum expense in an area where such facilities are sorely needed; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby recommends that a dam be constructed near the junction of the North and West Branches of the Susquehanna River adjacent to Shikellamy State Park; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Governor and to the Secretary of Forests and Waters.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

DEMOCRAT AND REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to ask for a recess of one hour for a 30-minute break for lunch and a 30-minute break for caucus. We will eat first. I ask that all the members bring to the caucus with them their calendars.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we would like to have a short Republican caucus at 2 o'clock, in other words, in 35 minutes. So that will give you 35 minutes to have your lunch and we will have a short caucus. Bring your calendars.

Mr. McCANN. The Democratic caucus, Mr. Speaker, will start promptly at 2 o'clock and we will try to reconvene the House at 2:30, having the first roll call a few minutes after that.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. TRUSIO from the Committee on Townships, reported as committed, Senate bill No. 401, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1933 (P. L. 103), entitled, "The Second Class Township Code," authorizing increase in the number of meetings for which supervisors may be paid without the prior approval of the auditors; further providing for the attendance of supervisors or employees at road meetings and conventions; imposing duties on township secretaries; changing the time which may be expended by auditors in the completion of audits; authorizing managers to attend meetings of county associations of township officers; authorizing supervisors to exercise general powers; further providing for the parties who may protest a change in zoning; and providing for review of township ordinances and regulations adversely affecting public utility service.

Mr. POLEN from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, House bill No. 1599, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1959 (P. L. 392), entitled, "An act relating to the retirement of State employees, amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," defining superannuation retirement age for retirement of enforcement personnel of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board as members of Class C.

Mr. POLEN from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, House bill No. 1600, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90), known as the "Liquor Code," providing for an increase in application, filing and transfer fees and for the annual transfer of certain moneys from the State Stores Fund to the State Employees' Retirement Fund.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 401, entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, to be laid aside for second reading.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like the reports on House bills 1599 and 1600 read for the first time and then to be placed on the special retirement calendar with the other retirement bills.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the Chair will declare a recess of one hour.

The Chair hears no objection, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

THE SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GAILEY, HAUDENSHIELD, Mrs.

Referred to the Committee on Education.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. JIM asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Fisheries to meet during the session of the House.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 445, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 4, 1943 (P. L. 883), entitled, "An act authorizing and directing the Department of Highways to erect * * * a toll bridge over the Allegheny River between a point in or near the Borough of Tarentum, Allegheny County, and a point in Westmoreland County; and to provide the necessary approaches and connections with State highways * * *," making the bridge a free bridge * * * and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, this bill has a bipartisan sponsorship. It is a bill which will take away the tolls on the bridge over the Allegheny River in the Borough of Tarentum, in Allegheny County, to a point in Westmoreland County.

At the present time with the income of the tolls on this bridge and the cost of collections, and so forth, it would take a considerable number of years before this debt could be paid off. The money comes from no fund, inasmuch as the highway and bridge authority fund funded the bonds, and, of course, it would not take any of the money out of the license fund that is available at the present time. I recommend the favorable approval of this bill, because this is the only toll bridge left in the State of Pennsylvania maintained by the highway department.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Did I understand the gentleman to say that this bridge has been built?

Mr. PETROSKY. It has.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. When was it first opened to the public?

Mr. PETROSKY. I believe it was 1951.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. In 1951. Do you know how much the bridge cost?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I had the figures and I turned them over to my colleague, Mr. Sakulsky, and he is not in his seat. If I give the gentleman the approximate cost, would that be sufficient?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Yes.

Mr. PETROSKY. The approximate cost was almost $5 million.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Five million?

Mr. PETROSKY. That is right.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. How much is due on the bridge now?

Mr. PETROSKY. Substantially over $3 million.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then, from 1951 to 1961 approximately $2 million was paid by tolls? Is that right?

Mr. PETROSKY. I think it is somewhere near $1.5 million.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. How much is the toll on the bridge at the present time?

Mr. PETROSKY. I believe it is 20 cents.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. So if this bill passes, it would immediately take about $3 million out of the motor license fund?

Mr. PETROSKY. It will not take any money out of the motor license fund.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Where would the money come from?

Mr. PETROSKY. The highway and bridge authority.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. In other words, the toll bridge bonds would be substituted with bonds of the highway and bridge authority, is that correct, and there would be no tolls?

Mr. PETROSKY. That is correct. I may say to the gentleman that when this bill originally was put through, we had considerable economic activity, industrial economic activity in this valley. This includes the steel towns of Tarentum, Brackenridge and Natrona, and the glass towns of Glassmere, Creighton, and so on; also the area in Westmoreland County known as Leechburg, with the Allegheny Ludlum steel plants, and so on. But since this has become a considerably distressed area, we have sponsored this bill at the request of industry and the people in that area because of the dropping of the tolls that are collected and because of the need for free access from one area to the other for rehabilitating this area by industrial redevelopment. This was the prime moving factor behind the bill.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. May I ask a further question: Are the tolls that are coming in now not enough to amortize the toll bridge bonds as they come due?

Mr. PETROSKY. Yes, but just meeting it and that is about all.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Another question: Was not the intention of the bonding power of the highway and bridge authority to build new highways and new bridges for school buses, and so forth, rather than paying for something that has already been built and that bonds have been issued for?

Mr. PETROSKY. This is true. However, I do not think we can find fault where we have a situation of a rapidly deteriorating economy and, if such action on our part will help to correct that situation and this is one of things that will do it, I do not think it would be wrong to use that money to do such a thing.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I am not going to ask our Republican side to take a position one way or the other about it. All I want to do is to have the members realize that by freeing this bridge of tolls we will be borrowing the money under the highway and bridge authority and that means $3 million that you will not have to build other highways or bridges with. It is pretty much up to the discretion of the House as to what they want to do.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, we members who are sponsors of this bill are asking the House to go along with us. There is a dire need to eliminate the tolls in this area, as I have indicated before, a great economic area now becoming distressed. We know that this will help the situation considerably, and I think if the gentlemen of the House would but look at the program sheets of the Department of Highways in relation to the additional moneys that were passed for the highway department in this session of the General Assembly, they will find that there is not any considerable amount whatsoever set up for programming in Westmoreland County. Not that I say this is a valid reason for voting for House bill 445, but the valid reason is that these depressed areas can be aided tremendously and it would be an additional incentive for us to rehabilitate the area in industrial redevelopment. For that reason I am asking my colleagues on both sides of the House to vote favorably on House bill 445.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like briefly to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUKER. I would ask the gentleman if over $3 million, about $3.5 million, worth of bonds will have to be paid on this bridge? Is this correct?

Mr. PETROSKY. That is correct.

Mr. AUKER. How much interest do those bonds bear?

Mr. PETROSKY. I do not have that information, I am sorry to tell the gentleman.

Mr. AUKER. Probably 3 or 3½?

Mr. PETROSKY. Approximately that.

Mr. AUKER. Where is the interest going to come from to pay on this $3.5 million in bonds since it will not be any longer coming out of tolls?

Mr. PETROSKY. It would come out of the amount of money in tolls that have been collected to date. This would possibly take care of that. I indicated that to the gentleman from McKean when I said that the tolls coming in to date have just barely taken care of the situation and would, of course, be adequate to take care of the item suggested by the gentleman.

Mr. AUKER. I do not quite understand the gentleman. I understood the gentleman in his previous answers to interrogation to say that tolls coming in up to the present time were just about sufficient to meet the interest rate and to amortize the bonds as they came due. Is that the statement that was made?

Mr. PETROSKY. I said there was slightly over the amount that was necessary to carry the bonds. I suppose that amount is sufficient to take care of them. Incidentally, you know, we are just paying it back to ourselves, actually.

Mr. AUKER. What I was trying to get at, Mr. Speaker, is where the interest is going to come from in the future to pay this rate on $3.5 million worth of bonds if it is not going to be payable out of tolls? There will not be any income from the bridge. The interest of the bonds—not counting the amortization of $3.5 million that it is going to take from other projects in the highway and bridge authority, there is still interest to be paid on these bonds until they are fully amortized. Now, where is this interest going to come from?

Mr. PETROSKY. I say to the gentleman that in the reserve of the sinking fund where these tolls go into, my understanding is there is a sufficient amount of money to take care of that without any cost to any other fund, to the highway fund or the highway and bridge fund.

Mr. AUKER. Three percent, Mr. Speaker, of $3.5 million would be approximately what, $10,000 a year?

Mr. PETROSKY. That is right.

Mr. AUKER. And some of these bonds have 20 years yet to run. How much money is in this sinking fund if it is going to take care of all this interest on these bonds up to the date of maturity? It seems to me there would have to be a good sum of money in that sinking fund.

Mr. PETROSKY. I would suggest to the gentleman that the approximate cost of that would be about $90,000 for the nine years that those bonds have to run and they would be paid off with the interest.

Mr. AUKER. The people here tell me it would take $105,000 a year to pay the interest on the bonds, and they are going to run for a number of years yet. It would seem to me to be asking somebody who is not concerned with this bridge to bear an awfully heavy burden.

That will close the interrogation. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I can very well realize the remarks of the gentleman as to the distressed areas, coming from one myself, I can fully appreciate it, but at the same time the members of this House and the Senate at that time voted in good faith for a bridge which they thought would not cost the citizens of the Commonwealth one penny, but would be paid off in full by the users of the bridge. Now it seems to me that we are not keeping faith with those people who voted for that bridge at that time by asking that these tolls be taken away from the bridge. Therefore, I feel that we should keep faith with those people. I feel that we have a moral obligation to keep faith with the people who voted at that time for a bridge that would pay for itself and not have a later generation come along and have to pay for it.

Therefore, I think we ought to vote this bill down. I think it is a bad precedent.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to prolong this debate, but I do want to make this one observation:

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that at one time the only way that the Representatives from this area with a bipartisan sponsorship could get a bridge built in their area that was needed by those people and the industries was to get a toll bridge built.

We, too, from that area find that there is being bridge upon bridge built, a great number of bridges at a more excessive cost than this, without having them built as toll bridges. We think it is unfair to the people in that area. We have 180,000 population in the Allegheny and Westmoreland side of that bridge and we do not think it is fair for them to shoulder this obligation when other areas in the State have had $5, $8, $12, yes, and $15 million bridges built without there being a toll on those bridges.

We ask the membership of the House to support our position and act favorably upon this measure.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, could I interrogate Mr. Petrosky?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I have no quarrel with what you are trying to do. I think the problem is a just one. However, I agree with Mr. Auken in respect to this 30-year bond deal on it. Would you be satisfied to amend this bill to take it out of the highway fund and pay the bridge off and forget about it?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, although I do not have in my hands the technicalities involved in relation to the question Mr. Hocker raised, I have upon good authority from the highway department the fact that this will not cost the fund any money whatsoever. I do not have the mechanics of it to give to you, but this is true. However, the highway fund will not be burdened by any cost in relation to the bonded interest, and so on, in this particular measure.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Petrosky has not answered my question. My question was, would he be willing to accept amendments to his bill, and I agree thoroughly with what he is trying to do to help his area, in lieu of 30-year bonds of the bridge and highway department. Would he be willing to amend his bill to take the $3 million out of the highway department, out of the gas tax, and pay the thing off and not burden the people of the Commonwealth with 30 years of interest on a $3.5 million loan?

Mr. PETROSKY. My understanding from my colleague is that this is the way it is going to be done under this bill.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, that is not true in respect to the answer that the gentleman gave Mr. Auken, or the answer that he gave the minority leader. The answer he gave them was that it would be bought by the highway and bridge authority, not by the highway department.

Mr. PETROSKY. I said that the highway and bridge authority originally sold the bonds when they wanted to build the bridges.

Mr. HOCKER. Now you are telling me that for this $3 million, or $3.5 million, they will not reissue bonds, but they will take that money out of the highway department and pay the bridge off?

Mr. PETROSKY. This was the advice that I received. I have not got a copy of the bill before me, it was a very early printer's number.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, to save a little time, I will say one more thing and then sit down.

If that is true, if you are going to take the money out of the highway budget and pay this off without burdening the people of this Commonwealth with a 30-year bond issue, I will go for the bill.

However, in my opinion, I am sick and tired of this 30-year deal. The only persons it helps are the bankers. If you can guarantee me that you will take this out of the highway department and buy this bridge and the taxpayers of this Commonwealth will not be burdened with that interest cost, I will vote for the bill.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I now have a copy of the bill before me. On page 3 of the bill:

Any moneys advanced by the Commonwealth the Federal Government or any agency thereof or advanced or paid by any county which have not heretofore been paid shall be paid out of the Motor License Fund. As much of the moneys in the Motor License Fund as are necessary therefor are hereby appropriated to the Department of Highways for this purpose.

Mr. HOCKER. I agree with you wholeheartedly. I will vote for the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, in the course of this debate it came to my mind that Montgomery County for some years has been seeking a bridge which would cost $3 million.

Recently I was told by the Secretary of Highways that the construction budget for 1961-1962 is complete and that there are no funds available.

Do I understand that the $3 million needed in your legislation is contingent upon the passage of this bill? In other words, then the funds will be provided providing this bill passes the House and Senate?

Mr. PETROSKY. What was the question of the gentleman? I am sorry. I was reading the bill and I did not know you were addressing the question to me.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Petrosky, the money which is needed to settle the bridge issue in your area, has that been provided for in the 1961-1962 budget?

Mr. PETROSKY. Yes, the money has been set aside, contingent upon the passage of this bill.

Mr. FETTEROLF. It has been set aside contingent upon the passage of this bill, is that right?

Mr. PETROSKY. That is correct, sir.

Mr. FETTEROLF. That is all I want to know.

Mr. WILT. Mr. Speaker, first, I want to apologize to the Republican caucus for not being able to attend their caucus this afternoon.

This bridge happens to be in the district that Mr. Donaldson, Mr. Gibb, and my former colleague, Mr. Agnew, represent. There is no question but that this is a distressed area. I think that the people in that part of the district should be complimented for not coming to this House of Representatives earlier and asking to have this toll taken off.

I want to say I know there have been many bridges built in this State that have cost a lot more than these people are asking for now who ask to be relieved of this toll. I want to say to you that the people now are not using this bridge. They are bypassing this bridge and driving down below to the New Kensington bridge to keep from paying the toll that is being charged.

If this bridge is going to continue to keep the toll on it, it will not be paid in the next 50 years, and I think that these people are due for some relief and I ask that my colleagues on this side of the House vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTION CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. FRASCELLA, COMER, LIMPER, HEAVEY, McCANN, DENGLER and A. W. JOHNSON offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 8, 1961.

All of us here in the House of Representatives are proud of one of our pages who graduated with honors last night from Bishop McDevitt High School in Harrisburg. The page, Joseph Carl Wambach, along with his honors received the highest muscial award the school could present.

Dr. Dengler, our colleague from Delaware, will certainly know this boy and is equally proud of him because when Dr. Dengler conducted the 1961 Pennsylvania District Chorus Joseph Carl Wambach was one of the members.

We feel that this young man, and the others in his class are indicative of the greatness of the Class of 1961 in all of our Pennsylvania schools and we are proud of all of our young people.

In congratulating this young man, we congratulate all the young people in this Commonwealth. We hope all of them will go on to higher education and we are happy to cite to all of you that Page Wambach has been accepted at Georgetown University with the intent of studying law, political science and history.

We are sure that his employment in this House of Representatives has helped to make Mr. Wambach the fine young man that he is; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulate Joseph Carl Wambach, one of our distinguished pages, upon his graduating with honors from Bishop McDevitt High School; and be it further.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be presented to him.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the members who have bills that have agreed to amendments to stay and we will proceed to amend them. There will be no other roll calls in today's session. The House will reconvene on Monday at 3 o'clock fast time.

SACRED HEART SCHOOL STUDENTS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We would like to announce that we have in the House today students from the Sacred Heart School, Braddock, Pennsylvania, under the direction of Sister Mary Helen. There are sixty-seven in this group from Allegheny County. They are here as guests of Messrs. Murray and Kamyk from Allegheny County.

By Mr. POLEN. HOUSE BILL No. 1724.

An Act amending "The Penal Code" approved June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), making county treasurers agents of the Commonwealth for the purpose of issuing certain licenses and increasing the fee.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. HOLMAN. RESOLUTION No. 79.

In the House of Representatives, June 8, 1961.

Numerous painful and serious injuries have resulted from the use of rotary lawn mowers. Many of these injuries could have been prevented if such mowers were required to possess certain safety features, such as adequate shields to prevent injury by the blades themselves or by missiles propelled by the blades. Signs on such mowers warning of the dangers involved in the operation or cleaning thereof would also aid in the prevention of these unnecessary injuries; therefore be it

Resolved, That in order to protect the citizens of this Commonwealth from injury from the use of rotary lawn mowers the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate, in cooperation with such departments or other agencies of the Commonwealth as it may deem advisable, what safeguards and standards should be met by the manufacturers of rotary lawn mowers before the sale of such mowers is permitted in the State of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the 1963 Session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

INTERROGATION

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the minority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, is the minority leader in any position to inform the House, for the purpose of the record, what his action may be, or contemplated to be, on the non-preferred appropriation bills that will be in a position to be voted upon in this House in the session next week.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Yes, Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of the record, about one month ago the House Republican Caucus in discussing the question of reapportionment, a fair and reasonable Congressional reapportionment bill, passed a motion in our caucus that we would not give votes for the non-preferred appropriation bill until there would be a fair and reasonable reapportionment plan put forth.

The other day I asked Mr. Polen to give me an indication of when the non-preferred appropriation money would be paid to the recipients, and I believe his statement showed that they would be payable not earlier than September 1, and, I believe, because of the fact that we are on a 13-month basis that they would not be payable until September 30th, and the first quarter would be four months instead of three months.

Today in my caucus I referred to the previous motion passed by the caucus a month ago. I stated at our caucus that the bills are on third reading on Monday and that on Monday we would proceed to again have a roll call to reaffirm our position one way or the other on the bills. So, for me to say what the caucus will do on Monday, I cannot say at this point. However, I believe that we will be firm.

We have had Representative Leroy Weidner put in a reapportionment plan today; it went in this afternoon. In other words, we as Republicans could not very well take a stand against these non-preferred appropriation bills unless there was some type of reapportionment plan that had been put in. This plan has been put in by Leroy Weidner himself, as his idea. Whether that will be the Republican plan that we will stand on, I cannot say, but he considers it himself personally, a pretty fair and reasonable reapportionment plan. Therefore, I will, following our caucus on Monday, give you a definite statement as to whether you will get enough votes on our side so that you will get a two-thirds vote on these bills.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman further. I understand that there was a reapportionment bill being introduced today. Is this a congressional reapportionment bill?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. This is a congressional reapportionment bill and our vote on these non-preferred appropriation bills only extends to a fair and reasonable Congressional reapportionment plan.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the minority leader inform me if Mr. Weidner is not one of the official members of the committee appointed by his party to be a part of the bipartisan committee on reapportionment?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is correct. But, the bill that Mr. Weidner put in today is his own personal bill and is not the work of his committee.

Mr. McCANN. One more point. If this reapportionment bill was introduced today, does this in any way meet with the approval of the three-member congressional committee of the Republican members appointed, following the conference that we had with Mr. Bloom, the Republican State Chairman, Mr. Morse, the Democratic State Chairman, or, is this bill strictly drawn by Mr. Weidner and has no other implications?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is correct. This bill, as I stated, will be known as the Weidner Plan. It is his own idea, it does not have the blessing of the Republican State Committee, nor the three congressmen, nor the rest of his committee. This is his own plan. However, I believe that so far as we Republicans are concerned, there is then a bill in committee sponsored by a Republican.

Mr. McCANN. Could I ask the gentleman one more question in this field so I will be clear? This bill, I believe, is drawn on 27 congressional seats for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Is that correct?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I believe that it provides for the loss of three congressmen; yes.

Mr. McCANN. I would like to ask the minority leader if he has any knowledge of the so-called Alaska-Hawaii congressional bill which we have been waiting on, if it should pass in Congress—and there is a possibility—which, of the number of additional seats that would be given to Congress, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would only lose two seats instead of three, and such a bill is agreed to and every congressman in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Republican and Democratic, is voting to support it in the committee in the Congress of the United States. Are you aware of that?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. We are aware of it, but our unofficial word this week is that because only New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts would be favored by the bill, that is to say, the three congressmen would then be parcelled out one to each of those three States, the rest of the 47 States are not particularly interested, and, from the information that we have received from Washington, we understand that the plan has no chance of passage, and it looks as though we are going to have to proceed to provide for the loss of three congressmen in Pennsylvania.

Mr. McCANN. Would the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, care to inform me from what source of information he has received that particular item, because that is extremely important?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. In answer to that question, I hope, maybe by next week, to give you a verified source of that.

Mr. McCANN. Then, Mr. Speaker, is it at this point also that the Republican Party will attempt to support the congressional reapportionment bill that is now in committee, that you have introduced, or would you follow the procedure that was outlined in the meeting quite some time ago as to priority and procedure of reapportionment? If you recall that procedure, it would be number one, congressional reapportionment first, that the two committees would be appointed in Washington of Republican and Democratic congressmen. They would, in turn, present their reapportionment, and the Democratic State Chairman and the Republican State Chairman would immediately proceed to Washington and have their meetings. They, in turn, appointed three congressmen in each party, their own respective parties, as the official committee and that that committee was to report back here to the respective State chairmen, Republican and Democratic, to the joint committee as to their recommendations of congressional reapportionment. Do you, at this point, say that you are deviating from that procedure which was established, or do you care to divulge what procedure you will follow because this is important in the coming week's meetings?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I was in on those meetings and I know that away back in April we thought we would have this ironed out by the first of May, I believe was the target date. The congressmen down there have been twiddling their thumbs. They are the ones who are creating this impasse. They should have had that bill passed long ago or they should have told us long ago that it is not going to pass. Many legislatures want to adjourn, sine die, but they cannot solve this problem. It looks like we are going to have to do it as Republicans and Democrats and without the benefit of any congressmen because they are not taking care of the job.

Therefore, if we are going to do it, there are three or four tenets that we feel are paramount. Number one, we think that if we are going to reapportion we should preserve existing county lines as far as possible. Secondly, we think that we should lose one Democratic congressman and one Republican congressman and have one district where it would be evenly divided and it would be touch and go, whether it would be a Democrat or Republican.

Thirdly, we would adopt a policy that we should not cross county lines in carving out districts.

Fourthly, we would take into consideration and expect that one congressman be taken out of the city of Philadelphia.

With those four tenets we would sit down at the bargaining table with your people, and with your seven or eight plans and our seven or eight plans, we would come up with, I believe, a fair and reasonable plan favorable to both sides. This business of our congressmen saying the way they want it, every congressman in Pennsylvania has a different plan. It looks like this General Assembly is going to have to sit down together and come up with a bill without the benefit of anybody else. It will have to be Roy Weidner, Joe Holliday and Mae Kernaghan on our side, and your committee and the Senators that have been chosen, and perhaps you and I, with our six or seven plans and your six or seven plans we ought to get about our business and eliminate three congressman. That is what we are going to have to do, in my opinion.

Mr. McCANN. Of course, Mr. Speaker, I am deeply interested in the gentleman's plans, but I was planning on calling very soon another meeting of that entire committee because of the time and the date of this session and I wanted to be sure of this congressional reapportionment bill that you have offered today, because I want you to know that unless it is your congressional reapportionment bill that your committee, your congressman, your Republican State Chairman also are agreeing to, I cannot quite follow the fair, equitable reapportionment of the congressional districts. It was agreed that that would be number one. We did agree that number two would be Senate reapportionment, although there was objection to discussing the Senate. Number three would be the House, that the Senate reapportionment. The congressional reapportionment would originate in the House. The Senate reapportionment would originate in the Senate and the House reapportionment would originate in the House. I wanted to be sure, Mr. Speaker, following this bill introduction today, that I was clear, Mr. Johnson, as to the actual official status of that bill when the Speaker refers it to the Reapportionment Committee.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. All right. Now, from what I have said to you what do you consider the bill to be?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Leroy Weidner, a member from Berks County, his own bill, with no one else agreeing that it has any merit except Mr. Weidner.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is correct. But it does this one thing. It is his personal bill, but it does strengthen the hand on this side of the House. If we are going to stand up and say that we are not going to move the non-preferred appropriation bills, if you come back to us and say "where is your plan?" we can say there is a plan that is in right now that has been put in by a Republican. It does, in a measure, strengthen our hand, but I cannot say that will be the final plan because, to repeat, the plan will be worked out by you and me, Joe Holliday, Roy Weidner, Mr. Fineman, Mr. Eilberg, and the people whom you have on that committee, and the Senators. I think you will find that by Monday morning we will have word from Washington that we are going to lose three congressmen. I believe that will be the word. I have it unofficially. I do not have it verified, I am sorry to say.

Mr. McCANN. Could I ask the gentleman one other question on another subject?

Are you interested in any way in holding up the non-preferred appropriations for a fair and equitable reapportionment of any of the other bodies of the General Assembly, Senate or House?

I believe your opening statement said, congressional only, is that correct?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is the thing that is paramount today. We do not want to run our congressman at-large, although there are a lot of people who say it would not be too bad an idea. We have a pistol at our heads, you might say, so far as congressional reapportionment is concerned, but we do not so far as House and Senate. I do not think there would be any objection to sitting down with a fair and reasonable House and Senate. But the overtones on that I believe are different. I mean, that is so clear as to population and so forth that I cannot see any chances of unreasonable gerrymandering or anything on those two types of reapportionment.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly.

I also would like to apologize at this point. I interrogated Mr. Johnson after we had released all the members, but I would like to say so the record will show that I was not aware of the introduction of a congressional reapportionment bill until just a few minutes ago. I was under the impression it was a House reapportionment bill and therefore carried no status in the priority of what was discussed quite some time ago. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman again very kindly.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, June 12, 1961, at 2 p. m., e. s. t.

SENATE

MONDAY, June 12, 1961.

The Senate met at 2:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM J. LIPPERT, Pastor of St. John's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Williamsport, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Eternal God, Father and Creator of all that is, we desire to turn our full attention to Thee just now in order that in all other hours of this day, as we give ourselves to the great responsibilities which have been entrusted to us, we may know Thy will and do it. Strive with us, Lord, by Thy Holy Spirit, and have hold upon our full attention by Thy holy power. We are weak and vain men among a weak and vain people. O God, deliver us from any idolatrous patterns so that it may be perfectly clear, to all who trust us to lead them, that we are led of Thee, and that there are no other gods before Thee.

We humbly acknowledge our need of Thee. We thank Thee that Thou hast taught us by precept and experience that we may come to Thee with confidence in both praise and petition.

We thank Thee for the relationship that is ours on this earth, as citizens of this great Nation and of our great Commonwealth. We thank Thee for a great heritage of freedom. We are deeply moved with humility when we stop to consider the high cost of this freedom and the responsibility that rests upon us to keep this precious attribute of our society.

We thank Thee, God, for these able men of our State Senate and for their families, wherein their lives intimately are enfolded and nurtured, that they may, with understanding, effectively legislate for all our families in this Commonwealth. We pray, eternal God, that Thy guiding hand may be felt by each Senator and that their families may very personally realize Thy abiding care. May personal health and Thy tender mercies, which are so essential in the midst of life's daily vicissitudes, be the experience of each Senator today.

We pray, expressing our gratitude and our earnest petitions to Thee, in Jesus' name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

SENATE RESOLUTION

TRIBUTE TO THE LATE JUDGE CLAUDE T. RENO

Mr. VAN SANT offered the following resolution (Serial No. 70), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, June 12, 1961.

On Sunday, June 11, 1961, death brought to an end the distinguished career of a prominent jurist and Lehigh County Attorney. At the age of 79, Judge Claude Trexler Reno of Allentown passed away after a two and one-half year illness.

Judge Reno was well known throughout the State as a lawyer, jurist and legislator. As a public servant he had the rare distinction of having served in three departments of Pennsylvania's government. He served in the House of Representatives from 1910 to 1912. He was judge of Lehigh County Court of Common Pleas from 1921 to 1934 and a judge of the Superior Court from 1942 to 1953. From 1939 to 1942 he was the Attorney General of the State. The highest honor conferred by the Supreme Court upon a practicing attorney was awarded Judge Reno when he was made a standing master of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in 1934.

When he was appointed to the Court of Common pleas, he was the youngest judge in Pennsylvania. As Attorney General, he won every case that he personally argued before the Supreme Court. When Judge Reno ran for the Superior Court, he was elected by a majority larger than ever received by a candidate for that office running on only one party picket.

In fraternal work Claude Reno will always be remembered by the men of Alpha Tau Omega. He was the editor and publisher of their national magazine, he wrote several books on the history of A.T.O. and he was their worthy grand chief from 1930 to 1933.

Judge Reno was graduated from Allen High School in 1900. He attended Muhlenberg College and received a bachelor of law degree from Dickinson School of Law. He had been a Trustee of Dickinson since 1922 and had received many honorary degrees from various colleges.

To everyone who knew Judge Reno his passing brings great sorrow. His wife, the former May Grim Appel has lost a great companion. We want to take this opportunity to extend our sympathy; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of Pennsylvania extends to Mrs. May Reno its deepest sympathy upon the death of her well known, much loved and highly respected husband, Judge Claude T. Reno; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mrs. Reno at her home, 325 N. 28th Street, Allentown, Pennsylvania.

GUESTS OF SENATOR JO HAYS PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, as an older Methodist, I have the privilege of presenting forty younger Methodists from Curwensville, in Clearfield County.

These young people have been conducting a tour and have made a stop in Cumberland County, the bailiwick of Senator Wade. They have now honored us by their presence in the Senate.

Mr. President, would the Chair please welcome these guests?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is very happy to welcome Senator Hays' guests to the Senate. Will the ladies and gentlemen from Curwensville please rise?

On behalf of the Members of the Senate, the Chair wishes to say to you that we are very glad to have you visit us on this day. We hope you will enjoy your visit and that you will begin to understand the value of the great government under which we live.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence HB 244, which was referred to the Committee on Local Government.

RECESS

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I request a ten minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on Local Government, to be held in Room 301.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, during the same period of time, I would request that the Committee on Highways hold a meeting, which will be held in the office of the President pro tempore.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a ten minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. HALUSKA, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Local Government, reported, as committed, HB 244.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. DEVLIN, STASEY, PECHAN and FLEMING, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 758, entitled:

FINAL PASSAGE CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

HB 442 (Pr. No. 2183)—And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, as I pointed out last week under an interrogation, the caddie of twelve years of age and upward will not come under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Law.

It appears that no one is responsible in case the child is injured. There is no question that we are going back many, many years. We fought for many years to abolish child labor, and at this late date, once again we are back where we started.

This is a very, very bad bill. It appears quite certain that no one has the answer as to just who will be responsible for the child if he is injured, ruptured or hit by a ball. True, the club should be responsible, but is it? Many clubs do not carry public liability insurance. In such case, an injured caddie would have no reimbursement, either medical or otherwise.

I certainly feel this is a bad bill, and I trust it will be defeated.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I reviewed this legislation in detail since last week. It is my opinion that the person to be held responsible would be the person who hired the caddie,

I feel, too, Mr. President, that this person may carry liability insurance, but, of course, that would be with reference to any damage that might occur in his operation whereby he might injure someone of the general public. I think this piece of legislation is a mistake. I am very much afraid that if we pass this legislation, all of us will probably regret our action. Therefore, I am going to vote "no" on House Bill No. 442.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I just wanted to remind the Members of the Senate that apart from the validity of the argument that has been made, this bill would reduce the age to twelve years old. This, in my opinion, would be a serious break in the Child Labor Laws. It is likely to be followed by other similar types of occupations, which would have advocates who would claim that these types of employment, likewise, should be given the privilege of lowering the age for children in employment to twelve years.

I believe this would be an unfortunate departure from the laws we now have on the books, laws which, I would remind the Members, were won after many years of effort by members of organized labor and by people interested in child welfare.

I feel the present economic situation in our Nation and in this Commonwealth does not call for such a serious break in the present status of our Child Labor Laws.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am opposed to the bill and intend to vote against it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am not speaking in advocacy of this bill, but merely to explain, as I understand it, what the liability might be in case a child is injured.

Certainly, these children are not covered by the Workmen's Compensation Act because a caddie is employed by the person who pays him, and that would be the golf player. The player himself, or anybody else on the course, would not be liable for an injury to the caddie except in case of negligence. Unless the club would happen to have a blanket policy covering any type of an accident which might occur on the course, the club would not be responsible. Even if it did have such a policy, unless it was much broader than most of them, it would be responsible only in case of negligence on the part of any employee of the particular club.

I would not want any misunderstanding about that. This is simply a contract between the golf player and the boy that he hires. The only question which arises is whether or not this is good, wholesome employment for a youth, and whether or not he is able to engage in it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter County, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter County, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Senator Berger, then you do agree, in the case of an injured caddie, that no one is really responsible for the accident. Is that correct?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, only in the case of negligence on the part of the person who caused the injury. If he falls into a hole or something like that, and if the club is responsible for the existence of it, then the club would be responsible, I would assume, if it were shown that it was an attractive nuisance or negligence on the part of the ownership of the property.

Mr. HALUSKA. Then it is true, in my opinion at least, that the parents would foot the entire bill. Is that correct?

Mr. BERGER. Will you repeat the question, please?

Mr. HALUSKA. In case a caddie is injured, it would become the duty of his parents to pay the bills—medical bills and otherwise. Is that correct?

Mr. BERGER. Oh, yes, just the same as though he were hit by an automobile through no fault of the driver, or any other accident that might happen to a youth of that age engaged in play or any other activity.

Mr. HALUSKA. Then do you think that we, in this Body here, are acting in good faith when we legalize such action?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I cannot speak for what we in this Body might do. It is a matter of individual evaluation of whether or not this is a dangerous or undesirable piece of legislation.

Mr. HALUSKA. However, we are permitting adults to hire minors without any responsibility whatsoever. Is that correct?

Mr. BERGER. Will you repeat that question, Senator?

Mr. HALUSKA. We are permitting adults to hire minors to work for them without any responsibility whatsoever?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, in the same manner that you might hire a boy of similar age to mow your lawn, yes.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, most of the people carry a homeowner's policy. In that case, they would be covered. However how many of them carry a policy to cover activity on a golf course?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I must correct the gentleman in that you would not be responsible to the boy mowing your lawn unless you were negligent, and your policy would not pay him.

Mr. HALUSKA. Thank you.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I stated—I think it was last Wednesday—that I am in favor of this bill. I think too much has been made out of the possibility of injury to this minor twelve or fourteen years of age. If a boy that age came around to clean your pavement during a snow, you would not think twice about refusing him the job because the boy might get hurt. Yet, the incidence of liability is the same whether he carries a golf bag or clears your pavement of snow. Negligence must be shown. As a lawyer, I agree with the Minority Leader that unless negligence is shown, there would be no liability. However, it has been made to appear as though caddying is a most hazardous occupation.

I have played golf for a number of years. To the remark from the sidelines, that may be so. However, you have never played golf, as I told you the other day. I have never yet seen a caddie hurt. I do think it will give these boys from families that need help an opportunity during the spring and summer—and most likely either on a Thursday or on week ends—to earn a few dollars in a healthful occupation.

I am not going to be blinded by pleas of child labor or a hazardous occupation in this case. I intend to vote for the bill.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, apparently this bill involves very serious questions of law and probably very serious consequences to every golfer in Pennsylvania, if what has been said here is true.

It seems to me there is a case in which a golf course was held responsible under the Workmens Compensation Act to a caddie who lost an eye. I am not sure of his age.

Therefore, I would request that we put this bill over in its order for a day until we have had an opportunity to research it further.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the bill going over in its order?

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, one of the most troublesome things which exist in this Commonwealth, and in every other State, is juvenile delinquency. I know there are some Senators on this floor who remember the depression which we had during the 1930s. We had C.C.C. Camps then which took our boys off streets and sent them out into the woods. Those boys tramped through the woods and drove every pest out of our woods. They built roads throughout the forests of Pennsylvania and fought forest fires from burning our woods. When the war came, they tell me that those boys were the best soldiers in the war.

I am telling you that we cannot do too much to give employment and some exercise to our young people. We should give them something to do. I am sure it would not hurt a boy in Pennsylvania to work around on a golf course for a few hours.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill going over in order. However, I would like to second the motion of my distinguished colleague, Senator McGinnis, when he talked about juvenile delinquency.

I know many, many a boy who has been a caddie at the age of twelve—and perhaps that has been illegal—around our country club. I have not played golf since the war. However, before the war, we had many boys there who were twelve years of age. Many of those boys today are lawyers, doctors and dentists. As a result of being caddies, some doctor or some lawyer got to like these boys and helped them with their education. One golf bag, for eighteen holes, is not going to hurt any boy. Nobody goes out and solicits these boys. They come to the country clubs and ask for work.

Mr. President, I see absolutely nothing wrong with this bill, other than the people who are opposing it. I understand that they are against automation. If anything is going to cause automation, it will be caused by these doctors, lawyers and dentists—people who can afford to play golf—going out and buying one of these carts in which they can ride around, thereby eliminating the need for caddies.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am not going to oppose the request that this bill go over in order. I think that is a good idea. However, I wonder if, before that happens, I might interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. You may if we can find out whether or not there is any objection to the bill going over in order. I have a request for the bill to go over in order. If there is no objection, the bill will go over in order.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, could I object just long enough to ask the Minority Leader a question and then remove my objection? I want to be legal, but I would like to get an answer to a question.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Seyler, if you do not object, the bill will go over in order and there will be no further discussion of it.

Mr. SEYLER. I do not understand that, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Are you going to object? In other words, you may decide whether you wish to object by interrogating the Minority Leader. Is that your point?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am not objecting to the bill going over in order, except long enough for me to interrogate the Minority Leader. If that is impossible, I will just sit down because I do not wish to object to the bill going over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Seyler, if you wish to ask a question in order to determine whether or not you will object to the bill going over in order, you may proceed.

Mr. SEYLER. I like the way you put that, Mr. President. That is my position, exactly.

The PRESIDENT. I knew you would and that is why I put it that way. I will hold off if the Minority Leader wishes to be further interrogated.

Mr. BERGER. No, Mr. President. I merely wish to be further enlightened. I do not object to being interrogated at all. Do I understand the gentleman is objecting just a little bit?

The PRESIDENT. Just a little bit.

Mr. BERGER. I understand, Mr. President. I will permit myself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, will permit himself to be interrogated, and the gentleman from York may proceed.

Mr. SEYLER. I thank the Chair and I thank the gentleman.

I am going to ask this question, Mr. President, in order to provide a basis for thinking about a possible objection to this bill, in the process of thinking it over, between now and the next time we consider it.

I would like to refer the Minority Leader to page 4 of House Bill No. 442. My question, Mr. President, is directed to Section 2. The gentleman will note that this has been amended so that it now presents two exceptions. The first one is the substance of the amendment in the bill and the second, of course, is:

" . . . that a minor between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years may be employed as hereinafter provided in such work as will not interfere with school attendance . . . "

Similarly, on page 5, the effect of the amendment is the same.

My question, Mr. President, is whether in Senator Berger's opinion—I have been advised by counsel on this side that this is true and I, therefore, want a substantiating opinion—this means that those twelve to fourteen year old boys are excluded from the proscription against working during school hours.

Mr. BERGER. I would say not, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the argument is that one exception is made for male minors between the ages of twelve and fourteen. Then, on line 13, it says:

" . . . and except that a minor between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years may be employed as hereinafter provided in such work as will not interfere with school attendance . . . "

The suggestion would be, in the way it is written, that the twelve to fourteen year olds would be employable as caddies during the time of school attendance.

Mr. BERGER. I do not so understand it, Mr. President. Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman. The PRESIDENT. Do you thank him for not understanding?

Mr. SEYLER. I thank the gentleman for his answer.

Mr. BERGER. I said, Mr. President, that I do not so understand it.

The PRESIDENT. Unless I hear an objection at this particular moment, the bill will go over in its order. Is there objection? There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order at the request of Senator McMenamin.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 111 (Pr. No. 860)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 111 introduces for the first time in the State of Pennsylvania the use of a criminal summons instead of a warrant of arrest. This bill was amended in committee so as to make it applicable to Philadelphia only.

Mr. President, this bill has been endorsed in Philadelphia by the Pennsylvania Prison Society, the Philadelphia Bar Association, the Board of Rabbis and the Mayor's Study Advisory Committee. May I say that it will not apply where the offense is punishable by more than two years imprisonment, where the defendant is a resident of some other city or county other than the city of Philadelphia, where a judge finds on an affidavit that there is reasonable cause to believe the defendant will probably flee the jurisdiction, or where a policeman actually sees the offense committed.

Mr. President, the Philadelphia Bar Association became so highly interested in this bill that they put out a brochure on it. I will read some parts of the brochure:

"The idea that an individual is innocent until proven guilty is a cornerstone of our American concept of justice . . . Yet the arrest and long detention of innocent people in Pennsylvania is cruel but not unusual."

I should like to read another part of this brochure:

" . . . In 1960, the daily cost of maintaining an inmate at Moyamensing Prison in Philadelphia was $3.20. Thus, in Philadelphia alone, the cost of maintaining detainees awaiting trial or further hearing was over a million dollars. Add to this the cost to taxpayers of public assistance for families who have been deprived of their breadwinner and must live at public expense . . ." — and you arrive at a real sum.

"In 1960 in Philadelphia, there were approximately 15,000 commitments of persons to await trial or further hearing. Each person so committed spent an average of about 23 days. Thus, 345,000 days were spent in Philadelphia jails by persons not convicted. Approximately one in five persons when brought to trial in Philadelphia is acquitted. In short, about 230 years of innocent persons' time is being served each year in this one city. While no practicable legislation could be devised to eliminate this situation completely, Senate Bill 111 would certainly reduce the extent of the injustices."

I say Mr. President, that this is an experiment in Pennsylvania. We, in Philadelphia, are willing to serve as guinea pigs for this new theory. I am sure that after it has been in operation in Philadelphia for a reasonable length of time, the rest of the State will have the opportunity to observe the benefits of this legislation and the rest of the State may also want such a bill.

Mr. President, I ask the Members of the Senate to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Silvert.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Silvert, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SILVERT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I just want to get one question clarified. I certainly intend to vote for this bill. However, I am wondering if the only instance in which a warrant would issue for offenses punishable by two years or less imprisonment would be upon affidavit that the defendant is apt to leave the jurisdiction.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, where there is an affidavit that he is likely to leave the jurisdiction, a warrant would issue and the man would be held under bail when the judge believes there is reasonable ground for such an affidavit. Also, where a policeman sees a crime committed, no summons of arrest will be issued, but the usual warrant and bail will be used.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, my question was is that the only instance in which a warrant would issue for such an offense, upon affidavit where the defendant was going to leave the jurisdiction?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, my answer is "yes" and also where the policeman actually sees it.

Mr. BERGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have reviewed this bill, and I am very much afraid there might be a defect in the title because two subject matters are contained in the bill.

You will note on page 3 of the bill, commencing with line 4, that it reads as follows:

" . . . an investigation may be made of the said complaint and upon your failure to appear at the time and place herein mentioned you are liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100)."

Mr. President, it seems to me that we are enacting a penalty in the bill for failure to appear in compliance with the summons. I feel this subject matter should be contained in the title of the bill. I am very much afraid there will be a question on this legislation unless we amend the title.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

SB 601 (Pr. No. 865)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I just rose to inquire whether we are considering Senate Bill No. 601.

The PRESIDENT. We are considering Senate Bill No. 601, which is on Final Passage. Had you not interrupted, we would have had the vote in a second.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDENT. You will be so recorded, sir.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I think we are opening the door on this particular piece of legislation. It will not be too long after we pass this bill, if it is passed, that there will be other persons, other organizations and groups, who are going to request special lights for their vehicles, and God knows where it is going to end.

For that reason, I am going to vote "no."

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, although I am one of the sponsors of this bill, and at the time I thought it was a good measure, I have since had a second thought about this. I feel there are too many flashing lights at the moment to find out where you are going. I would like to be recorded as voting "no" on this measure.

Mr. BERGER. I request a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President, although I, likewise, am one of the sponsors of this bill, since reading it most carefully and listening to the pleas of the physicians, the clergymen and so forth, I have come to the conclusion that the bill is not what I thought it was. Therefore, I also wish to be recorded as voting "no."

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, I want to announce and publicly proclaim that this is one sponsor who is not deserting the bill. I think it is a good bill. The news media in Pittsburgh had asked me to introduce it. I constrained my fellow colleagues over here to cosponsor the bill with me and now they are running. However, I am still in favor of it, and I ask the Members of the Senate to vote for it if they will, please.

Mr. STASEY. Mr. President, I am also a sponsor of this bill, and I do not walk out on any bills. Therefore, I will not walk out on this one.

This bill has merit to it because there is an urgent necessity for the pressmen to move to the scene where events are happening. I am not particularly disturbed about ministers, doctors, undertakers and so forth requesting lights. We will face that when we come to it.

This bill is the only bill before us, Mr. President, and I would urge by colleagues to support it.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, the only reason I wanted to vote for this bill is because of my great respect and admiration for the sponsors. Now I am confused between loyalties.

The PRESIDENT. Basically, the confusion must cease at this point because the question recurs and the Clerk will call the roll.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—20

Devlin,	Mallery,	Pechan,	Stroup,
DiSilvestro,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Taylor,
Fleming,	McMenamin,	Sarraf,	Van Sant,
Kalman,	Miller,	Stalsey,	Wade,
Mahady,	Murray,	Stiefel,	Wagner,

NAYS—25

Berger,	Keller,	Mullin,	Silvert,
Camiel,	Kessler,	Propert,	Stevenson,
Chapman,	Kromer,	Ripp,	Ware, III,
Donolow,	Lane,	Scott,	Weiner,
Ehrgood,	Madigan,	Seyler,	Wolfe,
Flack,	McCreesh,	Shafer,	Yatron,
Hays,

Less than a majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative, and the bill was defeated.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

SB 616 (Pr. No. 866)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STEVENSON, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment:

Amend Section 1 (Section 1102) on page 2, line 19, by striking out at end of line the word: "COMMISSIONER" and inserting the word: COUNCILMAN.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. STEVENSON.

BILL RECOMMITTED

SB 632 (Pr. No. 730)—Upon motion of Mr. WEINER, seconded by Mr. LANE, and agreed to, the bill was re-committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 639 (Pr. No. 737)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I dislike being on the floor today, objecting to legislation. However, with reference to Senate Bill No. 639, I received a number of communications from the Bar Association in Washington County. They tell me this is quite a radical departure as far as negligence is concerned.

Therefore, Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "no" with reference to this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. CAMIEL. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—37

Bell,	Hays,	Miller,	Stevenson,
Berger,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Stiefel,
Camiel,	Keller,	Murray,	Stroup,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Confair,	Kromer,	Propert,	Van Sant,
DiSilvestro,	Madigan,	Scott,	Wade,
Donolow,	Mallery,	Seyler,	Wagner,
Ehrgood,	McCreesh,	Shafer,	Ware, III,
Flack,	McMenamin,	Stalsey,	Yatron,
Fleming,

NAYS—7

Devlin, Lane,	Mahady, Ripp,	Sarra, Silvert,	Weiner,
------------------	------------------	--------------------	---------

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 646—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. HAYS.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 656 (Pr. No. 758)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not wish to make a long speech or go into any detail on this bill. The only thing I would like to point out is that if there ever was a conflict of interest, I would think this would be the type of legislation which we would not be in favor of in order to eliminate that conflict. Perhaps I am being unduly cautious, but I can see a situation where someone may sue a bank, rightly or wrongly. Maybe one of these gentlemen might sit in one of these areas where there are not too many Common Pleas Judges to hear the matter. This could also apply to Orphans' Court Judges, where the case might involve a trust or a thing of that nature.

I think this might be one of those areas where you might have a conflict of interest.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, if a situation such as Senator Weiner described arose, I just cannot visualize that the judge would not disqualify himself from hearing the case.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—46

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Miller,	Stevenson,
Berger,	Kalman,	Murray,	Stiefel,
Camiel,	Keller,	Pechan,	Stroup,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Propert,	Taylor,
Confair,	Kromer,	Ripp,	Van Sant,

Ehrgood,	Mallery,	Sesler,	Weiner,
Flack,	McCreesh,	Shafer,	Wolfe,
Fleming,	McGinnis,	Staisey,	Yatron,
Haluska,	McMenamin,

NAYS—4

Hays,	Mullin,	Seyler,	Silvert,
-------	---------	---------	----------

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 661—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 663 (Pr. No. 765)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—40

Bell,	Kalman,	Murray,	Stevenson,
Berger,	Keller,	Pechan,	Stiefel,
Camiel,	Lane,	Ripp,	Stroup,
Devlin,	Madigan,	Rooney,	Taylor,
DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Sarra,	Van Sant,

NAYS—5

Chapman, Kessler,	Kromer,	Mallery,	Propert,
----------------------	---------	----------	----------

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 667—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 667 go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not intend to object to the request that this bill go over in order. However, I do want to point out to the Members of the Senate that this is the type of bill which is highly desirable and desired, I believe, by the Department of Highways. At least, it used to be.

It would place technical and professional employees upon a security basis in the department and it would remove the cause for criticism of the Department of Highways that they cannot retain professional and technical personnel.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to assure the gentleman that those are our sentiments, as well. The one thing which has been troubling me about this bill is the setup of the board that is in the bill itself. I would like to get some further information on the board and its duties so that no one can question, after this Session is over, why we did not look into this matter more thoroughly. I am awaiting that information. As a matter of fact, there have been two members appointed from the Democratic Caucus to get further information on this measure. I hope to have it before this week is over in order for us to take appropriate action on this measure.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

SB 670—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 674 (Pr. No. 784)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—49

Bell,	Hays,	Mullin,	Staisey,
Berger,	Kalman,	Murray,	Stevenson,
Camiel,	Keller,	Pechan,	Stiefel,
Chapman,	Kromer,	Proper,	Stroup,

SB 701—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

SB 713 (Pr. No. 827)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 713 appear on tomorrow's Final Passage Calendar.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. The bill will appear on tomorrow's Final Passage Calendar.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 715 (Pr. No. 1493)—Read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LANE, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 8, page 14, line 18, by striking out "A NEW SUBSECTION" and inserting: two new subsections

Amend Sec. 8 (Sec. 506), page 15, by inserting between lines 8 and 9:

(8) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this act if any member of the joint coverage group who is a member on June 1 1961 or thereafter and who applies for a superannuation retirement allowance or a withdrawal allowance or his services are terminated by his death or by involuntary separation on or before January 1 1963 and he or his beneficiary shall elect to make the back contributions required under article III section 302 subsection (3) his benefit shall be computed without the reduction provided by article IV section 403 subsection 1

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. LANE.

members providing for expenses of administration continuation of existing authority to provide annuity contracts credit for military service refunds exempting allowances from judicial process and repealing certain acts' further providing for the compensation of pension or retirement benefits."

DAVID L. LAWRENCE

STATEMENT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell, rise?

Mr. O'DELL. To make a brief statement.

Mr. Speaker, Thursday the majority leader mentioned the fact that his ear drums were humming. I wish to inform him that mine are starting to hum today. There is something wrong with this speaking system here; there is a tremendous vibration. At the back of the room we can hardly hear some of the speakers who are speaking in the front of the House. I wonder if something cannot be done, perhaps a quick adjustment, between now and the time the Governor comes in.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The chief clerk advises me that there will be a man in here tomorrow who knows his business and will have this job properly surveyed.

Does that satisfy the gentleman?

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We have a birthday today, the gentleman from Cambria, the Honorable Louis Rovanseck, whose birthday is today.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Dengler.

Mr. DENGLER. Mr. Speaker, I think we ought to give the gentleman from Cambria a very fine send-off, because he happens to be one of the basses in our legislative chorus and has one of the finest voices among the members of this House.

So let us all sing, "Happy birthday, dear Louis." (Members joined in singing "Happy Birthday," led by Mr. Dengler.)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovanseck.

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I certainly appreciate that little song presented for me this afternoon. I shall continue to do the best I can in here, and I want to thank everyone of you for your kindness. Thank you a lot.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. GRAMLICH offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 12, 1961.

The Joy Manufacturing Company of Franklin, Venango County, Pennsylvania has engaged in manufacturing in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania since 1924.

This great organization operates thirty-seven manufacturing plants throughout the world and holds over six hundred patents in its own right.

The Joy Manufacturing Company employs thirteen hundred people in the Venango County area.

Due to a recent tragic fire certain valuable buildings and structures of the Joy Manufacturing Company were destroyed amounting to approximately four million dollars ($4,000,000).

The Joy Manufacturing Company immediately indicated that such buildings and structures will be rebuilt to continue its operations in the Venango County area; therefore be it

Resolved, That the citizens of Venango County and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby congratulate the Joy Manufacturing Company for its faith and confidence in its own future and its faith and confidence in the people of the Venango County area; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the Joy Manufacturing Company.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We have a resolution at the desk which relates to the death of a former member of this House and a prominent jurist of our State, Judge Reno.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Mrs. MARKLEY, Messrs. STECKEL, BACKENSTOE and STIMMEL offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 12, 1961.

On Sunday, June 11, 1961, death brought to an end the distinguished career of a prominent jurist and Lehigh County Attorney. At the age of 79, Judge Claude Trexler Reno of Allentown passed away after a two and one-half year illness.

Judge Reno was well known throughout the State as a lawyer, jurist and legislator. As a public servant he had the rare distinction of having served in three departments of Pennsylvania's government. He served in this distinguished body from 1910 to 1912. He was judge of Lehigh County Court of Common Pleas from 1921 to 1934 and a judge of the Superior Court from 1942 to 1953. From 1939 to 1942 he was the Attorney General of the State. The highest honor conferred by the Supreme Court upon a practicing attorney was awarded Judge Reno when he was made a standing master of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in 1934.

When he was appointed to the Court of Common Pleas he was the youngest judge in Pennsylvania. As Attorney General he won every case that he personally argued before the Supreme Court. When Judge Reno ran for the Superior Court he was elected by a majority larger than ever received by a candidate for that office running on only one party ticket.

In fraternal work Claude Reno will always be remembered by the men of Alpha Tau Omega. He was the editor and publisher of their national magazine, he wrote several books on the history of A.T.O. and he was their worthy grand chief from 1930 to 1933.

Judge Reno was graduated from Allen High School in 1900. He attended Muhlenberg College and received a bachelor of law degree from Dickinson School of Law. He had been a Trustee of Dickinson since 1922 and had received many honorary degrees from various colleges.

To everyone who knew Judge Reno his passing brings great sorrow. His wife, the former May Grim Appel has lost a great companion. We want to take this opportunity to extend our sympathy, therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends to Mrs. May Reno its deepest sympathy upon the death of her well known, much loved and highly respected husband, Judge Claude T. Reno; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mrs. Reno at her home, 325 N. 28th Street, Allentown, Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Hamilton, for presiding.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leaves of absence were granted as follows:

Mr. Dougherty for Mr. VERONA for today's session.
Mr. Tompkins for Mr. ODORISIO for today's session.
Mr. Tompkins for Mr. WILT for today's session.
Mr. Tompkins for Mr. FOX for today's session.
Mr. Tompkins for Mr. SIMMONS for today's session.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 81, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code," approved April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), requiring commercial motor vehicles and truck tractors to be marked with the names and addresses of the owners or operators.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Heavey.

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, this bill calls attention to trucks that are running around the streets without any identification on them, and in the case of an accident you would only have a dirty license tag. Public utility, ICC and PUC permits are all exempted because under this bill they are fully identified. It also exempts farmers' equipment and trucks.

There are a lot of trucks that run over peoples' pavements and curbs and the property owners have to pay the bill, because the trucks keep on going without anybody knowing who it was. Every once in a while there is an accident, somebody gets hurt, and there is no way of identifying the truck other than, maybe, dirty license tags.

This bill calls for the names and addresses in letters 3 inches high, which would probably cost about $10. In the case of an accident and the truck kept on going, bystanders could pinpoint the accident. I think it is a very good highway safety bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I am a sponsor of this legislation. In its original form I had some reservations about it, but with the amendments I think it is a good bill and I intend to vote for it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows

(DURING ROLL CALL)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this bill was amended by Republican members, excluding the farming, excluding the mining, excluding the oil and gas. There is so very little left in the bill, I cannot understand the negative votes. Each of those amendments were offered by Republican members to the bill and accepted.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams, rise?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would have voted "aye" on Senate bill 95 had I been in my seat. I was called to the telephone and could not get back in time to vote.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

Mr. McCANN. I wish to call up only the bill in which the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams, has a corrective amendment on the name. Will he please indicate the bill number?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, House bill 787.

Mr. McCANN. House bill 787, on page 18. This is the correctional amendment, Mr. Speaker, and I ask that this bill be called up for the purpose of amendment and then I wish it to remain on third reading and not final passage.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Thank you.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 787, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the National Agricultural College at Doylestown, Pennsylvania.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed second reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 3, by striking out "National Agricultural College" and inserting: Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture.

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. offered the following amendment:

Amend Title, page 1, first line of Title, by striking out "National Agricultural College" and inserting: Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture.

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, to be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 125, entitled:

An Act amending "The County Code" approved August 9, 1955 (P. L. 323), fixing the time for the annual report by the county auditors to the court and providing for the audit of miscellaneous accounts.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, rise?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I realize this is a simple bill but we have not caucused on it. I have given you a list of five or six bills we have caucused on third reading and I can supply you quite a few more.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is it the desire of the majority leader, then, that House bill 125 be passed over?

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House bill No. 125, printer's No. 125 was passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. HAMILTON and CIOFFI.

RESOLUTION No. 80.

June 8, 1961.

In a study summarized in the Biennial Report for 1959-61 a task force of the Joint State Government Commission found that although the Fire and Panic Act places responsibility for enforcing health and safety measures in public buildings and buildings of public assembly upon the Department of Labor and Industry, other acts place coextensive powers and responsibilities with respect to specialized structures upon other governmental agencies. The task force found further that in practice these other agencies seldom exercise their full statutory powers and responsibilities but confine their activities to particular structural features and uses; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to ascertain whether or not the division of responsibilities for enforcing health and safety measures in public buildings and buildings of public assembly is in accord with the public interest and to recommend such statutory revisions as it deems appropriate; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report its findings and recommendations to the 1963 Session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. POLEN, BRETH and HELM.

RESOLUTION No. 81.

June 12, 1961.

Whereas, The equitable distribution of public school costs between state and local governments and among differently circumstanced direct and indirect beneficiaries of public education is of vital concern to the General Assembly; and

Whereas, The need for a comprehensive reexamination of the ability of local school districts to finance public education and of the ways to reliably measure that ability is imperative; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study alternative measures of the local ability to finance public education and evaluate the effects consequent upon the use of alternative measures upon the division of public school costs between the state government and school districts and among different groups of taxpayers.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. MAXWELL and Mrs. MARKLEY.

RESOLUTION No. 82.

June 12, 1961.

Whereas, The level and geographic distribution of public health services is of primary importance to the well-being of all citizens of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, All levels of government—federal, state, and local—as well as many private agencies and organizations, are engaged in providing public health services or in activities that are beneficial to public health programs; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study the extent and variety of public health programs in operation in the Commonwealth, the possibilities of improving public health services by the realignment of jurisdictional responsibilities and the extent to which all citizens of the Commonwealth have access to comparable levels of public health services; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to report its findings and recommendations to the 1963 Session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT GOVERNOR

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair now instructs the committee to escort the Governor to the hall of the House, the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann; the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman; the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, to proceed with the performance of their duties.

The Senate is now entering the Hall of the House.

The Chair recognizes the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. Speaker, a committee on the part of the House escorting the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the chairman of the committee of the House escorting the Senate.

Mr. DOUGHERTY. Mr. Speaker, the committee appointed to wait upon the Senate and escort them to the hall of the House has performed that duty and reports that the Senate is in attendance.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

The Lieutenant-Governor, the Honorable John Morgan Davis, is invited to preside over the Joint Session of the General Assembly. The President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Honorable Anthony J. DiSilvestro, is invited to be seated on the rostrum.

The members of the Senate will please be seated.

JOINT SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR JOHN MORGAN DAVIS PRESIDING

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. The General Assembly may be at ease while it awaits the arrival of His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

* * *

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. The Chair recognizes the chairman of the Committee to escort the Governor, the Senator from Allegheny County, Mr. Devlin.

SENATOR DEVLIN. Mr. President, it is my honor to present His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Honorable David L. Lawrence.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Members of the General Assembly, I present His Excellency, the Honorable David L. Lawrence, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR DAVID L. LAWRENCE

Mr. Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly:

Again I want to express my gratitude for the courteous permission you have given me to address you during this session of the Legislature.

This, as you know, is my fourth appearance before you this year.

In the first two of those appearances, I dwelt on the broad aspect of the State's operations—its successes, its failures, its challenges and the opportunities before us. And while the range of topics was diversified on both occasions, I emphasized the high importance which the education of our youth must take in our deliberations and our actions during this legislative session.

My most recent message to you—given five weeks ago today—dwelt entirely on education and on the report and recommendations of the Citizens Committee on Education, which I appointed pursuant to a Resolution adopted by the House.

Today, once again, my topic is education and my appeal is for prompt and definitive action, in this session, on the legislative proposals now before you.

In making this appeal, I am not departing from my conviction that the approach to our educational problems must be made on a bipartisan—indeed on a non-partisan—basis. I am gratified that both the House and the Senate have established select committees to deliberate on the legislation recommended by the Committee on Education, and that members of both parties have equal representation on those bodies. I am pleased, as well, that the legislation has been introduced with bipartisan sponsorship.

All of this augurs of success.

I am concerned, however, that the work so well done thus far is not undone by postponement or delay. We cannot, as the chosen representatives of the people of this Commonwealth, fool or deceive the school children, the parents, the teachers—or anyone else—with mighty talk and small achievement.

The stakes are too high, the urgency of the problem too pressing, the challenges of the times too severe to ignore our responsibility or to delay in accepting it, fully and frankly.

It is well to point up that we are not concerned merely with providing more State funds for our schools and colleges, although obviously this is part of the hard and necessary task before us.

We are concerned with how that money will be spent, with the results it will achieve, with the calibre and quality of the program it does so much to support.

The function of the Committee on Education was not simply to advise us how much money the State should appropriate for education in the next decade. Its purpose was more far-reaching and more challenging than that.

And that purpose was, in essence, to develop a State-wide program for education which would assure every child attending Pennsylvania public schools the highest opportunity for acquiring knowledge and skills, with all that means in facilities, in curriculum, in the quality of instruction, and the proper payment for those who instruct. It was concerned with higher education, and in developing means to assist more of our young people to obtain the advanced learning which is growingly essential in today's complex society.

While there is still much work to be done in developing a master plan for higher education in Pennsylvania, it is evident that we must provide for community colleges, for scholarships and loans, and for expansion of State-owned and supported institutions. It is equally clear that we must help our private schools, of which Pennsylvania has such a wealth, to continue to be the bulwark of higher education in this State. As I read the report of the Committee on Education, I find no indication that its members would downgrade the role of the private colleges and universities, nor should that be done. Rather, we should provide that their vital role be continued and expanded and then build on this firm foundation.

The point of all this is that we cannot—we must not—merely continue our present program for education in Pennsylvania, and let it go at that. The status quo, even if it were enriched with more money, will not meet the education needs of this State.

And let no one believe that public education is one of the frills of State and local government. Nothing could be farther from the truth. An inadequate program, which is what we have now, hinders the entire course of progress in the State and in the Nation. It is not pure coincidence that many of our academically distressed areas are in sections which are also economically distressed. We must prepare our young people to participate productively in the new fields of industry and commerce and technology. In so doing we serve not only them, but the communities in which they live and whose futures they will determine.

In education, our basic goal must be the pursuit of excellence.

The success of that pursuit will build the mightiest assurance of growth and development and prosperity for this State and for all its people.

I am convinced that the basic recommendations of the Committee on Education give the surest promise of achieving the excellence we must have.

I fully understand that there can be honest dissent from these suggestions, as there was in the Committee when it met, but I believe the Commonwealth and the cause of education will be served best if the General Assembly's final actions are in accord with the recommendations of the Committee's majority.

Those recommendations, in the opinion of the New York Times, will put Pennsylvania "in the front line of America's educational revolution."

We should accept no other position.

I cannot urge too strongly the vital need to adopt this new and far-reaching educational program now, at this session, without the delaying intervention of adjournment or recess. The reason for this is two-fold: first, we are already late in developing a truly sound educational program for Pennsylvania; and secondly, the constitutional limits on next year's session preclude action on any matters other than State finances.

I am aware that this involves difficult decisions, especially in the reorganization and subsidy programs. But I am equally aware that reorganization is the key to the entire program, as the President of the National School Boards Association emphasized in Philadelphia last month. Achievement and progress do not come easy, but failure to act will make the eventual solution even more elusive. The consequences of inaction are far more serious than the anxieties of bold and courageous decision.

The Committee, realizing that the bulk of its recommendations would not have immediate financial effect, calculated the cost of its program during the first fiscal year. The outlay during this 1961-62 fiscal period, by the Committee's estimate, would be $31 million. (This would provide more than $21 million for increases in teaching unit and construction subsidies to the local districts; $3.6 million in State Administration and retirement costs; and $6.1 million for various improvements in higher education.) Actually, review of these calculations shows that the amount needed can be reduced to $26.8 million, by deferring the $2.5 million in retirement fund payments to next year and by eliminating $1.7 million in capital expansion at the State colleges, which we cannot accomplish in this fiscal period.

Recognizing that one of the most serious obstacles to legislative action on the entire report is the development of revenue proposals, I am willing to recommend that the first year program be financed by enacting a State tax on the value of stocks and bonds of foreign corporations, as suggested by the Hood-Kennedy Committee several years ago. Such a proposal would not interfere with existing local taxing powers and would provide a maximum tax of 10 mills on these values. The yield, as calculated by the Hood-Kennedy Committee which allowed for increased efficiency in State Administration of this tax, would be $27.5 million, or enough to finance the first year program.

An alternate proposal, affecting the same type of taxpayer, would be a two per cent tax, applied uniformly throughout the State, on returns from investments. The estimated yield in this instance would be $30.6 million.

Either measure, it seems to me, recognizes the ability to pay, which surely deserves the consideration of us all.

As to the costs of next year's program, it is my hope that the Congress will enact the Federal-aid proposal now before it. If this is done, Pennsylvania's share, presently estimated at $42 million, will go far toward meeting the State's obligations.

Although I have been discussing the report of the Committee on Education, it would be unrealistic if I did not also take this opportunity to comment to you directly on the status of the State's general fund. You have received the year-end statement on our finances and I want only to reiterate what I have said publicly about the present fiscal situation.

Briefly, these are the facts. If House Bill 95, which specifies that all the money paid in sales and use tax goes to the State Treasury, does not pass, we will lose, as of this date, approximately $7 million in anticipated revenue. If the quarterly sales tax returns for next April and May are not made payable by June of 1962, we will lose between $10 and $11 million more.

In such an unfortunate eventuality, I will have, ladies and gentlemen, no choice but to cut appropriations by these amounts. Unpleasant as such a duty would be, it becomes even more difficult when you consider that these reductions must be made in nonpreferred appropriations which consist principally of aid to our universities and hospitals. It is apparent, therefore, that the program for education and its financing cannot be confined to the report of the Committee on Education. It must, of necessity, involve the revenue-producing measures I have just mentioned.

And let me emphasize that despite suggestions, reported in last week's newspapers, that I "pad," and that was the word used, revenue estimates. I cannot and I will not follow that foolhardy and disastrous road.

Let me put this whole matter of the State's obligations—in education as in every other field—into proper focus.

There is general agreement, so it seems, that Pennsylvania must act promptly to improve its educational program.

But being for education, ladies and gentlemen, doesn't mean just waving the banner, and retreating back to the peaceful shade of inaction.

You cannot be for a program—especially a program which is going to be costly, as improved education surely will be—and against finding a means to pay for it.

You cannot do this, I should hasten to add, and still be true to your own conscience and to your own responsibilities as elected representatives of the people. We were chosen by the people to make hard decisions, as well as to make the easy ones.

I have presented my views as forthrightly, ladies and gentlemen, as I know how. If the revenue proposals I have suggested do not meet with the approval of a majority of the membership of the General Assembly, then it is up to those who oppose to propose—to suggest another revenue measure which will meet the needs. Failure to do that will mean, very bluntly, failure to act for education in Pennsylvania.

If there is one essential guideline for us all, the Governor and the members of the General Assembly alike, it is that we attack this problem and we accomplish this program with straightforward deliberation and prompt and realistic action. Unless we do just that, we will have forsaken an opportunity for truly meaningful achievement. Worse still, we will default in our obligations to the children and the youth of this State, those who will come after us as the molders of their society and the masters of their own and the Nation's destinies.

Education is our first line of defense against tyranny, poverty, and human and national stagnation.

More positively, an education program, whose goals are lofty and whose qualities are unrivalled, is a springboard for progress and freedom beyond all our accomplishments of the past.

This is the kind of program, my fellow Pennsylvanians, that our State must have. I am confident that this session of the General Assembly, with its demonstrated sense of responsibility, will do its part to make it come to pass.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Governor Lawrence, on behalf of the members of the General Assembly, I want to thank you for your inspiring message.

The Committee on the part of the Senate and the House will now escort His Excellency to his chambers.

The Chair asks that the members of the House and visitors remain seated for just a moment while the members of the Senate leave the hall of the House.

The members of the Senate will please re-assemble immediately in the Senate Chamber.

I wish to thank the Speaker for the privilege of presiding over the General Assembly.

The business for which the Joint Session has been assembled having been transacted, the session is now adjourned.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

PROCEEDINGS OF JOINT SESSION TO BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the proceedings of the Joint Session of the Senate and House be printed in full in this day's Legislative Journal.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask permission to insert a letter into the Legislative Journal, written by an eighth grade student who is not a constituent of mine.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the letter will be spread upon the Journal of the House. The Chair hears no objection.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN submitted the following letter for the record:

Holmes School
Dawson Street
Pittsburgh 13, Pa.
June 8, 1961.

Mr. Maurice Goldstein
5666 Phillips Ave.
Pittsburgh 17, Pa.
Sir:

As an 8th grade student at Holmes School in Pittsburgh, and as a representative of the entire student body, I am very much concerned about our public school system.

According to the various articles I have read, our Pittsburgh Board of Education is asking a minimum additional need for the next two years of $4,500,000 annually.

My own school needs to be replaced; many more like it need to be replaced, too. Superior teachers are necessary to maintain an improved educational program such as we have at Holmes School for students in advanced mathematics, languages, journalism, etc.

The Pittsburgh Board of Public Education is asking the right to levy up to ½% wage tax and help the Pittsburgh Board of Education promote the finest educational system in the United States right here in Pittsburgh.

Very truly yours,
Andrene Grezmak

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 1162

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House bill No. 1162, printer's No. 2070, entitled "An act amending the act of May 26, 1947 (P. L. 318), entitled 'An act relating to the public practice of certified public accountants; providing for the certification of persons desiring to practice and the listing of persons engaged in practicing as certified public accountants, and for the suspension and revocation of such certificates subject to appeal and for their reinstatement; prescribing the powers and duties of the State Board of Examiners of Public Accountants and the Department of Public Instruction; providing for ownership of working papers; defining unlawful acts and acts not unlawful; providing penalties and repealing existing laws,' further regulating the certification and public practice of certified public accountants," was defeated on final passage Wednesday, June 7, 1961, be reconsidered.

Mr. ARLENE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Arlene, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. ARLENE. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on final passage?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, since the new member from Allegheny County was given the oath of office here today, I believe that completes the members elected, so could I ask the minority leader if his Committee on Committees will this week complete the assignment of the respective members so that the Committee on Committees can submit their report no later than the first of the coming week?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in that connection I have already spoken to Baker Royer, who is the chairman of our Committee on Committees. I believe he should sit down with your chairman to ascertain what vacancies there are in the various committees, so that there can be a just allocation of these matters. I believe he would be willing to do that soon.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the committee membership of your respective committees on the number of members is as adopted in the House Rules. You will have to make various changes there to complete your assignments. We are ready with our members to proceed with the assignments.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Royer is ready and I believe there is no reason for him to sit down with the chairman of your committee. He can proceed.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 796, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Welfare to reimburse State-aided hospitals and the Philadelphia General Hospital for part of the cost of training nurses in approved schools of nursing and making a deficiency appropriation for the same purpose.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed second reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

The first and second sections were separately read and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. POLEN offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 19, by striking out "Public Welfare" and inserting: the Auditor General.

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 20, by inserting after "1962" where it appears the second time: Failure by a hospital to file a report within the sixty day period will forfeit the payment for that quarter.

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, to be transcribed for third reading.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1138, entitled:

An Act amending the "State Tax Equalization Board Law" approved June 27, 1947 (P. L. 1046), requiring that objections to certified findings or conclusions of board shall be filed by October first of year the same are certified.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Steckel.

Mr. STECKEL. Mr. Speaker, I wish to speak upon the motion to recommit this bill.

This bill lay in committee for many months. It then was reported out and lay on our calendar for many more weeks. As recently as last week amendments were added to this bill without dissenting vote, and now the motion of the majority leader is that this bill be recommitted.

The importance of this bill should certainly be brought before this House. If the motion to recommit wins on the floor of this House, none of us will have an opportunity to discuss the merits of this bill. Study in the Appropriations Committee will not help the bill or hinder it. We must bring this bill to everyone's attention, or the purpose for which it was brought out will be defeated.

Therefore, I ask that the members of this House vote against the motion to recommit.

Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. STECKEL and A. W. JOHNSON and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Steckel.

Mr. STECKEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to debate the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Gentleman is in order and will proceed.

Mr. STECKEL. This bill as originally designed set forth a return date for the State Tax Equalization Board to place figures and valuations on the school districts' salable properties. It has been amended. I think it should be said before we go into details that the amendments in no way attack any of the members of the present board, nor do the amendments do away with the present system, the reimbursement system, nor does it indicate that there is any attack on the personality of board members.

What this bill does do in its present form is to do away with the present State Tax Equalization Board as we know it, consisting of three members, two members paid at $11,000 and a chairman paid at $12,000 annually.

This bill would create a director of the State Tax Equalization Board under the Department of Internal Affairs, the department which peculiarly has in its possession all the information concerning the municipalities of the State, and which also is well run, as we know, by its present head.

Presently, we are beset by a system in the State Tax Equalization Board whereby that board acts as judge, jury, prosecutor and appeals court all by itself. This bill, should it pass, would provide that one man, who would be the director of this Board, would do all the necessary work of creating the formulas by which the evaluations of the various districts are arrived at. There would be a three-man appeal board, each of which would be learned in one particular branch of real estate, one in agricultural real estate, one in residential and one in industrial. This board would serve in an advisory capacity in order to create the proper formulas which would be uniform throughout the State and would also serve as an appeal board to which an aggrieved municipality could take its appeal from the ruling of the state director.

One of the main difficulties at this time is because of the many capacities in which the present State Tax Equalization Board serves. They make their own findings of fact, they decide if these facts are right, they hear the aggrieved party, and they also serve as the appeals court.

This new bill would remedy the situation without doing away with the basic problem.

From a financial standpoint it would not cost the State any more than the present setup, though the director would be paid more. The administration would be more efficient, because it would be placed under the present Department of Internal Affairs where, as I said, they would have access to all the information in that Department.

There would be three members of the appeal board to be picked, no more than two of whom would be of one political party. I believe this proposal is sound and would be effective and a great deal more satisfactory to the school districts across the State of Pennsylvania, that have had many troubles with the State Tax Equalization Board setup.

Therefore, I would ask the members of the House to support this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, the bill now before us bears my name as one of its sponsors. The bill now before us definitely is not the bill that I introduced. I would like the record to show that, although I am considered a sponsor and although it may be too late, I, in a sense, withdraw my sponsorship.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Boies.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, very briefly, I would like to call the attention of the members of the House to the fact that this is their one and only chance to do anything about this State Tax Equalization Board situation in which the hundreds of school districts in the Commonwealth have been saddled with this extra assessment without appeal or without a hope. Now, this is your one and only chance to do something about it; otherwise, the situation is going to continue as it has been, where any appeal that you make has to go to the Dauphin County Court, and some small school districts who cannot afford it have not a chance in the world to make a protest.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call to the attention of the members of the House that this bill makes an appropriation of $332,258 which is not included in the budget. Normally, all appropriation bills or bills that require money are referred to the Appropriation Committee.

I want to make it very plain that I have no responsibility for this bill in line with the fiscal policy we have adopted and which I spoke on last week.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Steckel.

Mr. STECKEL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN, I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STECKEL. Mr. Speaker, what is the present allotment in the budget for the State Tax Equalization Board?

Mr. POLEN. I would have to look in the budget. I recall it is something like $300,000.

Mr. STECKEL. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, the bill as it stands before us provides for the salaries which in the aggregate would be not more than the present salaries of the board, and it is for the operation of the new board rather than the State Tax Equalization Board acting independently. I see no reason why the cost of operation would be increased.

Therefore, it is my contention that, although there is no specific appropriation for this specific department, there are ample funds already in the budget to take care of this contingency.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the membership vote "no" on House Bill 1138, printer's No. 2235.

Number one, the bill has been amended so that the department would rip out the present board. Therefore, the Tax Equalization Board now would be a new board, composed of two of one party and one of the other. It places it under the Department of Internal Affairs, if I remember this correctly, and the appropriation for the Department of Internal Affairs does not have this money in it.

It has always been my understanding, and I have been questioned time and time again on this floor, that unless they went through the Appropriations Committee, bills costing any money, raising money, or taking away money, were to be recommitted and go to Appropriations.

This I agreed to and I believe it is good, sound fiscal management of the Appropriations Committee of this House.

I state to the membership of this House that when you are voting for this bill you are voting to tear out the board, you are voting to place it in Internal Affairs. You are removing the Tax Equalization Board now constituted by law and that has operated in the past. Which-ever party was in control had the appointment of the membership, and this is as it should be.

I ask you now to vote "no" on House Bill 1138.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is five minutes before 6 o'clock. I would like at this time to state that we will not vote on any more bills, but I would ask that all members stay here for committee announcements. This House will convene tomorrow at 11 a. m., fast time. We hope to work right through to 6 p. m., in addition to a caucus and lunch.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it is always pleasant to have the Governor come before us, and I think it was nice to have him here today. I am sure we all enjoyed his speech. I believe on the minority side some remarks should be made as to the way we viewed his remarks today, so that we will all be guided by his remarks and also can be thinking about what he said in the next few days.

I notice one thing that the Governor said to us. He said: "I want you people in this legislature to get busy on the legislative proposals that are before you." As he said that, I wondered what legislative proposals are before us. How many bills have been referred to the so-called Special Education Committee in the House for its consideration? Are there any bills before that special committee? I do not believe there are.

Another thing the Governor said was, go ahead, it will cost $31 million to do the job. I ask, what job? What are we supposed to do? What are we called upon to do? What are the priorities? What bills are there? What should we do first? What is the most acute thing in the field of education right now that we should get on before we get out of this session of the General Assembly?

I was hoping today—and I am not saying this by way of any adverse or mean criticism—I was hoping that the Governor in his speech would say this: Here is a program that will cost $31 million, but we can boil it down to $27 million. Here is what they are. First of all, here is the most important thing, I would appreciate it if you would do that. Secondly, do this; thirdly, do that; and fourthly, that, until you have used up the $31 million. When you get that done, you can go home, fold up shop and go home. But, frankly, we are just as much in the dark this minute after the Governor's speech as we were before he made his speech, and I feel the Governor should have outlined with particularity what he wanted us to do, if anything, with this education plan.

Secondly, the maxim is, in this Commonwealth, we shall have equality of education and opportunity. I say that is a good maxim and we try to follow that. We, on the Republican side, vote just as readily for educational matters as you people do on the majority side.

The Governor mentioned two ways of paying for it. One is a tax on stocks and bonds, and the other is a 2 percent income tax on dividends' and bonds' interest. I am asking the House to give it some thought. Are those tax proposals equality of payment? If there is equality of educational opportunity demanded in this light, should there also not be equality of payment by those affected who are going to share the fruits of education? We have always been willing, as I say, to go on the principle of bipartisanship. As a matter of fact, someone on the other side of this House not too long ago, I think I have said this before, said to me: Why, Mr. Johnson, if you people on the Republican side did not give us any votes, we could not pass any program this session. And, that is true. You are probably 15 members light here today, I do not know. We Republicans go down the line and vote for things that we think are for the good of the Commonwealth. We have always voted in a bipartisan way on education matters, but I will say this again, as I have said before, so far as our Governor is concerned, bipartisanship is a one-way street as far as he is concerned.

Here is a typical example: Last week, on Wednesday, we passed the General State Authority bill for $260 million, or something like that. You came to pass that bill and you only had 101 in their seats, I believe, and we gave votes to pass that huge bill. What happened on Thursday, the Republican director of the General State Authority was summarily fired. They said, we need somebody who knows something about construction; he is just an administrator and therefore we have to get rid of him. The reason you got rid of him was that he was a Republican. You hired a so-called construction man, but I will bet you the person you hired to head GSA never mixed a batch of concrete in his life, if the truth were known.

Likewise, the papers today are saying that tomorrow a forced resignation is going to be had from Captain Bartman of the State Public School Building Authority. That is perfectly all right to replace Republicans with Democrats, that is the spoils system, but when you holler continually on bipartisanship, "go down the road together," that is fine, but as I said here it is a one-way street so far as you people are concerned. There is nothing wrong with the way Captain Bartman has been running the State Public School Building Authority; he has done an outstanding job as the director. He may have made some mistakes. We all make mistakes, but, as I say, bipartisanship is a two-way street. I am not saying that the members of this side of the House are going to refuse to vote for your tax program or are going to refuse to vote for any of these education bills, but it looks now, as before, we in this House must decide what is going to pass. We have to set up a schedule of priorities ourselves; we are going to have to figure what the cost is; and it looks like it has been laid right in our laps again.

To repeat, I wish the Governor had said, here are five things we want you to do, here is what it is going to cost, the bills are in committee, get them out of committee next week and pass them, and let us get out of town by the first of August. I say we probably will not be out until Christmas, the way the Governor talked, with reapportionment undecided and all these other things. Sure we have to get down to work, but we need some guidance and I am disappointed that we did not get it today.

Mr. TOMPKINS. In line with the appearance of His Excellency, the Governor, here this afternoon, I was expecting that he would enlarge upon his statement made to us when he appeared in April that he was going to look over and implement the committee report insofar as executive decrees were concerned.

On May 25 I wrote the Governor a letter asking him what particular portions of the committee report he intended to implement by executive order. I also asked him what the cost of those orders would amount to. I also asked him by what authority he would implement them by such orders.

On June 5, I received the following reply:

The committee referred to in your letter has been meeting and reviewing the various recommendations and I have been kept posted on their activities but do not have a complete listing of all the matters which they have put into operation.

Now he stands there and tells us he wants prompt and definitive action but he as yet does not know what his committee has put into operation.

Then he follows:

"I might safely list a few of the items. They are as follows:

"1. The Committee is preparing a reorganization chart of the Department of Public Instruction for submission to the Executive Board in line with the recommendations of the Committee on Education."

He does not say when that will be.

"2. The Superintendent of Public Instruction has been meeting with the Board of College Presidents to discuss the conversion from teacher college level to liberal arts colleges. This, as you know, is a long-term problem and will take considerable time to develop."

Not here and now, but a long-term problem.

I wonder how many of the suggestions coming from the legislature might be long-term reports that will require more than a request for a rubber stamp?

"3. The department has initiated the manpower study with the limited funds available to it.

"4. A State committee has been established to develop a State program on educational television."

—without saying how soon it will have a report or how much it will cost.

"5. The department has completed its study for regional film libraries."

—but they have not said how much that will cost.

"6. The State Council of Education has established a committee on vocational education. The report of this committee is now in its final form and so far has concerned itself only with the retraining, trade and industrial education. A committee to discuss the other aspects will be named shortly."

—they have not yet taken definitive action in that field.

"7. The State Council of Education has recommended modular construction in school buildings in line with the committee's recommendations."

I think there is a bill on our calendar at the present time on that subject, although he indicates that will be done by executive order. That is the reason why I wanted to find out what he intends to do, how much it is going to cost, and whether or not he has the authority statutorily or constitutionally to do these things.

He then concludes:

"I hope that these few facts will indicate to you that this committee is at work doing everything possible to implement such recommendations as can be done by executive order."

Mr. Speaker, when he comes before us and says prompt and definitive action that you adopt now at this session before adjournment and so forth, I wonder how consistent he is in asking the legislature to do a lot of things without proper study and without proper review, and so forth, when he himself states that he intends to do that very thing.

I for one will not be rubber stamped on any part of the program legislative-wise.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, at first I want to say honestly and frankly that the gentleman who spoke before me, Mr. Johnson, of McKean County, of course, is extremely aware of the contents of the Governor's Committee on Education Report because he served as a member of that committee, one of the four people from the House of Representatives.

I would like to say each member has received a copy of the report which the pieces of legislation introduced concern. I, of course, do not know how many have read the report in its entirety.

The bipartisan Committee on Education has its first meeting scheduled tonight at 7 o'clock. Both the House and the Senate members appointed by the Speaker and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate will meet in their first joint meeting beginning tonight.

Therefore, I assume that they will discuss the legislative programs which have been introduced both in the House and the Senate.

There are no bills before the bipartisan committee in the House, nor are there any bills before the bipartisan committee in the Senate. I believe the Speaker of the House has referred the bills of the House to the Education Committee, and the Lieutenant-Governor or the President Pro Tempore, whichever the case may be, referred the bills to the Education Committee in the Senate. At the meeting tonight I expect they will discuss various procedures and legislative proposals that have been introduced covering this report.

It was decided it is not for the Governor or yourself to determine which item will establish the priority, which will be number one or number two, what, in your opinion, would be more advisable to have the bipartisan committee discuss and give their recommendations on, which may be number 1, number 2, number 3, number 4, as you said.

I am well aware, and so is everyone else in this House, I am proud to say, that the entire major legislative pieces of law enacted in this session are programs that have passed the House and passed with both Republican and Democratic support. In some cases the opposition to the program was both Democratic and Republican, as well as Democratic and Republican members supporting the program when it passed. This, I think, is very good because it makes for good, sound legislative thinking. It makes for good, sound legislative deliberations on enacting and passing a legislative program.

In my own honest opinion, and I believe that of the members who served on the Education Committee, the Governor's Committee on Education from this House, could in their own minds honestly say what they believe is the prime importance, if that is what you are seeking.

But there are differences of opinion, for example, on the subsidy program, which is a major piece of legislation; reorganization of school districts, on which there is a difference of opinion.

There certainly is an agreement, at least in the majority opinion report, on introduction of legislation on various other points. This was brought out both by the minority and majority reports of the Governor's Committee on Education and the legislation which was inroduced both from the minority report and the majority report.

I would like to say that I believe this committee, when it meets tonight, will discuss these very items.

I do not believe there was anything wrong with the Governor's saying which is number 1, number 2, or number 3, but if you read the report of the committee, you, in your own mind, will be able to determine which is of greater importance.

Therefore, I say to you, certainly it becomes a major problem, a bipartisan problem, and the revenue measures must be proposed that will enact them.

I hope that committee will also discuss revenue-raising measures or discuss some other measures that they may have in mind, if they have any they would care to offer.

I, of course, feel confident that they will work hard at this and will attempt to bring to the House and to the Senate their recommendations in the very near future, and I believe that we can, in the near future then, receive their report of these legislative proposals introduced.

I would like to say that there are many other pieces of legislation introduced in this House which comply with part of this report, not the particular 14 bills defined as dealing with that report, but there are other pieces of legislation introduced by various members that fall on the very same subject of that report, and we hope that each of these bills will go to the proper committee bearing on the subject in that report and that the committees will have an opportunity to discuss those bills, as well as the bill that was introduced backing the Governor's Committee on Education Report.

I think you will find that true in school building construction, in plans and specifications, in the amount allowed for classroom construction under the approval reimbursement plan, and various proposals of higher education, or reorganization, and I recall some other bills that we studied in the history of the House calendar on those subjects. I realize we are asking an awful lot of that committee, but that committee intends to meet, beginning tonight, and go to work, as there is a lot of work to do. I hope their recommendations will be presented on the floor of this House so we may have an opportunity to vote on that legislation. I will abide by their wishes as to schedule, following tonight's meeting when they inform me.

Last but not least, I would like to say this, and I believe I have said it before: When good legislative programs are proposed and there is a difference of opinion between two parties, I think it stands as an excellent record that those proposals are enacted with bipartisan support because they, in your opinion, merit good legislation or good programs for your own constituents whom you represent in your legislative districts.

I hope that in future legislation and in future sessions it will be that way, whichever party may be in power. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I will be very, very brief. I simply want to refer to one statement made by the minority leader. I do not think that I am indiscreetly revealing any party secrets when I say that, at a meeting of Democratic leaders in the House, it was suggested that the Governor do the very thing suggested by the minority leader. But it was the opinion of the leaders of the House who were there that, for the Governor to do that, would be infringing upon the prerogatives and the dignity of this House. And so, if that was wrong, why then I must plead that I was one of the parties to the crime, because I do not believe it was the function of the Governor to give us, line by line, an order as to what we should do and how we should do it. I simply expressed what was the opinion, the majority opinion, of the Democratic leaders of the House who met with the Governor today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the indulgence of the Speaker and ask leave to inform the membership of this House of committee meetings, our plans for tomorrow, as to the time this House will begin its session, and then we would finish up the House calendar, Mr. Speaker, on extension of time and passing over bills.

ALL TIMES ARE DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Green, Mr. McCann. Does he desire to announce tomorrow's schedule?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the tentative schedule as planned for tomorrow is, the House will convene at 11 a.m., daylight saving time. It is believed that the clearing of the first and second reading calendar and the reports of committees and clearing of the Speaker's desk would be approximately in the vicinity of 11:45 or very near 12 o'clock. Then a request will be made for a break for lunch and a caucus of the two respective parties, hoping to place the first roll call before the House in the neighborhood of between 1:30 and 2 p.m. We will continue steadily from then on through the day, trying to finish, perhaps at six, and if we do get into a position that we may be many hours on debating various bills, depending upon this situation, we might take a break for the evening meal and then come back and run a night session if needed.

Mr. Speaker, that would be the tentative plan for Tuesday.

For Wednesday, it would be 10 a.m., daylight saving time, following again the same procedure, caucus, and also there would be a break for lunch, going steadily to the hours of completing the work, with no assurance as to the final time on Wednesday, since the House will not be in session on Thursday due to the Harrisburger Hotel situation.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. ANDREWS and BRETH.

RESOLUTION No. 83.

In the House of Representatives, June 12, 1961.

Whereas, The proper and expeditious performance of the functions of the General Assembly requires continual review and reappraisal if legislative procedures are to be as efficient as is humanly practicable, within the limits imposed by the Constitution, and contribute in the greatest degree to the public knowledge and understanding of the democratic process; and

Whereas, Archaic and cumbersome procedures tend to divert attention from the rapidly-growing and ever-changing complexities of contemporary legislative activities and create a false image of government; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to undertake a thorough investigation of legislative procedures and operations and ascertain what methods are available that could reasonably be expected to expedite the conduct of legislative business; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission include in its investigation a study of practices in other states where legislative procedures have been modified in recent years or where legislative procedures are in operation which if adopted in Pennsylvania would facilitate the more efficient performance of legislative functions; and be it further

Resolved, That in order to assure public participation and full discussion of the issues involved the Joint State Government Commission make available its findings as developed and report its findings and recommendations to the 1963 Session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to extend the time five days on House bill No. 1172, printer's No. 1319, on page 14 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

ADJOURNMENT

MRS. KERNAGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, June 13, 1961, at 10 a. m., e.s.t.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:22 p.m., e.s.t.) the House adjourned.

No. 61.

SENATE

TUESDAY, June 13, 1961.

The Senate met at 1:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM J. LIPPERT, Pastor of St. John's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Williamsport, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty God, Thou Who art the very source of life, we thank Thee for this day with all its varied opportunities to bring glory to Thee by our thoughts, words and deeds.. Refresh our memories just now to the multitude of Thy blessings to us in every hour. Have mercy upon us and forgive us for every instance of ingratitude, however evident in our lives.

In the long and tedious hours of each day, dear Father, give wisdom, courage and strength to each Senator according to his need. Amidst the many pressures of life, help us, Almighty God, to feel an urgency to listen to Thee; an urgency which, at the very least, is equal to the most urgent other matter that demands our time and talent today.

As we humbly and confidently pray, Lord, for Thy guiding hand to direct these who are charged with enacting right and proper legislation, so, dear Lord, do we pray for those charged with executing and interpreting with justice our laws.

We pray in that name which is above every name, Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. LANE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The resolution will be placed on the Calendar.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. STASEY, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations, reported, as committed, HB 6.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, this General Assembly, of which we are a part, has the collective, constitutional responsibility of reapportioning the Commonwealth according to the changes in population as indicated by each census conducted by the Federal Government. As a result of that, it has been my practice, since I have been a Member of the General Assembly, to introduce bills to carry out this constitutional obligation.

I am about to present a bill which will accomplish this end, as far as the Senate of Pennsylvania is concerned. This bill is designed to meet the constitutional requirements and also the changes in population in our Commonwealth. It comes after considerable research. It attempts to take into consideration not only the constitutional provisions and the changes in population, but also the geographical and other elements which enter into making a contiguous and representative reapportionment.

I would like to say that this bill considerably reduces the range of population served by each Senator from the extremes which exist under the present apportionment. The extremes we have at present, of course, are accounted for by the fact that during the many years since the last reapportionment took place, there have been significant changes in population. Counties which were once large in population have declined because of economic or other conditions. Other counties have greatly increased by suburban development and so on.

I believe this bill is a bill which is drawn according to the constitutional requirements. I believe, furthermore, it is a bill which is fair and which sets up these districts in proportion to the number of people that should be represented.

I would like to say this, however. It is impossible to reduce the range of the number of people represented by each Senator to the narrowness that I would desire. It is impossible because of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. If you will read the provision in the Constitution which sets up the requirements under which reapportionment must proceed, you will find there are certain requirements which make it impossible to have any better reapportionment, I believe, than this bill represents.

Therefore, I invite my colleagues to examine this bill. I also invite other groups in the Commonwealth who are interested in fair and good reapportionment to examine it. I would welcome communications from my colleagues, or any other people who are interested, and suggestions, so that when the time comes for the Committee on Reapportionment to discuss and study this bill, we may have the benefit of any ideas and suggestions which you may have—and which anyone in the Commonwealth may have—to improve this bill. I do not say that it is perfect. I simply say that I believe it is fair, and it is an attempt to do on a basis of fairness, and without political consideration, the reapportionment which is needed.

Therefore, Mr. President, I submit this bill.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. SEYLER presented to the Chair SB 761, entitled:

An Act fixing the number of Senators in the General Assembly of the State; apportioning the State into senatorial districts as provided by the Constitution; providing for the election of, and the terms of office of, the present and future elected Senators; and repealing inconsistent laws in respect thereto.

Which was committed to the Committee on Reapportionment.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the bill which I am about to introduce deals with the forgotten man of Pennsylvania. When I say "forgotten man," I mean a man who has escaped our attention. The time is ripe now to go after him.

I, personally, as you remember, was swept from the Turnpike in 1957 into a valley that was a veritable valley of death, and by a miracle I escaped being killed. It was entirely due to the fact that a vehicle which was behind me was mechanically unfit to be on the Turnpike. Some of the automobile mechanics in Pennsylvania are good repairmen, but some of them are just charlatans, who are not qualified to repair a vehicle which may be the carrier of death if it is unfit.

For this reason, I am now preparing a series of bills which will deal with this problem. One of the bills, which I will introduce next week, will deal with a system of examining automobile mechanics to ascertain who are fit for the job and who are not.

Before doing that, I am presenting this bill which will provide for criminal punishment for any automobile mechanic who is not doing a proper job, although he is representing to the man who came for repairs that he did a proper job.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL presented to the Chair SB 762, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "The Penal Code," making it illegal for a mechanic to misrepresent that certain work was done on a vehicle or that the vehicle is safe to operate and providing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also presented to the Chair SB 763, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 28, 1937 (P. L. 1053), entitled "Public Utility Law," requiring the posting of a bond for the payment of expenses and investigations in proceedings for the issuance of certificates of public convenience in certain cases.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

WEEKLY ADJOURNMENT

Mr. McCREESH offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, June 13, 1961.

RESOLVED (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvenes on Monday, June 19, 1961, at TWO o'clock p.m., E.S.T., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Tuesday, June 20, 1961, at an hour to be fixed by the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE RESOLUTION

DESIGNATING HIGHWAY ROUTE NO. 71 AS THE "GENERAL EDWARD MARTIN HIGHWAY"

Messrs. LANE, BERGER, SCOTT and WEINER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 71), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, June 13, 1961.

General Edward Martin, a former Governor of the Commonwealth and a man respected by all, was an enthusiastic proponent of highway construction during the entire span of his public life.

General Martin fought in three wars, the Spanish American War, World War I and World War II. He also served his State as a dedicated public servant. He was elected State Treasurer, Auditor General and Governor. He was a member of the Cabinet in the capacity of Adjutant General and he represented the people of Pennsylvania in Washington as a member of the United States Senate.

Because of his background and the service he has rendered to the citizens of our State, it is fitting and appropriate that legislative recognition be accorded General Edward Martin; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That Highway Route Number 71 from the Pennsylvania Turnpike at New Stanton to Washington, Pennsylvania be dedicated to the man during whose administration the first section of the road was built and that the highway be known as the "General Edward Martin Highway," and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Department of Highways shall erect along the highway suitable tablets and markers and shall carry out suitable landscape development to perpetuate this resolution. This highway shall also continue to be known as Route 71, and upon completion as Route 70 as currently planned.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, at this particular time, I want to say that I am extremely happy that the Members of the Senate unanimously adopted this resolution honoring one of Pennsylvania's outstanding citizens. I am speaking about one of the most prominent citizens in Washington County, the Honorable Edward Martin. Senator Martin, Governor Martin or General Martin is of a different political faith than myself. However, we people of Washington County and southwestern Pennsylvania hold him in great respect. We feel he is one of Pennsylvania's most outstanding citizens and we are indeed proud that General Martin makes his home in Washington, Pennsylvania.

For your further information, Mr. President, General Martin originated in Greene County, which is a Democratic district. I am happy to inform my fellow Democrats that a great number of General's Martin's relatives are members of the Democratic Party in Greene County.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to supplement the statement made by Senator Lane. When I heard the resolution read, I was somehow disturbed because I was afraid I would be pre-empted.

I am now preparing a resolution to hail Senator Martin as the man who wrote a great book, a book which we should review here in the form of a resolution. The title of the book is, "Always be on Time." In that book, Senator Martin, or Governor Martin, tells not only the story of his own life, but he projects it against a background of Pennsylvania's history. In due time, I am going to present such a resolution. Of course, I could not do it without asking Senator Lane to join me in it.

When Senator Lane mentioned the fact that Senator Martin is a great Pennsylvanian, we certainly agree that this is a minimization. He is not only a great Pennsylvanian, but he is also a great American.

I made this statement, Mr. President, in order that I would not be pre-empted by anybody else in dealing with this book, entitled "Always be on Time."

EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

FINAL PASSAGE CALENDAR

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

HB 442 (Pr. No. 2183)—And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, regarding this golfing bill, the last two times when it was up for Third Reading, there was considerable discussion among the Members of the Senate as to what protection a youngster, twelve to fourteen years of age, would have on a golf course in case he was injured. There was some question raised as to whether or not he is covered by workmen's compensation.

Apparently, the discussion spilled over into the House. It reached one of the sponsors of the bill, Mr. McCormack, who is a neighbor attorney in Philadelphia. He said that he was rather surprised there was any question raised as to the rights of a minor under workmen's compensation when he is engaged as a caddie. He told me that he tried a case himself on the subject and he won. He also told me that he would do a little research for me in very short order. I told him that it would be a good idea. He, apparently, missed his lunch because of preparing a brief statement for me which I would like to place into the record. The statement bears on this question of workmen's compensation and reads as follows:

"In the brief time I have been given to research the law on the subject of workmen's compensation and whether or not minor caddies would be covered thereunder, I would like to submit the following for the edification of the upper Chamber:

"Minors, whether illegally or legally employed, are covered by the Act. This is the Act of June 2, 1915, P. L. 736, as amended and re-enacted by the Act of June 21, 1939, P. L. 520. In the case of Fritsch v. Pennsylvania Golf Club, 355 Pa. 385, minor plaintiff (14 years of age) was employed to work on the greens by Llanarch. While riding a tractor, he was thrown off, sustaining personal injuries. Plaintiff proceeded at law for the injuries and the Supreme Court held that an action in trespass would not lie; that the only remedy was a claim under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

"In the case of Ando v. Duquesne Golf Association, 19 D and C 41 (1959), claimant (12 years old) accompanied his friend to the golf course. The caddy master assigned him a bag for the first time. On the 16th hole, one of the players hit a ball against the tree and caromed off claimant's head. The referee found that claimant was employed by the club. His finding was sustained by the Board. The court held that claimant was covered by the Workmen's Compensation Act, even though the caddy is paid directly by a third party rather than the club."

To the same effect, Mr. President, Mr. McCormack also cited the case of Fanning v. Apawana Golf Club, 169 Pa. Superior Court, page 180.

Mr. President, apparently under the decisions, there is no question that the minor would be covered by workmen's compensation. Therefore, I think the bill is worthwhile and I hope it receives a majority vote in this Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am certainly happy to know there has been some "Shepardizing" done on this case, because unless you "Shepardize" a case, you do not go back that far.

In the number of cases referred to, the people who hired the caddies were members of the club. In that way, the club became responsible for the member. However, I say to you, a man who goes out into the streets to get a caddie and who is not a member of a club is not covered under workmen's compensation, and that will require more "Shepardizing" on the part of the attorneys.

Mr. BERGER. Very briefly, Mr. President, I want to correct, on the record, a statement which I made in response to interrogation by Senator Haluska yesterday that in my opinion caddies were not covered by workmen's compensation, having in mind, of course, at that time, that the employment might probably be considered by the golfer himself with the caddie, and that it would be casual employment. However, Mr. President, I have had the benefit of the research done by some of my more learned colleagues, and I hasten to say that I now want to reanswer the interrogation by Senator Haluska and say that under the decision, caddies are covered by workmen's compensation.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I assume that my good colleague from Potter has done a little "Shepardizing," too.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The word "Shepardize," in legal terminology, is a volume know as "Shepard's Book," where you trace cases down to see if there is a later case that overruled or confirmed a former case. When Senator Haluska uses the word "Shepardize," he means: "Have you traced the case down to its end result?" Am I correct, Senator Haluska?

Mr. HALUSKA. You are correct, my friend.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Also, there is no charge for that information.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I come from the Forty-second District of the city of old Allegheny.

There is a boy ten years old who delivers my morning paper. Another boy twelve years old delivers the evening paper. The milkman comes there every day, and he makes about six dollars a day. Those two boys work harder than the milkman.

What I am fearful of here is that, as I have gathered, some members of labor are against this bill. I live and work in the workshop of the world, and I know all of the labor leaders there and not a one has contacted me about this bill.

I am fearful, if this bill does not pass, there will be legislation here—perhaps in this Session or the next one—which will stop every boy who is twelve years old from working for his father on his farm. I think it is about time that we should let these young people have something to do, and this bill allows them to get off the streets and have a little work that will do them good.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I certainly cannot buy that package. To think that a farmer cannot hire his own son is stretching the imagination quite far.

Certainly, there are sufficient men of age who would be more than glad to get a job as a caddie these days.

Both Democrats and Republicans throughout the years have fought hard to abolish child labor. Great credit is due these men. Now, for the first time in many years, we are turning back the clock. This is the greatest slap labor has received in many a year. In my opinion, it is an antilabor movement, and those who vote for the bill are voting against labor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. If we continue to argue this bill, summer will be over and these boys and girls will not be able to earn a dime.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

HB 428 (Pr. No. 2157)—Read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LANE, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Title, page 2, last two lines of Title, by striking out "extending the time during which the secretary shall suspend certain operators' privileges."

Amend Sec. (Sec. 1404), page 7, line 14, by striking out the brackets before and after "sixty (60)."

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 1404), page 7, line 14, by striking out striking out "one hundred twenty (120)."

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 1404), page 8, line 8, by striking out "one hundred twenty (120)."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. LANE.

BILL RECOMMITTED

SB 441 (Pr. No. 675)—Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 441 be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. CAMIEL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, the reason I made this motion is because there are now two bills in committee. I feel that this bill should be further studied and that the Committee on Judiciary General should come up with a bill, after study, that we all can live with and which will accomplish the purpose. I do not feel that Senate Bill No. 441, as it is now written, will accomplish the purpose for which it was intended.

By recommitting this bill to committee again, and together with two other bills—one by Senator Shafer and one by myself—and possibly putting the three bills together and coming out with one bill with which we can all live, I think we will then have a good administrator's bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise to oppose this motion. If there was ever a bill, in my experience, which has less need of further study than this bill, I do not know what it is. Just to refresh the minds of the Members, this bill, after its introduction, was reviewed at two meetings of the Committee on Judiciary General. A public hearing was held, which was largely attended by people interested in this type of legislation from all over the Commonwealth. Subsequently, the Committee on Judiciary General again considered the bill and, as a result, approved the bill and moved it to the floor. Since that time, it has been on the Calendar for some time. Considerable discussion in the newspapers and among the Members has taken place. The bill is supported by the Bar Association on the State level, and the two cities involved in it. It was unanimously supported by the Bar of one of the two cities involved in the bill. It has the support of mass organizations, such as the organizations of labor in the Commonwealth.

Therefore, Mr. President, it seems to me that the bill has had ample time for study. There should be no Members who are unacquainted with the provisions. If there are any changes which are recommended by any Member, of course, he is free to submit these changes in the form of amendments for the consideration of the Senate. I, therefore, see no reason for further study of this bill and I see no reason for it being returned to committee.

I would urge all the Members to keep this bill on the Calendar and meet this issue squarely. If anyone has suggested changes, they should put them in the form of amendments and submit them, and let the vote of this Senate make the decision as to whether this bill, in its present form, or in a modified form, should go ahead. I think this is one of the important bills in this Session and I do not think it should be obstructed at this point by being returned to committee.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I oppose the bill going back to committee. I feel that this is an area which has caused some problems and it is also an area about which there is a great deal of controversy on every side.

There have been many persons who have importuned me, and other Members of this Senate, in discussing this measure, even though the measure itself is on behalf of only the areas of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Apparently, other persons have great reservations about this bill and feel it is a rather radical approach, in the sense that you are setting someone up who is not of a judicial character or nature in himself in order to help to conduct judicial business. This is one of the areas which is causing problems. The lay council has also been one of the problems.

I agree with Senator Seyler that sending the bill back to committee is no answer, unless the Members of the Committee are going to meet very promptly and discuss this matter, along with the other measures which exist, and try to arrive at some sort of successful conclusion to the mounting backlog that we have been told exists in the Commonwealth.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would ask my colleagues to vote "no."

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I request a roll call.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease for a moment.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

VERIFICATION OF THE ROLL

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Request has been made to have the roll verified. The Clerk will proceed to call the names of those recorded as voting in the affirmative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative as follows:

Bell,	Fleming,	McCreesh,	Stiefel,
Berger,	Haluska,	Miller,	Stroup,
Camiel,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Chapman,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Confair,	Kessler,	Rooney,	Wade,
Donolow,	Kromer,	Scott,	Wagner,
Ehrgood,	Madigan,	Shafer,	Ware, III,
Flack,	Mallery,	Stevenson,	Wolfe,
			Yatron,

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The affirmative roll will stand as verified.

The Clerk will now proceed to call the names of those recorded as voting in the negative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative as follows:

Devlin,	Lane,	Mullin,	Silvert,
DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Murray,	Stalsey,
Hays,	McGinnis,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Kalman,	McMenamin,	Seyler,	Ripp,

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The negative roll will stand as verified.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SEYLER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—33

Bell,	Haluska,	Miller,	Stroup,

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 522 (Pr. No. 2184)—Read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LANE, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1 by striking out "Subsections (c) (d) and (e) section 405 section" and inserting: Sections 405

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 2 by striking out "section."

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 3 by inserting after "Code": Section 405 amended November 10, 1959 (P. L. 1456)

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 405), page 2, line 5 by striking out all of said line and inserting:

(a) The department upon registering a vehicle or tractor shall issue to the owner a registration card which shall contain the registration number assigned to the owner and to the vehicle or tractor the name and [address] home address or all business addresses of the owner also a description of the vehicle or tractor including the manufacturer's serial number thereof and such other statement of facts as may be determined by the department. The department shall if so requested issue to the owner of any vehicle or tractor whose registration is not under suspension a duplicate registration card or as many duplicate registration cards as the owner may request upon payment of the fee provided in this act for each such card. Each duplicate card shall be clearly marked "Duplicate" and shall not be transferable.

(b) The owner upon receiving the registration card and any duplicates thereof shall sign the usual signature or name of such owner with pen and ink in the space provided.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 407), page 4, line 5 by inserting brackets before and after "address" and inserting immediately thereafter: home or all business addresses

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 407), page 4, line 6 by inserting brackets before and after "address" and inserting immediately thereafter: home or all business addresses

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 407), page 4, line 8 by inserting after "address": or addresses

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

They were agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. LANE.

BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

SB 538 (Pr. No. 844)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I am not certain of what the purpose is behind this bill. However, it seems to me that it can prove to be, in the long run, nothing more or less than a bonanza for the bonding companies. It certainly will increase the rates and the cost of every utility to every consumer in Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would urge everyone to vote against the bill.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, it is the duty of this Body, it is the duty of the Governor, and it is the duty of the Public Utility Commission to look after the rates that are charged the consumers of this Commonwealth.

This bill came about through the mismanagement of a public utility company in Pennsylvania, which entered into a contract for $551,000. Two months after the contract was in effect, the general contractor went bankrupt. It was then the duty of the public utility company involved to complete the contract. They did complete the contract and it cost them an additional $171,000. This does not include the losses which the labor and materiel men suffered in this contract.

This bill will prevent the public utility companies in Pennsylvania from entering into contracts with irresponsible bidders. This is a good piece of legislation. This legislation will ultimately protect the consumer, who will be affected by increased rates.

Mr. President, I urge all of my colleagues in this great Body to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I must request that I be recorded as voting "present." It so happens that my profession is the bonding and real estate business, and I feel that the passage of this legislation would be of personal benefit to me.

Therefore, I request that I be recorded as voting "present."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Of course, your comments, Senator Lane, are noted in the record. The roll has not yet been called. So, we will decide that very shortly. Meanwhile, the Chair recognizes Senator McMENAMIN.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I would yield at the moment to Senator Haluska, who has not previously spoken.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I cannot quite agree with my good colleague from Washington County that he can exempt himself.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Sir, you are out of order. The Chair will rule on that question.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I, also, am in the bonding and insurance business and have been for thirty-seven years, and I have voted for many bills. Since it will not affect me directly, I take the position that I am permitted to vote. If you rule, Mr. President, that I cannot vote because I am in the insurance business, then naturally I will stand aside, too. Otherwise, I will demand to be voted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The comments are well-taken. The Chair now will recognize Senator McMENAMIN.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I want to thank the sponsor, Mr. Rooney, for enlightening me as to the purpose of this bill.

As I understand it, because of one instance of mismanagement—I think he said—by the officers and directors of a public utility company, he is sponsoring this legislation. It seems to me there are remedies other than this. Certainly, if the officials of that concern were guilty of mismanagement, they can be sued by the stockholders and surcharged for any additional cost.

There is certainly no reason to impose upon all of the consumers of electricity, gas, and so forth in Pennsylvania additional costs because of the mismanagement of one particular case in Pennsylvania. Just because one per cent is not responsible, there is no reason why ninety-nine per cent of the responsible people should be penalized.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, the public utility companies in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are a quasi-governmental agency. When any municipality or any State agency enters into a contract with a general contractor, the general contractor must furnish a bond for the protection of the municipality.

I feel that this is good legislation. It will prevent a recurrence of what recently happened in Pennsylvania.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, the gentleman from Washington County raised a constitutional question of whether or not he would be permitted to vote.

I find myself in the same business that he is in. My name will be called before his name is called. I would like a ruling from the Chair on whether or not that is a bar to voting on this measure.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. In the first place, the Chair believes we should have the roll call and wait until Senator Lane's name is called and see how he votes.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, my name will be called before the gentleman from Washington. If the Chair rules that he cannot vote, then I certainly fall in the same category.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair thinks your point is well-taken. The Chair will rule as follows:

Senator Lane—and if you fall in the same class, Senator Fleming—falls merely in a general class of bonding and insurance people. This bill is not directed at Senator Lane, nor is it directed at Senator Fleming. The Chair, therefore, rules that Senator Lane must vote, other than merely voting "present." He must vote for or against the bill or the Chair will vote for him accordingly.

That is the ruling of the Chair. The Senator must vote.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I feel that the Chair is in error, because where any Member of the Senate feels that he is going to benefit directly from the passage of any piece of legislation, I think it is upon his conscience to say so and to vote "present." If you persist in that ruling, I must appeal the decision of the Chair, and ask that the Chair step down.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I believe the rules of the Senate contain a decision on that point, which was rendered by Lieutenant Governor Lloyd Wood, as to whether or not a Senator may vote "present." If you will consult the rules of the Senate, probably light will be shed by this precedent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Let the Chair say this. You will recall when a vote of "present" was permitted on behalf of the Honorable Senator DiSilvestro, and I think the name is well worth mentioning in this great Body. He was permitted to vote "present" only because the particular increase was directed specifically at him and his office and, therefore, his personal interest was involved.

This legislation is not class legislation. It no more affects Senator Lane than it does a lot of other people. If the Chair were to rule other than it did, then lawyers in this Body could not vote on legal matters, real estate men could not vote on real estate broker laws, and so forth.

The Chair stands on its ruling, and will not withdraw from the Chair. Let us proceed with business.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease. (The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease having expired, the Chair has made its ruling and the roll will be called.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, not having heard my name called, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Lane,

Less than a majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative, and the bill was defeated.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ROONEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, according to the rules of the Senate, I guess there are five legislative days in which to reconsider this bill. I do not, however, intend to have it reconsidered.

There are some representatives of the various public utility companies in this room, and I do hope that this instance will serve as an example for any utility company to not enter into any contract with irresponsible bidders. I hope we will not have a recurrence of it. I hope the public utility companies will be a little more selective in the future.

BILL RECOMMITTED

SB 661 (Pr. No. 763)—Upon motion of Mr. WEINER, seconded by Mr. LANE, and agreed to, the bill was re-committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 667 (Pr. No. 777)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 667 be recommitted to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would object to the re-committal of Senate Bill No. 667, Printer's No. 777, which provides for a career system for technical and professional personnel in the Department of Highways.

This is a matter which has long been desired by the Highways Department, by the Engineering Societies and by the Engineering Schools. Consequently, Mr. President, I would ask my colleagues in the Senate, on both sides, to oppose this motion.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wonder whether either Senator Wade or Senator Fleming would allow themselves to be interrogated. I presume they are going to speak on behalf of the bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I will permit myself to be interrogated. I was going to object to the motion to re-commit this bill. However, I reserve the right to refer some of the questions to my colleague, Senator Confair, who is well informed on the provisions of this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I know that the gentleman feels, as many of the Members do, that this is like being in favor of motherhood. Believe me, we are all for motherhood and we are also in favor of the Flag, tomorrow being Flag Day. However, I would like the gentleman to explain to me the need for the board, which they speak about in this bill, and the wide powers this board would have.

I am in favor of this bill and I can assure you that every Democratic Member over here is for it, in blanketing in this personnel. We are anxious to do it. However, I fail to see the reason for this board, the composition of the board, and who these people will be. If the gentleman can advise me of that and why they are going to do what they are going to do, I will be very happy to vote for this bill this afternoon.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I will attempt to explain to the gentleman the reason for this particular board.

The employees of the Department of Highways are really in a special class. There was some criticism of the Department when Mr. George Leader became the Governor of Pennsylvania because there was such an exodus of these trained engineers from the department. However, since the gentleman took some latitude in making the interrogation, I might comment now that I feel that the Majority Leader, representing the Administration, is against any move of this kind. There is evidence of that and —

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, will state his point of order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not mind the gentleman making a speech and I would be delighted to listen to him. However, I do not think he is answering my question. If he wants me to make the question more specific, I will be very happy to do so.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, even in the courtroom, the type of question which the gentleman has asked may be answered and the witness may explain his answer. I believe he has that privilege on this floor even more so.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I agree with the Minority Leader. If the gentleman would only answer my question, I will be happy to listen to any explanation which follows thereafter.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, unless the Senator is permitted to give his answer without objection, I am quite sure that Senator Weiner will never be satisfied.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to assure the gentleman that I am very easily satisfied.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Now that we are all satisfied, let us proceed.

Is a question in order or is an answer forthcoming? Senator Weiner, did you put a question to the gentleman?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I asked a question of the gentleman and I will be glad to ask him again, even more specifically.

On page 6 of this bill, beginning with line 4, it reads as follows:

"The fourth such member shall by experience have acquired a reputation as knowledgeable in the principles and practices of public administration . . ."

If the gentleman will advise me as to that meaning and what is meant by "reputation," and who these board members shall be, I will be very happy to vote for this bill.

I remember when the gentleman from Cumberland was the Chairman of the Highways Committee. When this was placed in that committee at the time, I believe the bill was never reported from committee. It might have been for the same reason.

If the gentleman will tell me what this board will do and why they will do it, I will be glad to vote in favor of the bill.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the bill very clearly outlines the duties of the board and sets up the board. As I previously answered the gentleman, these particularly trained employees of the Department of Highways are in a different category than the general run of State employees. Their duties are different and their qualifications are different. For that reason, we feel they should have a special board for this purpose.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise me, and the other Members of this Senate, how these engineers are any different than those who work for the General State Authority, the School Authority, or the Highway and Bridge Authority? Why should they have any different type of handling than they do anywhere else in the entire Commonwealth?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the Department of Highways, of course, is a long-term operation. It is a large operation. It embodies the expenditure of about one-half billion dollars, annually. Therefore, the present Highways Secretary has stated that he wants to do approximately forty per cent of the general engineering of the Department of Highways in the department. I do not agree with that percentage, but that is his aim.

Some time ago, we had a resolution for consideration which commented on his good work over in the Department of Highways. Perhaps I would not agree with the entire administration of his Department, but he has said on many, many occasions, in my presence,—and it has been reported in the press that he has made statements—that he badly needs this particular kind of a bill. I might add, Mr. President, for the enlightenment of the Majority Leader, that this bill was prepared largely under his instruction.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the gentleman will look at page 6 of the bill about which we are speaking, the only thing I can see is that they want a member of this board to be a faculty member of a Pennsylvania School of Engineering, accredited by the State Registration Board of Professional Engineers.

Does that mean they are going to choose people who are graduates of other schools, other than these types of schools? Are they going to have different types of training? For example, a man may not choose the Department of Highways but may choose the Department of Property and Supplies. If we are going to set up that kind of a board, I think we need a board for the others.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, as I understand the bill, this is setting up the board. It does not apply to the employees of the department.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman look on pages 2 and 3 of the bill and tell me who is not included in the term "professional personnel"? There is a long list of persons who are included, among whom is the Secretary of Highways. It goes all the way down to administrative technicians. Who has been left out?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, if the language, starting on page 2, line 14, does not suit Senator Weiner's liking, we certainly would entertain any amendments the gentleman wishes to propose. The gentleman has not proposed any amendments and, therefore, I think he is entirely out of order by trying to move this bill back to committee.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, apparently the gentleman is devoted to this measure and I do not want to do anything which would lessen that devotion nor, in any way, cause him to become cool to this measure. Therefore, Mr. President, I will withdraw my motion and ask that the bill go over in order.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I yield to Senator Confair who is well informed on these matters. I think we should clarify this measure and clear the air.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion to recommit this bill, but I think you should know that a motion to recommit is not debatable.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will now go over in its order.

SB 670—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

BILLS RECOMMITTED

SB 704 (Pr. No. 818), SB 705 (Pr. No. 819), SB 706 (Pr. No. 820) and SB 707 (Pr. No. 821)—Mr. WEINER.

Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 704, Senate Bill No. 705, Senate Bill No. 706 and Senate Bill No. 707 be recommitted to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the reason for this motion is that the acts which these bills are amending are rather broad. I think there is some misinterpretation. I have discussed this with the department. I do not think they were aware completely of how far-reaching this might be.

I have no objection to introducing the amendments on the floor. However, it may be a little while before they get all of the amendments in order, and I would rather do it in committee.

These bills will be back on the Calendar as soon as the department prepares some of the amendments along the lines we have suggested.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 715 (Pr. No. 2255)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LANE, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 203), page 2, line 11, by striking out "June 1 1961" and inserting: January 1, 1963

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 203), page 2, line 12, by striking out "December 1 1961" and inserting: June 30, 1963

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 203), page 2, lines 18 and 19, by striking out "June 1 1961" and inserting: January 1, 1963

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 302), page 4, line 6, by striking out "June 1, 1961" and inserting: January 1, 1963

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 302), page 4, line 9, by striking out "December 1, 1962" and inserting: June 30, 1964

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. LANE.

HB 716 (Pr. No. 2256)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 203), page 2, line 12, by striking out "December 1, 1961" and inserting: June 30, 1963

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 203), page 2, lines 18 and 19, by striking out "June 1 1961" and inserting: January 1, 1963

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 302), page 4, line 6, by striking out "June 1 1961" and inserting: January 1, 1963

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 302), page 4, line 9, by striking out "December 1 1962" and inserting: June 30, 1964

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. LANE.

BILL RECOMMITTED

HB 718 (Pr. No. 2212)—Upon motion of Mr. WEINER, seconded by Mr. LANE, and agreed to, the bill was recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 721 and HB 895—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

HB 985 and 1007—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

HB 1082 (Pr. No. 1199)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SCOTT, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Title, page 2, last line of Title by inserting after "polls"; and changing residence requirements for watchers

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1 by striking out "Section" where it appears the second time and inserting: "Subsection (b) of section 417 and section"

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 2 by striking out "is" and inserting: are

Amend Bill, page 2, by inserting between lines 2 and 3: "Section 417 Appointment of Watchers—

(b) All watchers so appointed must be qualified registered electors of the [district] municipality or township in which they are authorized to act Only one watcher for each candidate at primaries or for each party or political body at general municipal or special elections shall be allowed to remain in the polling place at any one time prior to the close of the polls and all watchers in the room shall remain outside the enclosed space After the close of the polls and while the ballots are being counted or voting machine canvassed all the watchers shall be permitted to be in the polling place outside the enclosed space Each watcher shall be provided with a certificate from the county board of elections stating his name and the name of the candidate party or political body he represents Watchers shall be required to show their certificates when requested to do so Watchers allowed in the polling place under the provisions of this act shall be permitted to keep a list of voters and shall be entitled to challenge any person making application to vote and to require proof of his qualifications as provided by this act

* * *

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, the amendments I have offered contain a recommendation of the Senate Vote Fraud Committee. As a matter of fact, it is my opinion that this is probably the most important single recommendation that the Vote Fraud Committee has made, and it deals with the residence requirement of watchers for political parties or political candidates.

The present law on the subject is that watchers must be residents of the election district in which they are appointed to serve. These amendments would change that to allow them to reside in the municipality or township in which they are serving, and not confine them to the particular election district.

There are many reasons why the present law is antiquated on the subject. However, I think I would like to read into the record some of the testimony which was presented to our committee in support of a change in the existing law on this subject.

First of all, the Committee of the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which made an investigation of certain election irregularities in the city of Philadelphia and which was conducted by one Victor Wright, reported to the Attorney General that this recommendation had a great deal of merit.

The Citizens' Charter Committee which did a great deal of study on election reforms in Pennsylvania, had this to say:

"Some informed observers believe that the removal of the requirement that a watcher be a resident of the division in which he serves would be the single most important reform which could be adopted to reduce election irregularities in Philadelphia or Pennsylvania."

The Americans for Democratic Action, which appeared before the Committee, of which I was Chairman, testified on this subject, and they recommended wholeheartedly that such a change be made in the law.

Finally, Mr. President, the committee received a communication from the then District Attorney of the City of Philadelphia, one Victor Blanc, who now is a member of the judiciary of the City of Philadelphia, and he, in his communication to the committee, recommended that such a change be made in the law.

For these various reasons which were presented to our committee and because I believe the present law on the subject is antiquated, I suggest to all of my colleagues that they vote "aye" on these amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am going to object to these amendments. I believe if anyone will take the trouble to look at this, they will see that the item that is being amended first is the title. The bill would then read:

"An Act amending the act of June 3, 1937 entitled 'Pennsylvania Election Code' further regulating the time for opening and closing polls and changing residence requirements for watchers . . ."

I do not feel this is the proper place to put these amendments. The first part of this bill provides for the time when the polls shall open and when they shall close. It just changes the time in order to have them remain open an hour longer. What you are doing by these amendments is rewriting a whole new section in the Election Code, on which this has no bearing whatsoever. I would think these are not proper amendments to this type of legislation.

It is also the subject of a new amendment that would be acted upon separately. Members seeing this measure would think it would be on the subject of the opening and closing of the polls, when, in fact, they would also be voting for the residence requirements of watchers. I do not think these are proper amendments to this bill. Therefore, I object to the amendments.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I anticipated the objection which has been raised by the Majority Leader. I checked and cleared with the Legislative Reference Bureau as to the legality of doing something such as I am doing in offering these amendments to this particular bill. They assured me that the subject matter is the Election Code of Pennsylvania and, therefore, I could offer amendments to that Code.

Accordingly, I do not think the Majority Leader's objections are valid. I think the amendments are in proper form and amending the proper Act. Therefore, I do not agree with his contention.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe that even a cursory perusal of these amendments will indicate to you that in the last part, they read: "Amend Bill, page 2, by inserting between lines 2 and 3 . . ." They do not say anything about taking out Section 2, which appears in the Act now.

Line 3, on page 3, reads: "Section 2 This Act shall take effect immediately . . ."

You are supposed to fit in on page 2, between lines 2 and 3, the following:

"Amend Bill, page 2, by inserting between lines 2 and 3: Section 417. Appointment of Watchers—"

Then you have asterisks, and underneath you have Section (b); a small "b" in parenthesis. Then it goes on:

"All watchers so appointed must be qualified registered electors of the . . ." The word "district" is then bracketed out, or taken out, and the words "municipality or township" are inserted by being underscored, followed by the words: "in which they are authorized to act . . ."

Then there is the whole remainder of this long paragraph, which runs probably the length of this bill and probably the next bill with it. There are something like twenty-two lines that appear next.

If this is not a new bill or a different bill that does not amend this one, I know nothing about this legislation.

With all due regard and respect for the Legislative Reference Bureau, which I think, is hard working and does an excellent job, I do not think they control this Senate Body. I would ask the Chair to carefully consider this matter, and think carefully about making a ruling in regard to these amendments. This may be the subject matter of a new bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I do not know if the Majority Leader made a formal request for a ruling. However, I would like to. I would like to raise a point of order, Mr. President, that under the rules of the Senate these amendments are not proper amendments.

I am interested to find that Senator Scott turns to the Legislative Reference Bureau as the authority on the rules of the Senate. It had been my conception that the authority was vested in the Chair. Therefore, I would ask for a ruling from the Chair on this point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Your question is not clear, sir.

Mr. SEYLER. My question is, Mr. President, that the proposed amendments offered by the gentleman are not proper amendments under the rules of the Senate.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, by way of explanation to the query that Senator Seyler raised, the reason I asked the Legislative Reference Bureau as to their view on this situation was because I wanted to discover whether there was any precedent for this having been done before. They assured me that it had been done before many times in this Chamber.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not doubt that many things have been done before. It is just that if no one objects to them, they can be done improperly.

I would also suggest to the gentleman that the amendments he has suggested are not only not germane to the measure before us, but I think that anyone looking at this bill, and taking just two minutes to study the contents thereof, would not even be aware of this type of amendment or consider this type of amendment being a proper one or a part of this measure. It would never occur to them that this would even be considered at this time.

As a matter of fact, Senator, to follow through on what you are saying, I could put in here that all voting machines be hung from the ceiling, which amendment would make it part of the Election Code. However, it certainly would be improper, I think, to put it in this type of a bill. This is a new and separate matter. It is also a separate issue that would have to be thought about, and it involves different areas of the Act you are speaking about.

One of the reasons we print these bills is to bring them to the attention of the Members and to give them notice thereof.

It may be that what you are trying to do is laudable. It may even be something that I could vote for, and other Members of the Senate could vote for. However, I certainly think that throwing this in on the basis of amendments of this type,—one that runs about twenty or thirty lines—and having had no opportunity to consider them as being partially amendments when we are talking about opening and closing of polls, is an improper way of going at it. I, therefore, ask the Chair to rule on the impropriety of offering this type of amendment to this type of legislation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease for a moment while the Chair takes a more thorough look at the amendments.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, at this time, I would like to withdraw my request for a ruling from the Chair.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

AMENDMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask that the amendments be placed on the table and that House Bill No. 1082, Printer's No. 1199, go over in its order until such time as I can get a ruling from the Attorney General on this matter. They will finally be the people who will pass on it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is that agreeable with you, Senator Scott?

Mr. SCOTT. It is perfectly agreeable with me. I have an understanding with Senator Weiner that the ruling from the Attorney General will be in writing.

Mr. WEINER. I will request that it be in writing and sent here.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Accordingly, the Chair will place the amendments on the table and, at the request of the Majority Leader, the bill will go over in its order, on third reading.

HB 1139—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

SENATE RESOLUTION

TRIBUTE TO THE LATE JUDGE J. HAROLD FLANNERY

Messrs. MURRAY and FLACK, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 72), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, June 13, 1961.

It is with much sadness that the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania notes the passing of Judge J. Harold Flannery of Luzerne County. He was a great jurist and an industrious and faithful public servant. His span of public service dates from 1932 to the time of his death. This public service included the offices of Assistant District Attorney, three terms as Congressman from his district and two terms as a judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Luzerne County. His election to a third term was assured this fall.

No higher tribute can be paid to Judge Flannery than that which the citizens of Luzerne County paid him in 1951 and again in 1961 by nominating him for judge of the Common Pleas Court by both political parties. This is the finest and the most understandable tribute that can be paid to the late President Judge J. Harold Flannery.

Judge J. Harold Flannery was born in Pittston, April 19, 1898, a son of Major and Mrs. John T. Flannery. He was educated at Wyoming Seminary and Dickinson School of Law.

He is survived by his wife Anne Allan Flannery and a son Attorney J. Harold Flannery Jr.; therefore be it

Resolved, that the Senate hereby extends to the wife and son its sincere condolences on the passing of a dear husband and a kind and considerate father, and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Anne Flannery and to J. Harold Flannery Jr., Esq., 906 Susquehanna Avenue, W. Pittston, Pennsylvania.

RECONSIDERATION OF SB 601

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No.

601, Printer's No. 865, failed of final passage on June 12, 1961.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote? Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote? Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 601 appear on tomorrow's Final Passage Calendar.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. The bill will appear on tomorrow's Final Passage Calendar.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

CAUCUSES

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to announce at this point, if all reports from committees are completed, we will immediately break for a 30-minute lunch and then there will be a Democratic caucus for 1 hour and 15 minutes. The caucus will begin at 15 minutes after 12, and I ask all the members to bring with them their House calendars.

I yield to the minority leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. May I question the majority leader? Did he say an hour and 35 minutes or 45 minutes?

Mr. McCANN. That will be an hour and 45 minutes total, a 30-minute lunch period and an hour-and-15-minute caucus.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the majority leader to say that we will break now for lunch and start our caucus at a quarter after 12, daylight saving time? Is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then we will run until what time in caucus?

Mr. McCANN. That will start at a quarter after 12 for one hour and 15 minutes, or 1:30, completing the caucus. We will telephone each other at that point to see what has been completed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. We will be done at 1:30. That will be agreeable to those on our side. We will immediately have our lunch for one-half hour and the time for caucus will be a quarter after 12, daylight saving time.

Mr. McCANN. Then, Mr. Speaker, depending on how much they have caucused, we will proceed this afternoon with all the bills and, if another caucus is needed later, another one will be held, depending on how we finish our work. Then, if necessary, when we get near the 6 o'clock period, we will determine whether there will be a session later in the night.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the Chair now declares a recess for one hour and 45 minutes. The Chair hears no objection. Recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 350, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), eliminating residence requirements for board secretaries.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Kelly,	Musto,	Reidenbach,	Walsh,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, we have not really discussed the effect of my not amending House bill No. 519 in our caucus. I spoke to Mr. Fineman and told him I would not offer the amendments because I understood that your side was going to oppose them unanimously. I think the bill is bad legislation in its present form and I ask the members to vote against it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, are we in a position, though, to vote? I want to call it up.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. We discussed it in our caucus, so I assume you are in position to call it up.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up House bill No. 519, printer's No. 2005.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 519, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), authorizing the use of chemical tests to determine intoxication of persons operating motor vehicles and making the results of the chemical tests admissible in evidence.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I briefly want to talk about House bill 519, because I think before the members of this House vote on this bill, the bill should be regarded in a proper light.

I am not for legislation that merely places in the hands of our law enforcement officers another tool for the harassment of motorists. This bill not only is a safety measure as such, but goes a long way towards protecting the motorist.

Let me explain to you what I mean.

This bill provides that a chemical test of a driver's blood can be taken through a breath inhalation test for the purpose of determining whether or not he is under the influence of intoxicating liquors. I think everyone agrees with the proposition that a motor vehicle in the hands of a motorist who is intoxicated is just as much a lethal weapon as a gun in the hands of a person who is under the influence of liquor. It certainly is not our intention to protect that type of reckless person who jeopardizes life and limb and property by his reckless conduct. On the other hand, when I say this bill protects the motorist, I refer to the fact that under our case law today in this State a motorist can be convicted in our courts on a charge of driving while under the influence of an intoxicating beverage simply on the testimony of a lay person, someone who is not expert, someone who can come into court and say, "The man looked to me like he was drunk. He was thick of speech; the pupils of his eyes were dilated; his gait was unsteady," and time and medicine have taught us that there are many pathological conditions such as multiple sclerosis, a brain tumor, any blow to the head, diabetes, all of these things, will produce symptoms, manifestations that are identical to what you get when you are in fact under the influence of an intoxicating liquor. So this is a means of exonerating those men who might have the appearance, give all the indicia of being drunk when in fact they are not. There are many cases where an individual with one or two drinks, and certainly not under the influence of an intoxicating beverage, but who gave the indicia of being drunk because of a pathological condition has been convicted when in fact he has been an innocent bystander. This bill is in truth a measure of protection for the innocent as well as a means of convicting those who were trying to get out from under a crime as heinous as this one.

We all recognize that there has been carnage committed on our highways, and both state and national surveys indicate that 50 percent of all accidents involving fatalities showed that the drivers of those vehicles were under the influence of an intoxicating beverage. So from the standpoint of safety, from the standpoint of protecting the rights of those who have been wrongly accused and have no defense other than to say, "I was not drunk," this bill merits our favorable attention.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. May I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, under this bill, could a person with alcoholic blood content of 0.06 be found guilty of being under the influence of intoxicating beverages?

Mr. FINEMAN. He could.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Does any State in the Union have such a low percentage?

Mr. FINEMAN. Almost all the States that have enacted legislation similar to this used the same tables that are incorporated in House bill 519.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. What is the recent amendment to the New York statute?

Mr. FINEMAN. By way of answering the question, let me say this: Our bill provides that if the amount of alcohol by weight in the blood of the person tested is 0.05 percent or less, it shall be presumed that the person tested was not under the influence.

If the amount of alcohol by weight in the blood is between 0.05 percent, but less than 0.15 percent there is no presumption. The State of New York has lowered that requirement and it now rules that from 0.05 percent to 0.10 percent, so that if a person has 0.11 percent of alcohol by weight in his blood he is presumed to be intoxicated, whereas under our bill it has to go up to 0.15 percent.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I understood that the New York amendment did not have a scale between 0.05 and 0.10. Are you sure that is correct?

Mr. FINEMAN. Yes, I am pretty sure.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. You are pretty sure?

I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I have no quarrel with the purpose of this bill. I think it is a worthy purpose and was part of the Republican platform program in the House. I do think, however, that the 0.05 figure is too low and is lower than most of the States in the Union. Therefore I oppose the bill.

Mr. FINEMAN. I would like to say that under our law today, any man who would have any figure of alcohol by weight in his blood, be it below 0.05 or above 0.05, can be convicted as our law stands today.

Here the motorist is getting a break by setting up a sliding scale. Now I want to say to you that in connection with this scale, these figures that were used and employed are the most liberal figures arrived at after a series of tests conducted by the American Medical Association and the National Safety Council.

I have before me the Journal of the American Medical Association which I would briefly like to read as to the percentages to which you make reference.

"The following recommendations were agreed on by the committees of the National Safety Council and the American Medical Association:"

And they have three classifications which we have embodied in House bill 519.

"1. Although there is no minimal figure which can be set at which there will be absolutely no effect from alcohol, the committee recommends that persons with a concentration of alcohol of less than 0.05% by weight in blood or its equivalent in urine, saliva, or breath should not be prosecuted for driving while under the influence of alcoholic liquor.

"2. Between 0.05 and 0.15%, a liberal wide zone, alcoholic influence usually is present, but courts of law are advised to consider the behavior of the individual and circumstances leading to the arrest in making their decision.

"3. At 0.15%, or above, there is definite evidence of 'under the influence,' since every individual with this concentration would have lost to a measurable extent some of that clearness of intellect and control of himself that he would normally possess."

And finally this statement:

"These limits were purposely made liberal so that no injustice would be done to the person with unusual tolerance."

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, is there any provision in this bill that would require the police to administer this test?

Mr. FINEMAN. There is not.

Mr. McCORMACK. Where the defendant or the person accused demands it?

Mr. FINEMAN. There is not. This is a may bill, but the person so accused can have his own physician make the test.

Mr. McCORMACK. No, I am thinking of the situation where I am arrested and charged with that crime and I demand that the police submit me to such a test and the police refuse to do it. Is that not a situation where—

Mr. FINEMAN. I would be all for such a bill. As a matter of fact, as the bill was originally worded, that kind of interpretation could have been read into this thing, but the bill was amended as it came out of committee so that the implied consent which was written into the law was deleted therefrom.

Mr. McCORMACK. I suppose that is because of a person not being compelled to incriminate himself.

Mr. FINEMAN. The proposition of law that spells out the fact that a person cannot be compelled to testify against himself, so the appellate court has said, only goes to oral utterances; it does not go to matters such as this or the taking of fingerprints.

Mr. McCORMACK. Anyhow, there is nothing in this bill that would inure as a benefit to the defendant, if he requested it and the police refused to give him that test.

Mr. FINEMAN. Well, I think that fact itself would inure it to his benefit. In other words, if it is a kind of trial, counsel for the defendant says to the witness for the prosecution: Did the defendant ask you to take a breath inhalation test? And, the witness says: No. He would say: Why did you not? We did not want to. This is a fact that a counsel certainly can plead to a jury in behalf of his defendant, by saying if that test had been taken we would have definitely and accurately established that my client was not under the influence of liquor.

Mr. McCORMACK. I see. Thank you.

Mr. Speaker, as an attorney who has handled quite a number of these prosecutions representing defendants who have been accused of operating under the influence, I am heartily in accord with the provisions of this bill. The haphazard way in which the police operate, as the gentleman from Philadelphia mentioned when he debated the merits of the bill, leaves something to be desired, so that any time you walk out of the criminal court as the result of a conviction, or otherwise, it seems to me that the attorney for the defendant is never convinced as to whether or not this person was indeed operating under the influence. It depends entirely upon the whims, the caprice and the arbitrary actions of the particular police officer, and therefore I certainly think this is something that has been needed in this Commonwealth for a long time.

There may be some question as to the percentage of the content on the breath, but I think it has been demonstrated that it has worked in other jurisdictions and there is no reason why it cannot be tried here. If there is any question about its lasting merit, we can always come back in a later session and amend it. But this is indeed a step in the right direction and I ask both sides, strictly on a non-partisan, bipartisan, basis, to support this bill in the interests of highway safety.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the hall of the House William Ellis Zimmerman, a former member of this House from 1933 to 1935 from Montgomery County. He is a guest of the Representative from Montgomery, Evelyn G. Henzel.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1496, entitled:

An Act repealing section 5.1 of the "Local Health Administration Law" approved August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1304), relating to the dissolution of and withdrawal from certain departments of health.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill is the same as House bill 460 which was previously before this House and which was defeated. I now raise a point of order: whether or not under Rule 49 of the House a like bill can be reintroduced in the same session of the legislature in which the previous bill has been defeated.

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read its ruling on the point of order raised.

House Rule 49 provides:

"When a bill has been defeated by the House it shall not be reintroduced nor shall it be in order to consider a similar one or to act on a Senate bill of like import during the same session."

The purpose of this rule, of course, is to prevent perhaps endless voting on questions upon which the judgment of the House has been expressed during the current session. Mark the expression: "the judgment of the House has been expressed during the current session."

It is equally essential, however, that the discretion of the House should not be confined by its rules so as to prevent it from changing its mind when such change is deemed proper and necessary.

This is precisely what the House has done with respect to House bill No. 460, printer's No. 499, when it reconsidered the vote on April 5th by which this bill was defeated on final passage and placed it on the postponed calendar.

When the vote was reconsidered, that vote canceled completely the vote defeating House bill 460 as though it never had been taken.

It is, therefore, the opinion of the Chair that House bill 460, having been revived by the action of the House, does not come within the scope of a defeated bill under the provision of House Rule 49, and that House bill 1496, being identical with House bill 460, printer's No. 499, is properly before the House for its consideration.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Do I interpret, then, that your decision is that this bill is properly before the House under Rule 49?

The SPEAKER. The ruling is that this bill is now properly before the House for consideration for the reasons stated.

Does the gentleman from Cameron desire to read for himself the copy of the decision arrived at by the Chair?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the ruling is that this bill is properly before the House?

The SPEAKER. It is now properly before the House.

APPEAL FROM RULING

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, then I appeal from the ruling of the Chair in connection with the interpretation of Rule 49 on this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will ask the gentleman from Armstrong to preside.

Was the appeal properly seconded?

Seconded by the minority leader, Mr. Johnson.

Maybe the minority leader would like to read the ruling by the Chair before we debate.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR.

On the question,

Shall the House sustain the ruling of the Chair?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Those voting "aye" vote to sustain the ruling of the Chair. Those voting "no" vote against sustaining the ruling of the Chair.

Mr. McCANN. If the gentleman from Cameron will be first, I would like to be last. It does not take too much debate on this appeal of the ruling of the Chair.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, yields to the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron. Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, Rule 49 provides:

"When a bill has been defeated by the House, it shall not be reintroduced nor shall it be in order to consider a similar one or to act on a Senate bill of like import during the same session."

Now, Mr. Speaker, I agree with you that the rules of the House are made for the House and are in control of the majority vote of the House. But the Speaker then proceeds in his ruling and states that:

"It is equally essential, however, that the discretion of the House should not be confined by its rules so as to prevent it from changing its mind when such change is proper and necessary."

Mr. Speaker, I raise the issue here, is it proper and necessary that we change the rules of the House for the purpose of permitting this bill to be considered for the second time in the same session, contrary to the rules which we have established in order to prevent the very thing which the rule was intended to cover?

And for that reason I have appealed from the ruling of the Chair and would ask the House to support the rule and support the appeal to the effect that this bill should not be reconsidered at this time because of its previous defeat in this House this session.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I, of course, will speak and ask the members not to vote on this issue with the bill that is involved for this reason: When the reconsideration motion was placed before the House to reconsider House bill 460, after it had been defeated on final passage, this House does have an agreement, and that agreement has been kept, that any bill that falls may be reconsidered when it is placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

House bill 460 was reconsidered and it was placed on the calendar in the proper category.

The Speaker has properly ruled, in our opinion, on this issue that the House did nullify that vote which is proper for reconsideration under House Rule 49.

Now then, there was a parliamentary error committed on the bill in which a violation of another House rule had occurred. That was that House bill 460 was amended on the floor of the House, then recommitted, and the amendments taken out in committee, and this is a violation of another House rule. Amendments placed in a bill, of course, follow that bill and cannot be taken out of the bill in the committee action.

The reconsideration motion to vote on House bill 460 was approved by this House, and, therefore, House bill 1496 is identical to House bill 460, word for word, in which the reconsideration motion was granted.

I ask that the membership sustain the Speaker and vote to sustain the ruling of the Chair to which an appeal has been taken by the minority whip.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, we look upon the ruling of the Chair as an effort to by-pass our rules by a subterfuge ruling. It seems to me the remedy should be, if they want to reconsider this bill, a motion to suspend the rules, suspend Rule 49, particularly, in order that this bill could be reconsidered, not to do it by a ruling which, in my opinion, is a subterfuge to obtain that same purpose.

Mr. McCANN. Will the Speaker please reaffirm the position for the vote?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Those voting "aye" vote to sustain the ruling of the Chair; those voting "no" vote against sustaining the ruling of the Chair.

Does the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, desire to be recognized?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Yes, Mr. Speaker. Since we raised this question, in Mason's Manual, which is, as I take it, our bible of parliamentary procedure, apparently unbeknown to us, and I believe Mr. Tompkins, section 468, under "Effective Reconsideration," says, "No. 1, When a vote is reconsidered, that vote is canceled as completely as though it had never been taken."

If that is the rule and the Chair so indicates and we are bound by that rule, then it would seem that the ruling of the Speaker, it just seems to me, we will have to rely on.

I have not talked to Mr. Tompkins about it, but was the ruling of the Chair in respect to Mason's Manual in section 468?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That was a part of the Chair's ruling. That was the ruling of the Chair.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Is that the basis of the Chair's decision, this section 468?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is correct.

APPEAL WITHDRAWN

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I have talked with Mr. Tompkins. In view of that particular ruling, if we are bound by section 468 of Mason's Manual, we then withdraw our appeal.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, withdraw his appeal?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The maker of the appeal and the seconder of the appeal have withdrawn their objections.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Butler, Mr. McCandless, desire to debate the bill?

Mr. McCANDLESS. I want to offer amendments to this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. McCANDLESS. I have the same amendments here that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson, offered to bill 460 as it was originally, which were not put into the bill, and I am going to offer these amendments again to be put into this bill 1496.

Mr. McCANDLESS asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Section 1 Subsection (c) of section 5, act of August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1304), known as the "Local Health Administration Law," is amended to read:

Section 5. Creation of County Departments of Health.—
* * *

(c) Any county may, by referendum, create a single-county department of health. Two or more counties may, by a separate referendum in each county, create a joint-county department of health. The referendum procedure in each county shall be as follows:

A petition requesting the creation of a single-county department of health or joint-county department of health shall be signed by qualified electors of the county equal in number to at least [one per cent (1%)] ten per cent (10%) of the highest total vote cast for any county office at the last municipal election. The petition shall be in the form required for nomination petitions by the election laws of the Commonwealth, except that the said petition shall be circulated for not more than six (6) months prior to the last filing day, which shall be ninety (90) days before the general or municipal election at which it is desired to submit the question. The petition shall be filed with the county board of elections, and the validity of the petition and any objections thereto shall be determined in accordance with the election laws of the Commonwealth.

After the validity of the petitions in all the counties affected has been determined, the county commissioners shall request a certificate of approval from the State Secretary of Health. If the approval of the State Secretary of Health is obtained as provided in subsection (a) of this section, the county commissioners shall cause the question to be submitted at the next general or municipal election, whichever is sooner, so long as such election is to occur at least thirty (30) days after the receipt of a certificate of approval. The question shall be submitted on the ballot or on voting machines in the manner provided by the election laws of the Commonwealth and shall be in substantially the following forms:

(1) For the creation of a single-county department of health: Shall ..... County create a county department of health?

Yes ..... No .....

(2) For the creation of a joint-county department of health: Shall ..... County join with ..... County (Counties) in the creation of a joint-county department of health?

Yes ..... No .....

The election on this question shall be governed in all respects by the election laws of the Commonwealth insofar as they are applicable. For the creation of a single-county department of health or joint-county department of health, a majority of all votes cast in each county upon the question must be in favor thereof.

Nothing in this subsection shall preclude the county commissioners at any time from creating a single-county department of health, or from joining in the creation of a joint-county department of health, by resolution in accordance with subsections (b) and (d) of this section

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, by inserting between lines 3 and 4:

Section 5.1 Dissolution of and Withdrawal From County Departments of Health.—

(a) When a single-county department of health is created it may be dissolved by a referendum conducted in accordance with the procedure set forth in subsection (c) hereof

(b) When a joint-county department of health is created, any county being a member thereof may withdraw from the department by conducting a referendum conducted in accordance with the procedure set forth in subsection (c) hereof.

(c) A petition requesting the dissolution or withdrawal shall be signed by qualified electors of the county equal in number to at least [one per centum (1%)] ten per centum (10%) of the highest total vote cast for any county office at the last municipal election. The petition shall be in the form required for nomination petitions by the election laws of the Commonwealth except that the said petition shall be circulated no earlier than five years following the date of establishment of said county health department or joint-county health department and shall be circulated for not more than six (6) months prior to the last filing day which shall be ninety (90) days before the general or municipal election at which it is desired to submit the question. The petition shall be filed with the county board of elections and the validity of the petition and any objections thereto shall be determined in accordance with the election laws of the Commonwealth.

After the validity of the petitions in all the counties affected has been determined, the county commissioners shall cause the question to be submitted at the next general or municipal election, whichever is sooner, so long as such election is to occur at least thirty (30) days after the validity has been determined. The question shall be submitted on the ballot or on voting machines in the manner provided by the election laws of the Commonwealth and shall be in substantially the following forms:

(1) For the continuance or dissolution of a single-county department of health—

Shall ..... County [dissolve] continue its county department of health?

Yes .....

No .....

(2) For the continuance in or withdrawal from a joint-county department of health—

Shall ..... County [withdraw from] continue to be a member of the joint-county department of health?

Yes .....

No .....

The election on this question shall be governed in all respects by the election laws of the Commonwealth insofar as they are applicable. Such question shall not be submitted to the electors more often than once in four years. For the dissolution of a single-county department of health or withdrawal from a joint-county department of health, a majority of all votes cast in each county upon the question must be [in favor thereof] against the continuance of such department or against the continuance of membership in such department, as the case may be.

(d) When in the case of a single-county department the voters elect to dissolve the department, or in the case of a joint-county department the voters elect to withdraw, no new department of health may be created by resolution nor may the commissioners resolve to join with another county or other counties to create a joint department within five years of such dissolution.

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 4 by striking out "2" and inserting: 3

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Butler, Mr. McCandless, desire to be recognized on his amendments?

Mr. McCANDLESS. Mr. Speaker, I think everyone in this House remembers the debate on this bill and what these amendments do. There amendments would require 10 percent of the previous vote in an election on a petition to put this question on the ballot. It would require 10 percent to get the question on the ballot to vote a county health department in or to vote it out. I think this is the American way. I think if we would go ahead with this bill without the amendments in it, as it is before us, that this bill would be un-American and would take away the rights of the people to say what they want.

I do not believe I will have anything further to say on these amendments. If they are turned down, I want to speak on the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments to this bill simply because it is extremely hard to get well-qualified personnel to serve on these health units. You cannot expect professional people, at the low salary the State pays, to continuously have a sword held over their heads and be subject to dismissal at any time through a referendum. We do not do it with any other civic department or body. Why should they do it with this, when this is actually much more important and it is much harder, very hard, to get trained personnel for these jobs? To continuously hold the sword of dismissal over their heads I think is wrong. That is why I ask you to vote down these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The Speaker pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Butler, Mr. McCandless.

Mr. McCANDLESS. Mr. Speaker, I think everyone here understands the importance of this bill. As a former county commissioner and in that office when the first county health department was instituted in the State of Pennsylvania, I have a few things to say regarding this bill which I think should be of interest to every member here.

In the first place, I would like to read from an editorial here, from a piece in the Pittsburgh paper quoting one Philip S. Broughton of the Allegheny County Health Board. I do not want to read all of this, but I might just say that Mr. Broughton—I do not know how to put it here—criticized, I will say, Butler County in their action in voting out this county health department. No doubt, a lot of you members read what it said on this.

I have a few letters here to the Butler Eagle, by citizens of Butler County that I want to read. One of them is from the northern part of the county, the other one is from the southern part of the county. They show that the sentiment there was not all in one spot. The first one was written to the editor of the Butler Eagle on April 15th of this year. It says:

"I saw in the Eagle on April 10 that a much traveled member of the Allegheny County Health Department had expressed much concern that the people of a civilized county like Butler would vote out the 'so-called' Butler County Health Department.

"It would seem to me that this man could better serve his own county health department by other means than traveling to California and discussing with the health authorities there, the stupidity of the majority of the voters in Butler County in voting against such dictatorial methods as were used in our short lived health department.

"Their vote was not against health, but against dictatorship grabbing more power and in trying to cram it down our necks.

"As for repealing the so-called 'ripper bill,' it will be a sad state of affairs when a majority of voters can not vote out something as unpopular as the Butler County Health Department turned out to be.

"If the state legislature repeals this 'ripper bill,' we may just as well recall our representatives and senators and let the government dictate as to what we can do and cannot do. This is almost the case at the present—but think of how much money we would save in salaries.

"R. M. Hiles

Karns City, Pennsylvania"

Now, on April 15th again this letter appeared:

"Health Vote Issue

"The criticism of the electorate of Butler County because of its vote . . . to dissolve the County Health unit, has now reached the point where, even at the risk of reaping more vilification, I can no longer resist coming to the defense of the 19,886 citizens who voted in favor of the dissolution. I also propose to come to the defense of the 15,352 who voted for its continuation because, according to the latest outburst . . . there is some question as to our being civilized and I am sure these folks have justifiable pride in Butler County.

"Philip S. Broughton states that public health personnel, especially in California, 'were profoundly shocked that a supposedly civilized county such as Butler would vote for the return of backward health conditions.'

"Since he has indicated that our action has drawn national attention, I would like him to . . . tell the people of California, and elsewhere, that I do not believe the merits of a health program was the issue in that referendum. I believe that the people of our county served notice that they do not like government by bureaucracy.

"May I remind him and all those, including the Governor of Pennsylvania, who advocate the repeal of this so-called 'ripper clause' which made the county referendum possible, that the electorate of the county voted on this same issue on November 6, 1956. The vote then was 20,430 to continue and 5,884 to abolish. Did anyone at that time advocate the repeal of this so-called 'ripper clause'? That referendum pleased the advocates of bureaucratic control. Now, since this one displeases, he proposes to gain his goals by circumventing the wishes of the people. In 1956, I doubt that he would have used the term 'supposedly civilized' to castigate the voters. Is he saying that we in Butler County deteriorated from civilized to 'supposedly civilized' in four years?

Broughton really put the icing on the cake when he said that even a referendum 'misses the point' and that a good public health physician still would by-pass Pennsylvania until the state grows up. Thus, he is saying that there should be no way of getting such a question on the ballot, regardless of the number of signatures to a petition.

" . . . He doubts that the people of Butler or any other county in the Commonwealth are qualified to vote on such an issue and that, therefore, they should be denied that right. May he and all who would think that they alone know what is best for the people, be reminded of some of those immortal words, 'It is rather for us to be here dedicated—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.'

"All his vilification has not shamed us in the least; I was one of the 19,886 'supposedly civilized.' Under similar circumstances, and in the event he is unable to deny me of the right so to do, I shall do the same thing again.

George L. Thorne
181 Center Street
Meridian

I might mention that Mr. Thorne was a former commissioner clerk in Butler county.

I want to point out a few things here that I think the members of this House should know before they vote on this bill.

I rise to oppose this bill 1496 and wish to state my reasons for so doing. I believe that all members of this body should vote against this bill whether they favor a county health department or not.

It was my experience to see the first pilot unit start in Butler County during my last term as county commissioner.

By my action in moving to have the question put on the ballot the voters in our county approved the establishment of a county unit two years later by a large majority of nearly four to one.

Five years later, or last year, the question was again placed on the ballot by petition and it was voted out by a 5,000 majority.

Why was there such a change in the desire of the people in this period of time?

I think I am qualified to answer this, and let me say that it was not the regulations adopted by the board that caused the defeat.

The main reasons were poor public relations—arrogance in dealing with the public and a lack of service in some areas, such as testing of water, the lack of co-operation, and so forth.

Water was condemned in two boroughs and the councilmen in these boroughs were not notified until they saw it in the paper.

I was told by some of these men that they took samples and had it tested, the result showing the water to be all right.

No action was taken by the county department to expedite the polio immunization. In Mars Borough the people arranged for this service locally, and I am told they could not even secure the loan of needles needed for this job.

Now, another thing is cost, an important item. As a trial unit, the first year we received $50,000 from the Mellon Foundation Grant, plus $10,000 from the county, for a total of $60,000. Prior to this the total spent in Butler County by the State and local units of government amounted to approximately $35,000.

During the last year of the county health department the budget was $214,000 and the director had asked for $247,000.

Butler County has a population of just over 100,000 and the State limit for reimbursement is 75 cents per capita, or one-half of the cost up to $1.50 per capita. All the cost above approximately $80,000 from the State was paid out of county funds, or around $130,000, or almost 50 percent more than the State subsidy.

When the campaign was on to vote it into being, the people were told that we could have a good department for about $1.00 per capita. You can see from the figures quoted that this was not the case.

I do not claim that we received no benefit from the services of this unit. One would think that in Butler County we now have no health protection. This is not the case, for the State has taken over again, and I believe we are receiving as much attention in our county as do the other counties in the State that do not have a unit.

Believe me, I do not say that Philadelphia, Allegheny, Erie and Bucks, the four counties which have county units, should do away with them if the majority of the people are satisfied, but I do say to you that I believe in a government by and for the people. They should have the right to petition for a vote to establish a county unit. Also, I believe where they are doing the right kind of job there will be no call for a referendum.

Let me point out to those who favor county health departments that if this right is taken away, then few, if any, other counties will ever adopt the plan.

I have been told by some who voted to keep the department in our county that if this right is taken away they would not vote to reinstate a department in our county.

There are those who ask, would you permit a vote on whether to abolish a police department, a fire department, or our public schools, or so forth? This is pure nonsense.

I am certain that few people would vote to abolish these establishments which I mentioned. Also, let me point out that in the matter we are discussing the county of Butler had an alternative plan in mind when those voting on the question decided in the majority to return to State performance.

Much more could be said in regard to this. Again I want to say I am not speaking in opposition to county health departments but rather as to the reason why I believe the majority voted as they did in Butler.

House bill 460 was defeated a short time ago, which was the same bill as 1496, and I say to you 1496 should be defeated again.

I ask the members of this House to vote "no" on this bill and thus preserve the right of the people to say in a democratic way what they want in respect to this question.

I want to say further to members from those counties here who have no departments of this kind, under the law now two members of your board of county commissioners, could by resolution set up this county health department without a vote of the people, and, if this bill is passed, then they would have no right whatsoever to ask for a vote for its removal. I ask you members to think of that when you are voting on this bill. Do you want to take the right of the people away to say what they want in regard to this? Vote no.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak in opposition to House bill 1496.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order and will proceed.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, there are only five counties in the State of Pennsylvania which have any experience with county health departments.

Mr. McCandless, the gentleman from Butler County, is the Representative from one county in the State which has had a health department and has abandoned it.

I am a Representative from one of the other four counties, Allegheny, Philadelphia, Erie and Bucks, which have health departments and which are satisfied, I think, with those health departments.

I, personally, favor the county health department plan and I think, therefore, that my comments are coming from a different point of view than those of Mr. McCandless. However, I arrive at the same conclusion.

First, I would like to address myself to why we have before us House bill 1496, instead of reconsidering again for a second and final vote of House bill 460.

I think all of you have received mail in regard to House bill 460. That mail is equally applicable to this bill. I think the heat was on House bill 460 and this is merely an attempt to pass this bill with the heat off, although it does the same thing.

The present law is that one percent of the voters, or the commissioners, as Mr. McCandless has explained, may put the question of establishing a county health department on the ballot. They can also, under present law, put the question of abolishing a health department on the ballot. To me this is the very ultimate in home rule at the county level, about which many of us have spoken on many, many occasions.

There is an implication, I think, in considering this bill that one percent of the people can abolish a health department. This is absolutely not true. It takes a majority of the voters voting in an election to abolish a health department. It is my position that in a county where the health department is well run this would never happen. You might have the question before the electorate, but they would not vote it out.

Mr. McCandless has explained that in Butler County, where you have a poorly run health department this can happen and this is as it should be, in my opinion.

We have heard a previous speaker argue that you cannot obtain permanent health department employees, technical personnel and nurses if they believe they are under this so-called danger of abolition of the department. I tell you that this is just not true. We in Bucks County have absolutely no resignations because of this so-called danger. We have had our county health director, an M. D., a physician, fired by the county commissioners in the last two years and they had no lack of applicants for that job and they were able to hire a very eminently qualified physician to fill that post.

We have had things happen in our county in the health department which were not right and we have been able to clean them up because of this. It is my position that if you think this county health department program should be expanded to the other 63 counties that do not presently have it, if you are in favor of the county health departments, then you should vote against this bill, because you give, by passing a bill of this type, those people who are the opponents, who think the opposite to the way you think, the opportunity to say that if you create this monster you can never destroy it. You can take the teeth out of their argument by continuing home rule, by continuing the right of the citizens in a democracy to abolish that which they have created.

I would like to approach this from a very practical viewpoint. How long can Bucks County, Erie County, Allegheny County and Philadelphia County expect to receive the State subsidy of 75 cents a head which we now receive to operate our county health departments if the other 63 counties are not encouraged to have this same type of program? I think from a practical point of view to protect the county health program you have to defeat this type of legislation.

So for the reasons we have given, for home rule, for the economic situation, and for just plain fairness, to give the same percentage of the people the right to abolish that which they have created, I think we should defeat this bill. I cannot help but refer to it as House bill 460, but its actual number at this time is House bill No. 1496. I ask for a negative vote from those people who helped defeat House bill 460.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I think it is becoming increasingly difficult to pass through the legislature a measure concerning public health without a lot of selfish considerations entering into the picture.

I charge, Mr. Speaker, that the great percentage of the opposition to this bill is inspired by selfish objectives of those who are concerned with profits. Matters of public health they do not wish to comply with because it is going to cost them a few dollars.

I say that the opposition is inspired by that, and in answer to the gentleman from Butler, Mr. McCandless, I would say that the two letters he read plainly show that the opposition was not based on matters of health, but was based on prejudice against so-called dictatorship and bureaucracy. His statement, and the statement of the gentleman from Bucks, that you will be saddled with this from now to eternity if you vote for a county health system, is utter nonsense, Mr. Speaker, because the legislature has the power to undo anything they have done before. If it is not acceptable to the people of the State, their Representatives in this House and the Senate can abrogate whatever they have done before.

I say, Mr. Speaker, that every great advance in matters of health has been made against opposition mainly by people who did not know anything about health matters, but were misled and misinformed by a lot of propaganda.

It is the same thing on this question, Mr. Speaker, and I ask the members to forget about these small minorities that are concerned purely with profits and vote in the interests of the public.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I want to speak very briefly in favor of this legislation.

I am surprised at the sins which are committed in the name of home rule. I would venture to say that if this legislature passed the appropriate enabling legislation there would be no question but that we could get sufficient names on a petition, for example, to do away with the board of county commissioners, and I am sure that if we could pass the appropriate enabling legislation it would not be difficult to get sufficient names on a petition to do away with the General Assembly. I think that would be possible too.

This argument, Mr. Speaker, that this is home rule I think is a specious one. I do not want to speak at length on this, but I want to say, as has been stated already, that in Erie County we have a county health department. It has had its settling pains, its growing pains, perhaps, but all in all I think that the general public recognizes it does a good service for the general public in Erie County.

I might also say that our attitude toward it has been dispassionate so that we have now combined or worked out a working agreement with the city health department for the city of Erie, which has about 55 percent of the total county population, whereby we are no longer duplicating services.

My point, Mr. Speaker, is this: without becoming inflammatory about this, without getting all excited; we have achieved a measure of success in promoting local health. I cannot understand why public health should be something so inflammatory. We all know the history of this particular legislation which we are now attempting to repeal. We know the history of how it came to be enacted in 1959. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that anything that smacks of public health, whether it be Salk vaccine, whether it be fluoridation of teeth, we all get upset, we all get all inflamed about it, and I do not think it is worth all that difficulty. There is no need for this particular legislation of 1959, and today is an appropriate day to do away with it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, it is a pleasure for me to have the opportunity of concurring with the senior member from Allegheny County, Dr. Boies. We do not always see eye-to-eye on every matter.

In connection with this health measure, everybody admits that the county health plan is a sound one, but they talk about the democratic rights of the people. We are living in a representative government, and if it were the policy of this State and this Country that every issue be decided by the people, we would be going back to the early Greek days when they met in a coliseum and had to vote upon every issue.

It seems to me, following the arguments of the gentleman from Butler, Mr. McCandless, and the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams, that these are the areas which most need a county health department. They are the areas which are increasing in population; they are the areas which need to remove septic tanks; they are the areas which should have a county health department. They should place their confidence in the county commissioners, and if they are not satisfied with the representatives, whether they be in the House of Representatives or the county commissioners, they should vote them out. We think this is a progressive measure and we should all vote in favor of the abolition of the referendum.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been thoroughly debated and I do not have any intention of wasting the time of this House in further debate. In fact, if I stood here and talked from now until adjournment time, I doubt if I would change one single, solitary vote one way or the other in this House. However, I am going to ask all those members of this House who are interested in good government, who are interested in the health and welfare of the citizens of this Commonwealth, and those who are interested in good, proper administration of the health laws of this State to vote "aye" on this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, I hate to disagree with my colleague from Erie, Representative Schaaf, and my other two good doctor friends, dentist friends, on the other side. We do have a health department in Erie County. I voted for it. I was sold a bill of goods when I voted for it. I was told that this health department would accomplish certain things. To date, to my knowledge, none of these things have been accomplished. They do have an efficient city health department, which I would not change, but I, for one, if this were a referendum tomorrow, would vote against the health department.

When this bill 460 was on the calendar before, I had a lot of facts and figures and when the bill died I threw them out. It is just as well I do not have them now because I am not going to take too much time. But I believe in Erie County the health department has not been successful. We have never had any trouble in Erie under the State health department. We had some very good health measures there; in fact, so good that the new health department has hired, at the county's expense, all the people who worked for the State, who, incidentally, lost some of their service rights and pension rights, which I do not agree with. Many things were going to be accomplished. This story was painted to the high heavens but these things have not been accomplished. The farmers are against it, and if some of you city slickers from Allegheny County will go out and talk to some of your farmers in Allegheny County you will find that they are not too interested in this health department. They have come out, I understand, into Allegheny County, and tried to set up certain rules and regulations about the farmers selling milk and one thing and another. Most of these rules are all taken care of by the State.

Regardless of my feelings or the feelings that I have just expressed, I do think that if we have the right in any county to vote in a health department, we have the right to vote it out. We serve in the legislature on our merits; if we do not serve the people well we are voted out at the next election, and I say this to you in closing, if these health departments are efficient, operating the way they should, they have nothing to fear from the people. But, when they are not operating the way they should, then I say that we have the right, the privilege and the duty to vote them out.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I did not intend to talk on this bill but I think the atmosphere ought to be clarified.

We are not voting on health measures here. A lot of you will remember we used to have a member here from, I believe, Westmoreland County, Jim Lovett, whom I liked very much, and he used to have a slogan: "Let's be fair." And that is why I want to try to clarify the atmosphere a little bit. Let's be fair.

The only issue we are voting on here is whether or not, when people vote in a health department, to have a county health department, it takes a certain number of petitions to put that issue on the ballot.

Now all we are deciding here and all we are voting on here is to say to the people of those counties for which we passed in 1959 by the same number of petitioners, signers, you could put it on the ballot whether or not you want to abolish that health department. That is all we are voting on here. We are not voting on health rules; we are not voting on septic tanks; we are not voting on sewage, and that sort of thing; we are only voting on the right to have the people say what is fair and to have them say whether or not the same number of people who signed to put that issue on the ballot should have a right to sign to put the same issue on the ballot as to whether they want to do away with it. That is all.

So, let us vote on that issue and cut out the other "malarkey" that has been spread around on this bill. That is the only issue here and certainly the people should have that right. To take it away from them would be a travesty on justice.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 455, entitled:

An Act amending the act of September 29, 1951 (P. L. 1646), entitled "An act authorizing the Commonwealth to negotiate temporary emergency loans to defray current and other expenses of the State government during any fiscal biennium evidenced by tax anticipation notes * * *" authorizing powers conferred by the act to be done on a fiscal period basis and changing the amount of money which may be borrowed and providing two additional methods of borrowing money.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, this bill was debated some time ago and for reasons previously expressed I am asking the members on this side of the House to vote "no" on the bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we are ready for a roll call. We are asking the membership on this side of the House to vote "aye." This is a bill that is desperately needed.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

----------	-------	--------	---------

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 840, entitled:

An Act prohibiting the sale transfer ownership possession and use of tear and noxious gas and tear gas guns providing for certain exemptions and providing penalties.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A.W. JOHNSON. This is a bill, I take it, that denies the right to use tear gas or noxious gases in the State. It would seem from a careful reading of the bill, I realize the bill was designed to do away with tear gas in labor disputes, but we feel many of us, that this bill still, No. 1, if it denies the possession of noxious gases in the State, it would do away with the exterminator business in this State entirely, because in the language of the bill it says that you cannot use, possess, sell, or whatever—sorry, I could not get a copy of the bill real quick here—but I am sure the bill does make it unlawful to possess noxious gases. Well, the exterminator business in the State, which is a huge business, their business being founded on the use of noxious gases, would be destroyed, and certainly I do not believe this General Assembly intends to do away with that type of business.

Here is another thing. We find in asking different employers, manufacturers, around the State, that in their manufacturing process, in the cleaning process, and in various ways, they have noxious gases confined in cylinders and containers and use them in their manufacturing process and in their day-to-day work. This bill would make it unlawful for industry to have a so-called noxious gas in its possession.

I understand in the field of atomic energy, wherever they engage in that type of activity, that their tanks of gases are extremely essential.

We suggested a long time ago that if the bill would be amended to apply just to the narrow field that it is intended for, consideration would be given to this bill, but all that was done was some minor amendments put in the bill allowing a citizen to have a tear-gas gun in his home, and so forth.

The bill goes very, very, very far and would be very detrimental to many, many industries in the State, and I think this bill should be voted down.

Now here is another thing: I have been asking various people when tear gas was last used in Pennsylvania in an industrial dispute. Nobody could really remember. Someone said, "Well, let me see, there was a strike back in 1906 when they used it, or did they use it in the 1917 Homestead strike?" or something like that. Nobody can ever remember tear gas being used. It would be interesting if somebody who is a proponent of this bill could state when tear gas was used by anybody in an industrial dispute, that is, a labor dispute. I do not know, and I do not know that anybody does. Therefore, it just seems that this bill is—I know what it is—a bill to try to curry the support of labor, and anybody who stands up to debate a bill like this should say, "Well, you are not in favor of labor, you are down on labor." That is not true.

This type of gas and things that are used in this State are essential to industry and there is some question in my mind whether the bill is necessary. I know you people have talked over on the other side about the fact that labor has come of age, industry has come of age. We do not have the labor disputes, the bitter strikes that we used to have. For instance, in the last steel strike that lasted 105 days, there was no violence. There was bitterness, of course. The men were on strike, but there was no tear gas thrown, there were no weapons used or any blackjacking or anything. Merely by doing this to industry and denying them the right to use noxious gases around their plant in industrial processes I think just is not right.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 888, entitled:

An Act to promote the safety of employes upon railroads by requiring industrial or plant railroads to man locomotive trains with competent employes * * *.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe the question of the full crew has been pretty well debated on this floor. This bill applies, of course, to industrial railroads. I have the figures upstairs. The figures that I have would indicate that this would cost the steel industry and kindred industries in this State about $20 million a year. The question is whether you people would want to put that type of additional expense on these railroads.

Most of them are in and around the yards, they travel six to eight miles an hour, some of them as low as four miles an hour, and there is some question as to whether a five-man crew is needed on this type of operation around the yards of our steel mills. As I say, it would cost the steel companies, and other companies, about $20 million a year. We also have a statement that there has been unexcelled safety, an unusual safety record in this type of activity. To repeat what I said a long time ago, it is too bad to put a type of regulation like this on the backs of industry when we are trying to bring more, and more, and more of them into the State. We have a PIDA bill on our calendar now to make it easier to loan money by communities to bring in industry. This is just another bill to heap onto industry, rules and regulations by law, especially today when they are struggling to try to keep going.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 518, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), further providing for no passing zones.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Fineman, if I may.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I will not, Mr. Speaker. This bill has been so emasculated that I do not recognize it. I yield to whoever amended the bill.

Mr. McCANN. The gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

The SPEAKER. The Chair did not understand the gentleman from Dauphin.

Mr. BOWMAN. Maybe I had better withdraw my interrogation now.

As the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, indicated, the bill has not been emasculated; it has been changed substantially. My only inquiry, Mr. Speaker, goes to the question of whether or not signs must now be posted to indicate "no passing" zones as they are required to be posted under existing law? We have changed the section of the bill that is being amended and I am in doubt as to whether signs are now required to be posted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would prefer that this bill be passed over until I have a chance to review these amendments, which I have not had an opportunity to do since they have been drafted into the bill.

I might say this: The amendments I put in yesterday—

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to make a motion to place this bill on the final passage postponed calendar?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1397, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Instruction for payment into The State School Fund of Pennsylvania for assisting public school districts and state teachers' colleges to comply with required safety standards in certain cases.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that this bill makes an appropriation of $989,650 to provide for reimbursement under a certain formula for repairs made under orders issued by the Department of Labor and Industry on what we call our so-called fire panic repairs?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. May I ask further: Does this bill provide for reimbursement to all those schools which carried out the orders of the Department of Labor and Industry?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides for all who carried out the orders of the Department of Labor and Industry and had the plans approved by the Department of Public Instruction up to March 20, 1961.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, then I take it, this bill does not provide for all those who proceeded with the repairs under the direction of Labor and Industry; it only provides for those who have filed their plans and which have also been additionally approved by the Department of Public Instruction?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that is correct. The present law requires that all plans, whether there is any reimbursement or not, must be approved by the Department of Public Instruction.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, are there not a great number of other classes, other school districts, that did make repairs under the direction of Labor and Industry, which have not received reimbursement and, under the formula in this bill, cannot receive reimbursement?

Mr. POLEN. It is true that many school districts proceeded and complied with the orders of the Department of Labor and Industry, but they did not comply with the law which provides that any plan such as this, in fact, any changes are required to be approved by the Department of Public Instruction. Any of them that would come in this category, of course, are not included in this bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, I intend to vote for this bill because it is going to help some of these schools that went ahead and made these repairs under the double approval that is provided in the formula. But I want to register my protest in connection with the failure to take care of these other schools that, under the direction of another department on this hill, went ahead and spent their money. I think merely providing for one section of these schools is very discriminatory and you have imposed upon these school districts a financial burden which is further putting them into bankruptcy.

Now, so far as the examination by Labor and Industry is concerned, there are a series of articles written here regarding the bungling and the confusion and the chaos that exists over in that department which has brought about a lot of the expenditures of our school districts. So far as I am concerned, the Department of Labor and Industry, by its program, is crucifying all our school districts, and I cannot stand here and not register my protest for crucifying school districts upon the cross of confusion, bungling and chaos. I want my protest put into the record on this particular bill, as well as this series of articles.

Mr. Speaker, I do hope that some remedy will be had to take care of these other districts that, under the direction of a department of this government, went ahead and did these repairs and have put themselves in this plight.

Mr. TOMPKINS submitted the following for the record:

Legislators Should Look Into Labor-Industry Agency

(First of a Series of Three)

HARRISBURG—Pennsylvania's lawmakers would do well to take a good, hard and long look at the State Department of Labor and Industry to see what makes this gangling state agency tick—or rather perhaps, why it doesn't tick!

Few departments on Capitol Hill seemingly evidence the sloppiness and carelessness in operation; ineptness in administration, and disorganization in organization as that evidenced so blatantly by this conglomeration of bureaucrats.

This is the same department that a few years ago it will be recalled, was blown into the open with discovery of a so-called "secret payroll" where a host of political favorites reposed without doing any work.

This is the department where again only a few years ago the Secretary of Labor and Industry was booted out of office for condoning—by virtue of the fact that they existed—such activities.

And this is the department that now has irate school boards, school officials and worried and concerned parents of school children in an uproar—unnecessarily. This is the time the public itself has been slapped in the face—instead of individuals in isolated instances as heretofore.

This is the department that week before last—grandly and with much mimeographing from its publicity section—issued a statement with accompanying list of 1639 Pennsylvania schools cited for "noncompliance with state fire and panic regulations" and which "must be repaired by September 1, 1961, or they will be closed."

During the past week as these lists of local schools began being published in local newspapers throughout the state, the storm began to break.

Local school board officials, glancing over the "non-compliance" schools listed by the Department of Labor and Industry could hardly believe their eyes.

Reasons: some of the local schools listed had complied alright—the building in question had long ago been demolished! Yet they were being cited by non-compliance and "faced closure!"

In other instances, school boards were already in the process of carrying out department demands with work under day, in theory with full clearance by the department (via its "little kingdom" district office system—but without knowledge by headquarters here!), with the question naturally arising: what more can we do?

And then there were the parents—who in certainly understandable parental and taxpayer ire, as they noted the "dangerous fire-trap school" their children were attending (at least according to the listing by the Department of Labor and Industry), demanded of local school officials:

"Why are our children being housed in this potential fire danger?"

Local school boards in some sections called special emergency sessions to cope with the local hue and cry—to explain, to apologize, tragically, not for their own misdeeds, but in reality those of the Department of Labor and Industry here in Harrisburg!

By week's end the department was being besieged. The department allowed as how in actuality "about half" of the schools actually were in compliance with department orders—which the department didn't know about at the time the list was issued!

Harrisburg school district for example rose up in its wrath and informed the department in no uncertain terms that, in effect it was nuts. The department publicly apologized to that local school district for its grievous errors. This is an illustration but it was compounded throughout the state.

But this is only part of the story!

Why Did Department Wait
To Enforce Fire-Panic Act?

(Second of a Series of Three)

HARRISBURG—The manner in which Pennsylvania's politically loaded Department of Labor and Industry hit the "panic" button in suddenly deciding to enforce provisions of the State's Fire and Panic Act insofar as the Keystone State's schools are concerned is typical of its hair-brained modus operandi.

The ruckus started following a tragic and disastrous school fire in Chicago back in the fall of 1958 when 92 school children perished they couldn't get out of the burning school.

It was at this point that "the great crusade"—with proper fanfare and publicity was launched by the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry "to make Pennsylvania's public schools safe and—avoid a repetition of the Chicago tragedy."

The goal unquestionably was and is commendable but that isn't quite the point. The question occurred at the time and it recurs with some savagery now in the current school fire hazard elimination fiasco in which the department is currently embroiled:

Why did the department have to wait until after the horse had been stolen to close the barn door? Or, more bluntly put: Why did the department have to wait until an incident such as the Chicago fire (and it could just as well have been a Pennsylvania school instead of a Chicago school!) to initiate its school fire hazard elimination program?

The point is: the department had not been doing its job previously over the years of routinely making sure Pennsylvania's public schools were up to snuff on the fire hazard elimination front. This became obvious—and should be painfully so now—when the department in its crusade suddenly decided to check all schools at once to make certain they were in compliance!

The upshot now is history. Some 2,000 schools suddenly found themselves cited for fire hazard instances required unexpectedly heavy and unbudgeted expenditures, so heavy in fact that the 1959 Legislature set up a near $4 million dollar fund to help out these districts.

On the other hand, had the department over the years ordered these corrections as they developed, the piecemeal expenditures, rather than the entire works at one heavy shot.

In other words, prior to the department's sudden "crusade" it had not been doing its job year in and year out as required by law—or there would not have been the tremendous bunch-up that has now developed.

But perhaps more incriminating than anything else aside from the fiscal knot school districts were thrown into by the department's sudden "devout" action, was the danger school children in those bygone years apparently faced—thanks to this delinquent state agency!

It certainly is becoming more and more obvious why a legislative investigation into the modus operandi of this department is more than in order.

But again, look at how the department has operated in the current school fire hazard correction fiasco.

"Corrective orders" issued by departmental representatives initially required correction of the defect within 30 or 60 or 90 days, etc.—but yet some of the corrective orders were so extensive that plans couldn't even be prepared within the time specified, to say nothing of completion of the actual physical correction itself! In other words, the same completely unrealistic time schedule was used for requiring removal of fire dangerous rubbish as that for construction of fire-proof stair wells!

These are merely illustrations of the sort of things you have to contend with in fiddling with the Department of Labor and Industry. But again—all of this is only part of the story!

School Fire Hazard Orders
Are Seldom Followed Up

(Last of a Series of Three)

HARRISBURG—Ever wonder how Pennsylvania's lush tax-supported Department of Labor and Industry checks its work—let's say on the school fire hazard correction front.

The department issues a "corrective order" to be completed within say a 30-day period and what happens?

Newsmen have discovered to their amazement in checking through some of these school fire hazard orders issued gloriously by the department that even after as much as half a year has elapsed the department doesn't have a report on its status!

And then there is the "little kingdom" district office system referred to by this column in the first of this series. This is as ridiculous a system as any politico could conceivably devise.

Under this "program" the Department of Labor and Industry has its "corps" of district inspectors each of whom covers a specified geographical district and is responsible for seeing to it that departmental requirements are carried out in the districts.

To all intents and purposes, with this system in operation the way it is with the Department of Labor and Industry, there might just as well not be a department here in Harrisburg!

It is these district people who apparently rule the roost in their own particular and respective way. Check with the department on the detail status of a school fire correction order for example, and it's "we've got to check that with our district people—they have the file and detail."

Who issues the orders? The district people. They are the ones who tell the locals in their district what is to be done and whether it is satisfactory or not.

Architects and builders frequently have complained over this very condition—pointing out that conditions or requirements vary from one district to another, in effect depending upon the "whim" of the individual district inspector.

One of the big complaints is that under this "little kingdom" system, what may be acceptable in one district, may not be acceptable in another district.

Take that list of 1689 Pennsylvania schools cited by the department week before last as "being delinquent in complying with school fire hazard requirements of the department." There were three schools in one district cited on the list for "non-compliance" and threatened with closure Sept. 1—which we knew had been cleared.

A check-back with the department brought the comment that it would be necessary to check with the district office—which had indeed cleared the schools (now get this, last June!) but which the flobbering department here at "headquarters" knew nothing about, as evidenced succinctly by the fact that the schools in question were on the list of 1,689 "non-compliance" schools!

How ridiculous can you get? Well, here's another little anecdote that perhaps illustrates just "how":

The initial publicity release by the department listing the 1,689 "delinquent" schools throughout the state appeared April 28. It was immediately thereafter that the uproar started as school district after school district began howling over schools improperly cited.

It got so bad that on May 1 the department's publicity section issued a somewhat frantic explain-it-away communique which stated that "a re-check" of the 1,689 cited schools had been ordered. Re-check? Why wasn't there a "re-check" in the first place! Now it seems that "as many as half" of the schools cited actually were in compliance!

This isn't the full story, of course, and it covers only one phase of the operation of the Department of Labor and Industry but Pennsylvania's taxpayers seemingly would do well to think twice or three times about this "model of efficiency" they are supporting.

Seemingly too, as representatives of these taxpayers the legislative branch would do well to take an official look-see for itself. And—it's difficult to imagine an administration "investigating itself"—but perhaps the Lawrence administration is different from other administrations in this respect!

Bureaucratic squatting is one thing—bureaucratic fumbling at the expense of taxpayers is quite another.

Illustration of What State Taxpayers Putting Up With

(Post Script and Post Mortem)

HARRISBURG—This is both a "post script" and a "post mortem" on the series of columns appearing during the past three days on the abortive foul-up on the part of the State Department of Labor and Industry and its citation of nearly 1,700 schools it listed as "being in violation of the state's fire and panic laws."

The standout point seems to center around the fact the department blew the panic whistle on these schools—and literally held them up to public scorn—when the department itself didn't know the score; rattled off with an official statement without knowing what its own head and arms were doing; and wound up by conceding that as many as half of the 1,700 schools listed perhaps would not be found in violation after all.

Such a situation is about as ridiculous as anyone can conceive. It's almost as simple as A-B-C, the point being: if a state agency can't be relied upon in what it says and does, where do you turn?

In the case of the state agency, it means turning to the "you-alibi-it-for-us" section: the "public relations" division, the corps of specialists paid (by taxpayers) to get out the "right" word in the "right" light insofar as their parent state agency is concerned.

And that is exactly what happened in the case of the school foul-up. Look at the record itself:

On April 28, an official Department of Labor and Industry "news release" listing school by school the 1689 schools supposed to be in "non-compliance" and facing closure by Sept. 1, read as follows in the first, or lead, paragraph of a 33-line "cover story":

"The Department of Labor and Industry today released a list of 1689 Pennsylvania schools which have been cited for non-compliance with state fire and panic regulations. They must be repaired by Sept. 1, 1961, or they will be closed, Department officials said."

After the uproar started from local school districts and irate and understandably concerned parents over schools being cited even though compliance corrections had been made or were in the process of being made, the departmental "explain and defend" unit went into action and on May 1 issued this ten-line alibi:

"A re-check of approximately 1,700 schools listed as being in violation of the state's fire and panic laws has been ordered by the chief of the Bureau of Inspection, J. F. Dwyer, in Harrisburg.

"At the time he made the list public last week, Mr. Dwyer explained that it was likely that many of the schools had completed their repairs, but had not yet notified his office.

"This part of Mr. Dwyer's statement was omitted by the press in many instances, resulting in some misunderstandings. Mr. Dwyer pointed out that most of the violations against the schools date back more than a year, some back to January, 1959."

Compare this follow-up fluff with the lead paragraph (quoted five paragraphs back) of the original 33-line departmental release of April 28!

But perhaps nothing was more condemning of the department's foul-up than the point brought out in its subsequent "alibi" statement of May 1 quoting Dwyer as saying "it was likely that many of the schools had completed their repairs but had not yet notified his office."

This in itself is in complete contradiction of the lead paragraph of the original statement—but more importantly, if it was the intent of the department to note that some schools had been "cleared" why were they included in the list of cited schools? You don't spell out an exception in such "general" terms as the department did in its listing of April 28 and let the public be damned and guess—or do you?

The whole thing serves as just an illustration of what Pennsylvania's taxpayers are putting up with—unknowingly in most instances of course. It's past time for a little head-knocking on Capitol Hill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to explain to the House that the reason these school districts are not included is that there is no relationship to the formula which they are paid by and there was nothing in the law that provided any change that required them not to apply for these approvals. The facts are these: Section 731 of the school laws reads: "No public school building shall be contracted for, constructed, reconstructed in any school district of the second, third or fourth class, until the plans and specifications therefor have been approved by the Department of Public Instruction. When any structural change is involved, such as moving or adding doors, windows, partitions, making additions, or any excavations or any work which may affect the safety or health of the pupils, or any work which comes under the jurisdiction of another department of the Commonwealth, approval of the Department of Public Instruction shall be required regardless of the cost of such structural changes."

Mr. Speaker, it is this section of the school law that precludes the Department of Public Instruction making reimbursement under this formula for those school districts that did not comply with the law. This law was in effect and it had absolutely nothing to do in any way with this reimbursement program. The school districts simply violated the law and proceeded to do these things, the school districts ignored the law in section 731, no doubt, and with good intent they hurriedly went ahead and did these things, But I do not know of any way that we can amend and provide that payment will be made to school districts that have violated section 731.

We attempted to work it out and the best opinion that was given to me was that it could not be done unless you wanted to repeal act 731 and make it retroactive, that this would not cover these particular situations. I do not see how you can do it. There is nothing that the Department of Public Instruction can do as long as section 731 is in the school laws, but do what they did, disapprove those that did not have prior approval of their plans.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, rise?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the provisions of this bill, the cut-off date is in March of 1961. Is that right?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does the gentleman have knowledge as to whether or not there are any additional applications that have come in since that date that would qualify under this act?

Mr. POLEN. I understand that applications will probably be coming in, and, as I believe I previously advised the gentleman, they would have to be included in another appropriation bill at another time.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Now, Mr. Speaker, I hope I am not out of order in asking this question, but I want to ask the gentleman from Washington, did I not come to your office and confer with you about this very situation earlier in the year and ask if we could not get something worked out on this problem to take care of these people, if we had to amend the School Code even?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is correct. He did come to my office and he did discuss it with me and when I checked into the matter the answer was given to me that they could find no way in which payment could be made when these school districts had violated section 731 of the school law, unless we wanted to repeal it and make the repeal retroactive so far as this situation is concerned for those who went ahead and performed work without prior approval by the Department of Public Instruction.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask one more question. I want to ask the gentleman whether or not he thinks school districts, with pistols at their heads by a department of this State, that went ahead and spent their money prior to the time this bill was enacted to set up this formula, should not be entitled to some consideration?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, for the school districts that went ahead and performed the work and did not get prior approval of their plans, of course, at that time there was no reimbursement arrangement in effect. It was later that we passed the act, in 1959, that provided reimbursement, and those who complied with the law in section 731 have been reimbursed. This additional amount is for those applications that came in after that date and after the funds were exhausted which we are now providing for. It is my feeling that for those who continued to do this work we will, of necessity, and I think as a matter of right, provide in the next session an appropriation to pay on the same basis we are paying those.

Now as to those who violated the law and did not get prior approval, and that had nothing whatever to do with fire and panic, that covers all situations, even if they themselves want to change a door or anything, I have great sympathy for them. I believe many of them probably, in their haste to comply with the Department of Labor and Industry, did go ahead and make these repairs. Perhaps they were in ignorance of section 731; perhaps they just simply proceeded to get the work done. That I do not know. I would say to the gentleman, I believe there is justice in that in some manner they should be reimbursed. Frankly, I have been unable to find any solution as to how it can be done. I believe I advised the gentleman to that effect previously.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Number 1, we put a bill in since this bill appeared on the calendar to amend that school law to qualify these people.

Number 2, I dislike any statement to the effect that any school districts in this Commonwealth violated any law when they did so under orders of a government agency of this Commonwealth.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1023, entitled:

An Act amending the "State Highway Law" approved June 1, 1945 (P. L. 1242), giving the Secretary of Highways authority and discretion to issue permits to qualified individuals or corporations desiring to conduct seismic operations on certain State highways.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, when we reached this bill in our caucus, I indicated that I was going to offer amendments to it. Well since the caucus we found that the amendments are unnecessary. This bill is a companion bill to 754 and 755, which will permit seismic operations along the highways to determine by very intricate machinery whether there is an existence of an oil pool or a gas pool, and the bill provides safeguards in it toward restoring any surface destroyed, and there is a penalty of $1,000 in the bill if the rules and regulations of the Highway Department are ignored. Therefore, I ask all members to vote for the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 890, entitled:

An Act repealing acts pertaining to Berks County prison inspectors.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McDEVITT asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 8 by striking out "take effect immediately" and inserting: "not take effect until a referendum in Berks County approving the same shall have been held, in which event it shall become effective ten days after such approval. Thereupon, the administration of the prisons shall be governed as provided by laws relating to the administration of county prisons in counties of the third, fourth and fifth classes.

The county commissioners shall cause the question to be submitted at the next general election. The question shall be submitted on the ballot or on voting machines in the manner provided by the election laws of this Commonwealth and shall be submitted in the following form:

Do you favor the repeal of the acts under which members of the Board of Inspectors of Berks County Prison are elected and their expenses are fixed?

The election on this question shall be governed in all respects by the election laws of this Commonwealth in so far as they are applicable."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

CONSTITUTIONAL POINT OF ORDER

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. BOWMAN. I rise to a point of constitutional inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BOWMAN. As to whether the amendments here offered are within the constitutional provisions relating to local as well as special legislation?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman present that point of view as a point of order?

Mr. BOWMAN. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, raises the point that the amendment to House bill No. 890, printer's No. 979, is unconstitutional violating Article III, section 8, which provides the method by which local and special laws may be passed.

The Speaker, under rule 4, is required to submit to the House the question as to the constitutionality of an amendment for its decision, which the Chair now does, and recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, again today for the second time, we have a question both on the Constitution and on our own Rules of the House of Representatives. I speak at this time on the point that the amendment, as offered, is unconstitutional and in violation of the constitution, specifically article 3, section 8 of the Constitution, and in violation of our own House rule 43.

Now, it is an intricate question and I always hesitate to have these intricate legal questions imposed upon the members of this House. But I trust that you will bear with us. I am advised that some very able counsel for the opposition is going to speak on this same question, namely, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, and he is going to present, apparently, an opposing point of view. So if you will bear with me I will try to, as nontechnically and as nonlegally as possible, present my position.

Now, the constitutional section that I referred to and the House rule simply says this, that "no local or special bills shall be passed by the House unless notice of intention to apply therefor has been published." Now the House rule paraphrases that constitutional provision.

Now, before us today, without the amendment, we have a local or special bill, "if as advertised according to law," and with that I have no quarrel.

The issue, the narrow issue, before us today, is what does the Constitution mean when it says, "notice of intention to apply must be followed"? What does that mean? Now, unfortunately, this is a case of first impression. By that I mean, there are apparently no court decisions on this point and there are no former precedents in this House of Representatives on this particular point. Therefore, today, whatever decision we make will be the first decision on this point in Pennsylvania.

As you know, this bill in effect is repealing the law relating to the Berks County Prison officials, the board that operates the prison. Now what did the proponents of this bill do when they notified, according to the Constitution, what did they do in notifying the people, the affected people, namely, the people of Berks County? What did they notify them? Now, I have before me the official publication of what the proponents of this bill said they were going to do when they presented it to the House of Representatives.

And I will briefly read from it:

"Notice is hereby given that during the regular session of the General Assembly, there will be introduced a bill entitled, 'An act repealing acts pertaining to Berks County prison inspectors.'"

And I call your attention, specifically, to this point: The object of the bill is to repeal the provisions of special laws relating to prison inspectors in Berks County and, by the repeal, to have the appointment powers and duties of inspectors of the jail or county prison governed by general law. Now here is what the proponents of the bill have presented to the people of Berks County as to what they propose to do by this special legislation, and with that I have no quarrel whatsoever.

But subsequent to advising the people of their notice of intent to present a bill and to present a particular type of bill to do a particular thing, we are now considering amendments to that bill. And, in my opinion, the amendments completely change the purpose and intent and certainly go far beyond the scope and purpose of the advertisement as presented to the people of Berks County, because, as we all know, the amendments now up before us for consideration provide for a referendum, whereby the people will be asked to vote upon this question and whichever they vote, the local acts will be repealed or will not be repealed.

It is my opinion that we are back to what is the meaning of notice of intention. And having given them notice of intention to do one thing, it is now proper for this House to consider amendments which would certainly substantively change what they said they were going to do when they notified the people what they were going to do, and now they are going to do something else, namely, a referendum. In my opinion, you cannot give a notice of intention, under the Constitution, to do one thing and then substantially change it after it is before the House. And, in my opinion, when you are taking the responsibility from this House as to whether the act should or should not be repealed and now say that the people shall pass upon it, that is not postponing the repeal, that is giving the people themselves the prerogative of determining whether it should or should not be repealed.

It is, therefore, my opinion and I am privileged to say this, on behalf of the Speaker, because of his inability to speak, he is doing his duty, the Speaker agrees with me in my position that this amendment cannot properly be considered by the House under the respective local provisions of the Constitution. Thank you.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I recognize, of course, that I am at a disadvantage, inasmuch as I did not consult, nor did the speaker consult with me as to his opinion, but with all due respect to his legal ability and his wisdom, I, of course, disagree with him. I disagree with him after consultation with the authorities.

The reason for advertising notice of intention to apply to the General Assembly or to introduce a bill in the General Assembly is the constitutional provision, Article III, section 8, which has been spelled out verbatim in rule 43 of the House. And, of course, in that constitutional provision and this rule, it says that no local or special bill shall be passed by the House unless notice of the intention to apply therefor has been published in the locality where the matter or the thing to be affected may be situated, which notice shall be at least thirty days prior to the introduction in the General Assembly of such bill and in the manner provided by law. There is additional language which is not necessary to this debate. Of course, the language includes "in the manner provided by law," which means that legislation must be adopted to implement this provision of the Constitution.

Under the act of 1937, the Statutory Construction Act which carries out this constitutional provision, it states, "no local or special law shall be passed by the legislature unless notice of the intention to apply therefor shall be published," and it goes on to spell out the fact that notice shall set forth the full title and the purpose of the bill and shall be signed by one of the parties therefor. There is no question but that the notice provision has been complied with, but we must look into the reason why the framers of the Constitution adopted Article III, section 8, and that is the heart of this debate. I say that the reason for this is to discourage the General Assembly from passing bills or repealing bills that are peculiarly pertaining to one locality, in this instance, Berks County. And they said that if the legislature did do that, then they certainly ought to give the people of that particular locality affected notice of the fact that they are intending to repeal the present law affecting them, and affecting them only. So that in this situation, the advertisement was lodged in the paper giving notice to the people of Berks County clearly of the fact that there was going to be legislation introduced spelling out in the title that they are going to repeal these local laws pertaining to prison inspectors. The people had the notice, they were put on their guard, and they would have the right to come up here and either lobby for or against it. The notice was complied with and there is no reason why the legislature cannot now amend that bill by saying to the people, "We not only gave you notice but now we are going to turn it back into your lap and give you the opportunity of repealing it." The repealer merely is procedural; it has to do with the effective date of the repeal.

As the learned gentleman from Dauphin County, Mr. Bowman, said, this is a case of first impression. In going through the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania the cases that discuss Article III, section 8 of the Constitution, there is one very significant case and it involves the city of Pittsburgh and the school districts. I say this case is significant because the Supreme Court clearly states therein what the legislature can or cannot do with respect to notice of repeal or enactment of special laws. That is the case of Chalfont vs. Edwards, an 1896 case. If you will bear with me, I will just briefly give you the facts and tell you the important language contained in that decision which is the keynote of this debate. It says that this thing they are discussing affects the people of the city of Pittsburgh. They have the right to notice of the intention to apply for it.

Now in this case it seems that there was no advertising of notice and that point was admitted by both sides in this case before the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court says it now feels that without notice the parties interested procured the passage of this local law in plain violation of the Constitution and therefore there is no question but that the bill was unconstitutional, but the Supreme Court says, and this is very important: "If it appears that this question had been considered by the legislature and this body had decided that sufficient notice had been given, or if the committee to which the bill had been referred reported that the constitutional requirement of notice had been complied with, we might feel ourselves concluded by such action."

Now here today on the floor of this House and in this Journal will appear this debate which clearly establishes that the legislature discussed the notice that was given to the people of Berks County and that it is for us to decide whether that notice was sufficient and in compliance with the law. As I say, the law as in the constitutional provision provides that the purpose of the bill shall be advertised and also the title.

With this amendment which we ask you to adopt today, you will still have no change in the title. The title will not be affected, nor will the purpose of the bill be affected. The purpose of the bill is to repeal these local acts. The amendments will provide for a repealer to become effective when the people of Berks County so decide in a referendum vote.

This amendment was carefully considered by the Legislative Reference Bureau, under the director, Harry Hershey, whom I am sure the Speaker will agree is a man well-versed and learned in the law.

The SPEAKER. The Speaker does not agree.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, the House, Mr. Speaker, with unanimity decided that he was the man for the job and we should respect his opinion, his legal ability and his authority.

Mr. Hershey, in writing to the sponsor of this amendment, discussed it very carefully and he clearly is of the opinion that this is not in violation of the constitutional provision being discussed, that it merely is a procedural change. It merely has to do with the effective date when this repeal, if it is to be repealed, shall become effective. Therefore, armed with the decision by the director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, and bearing in mind the fact that the Supreme Court said that if the legislature had discussed the notice, then we might very well be concluded, and bearing in mind further the reason for this constitutional provision, to give the people of Berks County notice that we are going to bring out on the floor and introduce in the General Assembly a bill to repeal it, that is all that is required. The people have had sufficient notice. There is no question here at all. It is just inconceivable to me that a man as learned in the law as Jim Bowman would get up here and state that this is in violation of the Constitution. Never have I been convinced that this is clearly within the intent of the constitutional provision and also the act of 1937, the Statutory Construction Act, which sets forth what is to be required.

Therefore, I ask the members on both sides of the House to adopt this amendment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Piper.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. McDevitt.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. McDevitt, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McDEVITT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, this bill was advertised during the month of February in the Reading city papers. I ask now whether or not you were aware of this advertising of what this bill was to do?

Mr. McDEVITT. I was aware of the bill from statements that you had made in Berks County for the period of time that it was advertised in the local newspapers.

Mr. PIPER. You then say that you were aware of this advertising as to the intention to repeal this present act?

Mr. McDEVITT. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PIPER. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. In view of that, Mr. Speaker, and in view of what was said by the learned gentlemen who have spoken before me, they certainly know the law, and I believe if we pass these amendments we are doing something against the wishes of the people of Berks County. We advertised one thing, now we are doing something else.

I urge everybody to vote these amendments down.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, desire to be recognized?

Mr. BOWMAN. Just briefly, Mr. Speaker. It came as somewhat of a shock to me that in my disagreement with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, that he expresses surprise that I can reach the conclusion I did. But be that as it may, both the director of the Legislative Reference Bureau in his written opinion to the sponsor of the amendment and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, in his remarks here on the floor of the House, either purposely or inadvertently did not get down to the crux or the meat of this issue. I did not want to refer to a lot of legislation, but the notice of intent, is the phrase we are considering. The Statutory Construction Act in implementing that says the purposes of the proposed legislation shall be advertised.

Simply, the issue is very narrow and it does not take a lawyer to decide the issue. I think we all agree as to the purpose of this provision of the Constitution, it is to notify the people who are affected locally. The sole issue is one of reason or logic. Have the people of Berks County been advised by the advertisement which has been put in the paper of what we are now considering? To me the answer is simply, no, they have not been.

Again, I want to refer to the advertisement and, incidentally, the type of advertisement has precedent. Over the years our precedent for advertising notices of special bills is that you first print the title as required by the act, and then, secondly, you state the purposes or objects of the act. Specifically, what did they tell the people of Berks County was going to be done up here? Simply that they were going to repeal this legislation. Nothing more, nothing less. Now the amendment says you are not going to repeal it, you are going to pass it on to a referendum, and that is not a postponement of the effective date of repeal, that is a subsequent issue. It is a matter of great concern to the people of Berks County, because it is going to cost them money by way of a special referendum during election.

I say without hesitation, and I will stake my reputation on it, contrary to Mr. McCormack's feeling as to why I am saying it, that this is a violation of the Constitution in that the people have not been advised of the objects and purposes of the amendment which we are considering.

I therefore urge you to vote against the consideration of the amendment on the grounds that it is unconstitutional to do so and I raise that as a constitutional point at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. I do not know who has the last word here, Mr. Speaker, but I will try to conclude it by saying very briefly in reply that the reason for the notice of the intention is to give the people the opportunity to come up here and do something about it. They have had that notice. Now we are saying to them: Look, you do not have to come up here, we are putting it back in your lap. You can decide whether you want to repeal these local laws. If you do not want to do it, fine, vote it down in a referendum. They are getting the notice. We are putting it back in their laps. There it is, you have all the notice you wanted. This is not a holy writ or something that you cannot change a letter in it. It is ridiculous to say that just because you advertise in the paper you cannot come up here and change the bill around as long as the people have notice of the intention, and I say they have had plenty of notice.

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is on the point of order raised by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, that the amendment to House bill 890, printer's No. 979, is unconstitutional.

Those voting "aye" will vote to sustain the point of order, thereby declaring the amendment to be unconstitutional.

Those voting "no" will vote that the point of order is not well taken and thereby declare the amendment to be constitutional.

On the question,

Will the House sustain the point of order raised by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman?

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the point of order was sustained and the amendments were declared unconstitutional.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. McDevitt.

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker, I being a newer member of the House, am not fully acquainted with parliamentary procedure. I ask if I am in order to ask to have this bill recommitted? I ask, of course, because I move to have the bill recommitted.

The SPEAKER. To what committee does the gentleman desire to have the bill recommitted? To the committee from which it came?

What is that committee?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, he was asking if he was in proper parliamentary procedure and he was never answered. He is proper in making a motion.

The SPEAKER. It is proper for him, if he so desires, to make a motion to recommit the bill to the committee from which it came.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. Is it the understanding of the Chair that a roll call is desired on the motion to recommit?

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I request a roll call and ask every member to vote against the recommitment of the bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to recommit the bill to the Committee on Rules?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Weidner.

Mr. WEIDNER. Mr. Speaker, since the ruling has been made that the amendments to House bill 890 are not unconstitutional, I cannot support the bill in its entirety, or in its original form.

I have reason to believe that its support has been very much in the minority and that the people of Berks County should be given the opportunity . . .

The SPEAKER. The Chair would remind the gentleman that the question before this House is a motion to recommit.

Mr. WEIDNER. I simply wanted to bring out several points to show my reasons why I am in favor of the recommitment of this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will recognize the gentleman on the bill, if the bill is not recommitted.

Mr. WEIDNER. I simply wanted to point out that the people would not be given an opportunity . . .

I, therefore, ask all the members of this House to support the recommitment of this bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is all right in that statement.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I support the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Zember.

Mr. ZEMBER. Mr. Speaker, this is quite a serious problem, should you or should you not recommit a local or special bill. This has stirred up quite a problem down in Berks County. I am not going to speak on the merits of the bill. You gentlemen, as well as myself, are all elected public officials. You are sent up here to make up your minds, are you for or are you against something. You are not here to use devices of parliamentary procedure, or otherwise, to get you off the hook. This is a hot potato. Do not throw it into the soup of the voters of Berks County.

I show you the cartoon in yesterday's Reading Eagle. We are under obligation. Let us debate the bill. Vote against recommitment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I take a moment of time at this point, because everyone is watching the clock?

Mr. Speaker, I will ask that this House continue to operate, voting on bills until 7 o'clock, and no night session.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, why do you not compromise and make it 6:30? We have had a pretty long day.

Mr. WEIDNER. I would like to briefly state my reasons for voting for recommitment of House bill 890.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will send his reasons in writing to the desk. That is the procedure.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. WEIDNER filed the following reasons for his vote on recommitment of House bill No. 890.

After conferring with and seeking the advise of many of the interested citizens of Berks County, my reasons for opposing House bill 890 are as follows:

(1) No provisions have been made in the bill for the supervision of the Berks County Prison, providing the Board is abolished, and the question arises—can our local County Officials devote the necessary amount of time to see the operation of the prison is as efficient as under the prison board.

(2) We believe that instead of a saving in money to the taxpayers, it possibly could cost many times the amount that is being paid to the Prison Board Member. For example, some years ago our county home was operated under the supervision of three elected officials, known as "Directors of the Poor" who were paid a total of a few hundred dollars for their services. However, when this form of government was changed and the directors were eliminated, a county institution district was created which is presently comprised of several employees, at a total cost in salaries of thousands of dollars, plus the cost of equipment and operation of an office which is many times the amount paid to the elected directors.

(3) Our greatest fear is that our present high standard rating for the prison may be cast to the wayside. At the last inspection made by the Pennsylvania Department of Justice, Bureau of Correction, they highly commended the Berks County Prison and the Prison Board. The report from Robert A. Itri, Penal Inspection Director, gave the prison a "good plus" rating and issued "Excellent" on administration and management, housekeeping and sanitation, and medical and health.

(4) A survey and analysis of the bill was prepared by G. Richard Bacon, Executive Secretary of the Pennsylvania Prison Society, and amongst many of his statements he has this to say: "What disturbs us in our professional view is that it repeals something that evidently has been functioning satisfactorily for the citizens of Berks County with our spelling out its replacement to control the penal facility. Professionally, we are deeply concerned in, and dedicated to, constructive legislation on programs, first, that insure the best interests of the citizens in the custody and treatment of those who are in penal confinement. Secondly, that prison progress have continuity and provide for security with tenure for the personnel who will administer the programs. The enactment of House bill No. 890 makes no provisions for either, and, therefore, we could not endorse this proposed legislation on the basis of a professional constructive view.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. ADAMS filed the following reasons for his vote on recommitment of House bill No. 890.

Mr. Speaker, had the amendments to HB 890 been adopted I would have voted for the bill. These amendments would have provided a referendum for the people of Berks County to determine whether or not they wanted to abolish the Berks County Board of Prison Inspectors.

It is my considered opinion that no one has a better right to determine how their tax dollars shall be spent than the people who pay the taxes.

My mind has not been satisfied that abolition of the Prison Board of Berks would not result in creation of an administrative position or positions of a political nature that could conceivably exceed in cost, if not in efficiency, present administrative operations of the Berks County Prison.

Inasmuch as a referendum was denied Berks County by legislative action, I feel it was only fitting and proper that I vote for recommitment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1331, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Highways with the approval of the Governor to construct a highway and to erect and maintain a bridge over the Schuylkill River in Montgomery County.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FETTEROLF asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend bill, page 3, by inserting after line 13:

Section 5. The project authorized by this act shall be commenced on or before December 31, 1962.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fry, on these amendments.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fry, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FRY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, these amendments provide that House bill 1331, which would authorize the Department of Highways to build a $3 million bridge in the area of Norristown, Montgomery County, that the work on this project would start on or before the 31st of December, 1962.

Now, I want to ask the gentleman from Montgomery whether or not he is prepared to support this amendment, and, if so, whether or not he would ask the other members of this side to join him in his support?

Mr. FRY. No, I will not join in supporting these proposed amendments and I urge everybody to vote against them.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I want to point out a few facts with respect to the reason for this amendment. In view of this interrogation I think it will throw some light upon it. I am not through with the interrogation.

Now for several years Montgomery County has been in need of a second bridge over the Schuylkill in the Norristown area. Originally, in 1959, the Honorable Thomas H. W. Jones, who represented the second district in Montgomery, introduced legislation which would authorize the Department of Highways to accomplish this much needed project. At the same time a duplicate bill was introduced in the other House by the Senator from Montgomery. At that time the Senate was Republican and this House was Democratic.

Mr. FRY. Mr. Speaker, this sounds more like a speech than a question to me.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I believe I have the floor.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf, has the floor.

Are you continuing the interrogation of the gentleman from Montgomery?

Mr. FETTEROLF. This is prefacing the interrogation, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Fetterolf will continue.

Mr. FETTEROLF. In the Senate the bill passed and came to this House and died in committee in 1959.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, rise?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I believe the Speaker should inform the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fry, of his right that he does not need to submit to interrogation unless he so desires.

The SPEAKER. Any member of the House can decline to be interrogated. That is a voluntary matter for any member of the House to decide. He does not have to be interrogated unless he wants to.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman accepted the request for interrogation.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fry, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. FRY. I have agreed to submit to interrogation.

The SPEAKER. The Chair gathers that the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fry, is not disposed to submit to interrogation.

Mr. FETTEROLF. I did not understand that, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The microphones are working so poorly that the Chair has trouble in hearing.

I understand that the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fry, is not disposed to consent to interrogation. Am I right?

Mr. FETTEROLF. He has accepted interrogation, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FRY. I agree, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. He has agreed to interrogation.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, rise?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, just to clear up a point in controversy. Mr. Fry has agreed to interrogation, as I have heard.

However, Mr. Fry, I believe, will be glad to sit down in the event the gentleman is going to go through his discourse in speaking on the amendments. If he is through interrogating, Mr. Fry should be so advised.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, as I said earlier, I am prefacing my remarks, prefacing my interrogation.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf, has the floor.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, as I said here a few moments ago, in 1959 the Senate passed this bill and passed it to this House and it died in committee.

The very same bill was introduced again this year in January by another sponsor and myself and has been languishing in the Committee on Highways since January 24th, I believe.

At the same time from the other house an identical bill was introduced by the Senator from Montgomery and that bill has not seen the light of day.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is slightly out of order in recounting the history of a bill in the other house.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Very will, sir.

Now in April of this year the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fry, introduced House bill 1441, an exact duplicate of the bill which I introduced and the one introduced in 1959 by the late—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BRETH. I raise a point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BRETH. The gentleman, I do not believe, is speaking on the amendment. I think he is speaking on the bill, on its merits, or something else.

Mr. FETTEROLF. I am speaking on the amendments, Mr. Speaker, and, as I said, I am prefacing my interrogation with these statements.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the amendment. As to the bills that are pending in either house the bill now before the House is the only one subject for discussion and then only the amendments are pertinent for discussion at this time.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, is it proper for me to give reasons for the introduction of the amendments.

The SPEAKER. It is proper for the gentleman to confine himself to the merits of his amendments.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Thank you, sir.

Well, in April of this year this bill was introduced, and I am now introducing amendments which would provide that this bridge will actually start by the end of December, 1962. The reason for doing that is that from the April date, when this bill was introduced, the newspapers in the Montgomery area and specifically in Norristown have been talking about the high optimism of the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fry, with respect to the success of this bridge project, and I would like to read several excerpts from a local paper with regard to that and then point out why I am introducing the amendment now.

Mr. FRY. Mr. Speaker, is he finished with the interrogation?

The SPEAKER. I think he probably is.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Fry, I would like to interrogate you longer. If you would like to sit down now, I will call you back.

Mr. FRY. Mr. Speaker, once I sit down I am not getting up here again to be interrogated by him.

The SPEAKER. I hope that the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf, cooperates with the Chair, the House seems to be a bit touchy at the present time, and confines himself to a discussion of his amendments. When he gets the bill amended, then he can discuss why he wants the bill passed.

What do the amendments do?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, rise?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I would like to know whether these gentlemen are from Berks County or Montgomery County.

The SPEAKER. I think they would probably declare they were from Montgomery.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, the reasons for the amendment which would set this December 31st date in 1962 are these: For week upon week we have been hearing optimistic reports from the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fry, with regard to the prospects of this bridge bill. I have talked with Secretary of Highways, Mr. Martin, and have received rather discouraging news with regard to its possibility of becoming a fact.

Therefore, I have set this date at the end of the current administration, which would be the end of December 1962, in order to find out whether or not the department actually wants to do something about the bridge which we need in Montgomery County.

The sponsor of the bill says very definitely that he is highly optimistic and believes this is going to be accomplished. I question that somewhat. I am inclined to believe that perhaps there is some benefit to be derived by this publicity and, therefore, I want to bring this to a head.

I would suggest this, that if the Democratic Party and the present administration is sincere in its plans to give a bridge to Montgomery County, this much needed bridge across the Schuylkill River, that the Democratic side will support this amendment. Barring that I have only one assumption and that is that they plan possibly to start specifications and plans and work on those up until the final day of the administration, then turn them all over to the new Republican administration which will take office in 1963.

Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask for a roll call on the amendments.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we certainly will consent to a roll call as requested on the amendments offered by the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf.

These amendments I ask the membership to vote down, and I bring to the attention of this House that I want you to check the history on any other bill in any other administration in this field, in the field of bridge construction, in any other year, and show me the bill that you passed in which you had specific dates.

Therefore, I ask that you oppose these amendments offered by the gentleman in this field, and, of course, I also wish, at a proper time, to speak about the official communiques from the highway department on this subject.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like the privilege of interrogating the majority leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. To understand what is before us, we only have the amendments offered by Mr. Fetterolf at the present time, is that not correct?

Mr. McCANN. If I understand the amendments, they are to begin the construction at a certain date, is that right?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is right. Beginning when?

Mr. McCANN. I believe it read December 31 or December 1, 1962.

The SPEAKER. December 31, 1962.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I am asking a further question—are there other amendments to be offered?

Mr. McCANN. There are.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Is the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fry, going to offer amendments?

Mr. McCANN. That is right, sir.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, so that the House can intelligently vote on Mr. Fetterolf's amendments, answer this question: Will the amendments of Mr. Fry complement or in any way be antagonistic to the amendments offered by Mr. Fetterolf?

Mr. McCANN. For the information of the membership, I think it would be most proper for Mr. Fry to bring me one copy of the amendments which we can read. They do not have an effective construction date. Would the gentleman from Montgomery consent to the amendments that are to be offered following Mr. Fetterolf's amendments as to the wordage and language of the amendments?

The SPEAKER. I think if the respective floor leaders do not have a copy of the amendments that Mr. Fry intends to introduce, he should furnish both the majority and minority leaders with copies of the amendments which he has in mind to present.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is right. I do not have a copy of the amendments. If Mr. Fry has given me a copy, I am sorry. I mislaid them.

Mr. McCANN. He did, Mr. Speaker. The gentleman did give a set of amendments. The amendments that Mr. Fry will offer do not have a construction effective date.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. What do they propose?

Mr. McCANN. They deal with "the highway department shall begin the preparation of the plans and specifications . . ."

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. On what date?

Mr. McCANN. ". . . for the bridge herein mentioned by October 15, 1961," this year—plans and specifications, not construction.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then there will be before us, so the House will know, Mr. Fry's amendments which say start the plans in October of this year. Mr. Fetterolf says, all right, you start the plans in October, start building the bridge December 31, 1962, one year and three months later, is that right? I mean that is what the two amendments will be.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Fetterolf's amendments, of course, which were clearly defined, indicated a date of construction for this bridge.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak on the amendments of Mr. Fetterolf.

Mr. Speaker, as a result of the interrogation, I believe that the House should vote not only for Mr. Fetterolf's amendments, but also for Mr. Fry's amendments. I think they are both very, very excellent amendments. This bridge is needed and we are the legislature and we are providing the money for all these things, and there is nothing wrong with our saying start designing the bridge next October. It certainly will not take forever to draw a set of plans for a bridge. Then when the plans are made there is nothing wrong with saying start building on December 31, 1962. I cannot see anything wrong with that. I think I realize that Mr. Fry's amendments are not infallible, but I am asking the House to vote for Mr. Fetterolf's amendments and support the amendments of Mr. Fry. I think that would be consistent and proper for us to do so.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership of this House to vote "no" on the amendments offered by Mr. Fetterolf and ask that when the roll is called the membership indicate by voting "no" on the construction date of the bridge.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I further interrogate the majority leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the majority leader permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I realize this might not be proper, but I think the House should know, are you going to then ask the House to support the amendments submitted by Mr. Fry?

Mr. McCANN. Absolutely.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Oh, you are going to say vote for these, but do not vote for Mr. Fetterolf's, is that right?

Mr. McCANN. That is right, sir.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Okay, just so we know.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the majority leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, you have just stated to the minority leader that you will oppose my amendments and support the amendments of the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fry. I cannot quite see the reasoning for supporting specs and plans at such and such a date and then allowing a year and three months to go by and not supporting the construction beginning date, and I want to know if I am making a point there which is worthwhile considering and why your side will not take a different position on this amendment.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I can certainly answer that emphatically.

No. 1, as I mentioned before, no bill, bridge bill, which you ever passed when you were in charge ever had an effective construction date in it. We remove the effective construction date in this very bill. We do not in any way propose to have an effective construction date in any bill dealing with the date the construction should start. If it can be completed, it certainly will start sooner. There are many items that enter into it, but also various items enter into this situation which certainly occurred in Montgomery County regarding this bridge that were of extreme importance.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I cannot see the reason for one amendment setting up a date for the beginning of specs and plans and supporting that, and not the construction angle.

May I ask the majority leader, is there any money in the construction budget of the highway department for the bridge at Norristown, $3 million as specified by the bill?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am most pleased that the gentleman brings up the point because this opens the door to the quotes in the "Times Herald," the Norristown newspaper in which I have a certification from Mr. Park Martin, the secretary, which I quote in full.

The quote is as follows:

"Representative Fetterolf was quoted at some length and generally to the effect that the present administration had no thought whatsoever of allocating $3 million for the construction of a second bridge and implied that the bill that was introduced was a bland assumption of the citizens of Montgomery County. Such statements attributed to Representative Fetterolf are untrue and obviously designed to fool the public for political purposes."

And I say to you that the Secretary of Highways says when the plans and specs are moving right along, that the allocation of this study for this bridge is assured as he progresses with the plans.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I asked the majority leader if there were $3 million set aside in the construction budget for 1961-62 for this bid? I did not ask for that.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the 1961-62 construction budget is now in force and would not have this money. But it certainly would be there as soon as the plans and specs are received.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Thank you very much.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fry.

Mr. FRY. Will the gentleman from Montgomery consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FETTEROLF. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FRY. Mr. Fetterolf, is this proposed amendment not an effort on your part to get in on the act.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I was in on the act four months before my colleague from Montgomery, Mr. Fry. However, the highway committee did not see fit to release the bill.

Mr. FRY. Mr. Fetterolf, did I not wait almost three months before I introduced a bill similar to yours.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Yes sir, you did. You waited three months and yet in publicity releases, which I see here before me, you talk about this tremendous emergency and how this has to go right ahead at one time, how we have to get this thing going immediately, and so forth, but for the three months my bill was in the committee until the time yours was introduced I saw no action on your part, sir.

Mr. FRY. Did you at any time ask me for any assistance?

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, if you will recall the day that I introduced my bill for this bridge we had a meeting in the office of the Secretary of Highways, Mr. Martin, together with all members of the Montgomery County delegation, both House and Senate, the commissioners from Montgomery County, the heads of the Chamber of Commerce, and various other civic groups.

The SPEAKER. We are still on the amendments.

Mr. FRY. Did you invite me to attend that meeting?

Mr. FETTEROLF. I did not invite the attendants and I was not invited myself; we all just turned up there.

The SPEAKER. The discussion is so far off center from a parliamentary point of view, and so there may be no suspicion of bias by the Chair, I am asking the gentleman from Armstrong to preside while the Chair signs some bills.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question before the House is the amendments offered by the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf. Will the gentleman confine the remarks to the business before the House, and also the interrogation?

Mr. FRY. Would you repeat that, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will be happy to repeat it. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the amendments before this House and the interrogation should be confined to the amendments before the House.

Mr. FRY. Thank you. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know how this December 1962 date was arrived at?

Mr. FETTEROLF. Are you asking that question?

Mr. FRY. Yes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is a proper question.

Mr. FETTEROLF. The date was arrived at because it is the last date when the current administration would be in office and I have had such glowing reports in the paper that you plan to get this bridge through that I want to put it to a test and find out whether we are going to get the bridge, and, therefore, I introduced this amendment. My assumption of it is it is to be beaten down by the other side that there is no intent of putting this bridge in by the date.

Mr. FRY. Did you consult the Secretary of Highways, regarding this date?

Mr. FETTEROLF. No, not on the date. No, sir. However, in the newspapers the secretary said if those specs were started or planning generally was started it would take a year to eighteen months before construction could start, and I am giving it a year and three or four months. I think that is pretty close to the length of time required.

Mr. FRY. Are you for or against the construction of this bridge?

Mr. FETTEROLF. I am very much for it.

Mr. FRY. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, desire to be recognized?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I am confused on these amendments and I would like to interrogate the majority leader, if I may.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I understood the gentleman to state that he knew of no previous bill in which there was an effective date for construction inserted in the bill and he is probably correct in that. Now I want to ask him this, does he know of any previous bill in which there was an effective date for plans and specifications? I am asking that sincerely, because I really do not know if there have been such effective dates?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have to answer honestly, that in Rules Committee we discussed the effective date which was originally in Mr. Fry's bill. It was agreed that the effective date would be stricken out of the bill. We checked to see if there was any effective date on construction. I do not know nor can I answer you to say whether there was ever an effective date on plans and specifications.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, in supporting Mr. Fetterolf's position that if we are establishing new policies as to plans and specifications as apparently we are going to do, it seems good policy to start to establish an effective date as far as construction is concerned. Especially since at this time the Highway Department seems to have enough money to do what it wants to do, if it really wants to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. I could not answer that in the affirmative and the gentleman knows that, that an effective construction date would be inserted into this program, and if you were in charge I am sure you would have the same responsibility. Now, there is no question about the plans and specifications, because that is officially confirmed in communications as of June 8th and other communications and other letters from the Secretary of Highways, Mr. Martin.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, one more question of the majority leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know if the bridge plans have not already been made by a contract engineer for the highway department?

Mr. McCANN. Have the plans already been made? The answer is no. A contract engineer has been engaged to make the plans to proceed, but the plans are not complete. In fact, the location meeting is scheduled very shortly to deal with the location of the bridge, and I believe the date is scheduled in the very near future. I have it here, specifically, for planning the actual location of the bridge at the river in Montgomery County.

Mr. FETTEROLF. I thank the gentleman. Mr. Speaker. Half a loaf is better than none and I ask all members of the House to support these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. FETTEROLF and LIPPINCOTT and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FRY asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend bill, page 3, by inserting after line 13:

Section 5. The Department of Highways shall begin the preparation of the plans and specifications for the construction of the bridge herein mentioned by October 15, 1961.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1160, entitled:

An Act amending the "Urban Redevelopment Law" approved May 24, 1945 (P. L. 991), extending the provisions of the act to include certain boroughs except in counties of the second class.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, this bill, as I think the membership of the House knows, will extend the right—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman desire to debate the bill?

Mr. GAILEY. I desire to make a motion, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The motion is in order.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Kornick.

Mr. KORNICK. Mr. Speaker, I oppose the motion to recommit.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. GAILEY and KORNICK and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Very briefly, Mr. Speaker. Apparently, from the roll call on the recommittal motion, the House desires to pass the legislation. I would like to place on the record, however, very briefly, the reasons why I think the House is making an ill-considered move.

The right to engage in urban redevelopment programs at the present time, I understand, is extended to cities and to counties. Certainly, under the framework of the present law any borough that wishes to engage in urban redevelopment can do and should do so through their proper county redevelopment agencies. To extend the right to urban renewal, the administrative staff would have to be hired. To extend this down to units as small as boroughs will cause very substantial overlapping in programs and will increase substantially the administrative costs of such programs. I suggest that they can have their urban renewal plans under present legislation and that to extend it in this way would be a serious mistake on our part.

Mr. KORNICK. Mr. Speaker, this is a local government commission bill. All we ask is that you give the same consideration to boroughs as we already give to third class cities. This applies to boroughs with a population of 5,000 or more.

There is nothing wrong with this type of legislation. If it is good for one local municipality or local government it is good for another.

Therefore, I ask the members on both sides to vote for this piece of legislation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTION

COMMEMORATION

Messrs. POLEN, CAPANO, FLYNN, McCANN and MURPHY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 13, 1961.

General Edward Martin, a former Governor of the Commonwealth and a man respected by all was an enthusiastic proponent of highway construction during the entire span of his public life.

General Martin fought in three wars, the Spanish American War, World War I and World War II. He also served his State as a dedicated public servant. He was elected State Treasurer, Auditor General and Governor. He was a member of the cabinet in the capacity of Adjutant General and he represented the people of Pennsylvania in Washington as a member of the United States Senate.

Because of his background and the service he has rendered to the citizens of our State, it is fitting and appropriate that legislative recognition be accorded General Edward Martin; therefore be it

Resolved, That Highway Route Number 71 from the Pennsylvania Turnpike at New Stanton to Washington, Pennsylvania be dedicated to the man during whose administration the first section of the road was built and that the highway be known as the "General Edward Martin Highway," and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways shall erect along the highway suitable tablets and markers and shall carry out suitable landscape development to perpetuate this resolution. This highway shall also continue to be known as route 71, and upon completion as route 70, as currently planned.

Section 2. Clauses (j) and (n) of Section 2 of the act, amended August 20, 1959 (P. L. 729) and November 21, 1959 (P. L. 1556) are amended to read:

Section 2. Definitions.—

* * *

(j) "Sale at Retail." (1) Any transfer, for a consideration, of the ownership, custody or possession of tangible personal property, including the grant of a license to use or consume whether such transfer be absolute or conditional and by whatsoever means the same shall have been effected.

(2) The rendition of the service of printing or imprinting of tangible personal property for a consideration for persons who furnish, either directly or indirectly, the materials used in the printing or imprinting.

(3) The rendition for a consideration of the service of:

(i) Washing, cleaning, waxing, polishing or lubricating of motor vehicles of another whether or not any tangible personal property is transferred in conjunction therewith; and

(ii) Inspecting motor vehicles pursuant to the mandatory requirements of "The Vehicle Code."

(4) The rendition for a consideration of the service of repairing, altering or cleaning tangible personal property or applying or installing tangible personal property as a repair or replacement part of other personal property for a consideration, whether or not any tangible personal property is transferred in conjunction therewith, except such services as are rendered in the construction, reconstruction, remodeling, repair or maintenance of real estate. Notwithstanding the meaning ascribed to the term "tangible personal property" by clause (1) of this section 2, for the purposes of this subclause (2) (j) (4) only, the term "tangible personal property" shall also include any and all wearing apparel upon which the services described herein, including such services as drycleaning, dyeing, fitting, laundering, mending or pressing, may be performed, whether the services are performed directly or by means of coin-operated equipment or by any other means; Provided, however, That this subclause shall not be deemed to impose tax upon such services in the preparation for sale of new wearing apparel (other than that described by clause (1) (2) of this section 2, or upon diaper service.

(5) Any retention after March 7, 1956, of possession, custody or a license to use or consume pursuant to a rental contract or other lease arrangement (other than as security).

(6) Any retention of possession, custody or a license to use or consume tangible personal property or any further obtaining of services described in subclauses (2),

(3) and (4) of this clause after April 15, 1959, pursuant to a rental or service contract or other arrangement (other than as security).

(7) Any retention of possession, custody or a license to use or consume tangible personal property or any further obtaining of services described in subclauses (2), (3) and (4) of this clause, after the effective date of this amendment, pursuant to a rental or service contract or other arrangement (other than as security).

The term "sale at retail" shall not include (a) any such transfer or rendition of services for the purpose of resale, or (b) such rendition of services or the transfer of tangible personal property including, but not limited to, machinery and equipment and parts and foundations therefor and supplies to be used or consumed directly in any of the operations of—

(a) The manufacture of personal property;

(b) Farming, dairying, agriculture, horticulture or floriculture when engaged in as a business enterprise;

(c) The producing, delivering or rendering of a public utility service, or in construction, reconstruction, remodeling, repairing or maintaining the facilities used in such service, whether or not such facilities constitute real estate; Provided, however, "Real Estate" shall not include buildings.

(d) The processing of personal property as defined in clause (c.1) of this section.

The exclusion provided in paragraphs (a), [and] (b) and (d) shall not apply to any vehicle required to be registered under The Vehicle Code or The Tractor Code or to maintenance facilities or to materials or supplies to be used or consumed in any construction, reconstruction, remodeling, repair or maintenance of real estate other than machinery, equipment or parts or foundations therefor that may be affixed to such real estate.

The exclusions provided in paragraphs (a), (b) [and] (c) and (d) shall not apply to tangible personal property or services to be used or consumed in managerial sales or other nonoperational activities.

The exclusion provided in paragraph (c) shall not apply to (a) construction materials used to construct, reconstruct, remodel, repair or maintain facilities not used directly in the production, delivering or rendition of public utility service, or (b) tools and equipment used but not installed in the maintenance of facilities used in the production, delivering or rendition of a public utility service.

Where tangible personal property or services are utilized for purposes constituting a "sale at retail" as herein defined, and for purposes excluded from the definition of "sale at retail," the predominant purpose shall determine whether such purposes constitute a "sale at retail" as herein defined.

The term "sale at retail" with respect to "liquor" and "malt or brewed beverages" shall include the sale of "liquor" by any "Pennsylvania liquor store" to any person for any purpose, and the sale of "malt or brewed beverages" by a "manufacturer of malt or brewed beverages," "distributor" or "importing distributor" to any person for any purpose, except sales by a "manufacturer of malt or brewed beverages" to a "distributor" or "importing distributor," or sales by an "importing distributor" to a "distributor" within the meaning of the "Liquor Code." The term "sale at retail" shall not include any sale of "malt or brewed beverages" by a "retail dispenser" or any sale of "liquor" or "malt or brewed beverages" by a person holding a "retail liquor license" within the meaning of and pursuant to the provisions of the "Liquor Code," but shall include any sale of "liquor" or "malt or brewed beverages" other than pursuant to the provisions of the "Liquor Code."

(n) "Use." (1) The exercise of any right or power incidental to the ownership, custody or possession of tangible personal property and shall include, but not be limited to transportation, storage or consumption.

(2) The obtaining by a purchaser of the service of printing or imprinting of tangible personal property when such purchaser furnishes, either directly or indirectly, the articles used in the printing or imprinting.

(3) The obtaining by a purchaser of the service of (i) washing, cleaning, waxing, polishing or lubricating of motor vehicles whether or not any tangible personal property is transferred to the purchaser in conjunction with such services, and (ii) inspecting motor vehicles pursuant to the mandatory requirements of "The Vehicle Code."

(4) The obtaining by a purchaser of the service of repairing, altering or cleaning tangible personal property or applying or installing tangible personal property as a repair or replacement part of other personal property whether or not any tangible personal property is transferred to the purchaser in conjunction therewith, except such services as are obtained in the construction, reconstruction, remodeling, repair or maintenance of real estate. Notwithstanding the meaning ascribed to the term "tangible personal property" by clause (1) of this section 2, for the purposes of this subclause (2) (n) (4) only, the term "tangible personal property" shall also include any and all wearing apparel upon which the services described herein, including such services as drycleaning, dyeing, fitting, laundering, mending or pressing may be performed, whether the services are performed directly or by means of coin-operated equipment or by any other means: Provided, however, That this subclause shall not be deemed to impose tax upon such services in the preparation for sale of new wearing apparel (other than that described by clause (1) (2) of this section 2), or upon diaper service; And provided further, that the term "use" shall not include—

(a) The demonstration of tangible personal property in the regular course of business, and

(b) The interim keeping, retaining or exercising any right or power over tangible personal property for the sole purpose of subsequently transporting it outside this Commonwealth for use outside this Commonwealth, or for the purpose of being processed, fabricated or manufactured into, attached to or incorporated into other personal property to be transported outside the Commonwealth for use solely outside this Commonwealth.

(c) The use or consumption of tangible personal property including, but not limited to machinery and equipment and parts and foundations therefor, and supplies or the obtaining of the services described in subclause (2), (3) and (4) of this clause directly in any of the operations of—

(i) The manufacture of personal property;

(ii) Farming, dairying, agriculture, horticulture or floriculture when engaged in as a business enterprise;

(iii) The producing, delivering or rendering of a public utility service, or in constructing, reconstructing, remodeling, repairing or maintaining the facilities used in such service, whether or not such facilities constitute real estate: Provided, however, "real estate" shall not include buildings;

(iv) The processing of personal property as defined in subclause (c.1) of this section.

The exclusions provided in subparagraphs (i), [and] (ii) and (iv) shall not apply to any vehicle required to be registered under The Vehicle Code or The Tractor Code or maintenance facilities, or to materials or supplies to be used or consumed in any construction, reconstruction, remodeling, repair or maintenance of real estate other than machinery, equipment or parts or foundations therefor, that may be affixed to such real estate. The exclusions provided in subparagraphs (i), (ii) [and] (iii) and (iv) shall not apply to tangible personal property or services to be used or consumed in managerial sales or other non-operational activities.

The exclusion provided in subparagraph (iii) shall not apply to (a) construction materials used to construct, reconstruct, remodel, repair or maintain facilities not used directly in the production, delivering or rendition of public utility service, or (b) tools and equipment used but not installed in the maintenance of facilities used in the production, delivering or rendition of a public utility service.

Where tangible personal property or services are utilized for purposes constituting a "use," as herein defined, and for purposes excluded from the definition of "use," the predominant purpose shall determine whether such purposes constitute a "use" as herein defined.

The term "use" with respect to "liquor" and "malt or brewed beverages" shall include the purchase of "liquor" from any "Pennsylvania liquor store" by any person for any purpose, and the purchase of "malt or brewed beverages" from a "manufacturer of malt or brewed beverages," "distributor" or "importing distributor" by any person for any purpose, except purchases from a "manufacturer of malt or brewed beverages" by a "distributor" or "importing distributor," or purchases from an "importing distributor" by a "distributor" within the meaning of the "Liquor Code." The term "use" shall not include any purchase of "malt or brewed beverages" from a "retail dispenser" or any purchase of "liquor" or "malt or brewed beverages" from a person holding a "retail liquor license" within the meaning of and pursuant to the provisions of the "Liquor Code," but shall include the exercise of any right or power incidental to the ownership, custody or possession of "liquor" or "malt or brewed beverages" obtained by the person exercising such right or power in any manner other than pursuant to the provisions of the "Liquor Code."

The use of tangible personal property purchased at retail upon which the services described in subclauses (2), (3) and (4) of this clause (n) have been performed shall be deemed to be a use of said services by the person using said property.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORT OF SPECIAL INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH

Mr. McCANN presented the report of the special investigation committee of the University of Pittsburgh concerning the conclusions and decisions in the case of Dr. Robert G. Colodny, as follows:

UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH
Pittsburgh 13, Pennsylvania

Philip H. Powers
Assistant Chancellor Development

June 13, 1961.

Representative Stephen McCann
Majority Floor Leader
House of Representatives
Waynesburg Road
Carmichaels, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. McCann:

In accordance with commitments made in my earlier correspondence, I am herewith transmitting a copy of the report made by Chancellor Litchfield today to the University Board of Trustees concerning his conclusions and decision in the case of Dr. Robert G. Colodny.

As chairman of the special investigating committee whose responsibility it has been to supply the Chancellor with complete, relevant, and impartial facts on which his decision could be made, I wish to repeat my earlier assurances that the charges made against Dr. Colodny have been investigated with thoroughness and with full regard for the rights of all concerned.

I hope you will accept the enclosed report with confidence that our special committee, our legal counsel, and the Chancellor have acted in accordance with fairness and the facts.

Very truly yours,

S/ P. H. Power, Chairman

Special Investigation Committee
Appointed by the Chancellor.

UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH
Chancellor of the University

June 13, 1961.

My dear Mr. Price:

Once each year the laws of the Commonwealth require that I review the faculty and administration of this University and advise the Commonwealth as to whether or not there are any among us who are known to be subversive. After a more than usually assiduous self-scrutiny I can say that to the best of our careful knowledge there is none.

The faculties, trustees and administration of this institution are poignantly aware of the dangers implicit in our conflict with international communism. If we are vigilant in our efforts to prevent subversion from developing within our institution, that effort arises primarily from our convictions regarding our way of life and the threats to which it is subjected. While our concern is buttressed by the statutory law of the Commonwealth which periodically reminds us of the dangers which an unprincipled competitor forces upon us, we are equally disciplined in this home of constitutional government by a rich tradition of freedom of expression which is the very heart of the society which we are intent upon protecting from subversion either from within or without.

You will be among the first to understand that an American university is by definition a place of free inquiry. It is not a government bureau, nor an industrial corporation nor a church. Its role in society postulates question, criticism, controversy, debate and doubt in all matters, social as well as scientific. The university embraces and supports the society in which it operates, but it knows no established doctrines, accepts no ordained patterns of behavior, acknowledges no truth as given. Were it otherwise the university would be unworthy of the role which our society has assigned it.

In the last analysis, the university must be free to think as its members will, to the same extent and for the same reason that the press must be free to comment as it will, as one branch of government must function independent of another, as the churches must be free to offer doctrinal sanctuary, as the corporations must have opportunity to pursue product and market with an absolute minimum of outside direction.

As you well know, I have divided my life among the private corporation, the government office and the campus, and I understand that each of these is, as is the church and the press, a prime source of strength and thought and aspiration. It must not be obscured that each of these contributes to and perpetuates our society precisely because we do postulate multiple sources of ideas, of values, of ultimate truths.

In fulfilling its function of inquiry, research and experimentation, the university continuously exercises this postulate of pluralistic values. We thus often find ourselves at variance with established public policy and conventional ideology. But, however we may differ from established views, and however wrong we may be, it does not follow that the institution or its members are subversive unless it is demonstrably clear that we advocate the destruction of our constitutional government, which is, in fact, the destruction of our pluralist society.

The principal threat of international communism lies in its clear intent to destroy the pluralism which the press, the corporation, the church and the university represent. We must be certain that that threat does not succeed.

As staunch defenders of a democratic system we must also be concerned about those who would overzealously "defend" our social system in such a way as to destroy it. If I rise and damn my fellow man, I should be prepared with clear and incontrovertible evidence. I should first have conferred with his peers, should have tried established channels for just consideration of my claim, and otherwise should have exhausted all the vehicles and remedies of an orderly society.

Surely in these paragraphs you recognize that we are speaking of principles, of first principles of a society which is in challenge the world over. I review them here as a framework in which to discuss the particular matter of this report.

During the year, we exercised every care in making certain that we did not admit to our fellowship those who would subvert a society which postulates multiplicity of values, pluralist institutions and the constitutional framework designed to preserve them. We are satisfied today that, on the basis of information which we are able after due and determined effort to obtain, there is no one among our faculty and administration who believes that our society as I have defined it should be replaced by another.

While in a sense our statutory responsibilities will be discharged when this single statement is submitted to the Commonwealth, it is important to speak of a particular situation which has caused much public comment. This is the matter concerning Dr. Robert G. Colodny, Associate Professor of History. I believe the essentials both as to procedure of inquiry and the substance of conclusion are these:

1. A question having been raised in the legislature and in the public press as to Dr. Colodny's association with international communism, I appointed a fact-finding committee to look into the matter. The committee represented the University trustees, the administration and the faculty. It included a lawyer, a former corporation executive, and a faculty member whose whole professional life has been spent in an academic environment. The trustee was Mr. George Lockhart, a partner in the firm of Kirkpatrick, Pomeroy, Lockhart & Johnson. The administration representative and chairman of the committee was Mr. Philip H. Powers, Assistant Chancellor for Development, and a business executive of long standing in this community. The faculty member was Dr. Robert E. Olson, Professor of Biochemistry and Nutrition in the Graduate School of Public Health. At the same time, the committee retained the competent and neutral law firm of Eckert, Seamans and Cherin to undertake the staff work.

2. The intended procedure of objective review of the fact of the case was discussed in advance with Dr. Colodny, with the Committee on Tenure and Academic Freedom of the University Senate and, of course, the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees. The procedure was acceptable to all of these parties and the investigation therefore went forward with general concurrence as to the wisdom of this method of review.

3. The committee and its counsel have spent more than four months in painstaking investigation, even though the task by its very nature was a distasteful one to them. Every appropriate investigatory agency of the federal government has been consulted and every one has been cooperative and in most instances has been able to provide the committee with useful information. Dr. Colodny's students and colleagues, both in this University and in other institutions, have been contributors to the materials which the committee reviewed. Associates of other years have volunteered information and others have responded to inquiries from the committee and from counsel. A wide variety of other public and private institutions have been involved in supply information which has been helpful to the committee in its deliberations. In addition, the committee has consulted extensively with a variety of highly qualified persons in a positions to make substantive judgments about the significance of Dr. Colodny's writings. Dr. Colodny himself was given every opportunity to state his views and comment on all charges made against him. At the same time the committee was firm in obtaining from him all relevant information. He was cooperative and frank throughout.

In all, six professional people have been engaged in this investigation for four months. The evidence from all over the world runs to several thousand pages. We have invested a very considerable amount of our time and resources, and have utilized every outside resource available to us. This has been a laborious, time-consuming, expensive, but I think thorough examination of the record.

4. In making this examination, we have done so with appropriate recognition of the concepts of legal relevance, hearsay evidence and other safeguards traditional in judicial hearings. The committee also necessarily was guided by common sense, rational judgment, and general logic. It tried to be fair both to the charges and to the individual being charged. The committee had no powers of subpoena, of course, but depended upon the willingness of a great many persons honestly and voluntarily to set forth facts as they knew them.

I believe, therefore, that we can rightly conclude that this has been a determined, even a monumental, effort to establish the specifics of the matter, in order that we could act dispassionately.

5. The fact-finding committee has now reported on the essential question addressed to it, which was: "Is Dr. Robert Colodny a subversive person as defined by the Pennsylvania Loyalty Act of 1951?" Collaterally, the committee has received information concerning Dr. Colodny's competence as a scholar and a teacher, and concerning his views on controversial issues. On the basis of the considerable evidence it was able to gather, the committee members unanimously drew their conclusions as follows:

"a. Dr. Colodny is a loyal American, is not now and never has been a Communist and is not a subversive person as defined by the Pennsylvania Loyalty Act of 1951.

b. Dr. Colodny is an exceptionally gifted scholar and an inspiring professor who does not teach doctrines subversive to our government.

c. Dr. Colodny exhibits exceptional independence of thought and action, according to his own conscience, in both his scholarly and societal pursuits.

d. Dr. Colodny has in the past knowingly associated with Communists and Communist-front organizations, solely in order to promote causes in which he believed deeply, especially the fight against Fascism and the establishment of a world peace.

e. In common with many other young people during the depression, Dr. Colodny maintained hope for some of the promises of the Soviet Union, but this feeling has given way to disillusionment and criticism of Russia's oppression. He brands Marxist doctrines as fallacious and believes that Communism has no place in a highly developed society such as ours.

f. Dr. Colodny fought with the Abraham Lincoln Brigade in the Spanish Civil War, risking death and suffering serious wounds, because of his hatred for Fascism. For the same reason—hatred of Hitler and Hitlerism—he volunteered in the U. S. Army before Pearl Harbor, despite severe physical disability.

g. Dr. Colodny believes that the Cuban revolution gained its impetus through the peasants' hopes for agrarian reform, but that the Castro government now has slipped into the Soviet orbit. He believes this to be a calamity for the people of Cuba, of the United States and of the entire Western Hemisphere."

From all the evidence at hand I have determined to my satisfaction that these findings of the committee are valid. I therefore wish specifically to say that to the very best of our knowledge, after most careful investigation, Dr. Colodny is a loyal American, is not a Communist or subversive person as defined by the Pennsylvania Loyalty Act of 1951, is an able and objective scholar, and is an inspiring teacher who does not teach doctrines subversive to our way of life.

This decision was made with an acute awareness of its implications. In making this decision, I consulted with a number of persons who could appraise the circumstances equitably. One person is one of the country's most respected attorneys and a chairman of the board of trustees of one of our largest and finest universities. Another is president of an equally outstanding university. A third is a distinguished historian and a past president of the American Historical Association, Dr. Colodny's own national professional society. Members of the University Senate's Committee on Academic Freedom and Tenure and members of the Senate Council also were consulted. It was the unanimous agreement of all these persons that the decision was just, fair and principled.

We must remind ourselves that in analyzing the facts of this case we had to evaluate an epoch a quarter of a century past. Hitler and Mussolini, first with Franco then with Tojo, were threatening the world through their lust for power. In those days Russia was officially presumed to be our friend and soon an ally, and the brutality and deceitfulness of international communism, while suspected by many of us, had not yet become apparent to millions of people. Unless we constantly remind ourselves of these conditions, we can err seriously in judging the actions and motives of persons who took part in the epoch.

Today, one would wish for a society in which he need not be concerned about his neighbor's views. Let the neighbor go his own way. But this is no longer possible. Our society lives in an atmosphere disturbed on the one hand by those espousing subversive doctrines of Communist origin, and on the other hand by those whose anxieties over Communism would deprive us of our traditional liberties.

I would respectfully suggest that those who publicly try by innuendo and condemn by inference are not different from those who purge without a hearing that intemperance and absolutism are equally dangerous whether they arise from within or without; that vigilance like Janus must look in both directions.

To conclude, I wish to emphasize again that in the matter of allegations concerning Dr. Colodny, our evidence leads us to decide that no action on the part of the University is warranted, and none shall be forthcoming.

Finally, as an institution we have pledged our opposition to the threats of international communism and we have promised ourselves to refuse it our fellowship. This is our unequivocal position. Let no one mistake it.

Sincerely yours,

S/ Edward H. Litchfield

No. 62.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 14, 1961.

The Senate met at 10:30 a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Charles R. Weiner) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM J. LIPPERT, Pastor of St. John's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Williamsport, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Our Heavenly Father, we praise Thee for Thy constant abiding presence with us. We acknowledge that we have not always acted with an awareness of Thy presence. Yet, because of these moments of our transgression, Thou hast not withdrawn Thyself from us. Have mercy upon us and forgive us.

As we make plans and project programs in this life, dear Father, may we be so responsive to Thy leading that Thine own wise plans for our lives may fully unfold.

We desire to praise Thee for the faith of our fathers. We pray, Father, such clear expressions of faith and conviction to be the experience of these Senators that the future may be filled with praise to Thee because of the deliberations and decisions made here today.

As we thank Thee for these able men, we pray Thee that by Thy Fatherly care they may be spared temptation and confusion, and that all that they think, speak or do will be for Thy glory and the good of all their fellow citizens.

Through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. LANE and Mr. DONOLOW, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (George N. Wade) in the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair wishes to announce that at the request of the Majority Leader and in the absence of the Lieutenant Governor, I am serving as Presiding Officer for the time being.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE INSISTS UPON ITS NONCONCURRENCE IN AMENDMENTS TO HB 678, AND APPOINTS COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House insists upon its nonconcurrence in Senate amendments to HB 678, and has appointed Messrs. CROSSIN, WARGO and HEFFNER as a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the Senate (if the Senate shall appoint such committee) to consider the differences existing between the two houses in relation to said bill.

SENATE INSISTS UPON ITS AMENDMENTS NONCONCURRED IN BY THE HOUSE TO HB 678, AND APPOINTS COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do insist upon its amendments to House Bill No. 678, and that a Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate be appointed.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair announces, on behalf of the President pro tempore, the appointment of Messrs. KALMAN, MURRAY and WAGNER as a Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate to confer with a similar committee of the House (already appointed) to consider the differences existing between the two houses in relation to House Bill No. 678.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate, entitled: Weekly Adjournment

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 295—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 319 (Pr. No. 348)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I have observed with a great deal of interest, and perhaps with fear, the number of bills that we are passing this Session which are adding people to the county, State and township payrolls.

This bill provides that you "may," and they say because it is a "may" bill, it is up to them what they want to do. However, I seriously question the need for two additional supervisors in townships of over 10,000 population. I represent a number of townships, and usually supervisors also appoint themselves as roadmen, and they divide the township into a number of districts to equal the supervisors they have.

In a township of 21,000, three supervisors—I know because I know of such townships and represent them—have no need for an additional supervisor.

This bill is merely adding to confusion. Township government, as it is, requires that every penny they have be utilized to the fullest extent. Supervisors, as a whole, have done a very good job with very little money. You have already added an assistant secretary to them and you have added several other things. You have had three bills which would add people to the township payrolls, and also a "may" bill. When you say "may," the people who want the jobs are going to insist that it is a must. Here you are adding to that confusion, to that expenditure and to that expense, and additional time.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, I hope the good Senator from Westmoreland County will forgive me if I disagree with him. I also represent townships with populations in excess of 10,000 and, contrary to his practice, the supervisors in those townships are not merely roadmen, but they endeavor to divide the functions of the government of the township among the respective supervisors. It puts a double burden on them with but five supervisors.

I would like to urge the Members of this Senate to give those townships which conduct their affairs in this fashion an opportunity to have seven supervisors if they desire.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, now that the odds are all even,—Senator Mahady has spoken and Senator Ware has spoken—I would like to call the Chair's attention to the fact that there is nothing in order except the announcement of the roll call.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator, the bill presently is on final passage.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I beg the Chair's pardon. I thought the roll had been called.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I thought the Minority Leader was in error. I, too, would like to say just a few words in support of House Bill No. 319.

Mr. President, in my Senatorial District,—especially in Washington County—we have thirty-four boroughs and thirty-six townships. I also represent townships in Greene County. Several of our townships are a lot larger than the boroughs. As a matter of fact, we have several second class townships which are larger than one of our cities. Therefore, there are extenuating circumstances where there is need for additional supervisors.

I feel this is a step in the right direction. It is going to alleviate the heavy problems that the present supervisors have, and it is also going to bring about more efficiency in government.

I readily understand the position of the gentleman from Westmoreland County, and probably there is no necessity for this in small townships. However, there is a need for this in the large townships. As the years go by, there seems to be a trend to move to the rural areas, and the result is that our townships are really heavily populated. It is not like it used to be. We used to think of townships of the second class as just little villages. Today, townships are becoming huge. As a matter of fact, I sometimes wonder why they do not go into the first class township field, but I guess they feel it is too much trouble.

I think in order to be fair to the township supervisors, we should pass this legislation.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, just to correct the record and not to prolong this debate, Hempfield Township, in Westmoreland County, has 36,000 people, and North Huntingdon Township exceeds that by 5,000. These townships are perfectly content and they are being run very well with three supervisors. The salary for two more supervisors would mean that the additional money would not go into the functions into which it should go.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 344 and 345—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILL OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

SB 350—Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 350 go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am going to object to Senate Bill No. 350, Printer's No. 369, going over in order.

I think that I have been most indulgent in this matter. A number of persons have asked me about this measure. I understand there are some problems connected with it. If it is insisted upon that this bill go over in order, I am going to make the request that it go over in order temporarily, so that I can get all of our members in here to vote on this measure today.

Time is running out, Mr. President. There is a meeting scheduled for this week with all the Governors and all other persons who are interested in this matter, in Washington. It certainly will not help our Governor or our representatives when they go down to Washington and discover that the bill has not even gotten out of the Senate Chamber and on its way. Every other State has passed it except Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, if there is an insistence that this bill go over in order, I will then make the request that it go over in order temporarily, so that I can bring all of our Members here to vote on this measure.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I see no reason to do that because I understand this bill is still under discussion by the Department of the Interior, in Washington. Until they decide what they want to do, why should we pass a measure here which might be in conflict with the Federal requirements?

If the gentleman wishes to put the bill over in order temporarily and consider it later this morning, I will have no objection to that. However, I certainly would like to have the bill go over in order, at least for awhile.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I think one of the things we are trying to do here—I know all of the Members are cooperating—is to finish up our business as quickly as possible.

This is one of the important measures of this Session. I want to allay the fears of the Senator, which I think he takes properly, by those people who are rather close to the situation. I have been advised by the Governor and by members of his staff that they are meeting this Thursday with the Secretary of the Interior. He has changed the position which he originally took. They are going to go ahead with this matter. If we are going to wait for the Members of Congress to finish discussing this matter, we will be here until next year. However, they are bringing this matter to a head and they are going to go ahead with it, in conjunction with the attitudes taken by all of the States. Delaware has passed it; New York State passed it back in March of this year; and New Jersey has passed it. Pennsylvania is the only State that has not passed this measure. I do not think it will help the Governor of this Commonwealth if he goes to Washington and cannot even tell them that it has passed the Senate of Pennsylvania, with some action contemplated in the House.

For that reason, Mr. President, I will ask that the bill go over in its order temporarily, this morning. I will now round up all the Members that I possibly can. I will even move that the Lieutenant Governor return here in order to move this measure ahead. I do not want to bring everybody back to the Senate. I understand there are certain Members of the Senate who had certain objections to this measure and that they are now out of the way. They have had full discussions on it, not only at the legislative level but also at the level of the Governor, as well. Everybody who had objections has now removed them. This measure should move.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the Chair properly understand, Senator Kessler, that you are willing to adhere to the request of Senator Weiner and have the bill go over in order temporarily?

Mr. KESSLER. Yes, sir. That is perfectly all right.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order temporarily.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 351 and HB 428—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

HB 522, SB 588, 593, 646 and 659—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

SB 667—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 667 go over in its order because I have not had the benefit of the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, giving me his counsel and advice on this bill. I will await that until Monday or perhaps later this afternoon.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

SB 670—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 686 (Pr. No. 799)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will. However, I just want to be sure which bill he is speaking about. Is it Senate Bill No. 686?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Majority Leader whether this bill puts the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania into the atomic energy business. There are certain portions of this bill which, it seems to me, permit the Commonwealth to do that. I just want to make sure that I understand the bill correctly.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I can best answer that by stating that in the bill itself, nowhere does it say that we are going into this business. As stated on page 3 of the bill, under "General Functions Powers and Duties of Office," it merely reads:

"(1) To advise the Governor and the Legislature with regard to the status of atomic energy research development education and regulation and to make recommendations to the Governor and the Legislature . . ."

Also, on page 3 of the bill, line 15, it reads as follows:

"(2) To advise and assist the Governor and the Legislature in developing and promoting a State policy for atomic energy research development education and regulation . . ."

In order to save some time, I am not reading these sections in full.

Mr. KESSLER. Would the gentleman refer to page 4, subsection 7, please?

Mr. WEINER. Yes, sir. It reads as follows:

"(7) To foster and support research and education relating to atomic energy through contracts or other appropriate means of assistance including acquisition of land and construction of facilities . . ."

From the number of persons I have talked to, as I understand it,—unless I am misinformed and I very well indeed could be—I think all this has in mind is that they want to be in a position to do this if they have to provide a place for someone to set up a research laboratory in order to foster this thing on a nonprofit basis. For example, if there is money available from one of the foundations, such as the Ford Foundation or the Federal Government, they will have the facility in which they can put people in order to do the research work. Or, if there is a private industry that wants to do the research work, but may not have the land in the State of Pennsylvania, then we will be able to acquire this for them so that they can do it.

This is not intended for the Commonwealth to get into the atomic energy business at all, as I think is demonstrated by the project in Shippensburg, which is probably the first atomic energy plant established in the Country. The State only sent people to help coordinate this, but took no part in it at all. We are merely implementing that type of work.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, would the gentleman advise us whether we can expect an appropriation bill at some time in the near future, perhaps, which would provide the funds whereby the Commonwealth can support research on atomic energy, such as is indicated in Subsection (7), on page 4, of the bill? Where are the funds to come from if we do not provide them here?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would suggest two things as an answer to the gentleman's question.

It might very well be that there may be an appropriation. It also might be that there are certain industries which are maybe not now fully interested, but which may become interested in it. They may not want to do this on their own and we might act as the coordinating activity or perhaps the central agency through which this would be funneled.

Might I point out to the gentleman that on page 5 of this bill, on line 10, it reads as follows:

"The office may subject to the approval of the Governor enter into a contract or contracts with engineers and other experts and make all other arrangements appropriate to locate such sites and facilities.

"(10) To enter into subject to the removal of the Governor an agreement or agreements with the Federal government whereby the State will perform on a cooperative basis with the Federal government inspections or other functions with respect to atomic energy activities State will perform on a cooperative basis with the Federal government . . ."

I think what is intended here is to make a central agency through which all this will clear. If we do not do it now, I believe we will find ourselves in the position, at some later date, where maybe a number of persons are willing to do this or even engage in it, and we will have to do something to regulate it due to the harmful effects that this might have, or which the community might very well be subjected to, as we have found. For example, in sewage disposal, water resources and things of that nature, where we were not foresighted enough to take certain steps, we now find ourselves in a position of regulating people who are already in this business and maybe even hurting them. In this case, I think they are trying to be foresighted and set up the machinery so that if and when this comes, we will have some agency to deal with this matter.

I do not blame the gentleman for his concern. I was also concerned about this very same measure. I can understand why many people in this area would be concerned. I think it is a relatively new science. It is also a relatively expensive science for any one individual or for even any one corporation to undertake. Therefore, if we have a central agency through which to funnel it, I think that would be helpful.

If, in the gentleman's opinion, the measure would be more palatable if we were to restrict them in the sense that they cannot enter into any competition with private enterprise, I feel there might be some consideration given for this type of amendment, or at least an opportunity given to discuss it and go on with that. However, I do not think that is what is intended here, unless I misunderstand it. As I said before, that may very well be.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, there is one other point I would like to bring out. I understand this is to be a separate commission. Just recently, I believe there were some statements from the Governor's Office that he was burdened too much with commissions and wanted to consolidate them so there would be fewer departments and commissions reporting directly to the Governor. It seems to me that we are going in just the other direction in this case, in setting up another separate commission which might be able to function under one of our existing departments or boards.

Mr. WEINER. May I just point out one other thing along the lines that we were discussing? On page 8—I knew this was in the bill, but I was not sure just where it was—of the bill, on line 6, section 7, it reads as follows:

"Atomic Energy Special Fund (a) There is hereby established in the State Treasury a special fund to be known as the 'Atomic Energy Special Fund.'

"(b) All moneys received from grants or other contributions accepted pursuant to clause (6) of Section 4 of this act shall be deposited directly in the Atomic Energy Special Fund . . ."

And then it goes on and tells what they are going to do with it.

As I understand it, there are certain industries, persons, foundations and grants that are available for this type of work. What we are doing is setting up the machinery to participate in this type of area. At the moment, we have no separate department that can handle this type of science or technique. I think we should have people who are knowledgeable about handling these things. I think those people who have the expertise to handle it should be in that position. Without this, we have no other machinery, unless I have overlooked the matter. Perhaps the department is already equipped and will be able to handle this.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I wish to thank the Majority Leader.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, this bill is similar to a bill which was sponsored by myself several years ago, and I feel that we are doing the right thing. I do not think it is going to cost the State any money to start with. There is an advisory committee feature in this legislation, and I hope that the advisory committee, when they are appointed, will take up the problem of public health with reference to atomic energy. That is the only omission that I see in the bill.

I have not read the functions of the advisory committee in detail. However, I do feel that one of the major problems with atomic energy, according to releases from the United States Government, is the matter of public health and the protection of the people.

I feel that we have to start sometime on this type of legislation. I cannot see where this is going to cost any money at this particular time.

I see on page 10, Section 11, whereby the Governor, on behalf of the State, may enter into contracts with the Federal Government with reference to the operation of atomic energy activities within the State.

I do feel, Mr. President, that we should pass this legislation because it is our responsibility to do so at this time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, there has certainly been a lot said on the subject of this bill. Just to allay the fears of those who might be concerned about the present form of the bill, as one of the sponsors I was approached concerning certain amendments which I understand have been cleared to go into the bill in committee in the House. I can readily understand reluctance to pass a bill in the Senate knowing beforehand that it is going to be amended or probably should be amended. However, the people in industry who are concerned are satisfied to have the bill passed here because the subject matter is something that I certainly could not debate. It appears to me that if they are satisfied, we are reasonably safe in passing this bill.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 350 (Pr. No. 369)—Read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 350, Printer's No. 369, go over in its order.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I oppose the motion that this bill go over in order for the reasons stated previously. I think we ought to strengthen the representatives of our State at their meeting this week, and the only way we can do that is by starting this measure through the legislative channels. It will take some time for this bill to pass. If there are any changes necessary, I am sure that we will all be able to be here.

I, therefore, ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this motion for the bill to go over in its order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, may I inquire how I am recorded as voting?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Mahady, is recorded as voting "no."

Mr. MAHADY. Thank you, Mr. President.

STATEMENT ON SENATE BILL No. 350— DELAWARE COMPACT

(The following prepared statement was made a part of the record at the request of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. STAISEY.)

The Senate Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish has carefully considered Senate Bill No. 350 and reports it favorably and without amendment.

Senate 350 will replace litigation in the Supreme Court with water development and control for the Delaware River Basin. It would provide for multi-purpose development of the water resources of the River Basin under a comprehensive plan. It would establish a commission with a governing body consisting of Governors of the four States themselves, plus a representative to be appointed by the President of the United States.

The Compact is the product of extensive studies and negotiations toward which the Congress provided a $2,000,000 River Basin Survey, about to be completed, directed by the United States Corps of Engineers. An official agency representing the Governors of the four States of Delaware, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, and the Mayors of the two cities of New York and Philadelphia, worked together for over two years to develop a sound and reasonable Compact. The present bill is based upon this work, a special study of the administrative requirements of the Basin made by the Maxwell School of Syracuse University under a Ford Foundation grant, and other related research and studies by interested departments of all of the four States. The Compact has provoked widespread citizen interest and support and has received well nigh unanimous approval in the editorial columns of the public press.

By its very nature, therefore, this bill presents an unusual piece of legislation. Rarely is a bill so thoroughly grounded in research, experience, negotiation, and broad public support.

The Legislature will appreciate that a Compact must be agreed to in identical form by all four States and consented to by the Congress. The present proposal must also be enacted by the Congress to make the Federal Government a partner in the venture. This means that unlike an ordinary bill, a Compact bill cannot be amended during the legislative process in the Commonwealth without destroying the effect of action taken in the other States, nor can amendments in the other States be made without voiding the effect of action taken by this Legislature. The result is, therefore, that this Committee and the Legislature in turn is being asked to consider the Compact as a whole and to decide whether or not it merits adoption as such; or whether any specific proposal for amendment is so important as to justify withholding approval of the whole, or at least postponing agreement until the amended Compact can be submitted to the other States for their concurrence, if they did concur, in any amendments made by the Commonwealth. This point is especially important at present for the reason that the State of New York has enacted the Compact and its Legislature has adjourned, the States of New Jersey and Delaware have also enacted it, and the Congressional Bill sponsored by Congressman Walter has been reported out of the House Judiciary Committee favorably and without amendment. Your own Committee has held extensive public hearings on the bill at Easton, Philadelphia and Harrisburg. These hearings developed widespread public support and approval of the bill. They also produced some requests from industry for amendment. Your Committee has fully considered all requested amendments, has offered the Delaware River Basin Advisory Committee an opportunity to comment upon them, and has studied the pertinent law and practice. We have concluded that only two questions raised by industrial representatives are worthy of consideration as matters of special concern to industry. These are (1) the question whether or not the Basin Agency might have power to levy navigation tolls; and (2) whether or not the Basin Agency could charge industry for the use or withdrawal of water it is now using free of charge.

Ever since Gibbons v. Ogden, the Supreme Court has recognized the paramount power of Congress over navigation. This power is part of the Commerce Laws of the Federal Constitution. Section 1.4 of the Compact Bill expressly states that the Compact shall not be construed to change the present Congressional power over navigation. The Congress has fully occupied the field with a variety of regulatory and controlling statutes which are just as binding on the Basin Agency as on any other edict under the supremacy clause of the Federal Constitution. If this were not enough, the Constitution itself expressly bars any tolls (Article I, Section 10) on navigation which might be levied under State authority. The prohibition of "tonnage duties" contained in the first section has been construed by the Supreme Court to embrace all taxes and duties, regardless of their name or form, whether measured by the tonnage, visual or not, which are in effect charges for the privilege of entering, trading in, or lying in port. Certainly, the levy of navigation tolls is such an unusual power that the absence of any express delegation of power for this purpose could not be construed to grant it. At best, the whole navigation matter is a question for the Congress.

As to the charges for water that are permissible under Section 3.7 of the Compact, it is again elementary law that a corporate agency of the signatory parties would have only those powers actually delegated to it. Nowhere in the Compact is there any power to make withdrawal charges for water taken from the river in its natural state. The Commission's only power to make charges is "for the use of facilities which it may own or operate and for products and services rendered" by such facilities. The Commission plainly does not own or operate the river, as a facility or otherwise, and, therefore, could make no charge of the kind suggested. This is confined as to present industrial, domestic and municipal users (Section 1.3 (e), which flatly states that one of the purposes of the compact is "to make secure and protect present developments within the states; . . . and to apply the principle of equal and uniform treatment to all water users who are similarly situated . . ."

In recommending that the bill pass without amendment, your Committee concludes that these concerns are not justified by the language of the bill itself, nor can it be anticipated that the Commission, consisting of Governors, would exercise the power even if it did exist; and finally, any possible doubt about the questions will be resolved by the Report of the Judiciary Committee of the United States House of Representatives, which states (87th Cong., 1st Session, House Report No. 310, at Page 16):

" . . . it should be noted that no power is delegated to the Commission to make any charge with respect to navigation or on account of any withdrawal from the river in its natural state."

It is well settled that the interpretation of the Interstate Compact is for the United States Supreme Court (West Virginia ex rel Dyer Sims, 341 U.S. 22, 1951). In a long line of cases, the Supreme Court has held that if there should be any doubt as to the meaning of legislation, it will be guided by Congressional Committee reports on the question. (Bins v. U.S., 194, U.S. 486, 495; U.S. v. Public Utilities Commission of California, 345, U.S. 295, 1953).

Accordingly, your Committee in recommending the bill to the Legislature of the Commonwealth is insuring it may proceed upon the understanding that the Basin Agency will have no power to levy navigation tolls or to charge for withdrawal of water in its natural state.

It is also important to recognize that the Compact does not authorize any specific projects; it only sets up the administrative structure and powers. Since the new Basin Agency will not be able to raise any substantial revenues of its own (e.g., flood control projects are not revenue-producing), the Agency will not have a credit base to finance major projects. These would come back to the State Legislature and to the Congress for authorization and at that time financing would be agreed upon and arranged. There is nothing in the Compact which obligates the Commonwealth or any other signatory party to any project or expenditure.

It has been variously suggested that Pennsylvania has half the area of the Basin and that this fact should in some way be a cause for preference or concern. Any such notion of relative area completely overlooks the fact that waters of an interstate basin do not "belong" to a State in which they are found. Over the past 50 years, the Supreme Court has firmly established that the rights of States in interstate streams are relative; that is, dependent upon needs, resources, etc., of sister States. The Court has described these rights under the doctrine of equitable apportionment. Without this doctrine, New York City, exercising New York State rights, could draw upon the Delaware and its headwaters in New York State without limit. In practice, the Court did join the City N.G.D. and that taking was made subject to required compensating releases of water for the benefit of the lower basin. These required releases, incidentally, are estimated to use one-third of the total reservoir capacity built by the City of New York at its own expense.

It is thus clear that neither the past nor the future development of the river is either the prerogative or the obligation of the State in which water or drainage area may be found. To the contrary, each project in the State will be related to the Basin-wide Comprehensive Plan and will be equitably financed by the State or other bodies that want its benefits.

The Compact will result in the first Federal-State partnership for river basin development. It goes on the premise that the States cannot do the job alone; that the Federal Government cannot do it alone; but that a partnership organization can carry out the purposes and interests of both. As the House Judiciary Committee Report states (Supra at Page 6):

"The conclusion is inescapable: 'If the powers and functions of law, planning, administration, and finance for a single river basin are to be integrated properly, the solution lies in a single joint agency, composed of the governmental bodies concerned. In your Committee's judgment, this is the only way to express a dynamic federalism. It fashions the instruments of law, nature, and government to meet the requirement of fully effective public action in the Delaware River Basin. It also opens opportunities for greater administrative efficiency and effectiveness, which are of almost equal importance.'"

In conclusion, therefore, your Committee recommends Senate Bill No. 350 as an opportunity to join a constructive Compact which will create a vital new instrument of service to the people, industry and government of the Delaware River Basin.

Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

As we reaffirm over and over again our faith and loyalty to the Stars and Stripes, we come to this Flag Day with a depth of emotional fervor in each one of us. For, each day the real significance of this flag continues to grow more and more; and we see not only the history of which it is a part, but we see in this flag a way of life; it becomes the hope of a free world and the inspiration for all men. Bless Old Glory, we pray, and all men under its sway, and long may it wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave as it unites one nation under Thee with liberty and justice for all. Amen.

Referred to the Committee on Elections.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. FULMER and ANDREWS.
RESOLUTION No. 84.

In the House of Representatives, June 13, 1961.

The numerous departmental rules, regulations and decisions determining what items are taxable and what items are not taxable under the provisions of the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1226), known as the "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act," make it extremely difficult for individuals or businesses attempting to comply with the law to properly collect the taxes due. Failure to provide such individuals and businesses with adequate information is very likely causing a considerable loss of revenue to our Commonwealth.

It is also extremely difficult for members of the General Assembly to intelligently legislate on taxes unless they are supplied with specific listings of items which are presently taxable or exempt from tax. If the Legislature had before it, for its use and study, a complete listing of the commodities which are subject to tax and of the commodities which are not subject to the tax, either by the law itself or under rules, regulations or decisions, such information would assist greatly in determining new sources of revenue and in determining what additional exemptions, if any, would be beneficial to the well-being of our Commonwealth; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby requests that the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax of the Department of Revenue prepare and issue a listing of specific items which are taxable and specific items which are not taxable under the provisions of the "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act," and rules, regulations and decisions pursuant thereto, and, be it further

Resolved, That such listing shall be prepared and copies thereof made available for the use of the General Assembly on or before June 20, 1961.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES HARRISBURG, PA.

June 14, 1961.

Honorable Hiram G. Andrews
Speaker, House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Mr. Speaker:

Upon reflection, I feel I erred in voting for House Bill No. 754 and House Bill No. 755. I had stated in Caucus that I opposed them. I was influenced by my respect for the sponsors, who in no way tried to influence me. However, I would like the record to show I feel I erred, and if voting today I would vote NO on House Bill 754 and House Bill No. 755.

s/ W. John Stiteler, Jr.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. DENGLER for today to attend commencement.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I take this moment of time to announce our schedule to the House?

We will, on today's schedule, start to vote on bills that were agreed and caucused on yesterday, and then we will break for lunch and a small period of time for caucus, returning to the floor of the House to continue on the calendar today.

The House will convene on Tuesday of next week at 3 o'clock, d.s.t. A Democratic caucus, notice of which you will receive, will be held at 1 p.m., d.s.t., on Tuesday.

There will not be a House session Monday due to the Penn-Harris Hotel rooms.

The House will be in session Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

I repeat again, the House will convene on Tuesday at 3 o'clock, d.s.t. A Democratic caucus will be held at 1 p.m., d.s.t., on Tuesday. I ask every member to please attend the scheduled caucus next week, for major pieces of legislation will be debated and handled on the floor of this House on Tuesday and Wednesday.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in view of the announcement by the majority leader of reconvening at 3 o'clock on Tuesday, we will ask the Republicans to also appear in our caucus at 1 o'clock on Tuesday. It seems that unless we caucus for two hours on this first day, we cannot seem to get enough work lined up for the week.

So it will be necessary for us to caucus for two hours on Tuesday, as we have heretofore, but the caucus will be at 1 o'clock.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1227, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949," approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), including chiropractors within school health program.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Rules.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to recommit. I think the bill is very clear in what it does and I do not believe it requires any additional study. Without getting into any merits of the bill, I think every member of this House will have an opportunity to vote upon the bill if we allow it to remain on the calendar. Therefore I ask you to vote against the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to ask support for the motion to recommit House bill 1227 and, if requested, satisfactory to a roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. McCANN and HELM and were as follows:

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

An Act amending the act of May 28, 1915 (P. L. 596), entitled "An act requiring cities of the second class to establish a pension fund for employes of said cities, and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions," authorizing the withdrawal of service increment contributions by persons who retire before becoming entitled to any service increment.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, to be laid aside for second reading.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to ask that this House recesses for one hour and a half. The Democratic caucus will be held immediately, with lunch following the caucus. I ask that every Democratic member bring their House calendar with them and come immediately to the House caucus room.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the minority leader.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we will also caucus immediately for one hour. Will the Republicans please proceed to the caucus room where we will caucus for one hour and then have lunch for one-half hour, and then return to the floor.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair declares a recess of an hour and a half.

The Chair hears none.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HEFFNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I do not take this occasion often. In fact, this is my third term and this is the first opportunity I have had to address the House by unanimous consent. I do not wish to abuse it but I have something which I feel is of interest to the citizens of the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, I have read with great interest the story of the staggering scandals that have hit Philadelphia City Hall. They bring to mind a situation years ago, during the last Republican city administration, when Dilworth and Clark rode their clean-up brooms in a Grand Jury investigation into becoming mayor and Senator, respectively. For months these crusaders on white horses ran from street corner to street corner charging Republican job-holders with all kinds of defalcations.

Both these men either used the troubles of that Republican administration to advance their own political ambitions or they were sincere citizens outraged by the wrongdoings of people in public trust. At any rate, we must give them the benefit of the doubt as they most certainly cried to the high heavens for a special grand jury investigation.

Unlike the present Democratic Governor and Attorney General, Governor Duff and Attorney General Chidsey, of the Republican Administration, did not believe that this was a Democratic plot but answered the demand of the citizenry at that time with a special grand jury investigation.

Now, we understand that neither Lawrence or Miss Alpern are riding any white horses—green horses maybe, but not white ones—and we might add that even Dilworth and Clark's white horses are being tinged with a "tattle-tale green."

Mr. Speaker, why, then, do not Mayor Dilworth and Senator Clark, if they are still sincere citizens outraged by the breach of public trust and now faced with a more serious breach of public trust in a Democratic City Administration, join in then with Senator Scott and other Philadelphia citizens in the request for a special grand jury investigation?

Why is Mayor Dilworth and other top brass in the Philadelphia Democrat administration doing everything within their power to block a grand jury investigation? This very day we read in the Philadelphia newspapers that Dilworth and company will appear in court and testify against and oppose most vigorously the court petition of citizens of Philadelphia who seek a grand jury investigation. Why do they insist on denying the people the right to use the peoples' weapon for ferreting out the truth concerning the mushrooming scandals by the Dilworth Administration?

Let me repeat, why do they insist on denying the people the right to use the peoples' weapon for ferreting out the truth concerning the mushrooming scandals of the Dilworth administration?

No three-man committee, no matter how respectable it may be, can possibly be a substitute for the grand jury investigation provided by law for such purposes. This is especially true when the committee itself recognizes that it is not an investigative committee.

Is it not strange that this besmirched administration through the voice of that great reformer, Dilworth, is now crying "Republican plot," and does not the mayor himself fit the description of a "pious fraud," which he is so quick to call others, as he fights desperately to keep the lid on the City Hall scandals. If the Mayor honestly wants to clean his own skirts, if all his past utterances are not so much hypocritical hogwash, then let him take his place in the vanguard of those demanding a special grand jury investigation, as he did in 1948 when the political shoe was on the other foot.

Mr. Speaker, at that time Mayor Dilworth was calling for the intervention by the State to assist the special grand jury investigation in Philadelphia. Governor Duff and Attorney General Chidsey complied with the request and led the investigation, even though members of their own political party were involved.

If the Democrats now in control of Philadelphia's and Pennsylvania's government, Mayor Dilworth, Governor Lawrence and their legal deputies, District Attorney Crumlish and Anne X. Alpern, show the same political courage displayed by their Republican predecessors in 1948, the public would be impressed and its interests would certainly be served.

Mr. Speaker, I call upon our Governor, the Attorney General and Mayor Dilworth to put the public interest above their political interest and support the public demand for a special grand jury investigation.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I have listened carefully to the remarks of the gentleman and I say that he cries with crocodile tears. He is concerned with the welfare of the citizens of Philadelphia. I say, Mr. Speaker, he is much more concerned with the majorities that the Democratic Party has been able to show in Philadelphia.

I would call to the gentleman's attention, and to the Speaker and the members of the House, that the Democratic resurgence in Philadelphia was due to a period of 67 years of Republican misrule and it was the Democrats who brought to the attention of the people of Philadelphia the rank conditions that existed at that particular time.

What do we have today? We have the situation where certain individuals, members of the branch who work at City Hall, civil service employes, have proved themselves to be dishonest. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, it is unfair and unwise to accuse the dominant political party in Philadelphia of being dishonest, of being part of any chicanery.

It seems to me that all thinking people who are looking closely at the Philadelphia situation as it has appeared in the two Republican newspapers, will nevertheless agree, even through reading between the lines, that the mayor and his administration have done everything humanly possible to bring wrongdoers to light and to see that the situation is rectified if there is anything wrong in any particular way.

Now they are crying, crying for a Grand Jury investigation. They would love to play up this thing in the newspapers. They do not care, the last speaker does not care, about the inordinate expense that would be involved in a grand jury investigation. He is not concerned with disrupting the government in the city of Philadelphia. While all this attention is being given to these particular matters the government is forced to pay attention to them, and many of the essential functions of the city government are stalled.

Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that the mayor and his administration—the Mayor and the District Attorney, the city solicitor and the city controller—these people who brought these conditions to light are Democrats in a Democratic city.

Let them investigate, let them do what they can, and then, Mr. Speaker, if the elected—elected by both parties—elected officials of the city cannot do the job, then perhaps we can consider such measures as the gentleman suggests.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, I am perplexed and somewhat annoyed that someone who does not even come from Philadelphia expresses such concern over a problem that is of particular interest to us and which is being properly attended to by our elected city officials.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, because of the lateness of the hour, I think it is scandalous in itself against the members of the House, both Republican and Democratic, that at 2 o'clock this afternoon we should rise and make political speeches against our beloved city of Philadelphia. I call it scandalous and "hogwash."

It was the leader of the Democratic party who actually dug out anything that may be alleged to be that small that they can call scandalous.

But I will not go into any speech at this late hour, and I think the Speaker has previously made a rule more or less that 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the last day of the session is certainly a late hour, a bad hour to take advantage of the members of the House in making political speeches.

The SPEAKER. The Speaker would like to have it that way, but the majority of the members of the House do not want it that way.

The Chair has a lot of bills to sign and to refer and requests the gentleman from Armstrong to preside.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1457, entitled:

An Act amending the "Real Estate Tax Sale Law," approved July 7, 1947 (P. L. 1368), extending the act to property the owner of which is unknown and has been unknown for a period of not less than ten years.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1450, entitled:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code," approved April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90), authorizing licenses for the retail sale of liquor and malt or brewed beverages on city premises in cities of the first class under certain terms and conditions and to be known as public event licenses.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the lady from Philadelphia, Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. S. A. ANDERSON. Mr. Speaker, I want to explain this bill.

House bill 1450 is an amendment to the Liquor Code which will, in effect, permit the sale of alcohol and malt beverages on premises under the jurisdiction of the board of trade and conventions.

Being able to sell alcohol and malt beverages through a concessionaire in places such as Convention Hall would enable Philadelphia to compete for conventions on a par with other large cities. At the present time Philadelphia's three largest competitors for conventions and trade shows are Detroit, Chicago and New York. These cities in addition to their new and expensive facilities, have the added advantage of being able to offer complete "on the premises" services. This includes cocktail lounges and table service of liquors and beer. The Philadelphia board of trade and conventions would like to be put in a competitive position in order to attract more shows and conventions.

The sale of liquor and beer would complement the excellent restaurant services offered by the city on the premises occupied by Convention Hall. This restaurant, which seats 800 people is open during every trade show and convention. In the past, much business was lost at the restaurant because of the inability to serve beverages set forth above.

It is difficult to estimate how many conventions were lost because of this or how much additional revenue would be gained if this bill were passed. However, conservative estimates would show an income of between $25,000 and $50,000 to the city for the concession. In addition to this compensation and to the other moneys spent by increased trade shows and conventions, this complete servicing would tend to stimulate sales at the trade shows and conventions.

To repeat, the most important feature of this amendment would be to put Philadelphia on a competitive basis with the other large cities which attract the majority of trade shows and conventions. I ask the members to support the amendments. Thank you.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1438, entitled:

An Act amending the "Bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining Conservation Act," approved May 31, 1945 (P. L. 1198), further regulating bituminous strip mining operations changing provisions with respect to bonds filing dates reports registration backfilling and overburden including certain persons within the provisions of the act and providing for the use of funds in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. DONALDSON, STIMMEL and M. H. GOLDSTEIN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 4.3), page 9, lines 2 and 3, by inserting a bracket before "the" where it appears the first time in line 2 and after "reported" in line 3, and inserting immediately thereafter: all operations

Amend Sec. 10, page 22, line 4, by striking out "IN SIXTY DAYS" and inserting: immediately

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, House bill 1438, which is the bill to further regulate strip mining within the Commonwealth, was amended on Monday. I believe that it would be fair to say that the principal amendment reduced the requirement for backfilling which, under the original bill, had to be to the top of the high wall. The bill was amended on Monday to cut that to 50 percent of the height, to the top of the high wall.

Mr. Speaker, the amendment which I have introduced at this time and which the House is now considering simply restores the bill to its original form, the manner in which it was introduced, the manner in which it was before the House prior to the Monday amendments.

In considering these amendments I would call the attention of the House to an article which appeared in last night's Pittsburgh Press, which is entitled, "Lobbyists Win Battle—Strip Mining Bill Loses Teeth," and to continue with the article it says:

Western Pennsylvania strip miners have succeeded in pulling the teeth of a new law which would have prevented them from desecrating the countryside and polluting streams.

Here is the important part of this article, as I see it:

Lobbyists for the strippers persuaded the Lawrence Administration to frame the crippling amendments as compromise gesture and then rushed the weakened legislation through the House before most of the assemblymen knew what was happening.

Now, it is not to demerit—I believe they have great merit—but I think it is unfair for this legislature to be pictured in the public press as adopting amendments or adopting bills which the legislature has not completely considered. Therefore, these amendments today do give us the opportunity, and will give us the opportunity, of having a roll call on the amendment, which is tantamount to us having had a roll call on the amendment, which one way or another went into the bill on Monday.

This article further states, Mr. Speaker, that "State Mines Secretary Lewis Evans expressed disappointment over the amendments but said 'half a loaf is better than none.'"

That was the opinion of the Secretary of Mines—his attitude—and these amendments give us the opportunity of giving the people of Pennsylvania a full loaf.

The Secretary is further quoted as saying: "Backfilling to half the height of the high wall is at least better than the situation we have under the present law. Perhaps sometime we will be able to get the full requirements passed through the Legislature."

The adoption of these amendments would give us the full requirements and that time is now. I ask the House on both sides to join in adopting the amendments, and Mr. Speaker, I request a roll call on the amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovanseck, consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovanseck, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROVANSEK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman, as an expert in mining, explain to the House the net effects of the amendments which were introduced on Monday, and how it affects the original bill?

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, the effect of the amendments that I introduced last Monday would reduce the backfilling to 50 percent.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. In other words, if the bill would pass in its form, printer's No. 2245—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, rise?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, the amendment before the House is the present amendment that is being introduced by Lee Donaldson, not the amendment that was supposed to have been introduced into the bill last week, on Monday or whenever it was. Let us discuss the amendments that are on the floor at the present time.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. We are tying them together, Mr. Speaker, one correlates the other; you cannot discuss one without the other.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question before this House is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson.

The gentleman will proceed with his interrogation along those lines.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, this means then that the bill if adopted in its form, printer's No. 2245, provides that you would have a 50 percent gully whenever you had a stripping operation completed or abandoned. Is that correct?

Mr. ROVANSEK. That is correct.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman.

I will be very pleased if we do not adopt these amendments. This particular bill should be known as the "half strip bill."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to explain the parliamentary position that we are in at the moment to the members of the House.

The amendments that were offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson are amendments that move the amendments that were introduced to this bill when it was on second reading.

According to the rules under which we operate, amendments adopted or defeated may not be changed or considered again without first reconsidering the vote.

Therefore, it is the opinion of the Chair that a motion should be made at this time to reconsider the vote by which the bill was agreed to on second reading as amended.

Will the gentleman yield just a moment while the gentleman from Allegheny withdraws his amendments.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. DONALDSON. If it is a parliamentary situation, I will withdraw the amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed second reading as amended be reconsidered.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the majority leader, if I may.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, is the reason that you are so moving because of the fact that you want to give Mr. Donaldson an opportunity to present these amendments?

Mr. McCANN. That is the basic reason, Mr. Speaker. The amendments that were presented, of course, that are in the bill are not debatable, but I can explain that I want to make the necessary parliamentary moves according to procedure so he may rightfully have the opportunity to present his amendments for the purpose of a roll call.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well then, would you say that would be the policy of the House?

Mr. McCANN. I assume, Mr. Speaker, that it would. I certainly would want to grant that right and I could only do it if I do it according to the House rules. That is why I am making this motion, so he may have the opportunity.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, the reason I say that is, Mr. Speaker, if I may just digress for one second on this motion, that I am going to ask you to do the same thing on House bill 911 so I can amend the taxicab bill. So I hope you agree to that, too.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman cannot agree to that. That will be a question the House will have to decide.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I want this man to have the right to present his amendments so they may properly be voted on.

If I make the motion, where is the bill? Are the amendments in or not in it?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If the gentleman makes such a motion, the bill will then be in a position without any amendments as it was originally.

What the Chair would like to point out is this, if the gentleman will make a motion that we reconsider the vote by which the amendments were placed in the bill on second reading, the Rovanseck amendments, the question will then be on adopting the amendments of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovanseck. They will be once again before this House.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the amendments to House bill 1438 were agreed to on second reading be reconsidered.

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. FINEMAN. Does not this motion have to be submitted in writing?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. It does not.

Mr. DONALDSON. I think I am right, Mr. Speaker. The bill is now in its original form and the House is considering the Rovanseck amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. As soon as we adopt this motion the bill will be in its original form, without the Rovanseck amendments, and we will then be considering the amendments offered by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovanseck

Mr. DONALDSON. At that time I would like to be recognized to debate the amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, are we now in a position that House bill 1438 is before us and Mr. Rovanseck is offering his amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is the position we are in.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovanseck?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I be recognized?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, these are the amendments about which Mr. Goldstein interrogated Mr. Rovanseck, the amendments which were a compromise offer of one-half of what the bill actually did before. The bill in its original print, as it is now, provided for the complete backfill of all stripping operations. Mr. Rovanseck's amendments propose a 50 percent, or, if you had a high wall of 60 feet, the present law provides for 3 feet of backfill over the area. Assuming you had 55 feet of a high wall, whatever the case may be, these amendments now would provide for a backfill of one-half of that on an angle of 45 degrees. The amendments offered by Mr. Rovanseck do not change the bonding feature. These are the amendments we want to vote on now. Is that correct?

Mr. ROVANSECK. Mr. Speaker, with around 32 years of experience, if the gentleman from Allegheny is so desirous of inserting his amendments in this bill, I am going to vote for the amendments for the sole reason that I believe the sportsmen of this Commonwealth and the people want it. I saw many, many children and other people involved in pools of water by drowning, and what not.—I feel this will correct that situation.

I merely wanted to give the people who are in the coal business a break, but, since the people want it in this manner, I will also go along with the amendments. I want that definitely understood.

Just a word further, Mr. Speaker. I understand that this amendment was agreed to between the coal operators and also some other office—I will not mention where. We agreed to insert the amendment in there. Now, if you want to restore this bill to its original form with the amendments, I certainly will go along with them.

I must say that my sole sympathy is with the people of the Commonwealth and, likewise, the sportsmen. I believe they have a right to consideration under this bill and I believe it will make this a good bill.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. To clarify the situation, Mr. Speaker, we are now voting on the Rovanseck amendments which were passed on Monday?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is correct.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. And Mr. Rovanseck now has frankly stated he believes in conservation and he is against his own amendments. Is that correct?

Mr. ROVANSECK. That is correct. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson.

Mr. DONALDSON. I will yield to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovanseck, if he so desires.

Mr. ROVANSECK. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will agree, since the bill is in its original form, to withdraw his amendments, I will withdraw mine and we can vote on the bill.

Mr. McCANN. What he is saying, Mr. Speaker, is, Mr. Rovanseck withdraws his amendments and the bill is in position to proceed without the amendments in it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the Chair understand the situation now? The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovanseck, desires to withdraw his amendments.

Mr. McCANN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Then this House will be considering House bill 1438, printer's No. 1732, which is already in print?

Mr. McCANN. That is right.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has been informed that if the gentleman's amendments are removed, the question recurs, will the House agree to the bill on second reading? We will not be able to vote finally on the bill today because the bill must be considered on different days and we will have moved the bill back to second reading.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Clarion, Mr. Varner, rise?

Mr. VARNER. I would like to make a motion to place House bill 1438 on the table.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will you get the bill to third reading position, please?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We can agree to the bill now on second reading and it will be up to third reading, but we cannot get it into a position now to act on it finally today.

Mr. McCANN. That is right.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We can get it into position where it can be acted upon on the next legislative day.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will you please tell the House that House bill 1438 is on our next day's calendar and what print number, which was the print that it was on second reading?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The bill presently on the calendar is House bill 1438, printer's No. 2245, which is the bill as amended by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovanseck.

The original print No. before the bill was amended was 1732. With Mr. Rovanseck's amendments in the bill, the printer's No. is 2245.

Mr. McCANN. They have been withdrawn.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We have taken the bill back now to original printer's No. 1732.

Mr. McCANN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That will mean that we can act upon the bill today on second reading only.

Mr. McCANN. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovanseck, withdraws his amendments.

The Chair thanks the gentleman.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House bill No. 1438, entitled:

HOUSE BILL No. 1038.

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies to sell and convey all of its right title and interest that it may have in a tract of land in the borough of Canonsburg Washington County Pennsylvania.

HOUSE BILL No. 1144.

An Act amending the "Pennsylvania Election Code" approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1333), providing for the appointment of additional clerks at polling places in counties of the third class.

HOUSE BILL No. 1396.

An Act amending "The Borough Code" approved May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519), increasing the expense allowance for delegates to meeting of the State Association of Boroughs.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1468, entitled:

An Act amending "The Administrative Code of 1929" approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), enlarging the Coal Research Board's sphere of study and research.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, just to try to get something clarified in my own mind, and I think possibly in the minds of some of the other people on this side, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill as to the purpose of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MURPHY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if this is a separate research and in what State colleges are they taking it.

Mr. MURPHY. This is not a separate research, in answer to the gentleman's first question, Mr. Speaker. This is an enlargement of the current research program.

Mr. AUKER. Who conducts this research?

Mr. MURPHY. Penn State can, if the Coal Research Board authorizes them to. I think Penn State is the only college now in Pennsylvania that conducts the research.

Mr. AUKER. Is there any additional appropriation in this bill over what would be in the appropriation bill for State College covering Coal Research on their general appropriations bill for Penn State University?

Mr. MURPHY. No, Mr. Speaker, there is not an additional appropriation. Perhaps I can answer it by briefly saying that if you read line 4, page 3, you will see "and their by-products" has been amended which will enlarge the sphere or scope of the research over coal in itself. Now they can go into by-products, and so forth, under the very same program, with the very same appropriation. No additional cost, but they can just broaden the scope of their research a little more.

Mr. AUKER. Then would the gentleman state for me that it is his considered opinion that there is no implication of appropriations for the same thing in either one of these two bills?

Mr. MURPHY. What other bill is the gentleman speaking of, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUKER. I am speaking about the bill appropriating money for Penn State University, which contains in that bill—possibly it does cover it, if not specifically, certainly by implication—provision to carry on this coal research that Penn State is undertaking and doing.

Mr. MURPHY. This would be an authorization for Penn State, if it were Penn State or any college, under its existing State appropriation to conduct this type of research within its financial limits. That financial limit is in the appropriation bill. This is not an appropriation bill. This bill came out of the State Government Committee and contains no appropriation, merely an authorization.

Mr. AUKER. Can the gentleman inform me whether or not there is—and I have not had a chance to look—whether or not there is any appropriation in the general budget for this particular bill?

Mr. MURPHY. I beg the gentleman's pardon. I did not fully hear the question.

Mr. AUKER. Can the gentleman tell me if he knows whether or not there is any appropriation in the general budget, or the general appropriation bill, covering this particular research?

Mr. MURPHY. Yes, Mr. Speaker, there is. It is under the general appropriation bill and it is not an additional appropriation; it is the same one that we have had under the existing act.

Mr. AUKER. What I am trying to get at, Mr. Speaker, and I again ask the gentleman, if there is not some place along the line a duplication of the appropriation to carry out the same thing? I am for it, understand, I am not debating against the merits of the bill. All I want to make sure of is that there is not a duplication of the appropriation to carry out the project.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I can assure the gentleman that to my knowledge there is no duplication of the appropriation. It is under the general appropriation bill, and I am going to yield to the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, chairman of the Appropriations Committee who can also assure the gentleman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the appropriation is made to the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries for the coal research board. This year the appropriation contained in the general appropriation bill was $75,000. The coal research board can contract with anyone they desire to do the research. In the past a good part of the research as been done by Penn State University.

Mr. AUKER. The gentleman says, "part of it has been done." Where has the rest of it been done, and where has the rest of the appropriation money been spent in past years for this particular research?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I think that practically all of it has been spent at Penn State, but the coal research board could have anyone or any research foundation do research under the act that they operate under, but the majority of it has been done at Penn State.

Mr. AUKER. I am satisfied, Mr. Speaker, and I very kindly thank both the gentlemen.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Fulmer.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak in favor of this particular bill because of the added language in this bill. I refer to the method of mining, preparing and transporting of the bituminous and anthracite coal, and also the other language that has been added, "and their by-products."

For many years the Pennsylvania State University, to the best of my knowledge, has been doing quite a bit of basic research in the economics and technology of coal, but there has really never been any provisions for doing any applied research in the methods of mining, preparing or transporting of coal, and certainly not in the by-products. It seems to the people who are associated with the research that a lot more should be done in the way of study and research and preparation and the transporting of coal, and, in addition to that, to the use of the by-products. I understand that they now have some new thoughts on the use of by-products, and that is why I would appreciate support for this bill.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

APPROPRIATION BILLS ON THIRD READING (NON-PREFERRED)

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1709, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I take it the bill that is called up is the bill which grants State aid to hospitals, to local hospitals, in the amount of 17 million-and-some-odd dollars. Mr. McCann and myself had the debate on reapportionment, you might say, at the close of the session last week. Unfortunately, there were only two or three members on the floor when we discussed the apportionment problem, but at that time I set forth the extreme importance of reapportionment, how interested we as Republicans are in a fair and reasonable reapportionment bill. From what we have read in the papers of how members of the opposite party, not members of this House, but people who are in high command, feel about the way the State ought to be reapportioned, this is not a method to which we agree. Therefore, the only way we can see to wrap up this session with a fair and reasonable reapportionment bill with due equity to all concerned would be to, for the time being, not give votes for the non-preferred appropriation bills.

I did say this, however, that if there is a non-preferred appropriation bill wherein the money is immediately necessary, and, if passed and signed by the Governor, it would be immediately paid within a few weeks to those to whom it was payable, we certainly would not withhold our votes.

The other day, Mr. Polen gave us a statement at our request, and for which we thank him, stating that this bill 1709, the aid for hospitals, would not be payable until commencing September 1, 1961, which would be the end of the first quarter. Conceivably, it might not be until the end of September. If you figure that the quarter would start as July, August and September under the new fiscal year, it is conceivable that the money would not be paid until October, if you consider it on a fiscal-year basis.

But be that as it may, we take the figures of Mr. Polen. Even if the bill were passed today, sent to the Senate and put on the Governor's desk, the money would not be due and payable to the hospitals until they have filed their applications and shown receipts for services granted to indigents, and so forth, for the quarter at least ending August 31st, or possibly September 30th. Therefore, in view of the situation, we are all driving for adjournment of the legislature, trying to get out of here sine die. I understand that Senator Weiner told the newsmen today that he was driving to get out of here in three weeks. More power to him. We on this side will lend every considerable aid to try to get out of here in three weeks' time. I do not know whether it is possible, but be that as it may, we call upon Congressmen, Senators, House members, State chairmen and everybody to sit down right away, in earnest and draft this reapportionment bill. It could be drafted and agreed upon in a few hours. Get it out here on the calendar so all can move together, so we know that Bill Green in Philadelphia, for instance, or somebody in Lackawanna County, or somebody in Allegheny County, who has power in the Democratic Party, will not write the reapportionment bill. We should all join in and write it together and have it agreed upon as the bill for the good of Pennsylvania. We are willing to give; we are willing to receive; we are willing to be fair.

Therefore, I am asking the members on this side of the House to temporarily withhold their votes for this non-preferred appropriation bill. You will not be hurting needy hospitals. I know they will try to make a lot of political capital and say that Republicans voted against hospitals. That is not true, we are not doing that. We can pass this bill and put it on the Governor's desk August 31st, even, and they would get their money on time. Therefore, I am asking the members to stick with us. Let us get together and let us get a good reapportionment bill. Let us join with Senator Weiner and get out of this session sine die as rapidly as possible.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the members of the House, I would like to state that the Governor's budget for the State-aided hospitals amounted to $18,016,000. Based on the free patient days submitted to the Appropriations Committee, the amount necessary was $20,183,500. But when the decision was made that we could implement by the Kerr-Mills Act, which would provide the appropriations for those over 65, we used a rather complicated formula. I believe most of you received a letter from the Hospital Association explaining that in detail, but what we did was take into consideration that the Kerr-Mills Act would be effective by January 1, 1962. We, therefore, took the free patient days that had been given by the hospitals to indigent people over 65 and deducted from that the $10 per day from the basis of $20,183,500, which concerned many of the hospitals because they thought the appropriation was being reduced, however, the facts are that for each of these free patient days which was deducted from this appropriation at the rate of $10 per day, the hospitals will be paid under Kerr-Mills implementation, their cost not to exceed $25 per day. So all the hospitals will receive a lot more money if they had patients over 65. If Kerr-Mills is approved by the Federal Government before January 1st, of course, they will receive more money than we had figured in this. The earlier it is approved, the earlier they will receive additional funds for those over 65. That is the explanation of why the amount is slightly under the amount that was in the Governor's budget.

I listened to the gentleman from McKean, the minority leader, Mr. Johnson. I do not believe that this hospital aid bill has anything to do with reapportionment. I am going to say that while the amounts are not yet payable, rather, to the hospitals until September 1st, their authorization is contained in this bill. There is nothing at all that says to the hospitals, we are going to pay them $10 per day, or anything per day, unless this bill is passed. I believe his statement that if we passed it by August the 31st they could be paid on September 1st is incorrect, because these accounts of the hospitals require an audit by Welfare and by the Auditor General before they can be paid. If we did not pass this bill until August 31st, I would feel certain that it would be at least late October before the hospitals would receive any money under this. Mr. Speaker, I can only say this, if we are going to pass a bill to aid the hospitals to take care of the indigent, the medically indigent, of Pennsylvania, the time to do it is right now. I ask the members of this House to support this legislation.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I request permission to interrogate the majority leader on a point that is not directly involved in this bill, but which has some bearing on our position. I ask unanimous consent to deviate from the bill itself.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection and, if the majority leader will permit himself to be interrogated along that line, the gentleman from Delaware may proceed.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know what is being done on the majority side so far as congressional reapportionment is concerned?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will answer the gentleman, and, also, in reply to the same item that Mr. Johnson raised in the debate last week when I interrogated him.

Number 1, there is a most peculiar situation in which Pennsylvania could possibly only lose two congressional seats, or, as presently proposed, would lose three.

In the interrogation last week I was informed, and it is in the record, that there would be an official announcement from Washington that we would lose three and there would be no change.

This week I checked. There is pending the so-called Alaska-Hawaii congressional bill which adds congressional seats to the Congress of the United States in Washington. Should the passage of this bill occur, Pennsylvania would be one of the states that would lose one less seat.

Now, with that in mind, at the first meeting of the Democrat State Chairman, the Republican State Chairman, the Congressional Reapportionment Committee of both the House and the Senate and the floor leaders, it was agreed to do the following:

1, that both parties, Democratic and Republican Congressmen and the State chairmen would appoint two subcommittees of Congressmen. This has been done. Three Democratic congressmen have been appointed by Mr. Morse, under the dean, Congressman Walter, three Republican Congressmen appointed under the leadership of the dean of the Republican Congressmen of Pennsylvania and the two State chairmen are to work on reapportionment.

Basically, it was agreed, that the Pennsylvania Congressmen would support unanimously, the congressional bill which would do the most for Pennsylvania, which was the Congressional bill that I have spoken of. That they would, secondly, support the Alaska-Hawaii bill, under which Pennsylvania will only lose two congressional seats, or, rather, gain one more than we now see contemplated at the present time.

But that very item is one of the reasons that Congressional reapportionment has not been completed in those steps, although there has been introduced this very week a congressional reapportionment bill which has the blessing of the Republican State Chairman and so was indicated in a news release, even though the official word has not come from Washington, as indicated that it would this week—unless it was given today—that the so-called Alaska-Hawaii bill is dead.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman concur in the thinking of Senator Weiner that we are aiming to get out of here in about three weeks?

Mr. McCANN. I certainly am driving towards such a schedule, and I was certainly sorry to lose one day this week and one day next week, which had been planned.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. If that schedule is maintained, will that be irrespective of action by Congress on reapportionment?

Mr. McCANN. The answer on the congressional reapportionment, Mr. Speaker, is to be officially given not later than next week.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. But if it is not officially given, are you still aiming for the same adjournment date?

Mr. McCANN. We certainly would be aiming for as early an adjournment date as would be possible, completing both reapportionment and education.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. In other words, it is the intention of the majority party to attempt to agree upon, or to agree upon, congressional reapportionment before we adjourn sine die this session?

Mr. McCANN. It is our intention to agree upon congressional reapportionment before we adjourn this session.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. That is the question.

Mr. McCANN. I certainly am hoping that every effort will be made and we will have a congressional reapportionment bill to present to vote on in this House, because that was one other agreement, the congressional reapportionment would be introduced in the House to proceed through the House and the Senate.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. In other words, what we read in the papers that there may be a special session called concurrently with the fiscal session is not being contemplated by the majority party?

Mr. McCANN. At this point I am not contemplating any special session, because I am awaiting the answer from Congress and the two State chairmen on congressional reapportionment, which is due very shortly.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCormack. Mr. Speaker, since we are discussing reapportionment and not aid to hospitals, why—

The SPEAKER. Mainly we are considering hospitals.

Mr. McCormack. Then I ask the same privilege that the gentleman from Delaware asked and received, that I be allowed to digress.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to interrogate the majority floor leader?

Mr. McCormack. No. I just want to make a statement, but it will deal primarily with reapportionment rather than with this particular bill—a very short statement, however, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed. He is out of order, but the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCormack. Mr. Speaker, I have been in the House since 1953 and I can truthfully say that I have never heard a more hypocritical position than the position taken today by the Republican minority.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman should not take that line when he is speaking by unanimous consent, because he is speaking by unanimous consent, and any few members of the House could terminate that privilege. We ask the gentleman to be mindful of the situation in which we find ourselves.

Mr. McCormack. If I have transgressed the rules in spirit, I certainly will withdraw that statement, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Use more kindly words in such a fashion that you mow them down with kindly words.

Mr. McCormack. In furtherance of my remarks, I want to call to the attention of the House that we are discussing an appropriation bill for the needy, for the sick, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

All I have to do is to think back on what has happened with respect to reapportionment of Legislative and Senatorial districts in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania since 1921. Never before did I hear any clamor nor did I hear any threats to withdraw aid to the hospitalized, and the sick and the helpless because of the failure of a party to get together on a reapportionment bill. This is the first time I have ever heard such an argument. I think it is ridiculous.

With respect to congressional apportionment, there is a provision in the law that if they do not reapportion the Congressional candidates should run at large. But we have a constitution in Pennsylvania that provides that districts be reapportioned after the decennial census, a constitutional mandate. Because of the fact that it is not implemented by legislative action that would require them to do it in the face of losing their seat, or their pay, they have not done anything about it. That is why I say that this position he has taken today it—I won't say intellectually dishonest—but I will say that it does not square up with the past history of Senate and House reapportionment.

Therefore, I think that you should re-appraise your position and, inasmuch as this bill is such a meritorious one that it affects the sick and the helpless who have no lobby here, you ought to give us some votes to pass it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, those of us who have been around here for a considerable period of time know that there have been many and many a quid pro quo offered from the minority. The Speaker of this House when he was floor leader—I am sorry I do not have time, in a few minutes I could go upstairs and look in the index of almost any session and find where he said, all right, you want this, but when are you going to pass this one, this one, this constitutional convention, and all this? When you do that, then we will talk to you about giving you some help on taxes or whatever it is. You have always used the club when we were in power of the non-preferred appropriations. It is as old as can be in the hall of this House.

This matter of waving a flag for the sick, and all that, I am telling you, when you can show me that we have to pass this bill today or that one sick person will be harmed because we have not given votes today, we will reconsider our position. But if the bill is not payable until September, I would say there is absolutely no hurry in getting about this.

To repeat, we are willing to sit down on reapportionment. We are willing to sit down and try to figure out what is the best move so we can adjourn this session sine die. We are willing to wrap it all up together and get out of here. We are not going to drag our feet. We do not like night sessions. We would rather stay here an extra day than to stay here at night, because you know what it does to the health of the members.

But be that as it may, we are willing to cooperate. Our State chairman and I believe your Democratic State chairman—I just talked to our State Committee on the telephone now—have not been able to get any word today. They have been trying to get word if Congress is going to act. The word they get back is the trouble is that these three congressmen that Congress would be increased by would mean then that New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts would be the gainers. We would then lose only one, New York one and Massachusetts one.

A gentleman from California said to one of our congressmen, well, now, if you think we are going to do that just for your three States, why, you have another thought coming. That seems to be the talk around the cloak room. So our representative who has been talking in Washington has kind of thrown up his hands on it and does not think that Speaker Rayburn, or any of them, want to do that very thing, that they are satisfied to let us go ahead and prepare to eliminate three congressmen. We are willing to do it, willing to sit down and do it on a fair basis. Let us do this all together. I know very well, and anybody on the Republican side knows, the way things are going with the great power that you people possess in the big cities with your huge political machines, if we give up what little, little, teeny hold that we might have, we will end up on the short end as far as reapportionment is concerned. We know that.

Therefore, I think we are justified today in asking you to get together this week, bring a bill in next week, next Monday, on reapportionment. It seems like George Bloom and Otis Morse could sit down, they are the top leaders of the two parties, and agree on a sensible bill. Bill Green is back from Europe, they tell me. He could get on it, and your leader from Lackawanna could sit in on it. Get the leaders of the parties together, because it is a high level proposition. There is no question about it. We in this House say we are going to reapportion reasonably and well, but we are not going to do it. The leaders of the parties are going to do it. But, for goodness sakes, have them give it to us so we can pass it and pass these bills.

Everybody wants to get out of here in three weeks' time. I think it is wonderful, it is a salutary idea. But do not ask us today to give up what little teeny hold we have this session. We do not have any majority. I think it is asking too much.

Therefore, I am still asking the members on this side of the House to vote "no" today. That is not to say that we are not going to eventually pass the bill.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, being chairman of the Congressional Reapportionment Committee I presume I should be in order to take up two minutes of the House's time.

If you would ask me and ask the other members of the House, whether Republican or Democrat, what they think of us, at 3:30 this afternoon, starting on an irrelevant and improper topic on the last day we are here, I think they would tell you in no uncertain terms. I say to the minority leader he knows very well that none of us has refused to sit down with him or any of his cohorts on any congressional reapportionment. In five months' time they have not even introduced a bill, although they have very capable attorneys. They have prospective—or members who considered themselves as—aspirants for the judicial bench, high calibre men, and I would like to know if at any time we refused to sit down with them, even though they represent 48 percent or more of the people of this Commonwealth? What have they done in the way of reapportionment for the five months? They have not done so much as introduce a bill.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. In spite of the gentleman, there are two bills already put in on the Republican side by different members, and, if the gentleman will pick up his bills and go through them, he will find that there are two plans in and there are going to be several more put in, I understand, from this side by interested members.

POINT OF ORDER

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Leonard, rise?

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LEONARD. If my memory serves me right, we are acting on House bill 1709; we are not discussing reapportionment.

The SPEAKER. That is right, but with the consent of the House and with the consent of the leadership we opened the door.

The Chair, as every member of this House knows, would like to confine current discussion to current bills, to matters before the House, but a vast majority here has never agreed with that policy and it is certainly not the function of the Speaker to override the overwhelming view of a part of the House. We would like to confine discussion to pertinent matters, but we cannot do it unless that is what the membership of the House desires.

The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand, and the door has been opened to any kind of a remark that he may want to make.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, my purpose in rising was to close the door because I am now making the statement that any other remarks at this point, except on the merits of this legislation, will cause me to rise on a point of order and withdraw my consent for general comment.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 769, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs for the payment of services of the Civil Air Patrol.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the majority leader says this measure, this appropriation, of $15,000 is payable during July. Just when in July is this payable?

Mr. POLEN. July 1.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. And to whom is it payable?

Mr. POLEN. It is payable through Military Affairs to those who participate under the Civil Air Patrol.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Do not these people, like other agencies in the Commonwealth, first incur the obligations and then present vouchers and they are reimbursed for their activities?

Mr. POLEN. They make requisitions based upon their payments, yes, sir.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. When does this fiscal year start? It starts July 1, does it not?

Mr. POLEN. No, it starts June 1. Mr. Speaker, I might say that this is one of the accounts that is paid monthly. If the gentleman will look on his list he will find that this is listed as a monthly account.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. When in the month of July would this be payable?

Mr. POLEN. It would be payable any time after the first of July when the requisition was submitted to Military Affairs and approved.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, Mr. Speaker, we have at least another week then, or ten days, in which to consider this, have we not?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that is so much the question. I have had telephone calls about this program. They do not know whether to continue spending money to continue the program unless they are going to be paid. Unless we pass this legislation they cannot be paid and it is a question of whether they should continue. I had that asked of me on the phone yesterday. That is true of all these programs. It is true of the hospitals. They have no assurance that they are going to be paid anything now. The present act has expired.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I ask this question, is the $15,000 for the whole 13 months or is it all payable in the month of July?

Mr. POLEN. That is for the 13 months. It is payable as requisitioned monthly over the 13-month period.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then the money that would be payable in the month of July would be a little better than $1,000 under this bill?

Mr. POLEN. That would be correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

I think, Mr. Speaker, the position we have taken today and on all these days is, it is not imperative that the bill pass today. It is very imperative that other things occur—equally as imperative. Therefore, I see no reason for this bill being passed today. It could well be passed over until next week or the week following when you will have this agreement on the apportionment bill. That is why I am asking the members, today at least, not to vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Dengler,	Guthrie,	Slack,	Verona,
Edwards,	Mihm,	Stiteler,	Wescott,

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams, rise?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know how someone voted on that last bill. How did the gentleman from Berks, Mr. McDevitt, vote on that bill?

The SPEAKER. He voted "aye."

Mr. ADAMS. How can he vote "aye" when he is not here?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman can raise the question in the proper manner, before the result is announced.

Mr. ADAMS. I just found out about it since you turned the machine off.

The SPEAKER. The question is a little late. He has called attention to the point, if it is a fact, and it would indeed be a very serious matter if someone actually absent was recorded by our infallible machine as being here. It does not operate itself.

Mr. ADAMS. I request that the record be corrected.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

Mr. ADAMS. I also would appreciate if it would not be repeated.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1708, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Welfare for the maintenance of certain homes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WHITTAKER and Mrs. S. A. ANDERSON asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 1 and 2, by striking out "four hundred fifty-five thousand sixty-nine dollars ($455,069)" and inserting: four hundred fifty-seven thousand five hundred sixty-nine dollars ($457,569)

Amend Sec. 1, page 3, by inserting between lines 10 and 11: Mary Slaughter Home for the Aged, Williamsport ..... 2,500

Amend Sec. 1, page 4, line 18, by striking out "$455,069" and inserting: $457,569

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time—Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, the chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, these amendments as presented, make an appropriation of $2,500 for the Mary Slaughter Home for the Aged at Williamsport. I think it would be very unwise to insert these amendments because all of the appropriations to the homes, State-aided homes, are made on deficit financing. The Mary Slaughter Home has not furnished any report showing that they had a deficit, nor have they made a request to the Appropriations Committee. They received no appropriation in 1959 and 1960, one, because of the fact that they had no deficit. Now, the procedure is that when we receive these requests they are audited, they are approved by Welfare, and returned to us and we correlate the figures to see whether or not they are entitled to an appropriation. If they do have a deficit we include it in the bill. Now I think it would be a very unsound policy to start putting in institutions that, in all probability, would not be able to receive the appropriation if it was placed in here because they would not qualify. I talked to the Department of Welfare and they have given me practically the same information, that no request was made to them for an appropriation.

So, I think we should vote this amendment down because, regardless of the merits of the home, it would be very unsound if we depart from the long-established policy that the State-aided homes were financed on deficit financing through proper reports made to the Department of Welfare and to the Appropriations Committee. I ask the members to vote "no."

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Whittaker.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Mr. Speaker, this home formerly was known as the Aged Colored Womens' Home. In 1959 it was temporarily out of action due to the fact that it had to be remodeled as requested by the State. The home was remodeled; the patients were taken into private homes for temporary care. They did not request money in 1959 for that reason. They were in the budget in 1957 for a certain amount of money.

They have asked to be put back on. They have doubled the attendance in the home, and they have the right to ask for their fair share of the tax money to carry on.

It is somewhat of an honor for the city of Williamsport that we have a home to take care of these colored people when they reach the age where they have to have special care. We have added an infirmary to it so that we can take care of both men and women. I would like to ask the House to vote this into the budget; put it back on the same basis that it was in 1957. Just because it did not have an appropriation in 1959 is no reason to wipe it out in 1961.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the fact that they had no appropriation in 1959 had absolutely nothing to do with the situation. We have been forced to eliminate many fine institutions. For example, the George Junior Republic, we had to eliminate them because they had no deficit. This is a question of deficit financing. If they are operating now and have a deficit, they can be included and paid in the appropriation of 1962-1963. They have no deficit now; they have made no requests. We do not make appropriations just on the basis of "it is a wonderful home, it is a good institution." I do not disagree with it but I do say that we cannot depart from the established policy. Furthermore, just to make an appropriation of $2,500, it is purely a gesture if they do not have a deficit, which they apparently do not.

I again ask the members to vote, "no."

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Whittaker.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Mr. Speaker, apparently they have a deficit of over $12,000. They made out proper application in triplicate this year, and it was delivered, or a copy should have been delivered, to the gentleman's office. It was sent to the proper spot. They have it in other spots in the Capitol and you should have had yours. Other homes make it in triplicate, so I assume that you got your copy. It was sent to your office, I understand.

This is only for $2,500; I do not think it will break the State.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. We have not received the application and I called the Department of Welfare and they also have not received any request.

Mr. WHITTAKER. The request was sent to the Senate Appropriations Committee. I was over there and read their copy and if he has a copy the other two copies are some place in the Capitol.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I reiterate, we did not receive it nor did the Department of Welfare. I cannot say what the Senate Appropriations Committee has.

The SPEAKER. Now, that is just what I wanted to hear.

There is a way of getting a roll call. The Chair cannot recognize a demand for a roll call voiced by twenty-five or thirty anonymous people. The way you get a roll call or a recorded vote is for some member to rise and request a roll call and the roll call request is seconded and it becomes a matter of record.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. WHITTAKER and MAXWELL and were as follows:

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 911, entitled:

A Supplement to the act of May 27, 1937 (P. L. 917), entitled "An act for the protection of the health and welfare of women and minors by regulating under the police power the minimum fair wages which shall be paid by employers providing for wage boards and defining the powers and duties of such boards and of the Department of Labor and Industry *** exempting certain persons from the provisions of this act and providing penalties" concerning minimum wages providing for a minimum wage for employes in the Commonwealth *** defining the powers and duties of the Department of Labor and Industry.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BOWMAN asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Bill, page 15, by inserting between lines 2 and 3:

Section 8.1. The secretary may exempt from the provisions of this act any employer for a period of not more than fourteen weeks in any calendar year, whenever the employer is found by the department to be engaged in an industry of a seasonal nature.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, the proposed amendments that I have offered to this bill are what are generally known as seasonal employee amendments, and the amendment that I have drafted is similar to the comparable provision found in the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Under the Federal law the Secretary of Labor has the power to promulgate rules and regulations exempting seasonal employes from the provisions of the act within the framework of the provisions of the amendment as I present it here this afternoon.

In other words, if they are employed seasonally for a period of not more than 14 weeks in any calendar year, if the employer is found by the Secretary of Labor and Industry to be engaged in an industry of a seasonal nature, he, the Secretary of Labor and Industry, may exempt him under the rules and regulations. The amendment I recommend to you is similar to that contained in the Federal law, and I would urge your support of this amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose these amendments.

As I understand the course of action that is to be taken in the House at this time, there are some three or four amendments that are going to go into House bill 911. In order to intelligently understand all the amendments I would like to speak at this time in a broad vein and to provide a backdrop against which the members can examine these amendments so that we can understand them all the more.

I intend to oppose all the amendments that are offered today, and what I have to say at this time will be applicable to those amendments.

First of all, I think the members should understand just what this bill that we have before us does, because unless they understand the bill and its provisions there will be some difficulty in coming to a determination as to what they want to do on the amendments.

The broad purpose of House bill 911—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the gentleman will be permitted a rather broad latitude on his discussion.

Mr. FINEMAN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The broad purpose of House bill 911 is to provide a base or a floor, a minimum wage, for all occupations and for all employes in the State. The bill says that the minimum wage shall be one dollar an hour. Now, in setting up one dollar an hour the bill makes provisions for credit to the employer of certain stated items, such as: in those occupations where gratuities are a regular part of the employment, the employer would be entitled to a credit of 35 cents an hour. In those occupations where an employe "sleeps in" for the convenience of the employer, the employer would be entitled to a credit of $5 a week. In those occupations where an employe eats the meals of his employer, the employer would be entitled to a credit of 50 cents per meal.

Now, in addition, the bill says that if there is evidence of the fact that a minimum wage of a dollar an hour in any way curtails employment, or represents an enormous impact on the industry involved, a wage board can be set up and the wage board can determine that a minimum of 85 cents would be legal. Now, we are asking the members of this House to say that we want to legislatively find that a dollar an hour represents some step, some stride, toward giving every employe a chance to earn a decent, respectable living. What we are trying to do is to equate the value of an employe's services with what he gets by way of remuneration.

The United States Department of Labor Statistics, in 1959, made a survey of all the large cities throughout the United States to determine what the average family in the city, what the city worker, has to receive in order to maintain a modest, a modest level of living. They found that the average family, a husband, a wife, two children, must get $2.50 an hour in order to maintain a modest standard of living.

All they are doing in this bill is asking that we give less than one half of that sum as a minimum wage, one dollar an hour. A dollar an hour, to my way of thinking, even at the figure is totally insufficient for a family to live decently, adequately, and will enable a family to buy only the bare necessities of life. It certainly cannot be said of them that they will be able to live luxuriously on a minimum wage of one dollar an hour.

It is unfair to the employe, it is unfair to the employer, to that employer who does pay a minimum fair wage to his employes. It is discriminatory to them, and you give to the employes little of which he can contribute to the economy. His purchasing power is sharply reduced so that he cannot by his purchases turn the wheels of the economy.

It makes no difference that resort hotels might have seasonal employes or have some purpose in it peculiar to that particular industry. This leeway, if it was for a wage much in excess of one dollar an hour as a minimum, then we could, with propriety, examine more fully the peculiar circumstances of seasonal employment. As it is, the Department of Labor and Industry in this State has assured me that they will immediately get to the problem of a wage board forthwith, for the purpose of determining whether or not employers are entitled to some relief that House bill 911 does not give them.

I therefore urge, in the sense of decency, in the sense of giving to the working people of this State some fair measure of protection, I urge you to vote against the amendments. There are about 3.5 million workers in this State, over 7 million people in this State who rely on those 3.5 million workers for their districts. It is incumbent upon us to do what we can to help those who find themselves in distress areas, who find themselves in occupations where their bargaining power is not safe, who find themselves handicapped and cannot go out and solicit and get more than a dollar an hour. There are some 100,000 workers in this State today who receive less than a dollar an hour, and it is up to us to make sure that everyone, including these 100,000 workers, are brought up to some fair and adequate level of living.

I ask the members of this House, on both sides, to vote against these amendments.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, apparently the gentleman from Philadelphia does not understand the purport of my amendments.

He says that the wage boards will be quickly convened to alleviate any hardships that appear in the administration of this act. I am giving the Secretary of Labor, quite apart from the cumbersome procedure of wage boards, I am giving the Secretary a right, a power, with respect to seasonal employes, to modify the provisions of the act. Certainly that procedure is much simpler and less cumbersome than this procedure of the wage boards, which to many of us who have had experience with past wage board procedures, has been most cumbersome and most lengthy. All we are asking in this amendment is that the secretary himself be given the power with respect to seasonal employes to alleviate obvious hardships, not a wage board procedure, but the power in the secretary himself. It is quite similar to the power enjoyed by the Federal Secretary of Labor, and I think there is nothing inconsistent with anything Mr. Fineman said as to my amendments. My amendments will give the secretary more power than he would enjoy under the act as it is presently before you. I therefore urge you to support these amendments and give the secretary the power I am asking you to give to him.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, we want to establish a framework within which the Department of Labor and Industry can operate for all occupations with certain stated exceptions that are set forth in the bill. To exempt seasonal employers from the provisions of this bill would be to discriminate against those employers who operate the year around, who are in competition with seasonal employers.

Unless I am reading the amendments incorrectly, these amendments say that the secretary may exempt from the provisions of this act any employer for a period of not more than 14 weeks in any calendar year whenever the employer is found to be by the department engaged in an industry of a seasonal nature.

We find no valid reason to exempt employers under any conditions, be they seasonal or not, from the provisions of this bill because of the fact that the provisions of this bill are as innocuous as any provisions of a minimum wage bill can be. There is room for relief in this bill, the employer is not unduly burdened by a minimum wage and it is of no consequence that you now seek to exempt from this law those employers only who are engaged in seasonal occupations.

Mr. BOWMAN. I can only reiterate, my amendments do not exempt anybody. My amendments give the secretary power to exempt. They do not in themselves exempt. If that is not a more effective procedure in giving the secretary more power than he presently enjoys under this bill, and if it is not going to result in more effective and quicker administration of whether these people have hardship cases or not, then I do not know what the purpose of the amendment is. I merely repeat, and I will stop at this point, we are asking that the secretary be given the power if he chooses to exercise it.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I entertain an opinion that is contrary to the gentleman from Dauphin's. Probably we could argue all day on this. In the interest of brevity I am merely going to say that I am opposed to these amendments and ask the members of the House to vote them down.

Mr. BOWMAN. To put it in the vernacular, this is a may bill. The secretary may exempt. This is a may bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ESHBACK asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 3, page 5, by inserting between lines 13 and 14:

(f) employed by a resort hotel.

Amend Sec. 3, page 6, by inserting between lines 7 and 8:

(11) "Resort hotel" means one that provides accommodations of a vacational and recreational nature and meals and lodging to the public or to members or guests of members and provides without charge, on a weekly basis, lodging accommodations and meals to the majority of its employees; and meets one of the three following criteria of seasonal operation:

(a) operates for not more than seven months in any calendar year; or

(b) being located in a rural community or in a city, borough, town or township of less than fifteen thousand population, increased its number of employe work days (including adult males) during any consecutive four-week period by at least one hundred per cent over the number of employe work days (including adult males) in any other consecutive four-week period within the preceding calendar year; or

(c) being located in a rural community or in a city, borough, town or township of less than fifteen thousand population, increased its number of guest days during any consecutive four-week period at least one hundred per cent over the number of guest days in any other consecutive four-week period in the preceding calendar year.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ESHBACK. Mr. Speaker, I am asking that our resort industries and restaurants be exempted from the provisions of House bill 911.

Amout a month ago this House passed overwhelmingly House bill No. 458. It was also passed by the Senate and signed by the Governor and is effective today. The Governor has long since recognized the importance of our tourist industry and of the boardinghouse and vacation industry and what it means to the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The boardinghouse and recreational industry and the tourists are our main industry in the Pocono area, also in many other sections, Eagles Mere in Sullivan County, Lake Erie, Conneaut Lake, and many other sections that you and I are all acquainted with.

This bill will work a hardship on many of these institutions, boardinghouses and restaurants.

Mr. Fineman, the gentleman from Philadelphia, mentioned gratuities, but they are not specifically spelled out in the bill. There are hundreds and hundreds of college boys and girls who earn a part of their college costs in our area each and every season. It is true they are not paid the minimum wage that this bill spells out, but they make a great deal more than that in their so-called tips or gratuities.

In addition to that, Mr. Speaker, our industry has a great deal of competition, not only with our neighboring States, but the world around, from Maine to Florida, the West Indies, Europe, practically every section of the world today. Another competition they have is with the weather, and a good example was just this past week end. A large number of our boardinghouses up in the Poconos, the personnel, that is, the waiters, waitresses, chambermaids, and so forth, numbered more than the guests because it rained late Friday and all Saturday morning, and neither you nor I nor anyone else is going to leave our city homes and go out in the country during a rainy day or if it looks like a rainy week end. So there are a great many things to contend with.

It looks very, very enticing to say that you pay $50 to, maybe, $125 a week, but that is not the average. The average is approximately $75 a week, the average a tourist pays. If this bill is passed it is going to work a decided hardship on our resort industries.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman states that if this bill is passed it will work a hardship on the employers. I have heard nothing coming from his lips as to what effect getting less than $1 an hour has on the employes who are working for those employers. Are they not to be considered? They are entitled to our consideration just the same as the employers, and what we are trying to do in establishing a minimum of $1 an hour is to balance the equity and I can think of no fairer figure. This is less than fair as far as employes are concerned. I can think of no fairer figure than $1 an hour.

The gentleman is incorrect in his statement made to the effect that the bill spelled out no specifics for gratuities, because on page 7 of the bill, section 5, the bill very specifically says that every employer of an employe engaged in any occupation in which gratuities have customarily and usually constituted and have been recognized as part of the remuneration for hiring shall be entitled to a credit of 35 cents an hour. Now if that is not enough, this bill further provides for supplementary action by wage boards, which means that if gratuities in fact far exceed 35 cents an hour and the industry is adversely affected by reason of House bill 911, they can petition a wage board and get the amount of allowance for gratuities increased above and beyond 35 cents an hour.

I want to point this last fact out. There is presently in existence in this law under the act of 1937 a minimum wage act which covers only women and minors. There is nothing on our books that covers men. The resort industry is one of the industries for which a wage board has been convened. The wages paid under that wage board presently is about $35 a week for hours as long as 48 hours in a week. Assuming that their hours are even 40 hours a week, you are in effect paying these employes 72 cents an hour. Now I tell the members of this House that if they think the employes in this industry are entitled to no more than 72 cents an hour or perhaps less, then vote for the gentleman's amendment. If you think that is a poverty level, however, and they are entitled to a little more income to enable them to maintain some semblance of a decent standard of living, then I ask you to vote against these amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Pike, Mr. Eshback.

Mr. ESHBACK. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, I beg to inform him, and I have been so informed by many of the proprietors of the various summer resorts, that including what you would actually take to be a very, very low wage, if you take into consideration the average gratuity, their wage will average more than one dollar per hour.

Another thing I would like to offer is this—

Mr. FINEMAN. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, I did not hear that. Would the gentleman mind repeating that?

Mr. ESHBACK. If you take into consideration the amount of gratuity, in other words, their tips, I am certain that you can question any of the waiters, the waitresses, the chambermaids, in our area, at least, and you will find that their average wage is more than one dollar per hour.

Another thing, Mr. Speaker is this: This bill provides only for a very, very nominal sum so far as the employer is concerned in return for the amount allowed for room and board. I ask you where can you go, any place you would like to live, even as a laborer, or as a worker, and get board and room for $13 a week? Even the State allows more than that and it charges more than that for the various institutions.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out to the gentleman that I do not like to chew my cud twice, so to speak, and reply to your statement about gratuity. I have said to you that this bill provides a means by which an employer can get credit for gratuities earned by his employes in excess of 35 cents an hour.

In response to your second point about the employer not getting enough credit for the lodging of his employes, I want to point out to you that the present minimum wage established by the present existing wage board only gives $5 an hour, so that every resort hotel is presently operating under a credit of only $5 an hour for lodging—I am sorry, $5 a week. Unfortunately, however, the minimum wage act, under which those wage boards were established, are only applicable to women and minors and do not cover men. So under the provisions of this bill you are no worse off than you are presently under the existing wage board.

Mr. ESHBACK. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, did not mean $5 an hour.

Mr. FINEMAN. I corrected that. I said it was $5 a week.

Mr. ESHBACK. One more thing, Mr. Speaker. I do not believe that every proprietor of every summer hotel in the Poconos, every time there is a complaint, wants to come down here and have a hearing before the wage board. That is one reason I realize, and we acknowledge, and a great many of the men, in fact, one of the leading hotel managers, Ben Josephson, is one of the reasons why we have the present wage board in the law that you mentioned.

For that reason I am asking the members on both sides of the House to support the amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Merry, desire to be recognized on these amendments?

Mr. MERRY. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. MERRY. Mr. Speaker, if it is not out of order, I would like to interrogate Mr. Fineman for a moment.

Mr. FINEMAN. I will permit myself to be interrogated.

Mr. MERRY. Can the gentleman tell me where, in this relief that you speak of, we can assist a particular situation in Crawford County? Not to go into too much detail. We have a hotel that keeps open the year around. That man has, for 16 years, employed several people who would be in Warren or on the relief rolls, to work in his hotel. In other words, these people are not fully capable of doing a day's work; however, they are afforded wonderful living conditions and that man is doing a service to the people in keeping these people off the relief rolls. How does this bill affect him?

Mr. FINEMAN. I can tell the gentleman. First of all, year-around operators, and I assume that you are talking about a year-around operator . . .

Mr. MERRY. I am at this time but I have another question.

Mr. FINEMAN. . . . would not be covered by the amendments that we have before us at the present time, since those amendments only go to resort hotels. As I read these amendments therefore a year-around operator would not be covered and as a matter of fact would be discriminated against if these amendments were to pass.

The second point I want to make is this: As I said before, there is presently a wage board established for hotels. There is a different level of minimum wage established for those hotels in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh than in the rest of the State, but wage boards are gradually going to a minimum of a dollar an hour. As evidence of that fact, witness the recently enacted Federal law with a broad base of a dollar an hour, moving eventually to $1.15 and eventually to $1.25 an hour. Witness the fact that most of these States with minimum wages established by these wage boards are now at a dollar an hour. If this be the fact there will, in all probability, be a wage board convened for resort hotels which will look to establishing a minimum of a dollar an hour. Proceedings before these wage boards, as everyone knows, are complex, they are lengthy proceedings, and they are expensive for the employer. He has to engage counsel, and not that I am adverse to one making fees this way, but I know that it is onerous for the employer to have to do this. We can eliminate that step by legislatively declaring that the minimum should be a dollar an hour, so in that respect, the year-around operator is getting relief.

Mr. MERRY. I would like to ask the gentleman another question: Conneaut Lake Park is very close to my home and I have been in close contact with it for over 40 years. In Conneaut Lake Park in one of these so-called summer tourist resorts, we have a peculiar situation which has been going on for possibly these 40 years in which the bellhop who is in charge, or you might say the chief bellhop, receives a certain stipulated sum weekly from students for the privilege of being a bellhop in those hotels. Now, when you consider $13 for room and board, and the fact that these boys pay maybe $10 a week for the privilege of working there, they do quite well. I happen to be acquainted with a fellow, in fact he is a relative of mine, who contributed quite a little to his tuition at Allegheny College by working at Conneaut Lake Park Hotel in this manner. Now what are you going to do to those boys.

Mr. FINEMAN. As I indicated in my reply to Mr. Eshback, there is a procedure available for a wage board to adopt or promulgate credits over and above those specifically laid out in the bill now, particularly in regard to gratuities. I imagine that your question goes with particular reference to gratuities. If a bellhop is in fact getting more than 35 cents an hour, there is a procedure in this act enabling an employer to seek and to get relief over and above 35 cents an hour.

Just let me say this one further word: it is possible that you might point out to me some particular single circumstance where, maybe, the bill in its operation would fall more heavily on the shoulders of one employer than the other. But I ask you, is that not true of all legislation? We do not pass any piece of legislation in this House where we can unqualifiedly say that it affects everybody in the same way. But we do try to pass legislation that affects the majority of the people in the most beneficial way. That is what we are seeking to do in House bill 911.

Mr. MERRY. I was not particularly asking for relief for the employer, but I was asking for help for a great many students who add to their income this way. I do not like to see any legislation passed that would upset them. I thank the gentleman.

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 3, page 4, lines 10 to 13, by striking out "which work is incidental to or in return for charitable aid con-" in line 10, and all of lines 11 to 13.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. A. W. Johnson.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, when House bill 911 was introduced, I felt that, from my own personal standpoint other than from being the floor leader and having an interest in the bill, maybe from a party standpoint, there was no personal interest in the bill which would affect my home county. However, one day I received a call from one of the trustees of the Bradford Hospital and he said, "Albert, what are you people doing to us down there?" I said, "Why, I do not know." "Well," he said, "we have analyzed this House bill 911 and we figure it will cost the Bradford Hospital about $91,000 a year." "Well," I said, "I wish you would write me a letter to that effect so I can look it over and, if you show me where it will, I will be glad to offer amendments to take charitable and religious institutions out of the bill." That is the effect of my amendments.

So I received his letter and what our hospital does up in Bradford, and I do not know but that they might do it all over the State, they employ a lot of people around the hospital who are relatively unemployable. I know I represented a young boy who had been in great trouble in the court. He had been to Grove City, he had been to the George Junior Republic, and institutions like that. There are quite a lot of other people like that who are not wards of the court, but who just cannot find jobs in any other place. They might be pensioners who are working on the side. They feel that they have done an excellent job in giving jobs, and they specialize in that, in helping people who otherwise might not be able to get a job any other place. It is true that most of them get less than $1 an hour. I know you will say, well, how are they going to live on that? The truth is that that is about the only place they can get a job around Bradford and that is where they are working. Now, the hospital says, what will we do to raise the extra $91,000? Will they be able to get it from the Community Chest? Will they raise their rates? I mean I am just pointing out the problems that it puts a hospital to.

I, therefore, have offered amendments today, which, in addition to taking hospitals out of the bill, also take religious institutions out of the bill, and they are practically in the same situation, the religious organizations as the hospitals. They do go out and in the name of charity, you might say, hire people who otherwise are unemployable. It seems to me that this bill if it is passed will put a hardship not only on these workers, but will put a hardship on the institutions to try to raise that extra money. Therefore, I am offering amendments and ask the House to vote "aye" on them.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. I would like the privilege of interrogating the minority leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON, I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. Did the gentleman from McKean, in fact, receive this letter from Bradford Hospital, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Yes, I have the letter.

Mr. FINEMAN. Did the letter specify the number of employees the hospital has?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. No, it did not.

Mr. FINEMAN. Did the letter specify the hourly wage rate of these employees?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Not the average hourly wage rate, but they do admit candidly that they are paying less than $1 an hour. And they go on to say that while this is a fact, that they pay less than a $1 an hour, the people who earn less than $1 an hour are otherwise almost unemployable, and they from a charitable standpoint up there have adopted a policy of giving that type of person a job. They are very fortunate in being able to work. Now, I understand that a lot of hospitals do that all over the State.

Mr. FINEMAN. Is their alleged loss of $91,000, for which I have seen no facts or figures to substantiate, calculated on the basis of a minimum wage of a $1 an hour?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I take it that is the intent of the letter.

Mr. FINEMAN. You do not know what the loss would be if the minimum wage were 85 cents an hour, do you?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. All I can say is that the administrator has informed them that if 911 is enacted into law it would increase the hospital payroll a minimum of an additional $91,000 a year.

Mr. FINEMAN. I assume, when you say the hospital employes are those who are usually unemployable, you are referring to elderly people, those who might have physical or mental impairments?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Yes, people that cannot get work in other places.

Mr. FINEMAN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to bring to the attention of the minority leader that this bill does have a clause in it providing for special licenses for those persons who because of physical or mental infirmities, or because of age, are not readily employable elsewhere, so that they can be licensed to work at a figure less than a dollar an hour. Even if that were not so, however, I would oppose these amendments for two basic simple reasons. First of all, an employe in a charitable institution has the same amount of square foot floor area to clean when they get on their hands and knees as they have when they clean in a commercial institution. Secondly, they are entitled to the same fair remuneration for their labor that anyone else is entitled to. Because of the fact that they rely on the money that they earn for their subsistence, for their living, there is no basic, valid reason to exempt them or to exclude them from the provisions of the bill. As a matter of fact, they are the people that most need and should get our help. This is the type of labor that is usually unskilled, perhaps exploited; they have no bargaining powers, are not organized, and they really have no one to speak for them. They, more than anybody, need our help. I, therefore, ask the members of the House on both sides to vote down these amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Heavey.

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, if this amendment goes down, I will be compelled to vote against the bill, and that will break my heart. That is a figure of speech of mine and not a physical disability. I have been a union man employing union labor back to 1937 and have been in good standing with them ever since.

As far as this bill is concerned, I am heart and soul for the bill. If it were left up to me, I would make it $1.25, the same as President Kennedy wanted in the Federal statute. But, Mr. Speaker, I am also a representative of my district, and we have a hospital in our district that has been there for years. They put a new wing on which cost $3 million; it took them seven years to pay for it. Recently they borrowed $5 million out in St. Louis and built the last wing. Now they have to pay that money back. The hospital is run by the Sisters of Mercy, who get no monetary reward, and they still have a $400,000 payroll.

I have never heard of anybody kicking about labor rates around that hospital and I have been there for 50 years. I think if it was a State-aided hospital, all right, tell them to pay $1 per hour. But this hospital gets no State aid. I do not see how this General Assembly can, in good conscience, increase their payroll. They would have an awful job, just like Mr. Johnson says about increasing his hospital $91,000. I do not know how much it would cost Miserecordia. I remember some years ago at Miserecordia they told me that they had hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of bills and they were never collected. When anybody gets sick in the neighborhood, he goes in there to be patched up and they do not say to him, have you got money to pay for this or we will not work on you? I think it is very unfair that we should pass this bill without having this amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. I would like to say, first of all, that I am fully cognizant of the need of our hospitals and the high cost of medical care. But I am equally attuned to the need of the employes who work in those hospitals, who do not earn some semblance of a living that enables them to maintain some standard of decency. If we in fact say that no employe should get less than a dollar an hour, because that represents some basic minimum wage, why should we turn around and exempt the employes of a hospital? Because if we do that what we are in fact saying is, all right, let us pay them 75 cents an hour, but let us ask them, the employes, to contribute back to the hospital 25 cents an hour of their wage. Why should we ask these poor souls, these people who are unskilled, generally, whose toil comes heavy, why should we ask them to bear the burden for the expense of medical care? This has to be borne by those who can best afford it, the patients and, in those instances where there is State aid, by the State and by the Federal Government. But you cannot ask these employes in these institutions, notwithstanding the fact that there is a definite need for more assistance to the hospitals, you cannot ask them to bear the brunt of this expense.

I, therefore, ask the members of this House to vote this amendment down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, after reading the provisions of the bill and the amendments on page 5, I believe, it is not clear in my mind as to just what the language in that amendment means. I am therefore asking the gentleman whether or not a taxicab company that has a franchise, let us say, in Philadelphia and that taxicab company operates its cab not only in Philadelphia, but in surrounding townships, or municipalities, with a population of less than 15,000, whether or not that is exempted from the provisions of this bill?

Mr. FINEMAN. It was my impression that a public utility carrier certificated in the municipality of 15,000, or less, would be exempted from the provision of this bill—in the municipality where certificated.

Mr. McCORMACK. In other words, the language in the amendment is "operates," is that correct, operates?

Mr. FINEMAN. Just a moment. On page 5, "Employed or working as a taxicab driver for a taxi firm (1) operating in a city, borough, town or township of less than fifteen thousand . . ."

Mr. McCORMACK. Now the word "operating" is the key word, is it not?

Mr. FINEMAN. It may be the key word. I am trying to tell you what the intention is, as I understand it to be.

Mr. McCORMACK. So that if the taxicab company that has a franchise does not have its principal place of business in such a township or city of a population of not more than 15,000, that would not be exempt?

Mr. FINEMAN. That is right.

Mr. McCORMACK. So that it is your opinion, and it is your intention and the intention of the sponsors of the bill, that the Yellow Cab Company of Philadelphia is included—not exempt?

Mr. FINEMAN. As I understand the bill in its present form, the Yellow Cab Company of the city of Philadelphia will be covered by the provisions of House bill No. 911.

Mr. McCORMACK. Thank you. Now, one other question. Are domestic servants employed by people to work in their homes exempt?

Mr. FINEMAN. Exempt.

Mr. McCORMACK. What is the reason for that?

Mr. FINEMAN. Well, that has been traditional in the history of Pennsylvania labor. This is intended to cover those boys whom you might engage to cut your lawn, or engage to come in and do some other household chores on a short time basis, or the regularly employed domestic in the home. This has been traditional in Pennsylvania labor. They are not covered by this act; they are exempted from the provisions of this act.

Mr. McCORMACK. That is all I have. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I first wish to apologize to the House. It is late, I realize that, and we have had a long week, but this is a very important piece of legislation and I would ask your indulgence as we proceed.

Mr. Fineman, in his comments with respect to the first amendments and commenting on the bill in general, gave a very lucid explanation of the bill. It is my wish that the bill were as lucid as his explanation, because in reading this bill I find many, many unanswered questions, many posed questions in my mind, to which I find absolutely no answer. For example, the interrogation by Mr. McCormack from Philadelphia was answered that servants are exempt. I find no such exemption in the bill.

At this point, if I may, I would request, Mr. Speaker, that I be permitted to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker, but before the gentleman gets into his interrogation, I ask him to turn to page 5, line 18, domestic service in the home of the employer, under one of the occupations that are exempted from the provisions of this bill.

Mr. BOWMAN. The gentleman is correct. I did not see that. I was looking only at the definition of employee.

Going back to page 4, Mr. Speaker, I note that the definition of employee excludes persons employed by the United States Government and by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Do I properly infer from that that all employees of local governments are subject to the act, but the Commonwealth is not subject to the act.

Mr. FINEMAN. That is correct.

Mr. BOWMAN. Could the gentleman supply a reason to me why local government should be subject and the State should not?

Mr. FINEMAN. First of all, the legislature exercises direct control and authority over the employees of the Commonwealth. Therefore, there is no need to include them in this bill. Federal employees are likewise excluded for the reason that the State government has no authority to exercise or control the wages of employes of the Federal Government.

Mr. BOWMAN. My question was not directed to Federal employes. I only directed it towards the Commonwealth.

I presume that most, if not all, Commonwealth employes are receiving $1 or more an hour, is that correct?

Mr. FINEMAN. That is correct. They are receiving no less, I believe, than $1.25 an hour.

Mr. BOWMAN. If that is true, what harm would it be to have them, nevertheless, covered by the terms of the act?

Mr. FINEMAN. I do not know that any harm would ensue, but as I stated before, the legislature exercises direct control of the amount the employes earn. Therefore we do not, by this act, have to say or spell out what they should get as a minimum.

Mr. BOWMAN. That is the executive department. That is not this legislative branch of the government?

Mr. FINEMAN. That is right.

Mr. BOWMAN. And we only so-call exercise control in the amount of the budget allocated for wages and salaries?

Mr. FINEMAN. That is correct.

Mr. BOWMAN. Therefore, I do not think your argument is at all sound. In my opinion, if local subdivisions are to be included, then the Commonwealth also should be included.

I next call your attention to the existing wage board orders in the hotel and restaurant industries. I am advised that the Federal law, just recently passed by Congress and approved by the President, excluded hotel and restaurant industries from the Federal law. Is that correct?

Mr. FINEMAN. I am so advised.

Mr. BOWMAN. And I am also aware that there are now outstanding wage board orders for those two industries under the 1937 act?

Mr. FINEMAN. That is correct.

Mr. BOWMAN. Under the provisions of this bill, do those wage board orders continue if this act is adopted or do they not continue?

Mr. FINEMAN. Do the wage orders continue? If the provisions of the existing wage boards are more favorable than the provisions of House bill 911, those provisions remain in full force and effect until they are superseded by another wage board.

Mr. BOWMAN. Will the gentleman point out to me in the bill where that is so provided?

Mr. FINEMAN. Yes, I can do that.

On page 24, section 17, "Any standards relating to minimum wages, maximum hours overtime compensation or other working conditions in effect under the act of May 27, 1937, or any other law of this Commonwealth or the regulations and orders issued thereunder on the effective date of this act which are more favorable to employes than those applicable to such employes under this act or the regulations and orders issued hereunder shall not be deemed to be amended rescinded or otherwise affected by this act but shall continue in full force and effect."

Mr. BOWMAN. That is only as to part of the wage orders. If the gentleman would read on he would notice that the provisions of wage orders relating to allowances for board and lodging will be superseded if those wage orders have been in effect for a period of 12 months.

Mr. FINEMAN. That is not so. I will tell you why it is not so.

This bill says that before any minimum wage can be superseded by this act, that is, any minimum wage presently in existence under the act of 1937, before those minimum wage orders are superseded, they must have been in effect for one year. That is as to the minimum wage. Now the provision dealing with gratuities, lodging and the other credits will remain in force for one full year dating from the effective date of section 5 of this act. So even if they have been in force for one year they will continue to remain in force for another year after the effective date of this act, the purpose thereof being to allow the employer to adjust to the jump.

Mr. BOWMAN. Will the gentleman now look at page 8, the last paragraph on page 8, and explain that paragraph in light of what he just said?

Mr. FINEMAN. Are you referring to subsection (d), beginning on line 15?

Mr. BOWMAN. Yes.

Mr. FINEMAN. The minimum wage provided in subsections (a), and that refers to the $1 an hour, and (b), which refers to the gratuities, of this section shall not affect the provisions of any minimum wage order established pursuant to the act enacted in 1937 prior to the effective date of this section unless said wage order has been in effect for at least one year or more.

Mr. BOWMAN. What does that mean?

Mr. FINEMAN. That means that the wage and the provision as to gratuities, those two items alone—and I distinguish them from the credits for meals, the credits for lodging, credits for uniforms, if they are given by a wage order, and so forth. They are separate and apart—do not come into effect for a period of one year from the effective date of section 5 of this act.

Mr. BOWMAN. Then do I understand you to say that the wage provisions of those orders and the gratuities allowances of those orders will become abrogated upon the effective date of this act?

Mr. FINEMAN. That would be the technical result. The practical result is no change, because, under those minimum wage orders that are established, they already get a credit of 35 cents an hour for gratuities, and in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh they already get $1 minimum wage. It is only in other localities that they get less than $1.

Mr. BOWMAN. In other localities they do get less than a dollar?

Mr. FINEMAN. Yes, in other localities.

Mr. BOWMAN. Then the answer must be modified that as to other localities, other than those two major cities, the minimum wage provision of the wage order will no longer be effective upon the effective date of this act as to these two industries?

Mr. FINEMAN. That is absolutely right, and that is fully our intention. We want by this act to bring all occupations, including those covered by wage orders and those not covered by wage orders up to the basic minimum of $1 an hour.

Mr. BOWMAN. Does the gentleman contend that the allowances for other than gratuities, now I am speaking of meals and rooming accommodations, are comparable to those already allowed in the two minimum wage orders in these two industries?

Mr. FINEMAN. Well, I will give you an example. Take the hotel occupations, for instance, under wage order No. 1. In metropolitan Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, under the existing wage order, there is a credit allowed to the employer for 15 cents an hour for meals and 35 cents an hour for tips and $5 a week for lodging. House bill 911 says we are going to give $5 a week for lodging, we are going to give 35 cents an hour for tips, and we are going to give 50 cents a meal rather than 15 cents an hour. Actually that works out to a differential of about 2 cents an hour difference.

Mr. BOWMAN. I thank the gentleman for picking out those cities. Now let me pick out some other areas.

Mr. FINEMAN. I can pick out the other areas for you.

Mr. BOWMAN. Let me take chambermaids. Under minimum wage order they are getting $9; under House bill 911 it will be $35, or a differential of 106 percent. In other words, I think it is fair to say, is it not, that as a generality, House bill 911, State-wide, will definitely not allow for rooms and for meals? It will definitely increase the total cost to the employer in the fact that the allowances will be much less.

Mr. FINEMAN. The gentleman's information does not tie in with my information. For instance, under wage order No. 1, dealing with hotels and other than food occupations in metropolitan Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, the minimum wage presently is $1 an hour. Elsewhere throughout the State in that particular classification of employment the minimum wage is 85 cents an hour, resulting in a 15-cent increase in the minimum wage.

Mr. BOWMAN. That is correct in those areas, but I said that the information supplied to me, and I believe it to be as accurate as the gentleman's, shows differentials between House bill 911 and existing wage orders running from zero percent up to the highest figure of 106 percent.

Mr. FINEMAN. I do not understand what that differential is, I do not know what the gentleman is talking about. All I know is that under the existing wage order for chambermaids—

Mr. BOWMAN. That classification I selected, just as the gentleman selected Philadelphia.

Mr. FINEMAN. Under that particular classification there is a present minimum wage of 85 cents an hour. We are now saying it goes to $1 an hour. That is 15 cents an hour difference.

Mr. BOWMAN. I am speaking of the differentials in the allowances for lodging and the allowances for meals. Those are the differentials I am speaking of now.

Mr. FINEMAN. There is no differential for lodging because, under the existing wage order for hotel occupations, it is $5 a week for lodging.

Mr. BOWMAN. I beg your pardon, I did not get that.

Mr. FINEMAN. I said, under existing wage order there is a credit of $5 a week for lodging and that is what House bill 911 does.

Mr. BOWMAN. You are correct as to that allowance, but I have presented to me, and I consider it to be completely accurate, differentials both in board, gratuities, lodging and meals as to the difference between the wage orders and this minimum wage bill, and I repeat that the variances run from as low as zero percent, in other words the same, up to the one I stated.

Thank you very much.

Mr. FINEMAN. I would just like to say that I have before me a copy of the official wage order, No. 1, which spells that out.

Mr. BOWMAN. So do I.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, now of course, I have no argument against a basic minimum wage bill. The difficulty in any minimum wage legislation is that which was experienced by the Congress of the United States and which we are experiencing here today.

The appeal for a minimum wage is certainly a strong and a proper appeal. The difficulty arises, not in the basic concept or the basic desirability of a minimum wage; the problem lies in balancing matters which are not paid in dollars, such as food and lodging. Other considerations which must be given have been spoken of here before today. How are we going to allocate and determine proper minimum wages for people who now enjoy employment, who would otherwise not enjoy employment? How are they to be given credit? Is all this to be surrendered by this legislature to the Secretary of Labor?

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, has presented a very strong appeal, that everything is taken care of in this bill. I agree with that, even though I do not understand the bill. They have covered about everything they possibly could think of. There are many other provisions of this bill—I do not want to prolong the interrogation but—there are many other provisions that, frankly, I do not understand.

Getting back to the basic issue, we must in some fashion balance this very basic and proper desire of a $1 minimum wage against the problems of the aged being employed, the handicapped being employed, and I, for one, do not subscribe to surrendering this to the Secretary of Labor and Industry or to any wage board.

The gentleman in his earlier interrogation said the wage board procedure was proper. He later, as the result of other interrogations, said it was costly and lengthy. Believe me, it is costly and lengthy because I have been involved in it. The total determination, after years of effort in the hotel and restaurant industry, were reproduced in these two wage orders that we were speaking about in our interrogation and answer. That represented literally years of effort in which everybody, labor, industry and the public participated in the long, hard, drawn-out problem and it was finally solved. Now we are saying that the secretary can start over again, at least in those two industries. And, of course, I believe he enjoys that power even today under the Act of 1937.

Additionally, I do not think we can afford, as a legislature, to continue to surrender carte blanche powers to the executive branch of the government, and that is precisely what we are doing in this bill, I think more effectively and more broadly than any legislation that we have had before, at least during this session. You are in effect saying, each and every one of you, I surrender, I surrender my rights and my duties as a legislator. I want to give up all these problems, I do not want to face these problems, I am going to pass them on to somebody else. Are they better qualified than we are? That certainly must be part of your consideration when you say you are going to pass on these responsibilities. You are in effect saying we either do not have the time, the energy, or the desire to sit here and work out minimum wage legislation with the exemptions that should go in it, and the exceptions that we think should be in it. We are saying no, this is too complicated, this is too much for us, and we do not care, we are going to pass it on again to the executive branch of the government. Believe me, Mr. Speaker, we have seen in the past 10 or 15 years, our own demise as legislators in passing on these powers and duties to the executive branch of the government. We constantly complain about our low stature; we constantly complain that we are not properly evaluated in the eyes of the public. I say to you, each and every one of you, if minimum wage law is good, and I am basically for it, but there should be exceptions and changes, there should be more taxicabs. Why, all of a sudden did the majority party say taxicabs should be exempted, not by the Secretary of Labor and Industry, but because we as the legislature thought that taxicabs should be exempted under certain circumstances. Why was that decision made here? Why was that not passed on to the executive branch of the government? I will tell you why: because somebody had a little more influence than some other people. I do not see how with logic or reason anyone can say that this legislature thought the taxicab problem was so important that we decided that the problems of hospitals, charitable institutions, the problems of restaurants, industries, resorts, and so forth, everything that has been discussed today, I do not see how we can possibly stand here and say the taxicab was so important we put it in so we are passing all of this on to the executive branch of the government, and that is what you are doing here today.

I again ask you, and I am sure that I am not convincing anyone to change his vote, but if I have any plea and any purpose today, I again ask this legislature to assume its responsibility, get out of the position which we have given ourselves, or put ourselves into over the past 10 or 15 years, assume our responsibilities, face up to the facts, and do our job. Then we will not have so many problems. Thank you, very much.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I know of nothing that the members of this House could do which would more clearly evince an intention on their part to assume responsibility than to vote favorably for House bill 911.

This is not at all an abdication of your responsibility. As a matter of fact, the kind of speech that the gentleman from Dauphin made is the kind of speech that I would expect to hear from a State's righter, some guy worried about giving the Federal government too much power, not reserving enough for the State. The type of speech was entirely out of order.

Now, if we say we are abdicating our authority and our responsibility, then we are running contrary to the best brains in approximately 33 States in this Union and to the Federal Government, all of whom have passed and have on their statute books today minimum wage laws. There are 33 States that have minimum wage laws in this country. The Federal Government has recently passed a minimum wage law. Can we say of them that they have abdicated their legislative responsibility? I hardly think so.

The gentleman from Dauphin is also very quick to blame the Democratic Party, the majority party, for the exemption concerning the taxicabs. He says that possibly somebody on this side had a lot of influence. I will tell you where the influence came from: It came from your Mr. Kistler. He was the one who came to me with amendments to take out not taxicabs in municipalities of 15,000 or less," but he came to me with an amendment to take out taxicabs per se, completely across the board. So, if you are going to blame anybody for influence, I suggest that you talk to the Republican members on your side.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, rise?

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of personal privilege for the purpose of answering what I consider to be overly personal remarks, and misstatements as to what I said.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will be recognized.

Mr. BOWMAN. I beg your pardon, I thought he had yielded.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yielded to Mr. Bowman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Philadelphia has the floor and he yields to the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I think the record will show that I did not point a finger at anybody or any party. I said somebody had sufficient influence with respect to taxicabs to make the decision that this legislature should specifically exclude them in this legislation and not pass that power on to the department. That is all I said, and I think the record will support me.

Secondly, I do not feel that it is proper for the gentleman from Philadelphia to allude to my remarks as having any specific intent or purpose for political reasons. I am most sincere in what I say. I think my remarks are most apropos and proper and I have, certainly, no objections to his disagreeing with me in anything that I said, so long as the disagreement is predicated upon specifically what I said and germane to the debate which is before the House at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. I quite agree with those remarks. My difference with the gentleman is based on a difference in philosophy about this thing. But, I do respectfully suggest to the gentleman that he check the record and he will find very clearly that he said these amendments came from the majority party.

I suggest that he check the record, and the record will bear me out.

I ask the members of this House to vote in the affirmative on House bill 911.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, time and the fact that I am a gentleman prevents me from saying what I would like to say about this bill.

However, I would like to interrogate momentarily the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'DELL. This might be a help to you.

Mr. FINEMAN. I appreciate all I can get, sir.

Mr. O'DELL. It might be a help in finding someone else to put under this wage and hour bill. This is a letter that I received some time ago which says:

"Dear Sir: Why is it that I, an elevator starter and operator, non-union, am not included in the minimum wage law of $1 an hour?"

Can you tell me why this particular woman is not included under this wage and hour law, or is she included?

Mr. FINEMAN. She is included, sir.

Mr. O'DELL. She is included?

Mr. FINEMAN. She is included.

Mr. O'DELL. Then I will make her very happy if I tell her that she is included?

Mr. FINEMAN. That is right, sir.

Mr. O'DELL. Thank you very much.

Mr. FINEMAN. You vote for this bill and you will make her happy.

Mr. O'DELL. It so happens that this woman is a voter of mine, but I still have principles, and I intend to vote against the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I inform the membership that there is only one concurrence, that there will be no other roll calls in this House today after we concur on House bill 430, I believe it is.

I think it does credit to the men who debated for and opposed the bill, to bring out the good points in this debate, and it certainly was a most excellent debate on this major piece of legislation, with respect to each of them.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would also like to commend those who took part in the debate as well as every member of the House for their patience. I think the members were very attentive and very orderly.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 430.

An Act declaring the policy of the Commonwealth with regard to discriminatory practices in educational institutions based upon race religion color ancestry or national origin prohibiting such discriminatory practices providing for procedure and enforcement providing for judicial review providing for administration by the Pennsylvania human relations Commission in the Department of Labor and Industry and defining its functions powers and duties hereunder.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The clerk will read the amendments.

The clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 3, page 3, line 15, by inserting after the word "organization" the following: or is one which is stated by the parent church body to be and is in fact officially related to that church by being represented on the board of the institution and by providing substantial financial assistance.

Section 4, page 5, line 4, by striking out after the word "student" the words "or group of students"; page 6, by inserting after line 3, the following: (d) nothing in this section shall prohibit any educational institution from accepting and administering any inter-vivos or testamentary gift upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the donor.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS PASSED OVER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that all other bills and resolutions on today's calendar be passed over.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears no objections.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. TOMASCIK, CURWOOD, MEHOLCHICK, SHUPNIK, CROSSIN, BACHMAN and MUSTO offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 14, 1961.

It is with much sadness that the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania notes the passing of Judge J. Harold Flannery of Luzerne County. He was a great jurist and an industrious and faithful public servant. His span of public service included the offices of Assistant District Attorney, three terms as Congressman from his district and was running for his third term as judge of the Common Pleas Court of Luzerne County.

No higher tribute can be paid to Judge Flannery than that the citizens of Luzerne County have paid him in 1951 and again in 1961 by nominating him for Judge of the common pleas court by both political parties. This is the finest and the most understandable tribute that can be paid to the Late President Judge J. Harold Flannery.

Judge J. Harold Flannery was born in Pittston, April 19, 1898, a son of Mayor and Mrs. John T. Flannery. He was educated at Wyoming Seminary and Dickinson Law School.

He is survived by his wife Anne Allan Flannery and a son Attorney J. Harold Flannery Jr.; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby extends to the wife and son our condolences on the passing of a dear husband and a kind and considerate father, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the surviving widow Mrs. Anne Allan Flannery and J. Harold Flannery Jr. Esq., 906 Susquehanna Avenue, W. Pittston, Pennsylvania.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

SENATE MESSAGE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate.

Amended House Bills returned for concurrence Nos. 715 and 716.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take a moment of time to indicate that today, as busy as we were in the House, beginning at 10 o'clock this morning until the present hour, we were never forgetful of the date and the day, this being Flag Day.

This is normally a holiday, and it is a holiday for most State employes across this Commonwealth. It was imperative that we hold a session today because of the hotel situation which prevented us from holding a session tomorrow. But we, in our respective deliberations, had planned to also take a moment of time, although the session ran to this late hour, to pay our respects to our flag on this given holiday, Flag Day.

And I thought the only way we could do it at this point, and do it properly, is for both Mr. Johnson and I to insert into the record the respect that this House and its members have for our flag, and the reasons why we were in session on this date and the fact that we, in turn, had planned to hold proper public declaration by way of a resolution dealing with this date in the House here today. But after lengthy debate on the other bills and the hour being so late, we do not intend to plan any resolution or any adoption on this, but to show in the remarks that are spread upon the record all our members' deep respect for this holiday, Flag Day, the day on which we honor our American Flag.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I think we started this day off very well with the prayer this morning. After our chaplain finished his prayer everybody said, well, there is one of the nicest prayers we have ever heard. Of course, it was exceedingly appropriate and everybody, of course, in talking about Flag Day brings up the Star Spangled Banner and "Long May It Wave Over the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave."

When the prayer was given this morning, I could not help but think that here we are, of course, in Pennsylvania, just a small part of our national government, but when you think of our President—and, of course, he has a bad back—but the young fellow has surely been trying to do a job to maintain the peace all over the world. And goodness knows, in the Latin American countries, and over in Europe and Africa, the turmoil and the strife is just something dreadful. And as I say, as our chaplain prayed this morning for success in our Nation and the preservation of our flag, I could not help but be proud to be American. We here are trying to do a good job for the people of Pennsylvania. I think we had a dignified day. It is too bad we had to be here on Flag Day, but we have a job to do here to finish this session and get on with the work for the good of all the people of our great State.

We do honor our flag, and it is too bad that we did not have time to have an appropriate splendid ceremony here today, but maybe in another year we will do just that.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. EDWARDS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, June 20, 1961 at 2 p.m. e.s.t.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 4:48 p.m. e.s.t.) the House adjourned.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rabbi MORRIS PICKHOLZ, Congregation Bnai Jeshurun Ahavas Chesed, Philadelphia, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God and Creator of all men, as we open this Session of the highest legislative body of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we invoke Thy blessing upon all those herein assembled. We are aware that Thou Who hast created this world with divine law didst bestow upon man Thy divine gift to make laws for the benefit of the inhabitants of this Commonwealth. We, therefore, beseech Thy divine assistance and pray Thee to cast the rays of Thy divine guidance upon all here assembled so that they may lend a full measure of devotion, sincerity and earnestness to those problems which are today upon the agenda of this august Body.

We are aware that it is only through these deliberations that our way of life receives its highest and fullest expression. Enable those here assembled to reflect and to discuss the matters before them in a spirit of wisdom and intelligence, in the light of Thine eternal truths. Grant them, we pray Thee, of Thy divine spirit so they may be inspired in their deliberations by the highest ideals of democracy and humanity.

Spread Thy grace, O Lord, over this Body and may they concentrate their efforts toward the eradication of hatred, prejudice, human suffering, greed and envy. Spread Thy tabernacle of peace, we pray Thee, over us and over all mankind. Amen.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

URGING PARTICIPATION BY THE LEGISLATURE IN THE OBSERVANCE OF THE 100TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE LAND-GRANT ACT BY PRESIDENT ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Messrs. HAYS, MADIGAN, STIEFEL and CHAPMAN offered the following resolution (Serial No. 123), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 19, 1961.

Whereas, July 2, 1962 marks the centennial of legislation providing for the establishment of the national system of Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities; and

Whereas, The State of Pennsylvania has been the beneficiary of the extensive services of its Land-Grant institution, the Pennsylvania State University;

Whereas, There has been established national recognition of the celebration of the centennial of this historic act by the United States Congress; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That this State Legislature participate in suitable State-wide observance during the academic year 1961-1962 for the 100th anniversary of the signing of the Land-Grant Act by President Abraham Lincoln.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it is probably not necessary, but I would like to preface my remarks by saying that I am not the official spokesman or even the sime-official spokesman for any institution, for any professional organization and, certainly, not for any political party. I hope I might reflect the wishes of a majority of the citizens of Pennsylvania, and I would hope the majority of the Senators in this Chamber.

This resolution calls attention to one of the most significant steps in the development of higher education in the United States. It is my understanding that a similar resolution has been, or will be, presented in each of the States of the United States to call attention to the Land-Grant College Act of 1862, also known as the Morrill Act. It is one of my purposes to give you some information on the relationship and development of the land-grant idea to that of a State University.

President John Martin Thomas, who was Penn State's President at the time of my days as a Penn State student, recalled that President Lincoln told Jonathan Turner, who is widely credited with being the "father" of the land grant movement,—and I am quoting Abraham Lincoln—that: "If I am elected, I will sign your bill for State Universities." So, you see the concept of a State University existed in the mind of the President of the United States, who signed the legislation, even before he became President.

One present day, competent student of higher education, as it relates to the State University, says:

"The act signed by Lincoln in 1862, which this resolution commemorates, offered each State Federal-aid to establish a college for the practical and liberal education of qualified students at a minimum cost. Its long range intent was to enable youths of all classes of society to obtain an education and the training necessary to the 'several pursuits and professions of life' at a time when higher education was confined mainly to the well-to-do and prepared them almost exclusively for the law, the ministry and teaching. Pennsylvania, in 1863, accepted the Congressional grant, with its obligation to maintain such an institution of higher learning. The Legislature assigned this Federal fund and later benefits to the Pennsylvania State University, because it was the only existing institution dedicated to meeting the terms of the Morrill Act. The Legislature has chosen to delegate its control to the Board of Trustees which, unlike those of private institutions, is not self-perpetuating. The Board includes State Officers, members appointed by the Governor with Senate approval, and others elected by alumni, and delegates from agricultural and industrial interests.

"This Board must submit an annual report to the Legislature, which also has authority over its organization. Legal title to University property is vested in the corporation as directed by the Legislature. The equitable title is vested by the Commonwealth. This arrangement is confusing only if the facts are not kept in mind. These facts apply to no other Pennsylvania institution of higher learning. This land-grant university is Pennsylvania's one and only public university, comparable to such others as Michigan State and the Universities of Illinois and Wisconsin. Not long ago, a major foundation gave faculty salary grants to private colleges and universities. Penn State and the fourteen State Colleges were the only Pennsylvania institutions not so aided, since they are assumed to be State-supported. Actually," — this author says — "Pennsylvania has never properly fulfilled its obligation to support its own university. Smaller and less wealthy States than Pennsylvania already are doing more proportionately than the Governor's Committee proposes we ought to do in 1970. The nature of the world today requires this Nation to have a middle-class educated beyond the high school level. Most moderate income families cannot afford the cost of a college education at private schools. Public education of effective quality and quantity is the key to the continuation of our free society. We cannot afford to lengthen our years of relative neglect, and we expect our government leaders at all levels to take the initiative in enabling us to give our State and Nation educated citizens."

That is the end of the quote from this present day student of higher education.

A Penn State President, over sixty years ago, pointed out the special role of Penn State in the following words:

"Penn State has no antagonisms with other institutions. It rejoices in their prosperity. But, by action of the State, it has been assigned to a distinct and unique field which it is endeavoring to fill to the full measure of its resources, in the natural order of its position as one branch of the State system of public instruction, and with a constant sense of its public responsibility."

The present situation was well analyzed by the editor of a Central Pennsylvania newspaper when he wrote as follows:

"Unless and until Pennsylvania's leaders recognize their responsibilities and solidify Penn State's roll in the higher educational picture, support for Penn State will continue to dwindle so that it becomes more and more not an institution upon which the taxpayers of Pennsylvania may depend to educate their education at a minimum cost, but one reserved only for the rich who heretofore looked for exclusive private schools to handle the essential task of preparing new generations as Keystone State citizens."

This, to my mind, is the big issue remaining before this Session of the General Assembly. Will we take the necessary steps to prepare a new generation of Pennsylvania citizens who will have adequate preparation for the unfinished tasks that we will hand over to them? As we all know, this is no simple task and, since it is not simple, this is all the more reason why we should not duck it.

My pitch to you, while it may center around the need for adequate support for the State University, is broader than that. It involves the whole program from kindergarten through the State University. Hundreds of school districts are waiting our early action to improve the present fifty-fifty division of State and local costs or, at least, to hold the line at the existing fifty-fifty level. The fifty-fifty level means, my fellow Senators, not the present amount of State subsidy, but increased amounts of State subsidy to support the public elementary and secondary schools of the State. The situation may be even more critical in higher education. In 1970, I hope I will be able to meet the critics of those who think that Pennsylvania should prepare for 300,000 places in higher education, in 1970, instead of the present 140,000. I believe those who accept a lesser goal lack the confidence which we should have in the resourcefulness and the drive of present day youth. In my opinion, they will not be satisfied with the goals of their parents, and they should not be so satisfied.

To those who fear that a political party, either political party, may be planning its doom by levying a tax primarily for education in 1961, I would like to point out that it is my belief that the hazards to a political party, either political party, which turns its back on the crying needs of education in 1961 will suffer a far worse doom than the one which puts its confidence in today's youth and provides the necessary revenue, distasteful as this may seem to be.

The people of this Commonwealth, I believe, want as much in the way of State services as those provided by other States. The citizens of this Commonwealth, likewise, realize that these services are likely to cost a similar amount to that of other States. When they are informed that the per capita State tax load for a Pennsylvanian, as revealed by the United States Census Bureau of 1960—I might say here, of course, that it is always dangerous when you throw statistics around.

I am reminded at this time that the college classes are having reunions now. I am reminded that the ten-year class from Amherst, which I believe claims Senator Ehrgood as one of its sons, discovered that each one of their graduates, at the end of ten years, had 2.8 children, and the ten-year graduates from Smith College had 2.4 children, at the end of ten years. From this data, you can draw a number of conclusions. The first obvious one is that Amhurst men do not marry Smith women. The second conclusion is, of course, that men have more children than women.

However, Mr. President, to go back to the United States Census Bureau Report for 1960, it shows, as far as taxes on Pennsylvanians are concerned, the tax load for Pennsylvanians was ten per cent less than the average State of the fifty States, and twenty per cent less than our neighbor, Maryland. When the citizens know this, I believe a majority of them will accept one of the versions of the tax proposal on personal income, suggested by Governor Lawrence last week. If you want to supplement this tax or put part of the responsibility on the consumer, then I note that both the Hood-Kennedy Report of 1959 and the Report of the Governor's Committee pointed out that the soft drink tax would add some 18.6 million dollars per year, which might well be used to help the cause of education.

I would be happy to join the forty-nine other Senators in support of such revenue legislation, or I shall even be happy to join with twenty-five other ones, in so far as this goes.

In my opinion, this Senate, before it adjourns, must provide additional moneys for education on the elementary and secondary levels. Many of the too many 2,200 school districts must have additional funds and on the higher education front.

While this started as a Penn State pitch, this higher education front is much broader than Penn State. If we are to be ready for 1970, then Pennsylvania must not be the forty-seventh State in its support of higher education, but much higher. Of course, I believe the Commonwealth has its greatest and first obligation to the State University and the fourteen State Colleges. However, if we are to meet the needs, we must go further and help private schools more and also create community colleges.

It may come as surprise to some of you, but I think that my colleague, Senator Shafer, who served on the Governor's Committee with me, will support me when I report to you that as a Member of the Committee dealing with higher education, I supported a plan to subsidize private colleges, meeting constitutional requirements, in an attempt to provide space for all qualified youth.

In capsule form, I would say the question that will come before this Senate before this Session closes is not whether Pennsylvania can afford to provide an adequate program of education on all levels for its youth, but, rather, the real question is: Can Pennsylvania afford not to provide such a program for its youth?

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I now ask for you to vote for this resolution. I hope I have not lost any votes by making this speech.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Hays, may I ask whether or not it was intended, in the body of your resolution, to say that you wanted the State Legislature to participate in a suitable State-wide observance and, whereupon, with the adoption of this resolution, it would be sent to the House for its concurrence since it refers to the entire General Assembly?

Mr. HAYS. Yes, sir.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

The resolution was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE SENATE EXTENDED TO MISS KATHLEEN HAMM UPON BEING CHOSEN
"MISS MILKMAID OF PENNSYLVANIA—1961"

Messrs. VAN SANT, ROONEY, KELLER and SCOTT offered the following resolution (Serial No. 73), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 19, 1961.

Miss Kathleen Hamm, fresh out of High School and vivacious and pretty as only a 17 year old dairy farmer's daughter can be, is Pennsylvania's newest Miss Milkmaid.

Being Milkmaid means representing one of the State's largest industries. Last year Keystone dairymen produced milk valued at over $330,000,000 dollars at the farm. Processing this milk, including the cost of labor, added even more value to the milk and zoomed milk's economic contribution to our State to well over $700,000,000 dollars. Pennsylvania currently ranks fourth nationally as a milk producing area.

In her role as Milkmaid, the diminutive Miss Hamm will be symbol of this huge dairy industry. She will remind teenagers of milk's importance in supplying the zip and energy they need to enjoy life. As the new Milkmaid tours the State she will also remind consumers of the important economic contributions of the dairy industry.

The title of Miss Milkmaid is one open only to daughters of dairy farmers. Miss Hamm was first crowned Miss Milkmaid of her area, four counties composed of Lehigh, Bucks, Monroe, and Northampton. As area Milkmaid she went on to the State Milkmaid contest, a three day event crammed with lectures, interviews, and just plain fun. The new Milkmaid was crowned May 11, at Bedford Springs, site of the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers.

A top honor student, Miss Hamm will be graduated from North Western High School in June. Her school record includes such honors as commencement speaker, highest student academically in her class, National Honor Society member, co-editor of the school newspaper, lead part in the senior play, winner of the school's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Award, a National Merit Scholarship, finalist and district winner in the Voice of Democracy Contest.

With all her imposing school record, Miss Hamm has not neglected the achievements of which dairy farmers and their families take special pride. Miss Hamm was the State's 1960 4-H Achievement winner and delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress. She won her County's 1961 Achievement Award, and was State winner in the 1960 4-H Clothing Selection Demonstration Contest. She has been a member of the County 4-H Dairy Calf Club for seven years, and was a member of the county dairy cow judging team.

Miss Hamm's quest for knowledge is still keen, for she is already enrolled at Maryland's Hood College, where she expects to major in Home Economics and Political Science under a scholarship granted by the college.

The Hamm family live in the heart of the Pennsylvania Dutch country, Lehigh County, near a town called New Tripoli. Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hamm own a 248 acre general farm on which the principal cash income comes from milk and potatoes. The Hamm family each day milks 18 of the familiar black and white Holstein-Friesian cows. The Hammes have been in dairying for 20 years and are noted far and wide for their spic and span home and farm. They are typical of the State's 36,000 dairy farmer families who help produce the famous high quality Pennsylvania milk. They sell their milk to a nearby dairy, one of the 600 local businessmen who are Pennsylvania's milk dealers.

Kathleen Hamm, Miss Milkmaid of Pennsylvania—1961, is a wholesome and sparkling dairy farmer's daughter. She represents the thousands of small independent businessmen who are Pennsylvania's dairy farmers and milk dealers, a true American industry dedicated to increase the health and wealth of our citizens and nation; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate congratulate Miss Hamm on the honor that has been bestowed upon her; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Miss Kathleen Hamm at her home, R. D., New Tripoli, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, upon adoption of this resolution, I would like to present to the Senate of Pennsylvania a very charming young lady from New Tripoli, R. D. 2, in the agricultural section of the great Lehigh

County and Lehigh Valley, Miss Kathleen Hamm, who has been chosen "Miss Milkmaid of 1961."

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate adopt the resolution?
The resolution was adopted.

MISS KATHLEEN HAMM PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, at this time, I would like if Senator Rooney would join me in escorting Miss Hamm to the rostrum so we may hear a few words from our very distinguished visitor here today.

The PRESIDENT. That would be very pleasant. Will you escort the young lady to the rostrum?

Miss HAMM. Thank you very much, gentlemen.

I would like to bring you greetings from Pennsylvania's 600 milk dealers, 36,000 dairy farmers, and 928,000 cows, two of which I own myself.

I would like to mention that through the cooperation of these dairy farmers and milk dealers, Pennsylvania's dairy industry has become the second largest industry in this State and, of course, has contributed a great deal to our economy; in fact, as much as to the tune of $700,000,000 a year. I am sure you gentlemen will appreciate that figure.

Also, I would like to commend the government of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for its interest in the dairy industry. I have just come from a meeting of the Governor's Milk Promotion Committee, and I am very glad to see that the Legislature takes such an interest in our industry.

I would like to thank Mr. Van Sant and the other Senators for introducing the resolution. He really took me quite by surprise. I would like to say that we, back in Lehigh County, think we have the most wonderful Senator in the world. I know him very well, and I think he is one of the most wonderful gentlemen I have ever met.

Finally, in conclusion, I have only one thing to say: Do not forget to drink your glass of cool, refreshing, Pennsylvania milk, and happy June Dairy Month.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 261—Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 261 go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not object to this bill going over in its order. However, I do feel since this is a very important piece of legislation, we should have the time tomorrow to fully and completely debate it.

I hope there will not be a request that we carry it over tomorrow. I would like to know how the Members of the Senate stand; whether or not they are going to be in favor of or opposed to this legislation. There is no use to prolong the agony. We might as well get it over with.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

SB 593 (Pr. No. 773)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. PECHAN, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2412.1), page 3, line 5 by striking out "ten" and inserting: five.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. PECHAN.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to make an observation. Now that we have passed this bill, I hope that the people will limit themselves just to shooting squirrels, and not the occupants of the house thereof.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would think that is a good observation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, as the author of the bill, I should answer that this bill is designed to get rid of squirrels from the house. I heard somebody comment that maybe it might be well to amend it to get rid of some of the squirrels in the Senate.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 659 (Pr. No. 761)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, in spite of my great respect for the sponsors of this bill and the worthy purpose of it, I feel constrained to vote against it because it seems to me this is opening wide the floodgates of additional expenses by local school districts and higher local taxes. I cannot vote for this bill without some sort of a ceiling on the expenses being placed in it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, before I vote on this legislation, I would like to know just what the costs might be. What can we anticipate within the very near future?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the purpose of this bill is to legitimize practices which are now being engaged in and, I believe, are perfectly legal under the present law. However, there are some solicitors who wish to have it specifically spelled out.

It simply means that a school district, in order to encourage members of its faculty to take additional college work in the subject area in which they are teaching, may agree, if they so choose, to in part or fully pay for certain courses which the professional employees take at a university, summer school or otherwise.

As far as the cost is concerned,—referring to the question raised by Senator Lane—the State will have no cost connected with this. Of course, it is impossible for me to read the minds of the school boards of the Commonwealth to determine to what extent they will wish to authorize employees to take courses and pay for those courses. I would assure the gentleman that this is a matter that can be safely left, in my opinion, to local school boards to decide. They are the ones to decide what teachers they have who would profit by such additional instruction, and decide to what extent they are willing to offer, as an inducement, partial payment of the cost of whatever courses they recommend them to take.

Therefore, I do not think it is possible to give a definitive answer on how much it will cost local school boards. As far as State costs are concerned, it would be nothing.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am going to vote "no" on this legislation regardless of how much I like the merits of what it is trying to do.

For some thirty years, I served on a school board, and when we wanted to send a teacher for some extra work, we gave them a bonus and there was nothing illegal about it. However, I am afraid if we pass this bill here, we are going to open the floodgates, and teachers, many of them desiring to go to a summer session, will be allowed to do so at the expense of the school board. If you do it for Miss Jones this year, you are going to do it for Miss Brown and all of the rest of them. There will be no way of stopping this thing. It will just get out of hand.

Unless someone can tell me that there will be a ceiling on what it is going to cost, I am going to oppose this bill.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SEYLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Senator Seyler, do I understand your remarks just made were to the effect that if a school board thought a teacher should go to Harvard or some other university, wherever it might be, for a year or two of graduate work, under this legislation the school board could pay room, board and tuition? In other words, a full scholarship for a year or two at any school.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, it would be up to the board to decide this question. It would seem to me that any board that would send an employee to Harvard and pay all of his expenses, including travel, living expenses, and so on, would be risking grave censure from the community in which they existed. However, it seems to me that if a school board decided that a certain teacher could profit by a course, let us say, in advanced mathematics at a nearby State College or a nearby university, and would be willing to pay a part of the tuition costs, we should leave that to that board.

I am a believer in home rule, and I thought the various Senators who have spoken here today also believed in home rule. It seems to me that here is a question in which they would be spending the money of the district, which was raised by local taxes, and, therefore, the board would be safely trusted to use a certain amount of judgment in whether they are going to send them to the University of Heidelberg or to Millersville State Teachers' College, if it happened to be in a county near Millersville.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Senator, I agree that any board that sent a local teacher to a faraway school with all expenses paid for a year would certainly get heck from the local taxpayers.

My question is this, sir. Under this bill, would that not exactly be possible whether it were Heidelberg, Harvard or the University of California?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, under the law, it would be possible for a board to do this. However, I would point out that there are many other things under the law that would be possible for a board, a member of a local city council, a borough council or a board of township supervisors to do. As I understand the meaning of home rule, this is what it means. We leave discretion to local authorities to do those things, using local funds, which are to the advantage of the operation of their municipality or school district.

I do not anticipate that any board will send a teacher to California, to Heidelberg or any of those faraway places, nor do I anticipate that any of them are going to pay traveling expenses, subsistence and so forth.

I do anticipate that boards will do as some boards are now doing. They say to certain teachers: "The present demands of mathematics in the senior high school are such that we believe you could profit by a course at a nearby institution. If you are willing to go, we are willing to pay half of the tuition costs." This is being done. I think it is a good idea. I think we can safely leave to local boards this decision.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman. I still cannot vote for this bill without some sort of a ceiling in it.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I have just a brief comment on this particular bill. I have had some slight experience with the problem with various school boards, and the great difficulty is just this particular matter. When one or two schoolteachers ask for expenses to go for summer instruction, then you find a rush to the school board by many such schoolteachers. As a consequence, the entire cost becomes quite burdensome to the board.

At this particular time when we are struggling to meet the cost of education at the local level, it would seem to me to be a bad piece of legislation on which the Senate would put its particular seal of approval. It would be a method which could be established and pointed to by members of instructional staffs whereby they could demand from the local school boards costs, expenses and even tuition to go for advanced instruction.

For that reason, I find it necessary to vote against this legislation.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler, said there would not be any State expenditure at this particular time. However, Mr. President, we do not know what the future holds forth. There is a possibility that there will be a subsidy later on for this particular field.

I might say also, Mr. President, that this is taking a real estate owner's taxes and it is taking the taxes under Act No. 481. These are public funds. It seems to me that under certain circumstances, a schoolteacher who is favored by the board could actually have an advantage.

I believe to kill this legislation, or to amend the bill, would be of great assistance to the local school boards because I know they are hammered and hammered by the numbers of teachers who want to advance themselves at the cost of the taxpayers. I feel this is wrong. As Senator Stroup has said, we are now confronted with a financial crisis, and I believe the local taxpayers are paying more than their proportionate share now. Therefore, I cannot vote for this legislation.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I think there have been enough questions and answers presented on this bill for everyone to make up his own mind as to what he wants.

I do feel, however, there is sufficient merit in it for us, who wish to see education improved and the quality of teaching improved, to support it. For that reason, I intend to vote for the bill.

I believe the gentleman from Armstrong implied that when they had a teacher—during his years as a school director—who went away for additional training, they gave him or her a bonus. I presume this means that they gave an increase in salary, which would be practically in perpetuity so far as the life of that teacher is concerned.

This bill would afford an opportunity for a board, who needs another teacher to become more expert in remedial reading or something of that kind, to invest very wisely a couple hundred dollars which would bring thousands of dollars of benefit to all of the children of the community.

I would suggest that we either vote "aye" on this bill, or if—like the gentleman from Armstrong, we have a genuine desire to make sure that it does not get out of bounds—someone has an amendment which they would like to offer tomorrow that would provide for a reasonable amount of circumscription to prevent an out-of-bounds deal, I am sure the sponsors would certainly be agreeable to deferring action until such an offering could be made.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, if I may just take another minute, I would like to explain this bonus. I forget what category we called it. It was for extracurricular work. It was not a bonus that was added onto this teacher's salary permanently. We, for instance, gave the teacher who handled the yearbook perhaps $300 extra that year. Perhaps the next year she did not have the year book and, consequently, the $300 would not be given to her, but was given to another teacher.

I want to say that we have more important educational problems before us now. We are all very worried. I have much reading at my nightstand, mostly pertaining to education. I think we are trying to find money to give to these school districts, which are going broke, as an extra subsidy to take care of their present needs. I would like to say that those needs are much more important than trying to add something additional unto our books and to make more and more expense. As somebody said a while ago, if you do it for one, you are going to have a rush by all of the teachers.

We used to send one teacher to a conference. I am no longer a member of the board, but now, as I understand it, the high school superintendent has the schoolteachers who are going to these workshops make a request at least two months in advance so that it can be taken up by the school board, and it has gotten to be a very costly thing.

I am not arguing that it does not help the school system, does not help the schoolteacher, and does not help the school child. However, I do not think that today when we are confronted with a shortage of funds, we should put something additional onto our statute books.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I would like to say to the gentleman from Armstrong that politics makes strange bedfellows. It seems to me that he and the Governor are doing the same nighttime reading, as I recall.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would request that this bill go over in its order on Final Passage.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order on Final Passage.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am going to vote against this bill because I think it is very unwise to omit an annual post audit. I think there have been enough cases of irregularities in the third class cities of our Commonwealth, in the past, which make this provision a wise one. Therefore, I think it would be very unwise to remove this requirement.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, here is an inconsistency, if I ever saw one.

A few moments ago, we passed a bill which would, in effect, put certain employees of the Department of Highways under Civil Service and take them away from political activity. Now, a few minutes later, we are granting to other employees of the Commonwealth, who are under Civil Service, the right to participate actively in political affairs to some extent, without fear of repercussion from the powers that be.

I do not understand how one can go with the other.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

HB 1082 and 1139—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 1181 (Pr. No. 1873)—Read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 6 to 8, by striking out "INCLUDING ONE ANTHRACITE MINING" in line 6, all of line 7 and "THE BARGAINING AGENT" in line 8.

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 9, by striking out "THREE" and inserting: five Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 11 to 14, by striking out "AND A PANEL OF TWO NAMES SUB-" in line 11, all of lines 12 and 13 and "AGENT" in line 14.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

HB 1222—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

HB 1308 (Pr. No. 1524)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am not an expert on fishing licenses, but it is my impression that the licenses, at present, just consist of a piece of paper. I would presume that if this bill went through, we would change it and have the licenses consist of metal, cloth or something of that sort.

It seems to me that with the present license, there would be considerable difficulties to the fisherman in pinning a piece of paper on his outer garment and expecting it to remain there. I just wonder whether anyone has any information as to whether the present type of license is going to be replaced by one which would be more substantial and one which could be more easily displayed in the manner that this bill contemplates.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I think they mean this just for people who are going to do dry fly fishing.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I refuse to disclaim knowledge of this subject.

However, Mr. President, I thoroughly agree with Senator Seyler. If they continue to issue the little, bitty piece of paper which I lose every year and have to buy a couple extra, it certainly cannot be worn on the outside unless, for a quarter, you purchase one of those cellophane things that you can pin on your lapel. I am sure there are certain firms in Pennsylvania that would be glad to meet the demand. However, the old system of a button, with the license stuck down in the back of the button, is one of the best there ever was. If they resume that, by virtue of this bill, I will vote in favor of it.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, it seems as though there is some question about this bill. I would presume that the Department would have the wisdom to issue a license in the future which would be acceptable in one form or another. However, there is no information about this on the floor.

Under the circumstances, I request that the bill go over in order until tomorrow.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill going over in its order.

I was going to suggest dog tags, but then I realized we would be involved in the Game Laws. We do not want to interrupt those laws and, therefore, perhaps the bill should go over in order.

Mr. STASEY. Mr. President, with all due respect to the very significant remarks made on this bill, I should like to make my humble contribution.

I do not know why there should be so much concern about pins. I am certain that my colleagues are aware that there are some very important garments which, for years, have been held up by pins, and very safely.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order on Final Passage.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 23—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON SECOND READING

HB 48 (Pr. No. 1889)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

HB 53 and 160—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

SB 247—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. EHRGOOD.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

HB 254 (Pr. No. 2321), HB 255 (Pr. No. 2322), HB 281 (Pr. No. 306) and SB 322 (Pr. No. 339)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 342, HB 345 and SB 353—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

SB 375—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

SB 413 (Pr. No. 445)—The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. KESSLER offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 5.1), page 3, line 9, by striking out "ten per centum (10%)" and inserting: three per centum (3%)

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I think this is a bad amendment. The ten per cent, I think, is even low. However, to ask any unit or any group to spend the kind of money that it takes to put together a local health unit and then to be able to destroy it by a petition signed by one per cent of the electors. I felt was very bad. Ten per cent is still a low number. To reduce it further down and raise the one per cent to three per cent, I think you will do irreparable harm to this type of activity and to this type of thinking.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this legislation.

I also feel that probably the best type of legislation would be to allow any community to live with it for at least five or six years, until they decide how they feel about it. However, to put it in and then at any time be able to pull the rug out, when you get one per cent of the people, is certainly bad. I think three per cent is just as bad.

Therefore, I ask my colleagues and others who I know are interested in this measure to vote "no."

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe the Majority Leader is in error, although he very seldom is, of course. However, any health department may not be destroyed by one per cent of the electors. It only puts it on the ballot. The increase from one to three per cent, as this amendment would provide for, increases the difficulty of obtaining the necessary number of names in order to get the question put upon the ballot. The question is not to be submitted until the department has been in existence for five years, and the people certainly do know what they are doing.

Consequently, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on the amendment.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease. (The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

AMENDMENT LAID ON TABLE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that the amendment be laid on the table and that Senate Bill No. 413 go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the amendment will be laid on the table and the bill will go over in its order, on Second Reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 435 and 473—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

SB 496 and 568—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON SECOND READING

HB 1178—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

BILL RECOMMITTED

HB 1259 (Pr. No. 1749)—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that House Bill No. 1259 go over in its order. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wonder whether the gentleman would withdraw his request that House Bill No. 1259 go over in its order?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, at this moment, I would prefer to let the request stand.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease. (The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there is a Section 8 in this bill which seems to be causing some problems, and I think these can be ironed out in committee, with amendments being made there and the bill brought back to the floor for final action by the Senate.

Therefore, Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 1259 be recommitted to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

HB 1297 (Pr. No. 1513)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

HB 1367, 1402 and 1545—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

GUEST OF SENATOR LEONARD C. STASEY
PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. STASEY. Mr. President, there is presently in progress, here in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the State Plumbing and Pipefitters Apprenticeship Contest. We have with us here in the Chamber of the Senate a young man who won the contest in Allegheny County. He comes from my Senatorial District and is here in Harrisburg to compete for the State contest. If successful in Harrisburg, he will then move to the University of Purdue for the national championship.

I would ask my colleagues to give their approbation to a very able and worthy young man; namely, Mr. David Murano.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the young gentleman please rise?

Thank you, Senator Stasey. It is nice having the young fellow with us.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. SEYLER, MILLER and HALUSKA, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 790, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 13, 1915 (P. L. 286), entitled "Child Labor Law," further prescribing work in which minors may engage; providing for the issuance of special permits for minors engaging in the entertainment and related fields; changing provisions relating to working hours, employment certificates, regulations; prescribing penalties; and providing a short title.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Messrs. McMENAMIN and SEYLER, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 791, entitled:

An Act relating to and regulating the solicitation of moneys and property.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I would like to comment and point out to the Members of the Senate that following the defeat last week of a bill which would have required contractors, dealing with public utilities, to furnish performance bonds, over the week end, the Telephone Company announced that next year in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, they will spend approximately $240,000,000 in construction. Had this bill passed, this would have increased even at the rate of one per cent, over $2,000,000 in cost on utilities, which would ultimately have been passed on to the consumers.

Therefore, I think we did a good job in saving the people of Pennsylvania who use utility products—whether it be heat, light or telephone—a considerable amount of money.
